DOT DANDRIDGE IN MARITAL SPLIT

'Negro' Not Man, Policeman Tells Citizen

Called 'Boy' By Officer

"Shut up! I'm talking to you as a Negro, not as a man."

That was the answer Glenn Dudley, 3824 Walton avenue, known as Eddy Dudley in the entertainment field, received when he protested to the manner in which police officer whose serial number is 4739, was addressing him.

Mr. Dudley has been in California four years. He and a friend, Alger Williams, were driving south on Figueroa street and between 54th and Slauson they were stopped and accused of driving with the bright beam of the headlights up. After looking at Mr. Dudley's license, the officer went back to his motorcycle, and called up the police de-

Negro Children, Ill, Compelled To Live on Cold Cement Floors

Mrs. Elizabeth Powell who resides in Cabrillo housing project at Long Beach, discussed with a group of women gathered at her home how to answer the Questionaire of the California Youth Committee. Such groups are discussing the most urgent needs of children and youth all over the country in preparation for the Midcentury White House Conference on Children and Youth which is to be held at Washington, D. C. in December.

"I really have something to say to President Truman and his White House Conference," she said. "I live in one of the Federal Housing Projects. My little girl, Diane, has sickle-cell-anemia. She has to have a blood transfusion on an average of once a month. Her doctor says we must get her off the cold cement floors. I have taken the Doctor's statement to the Housing Authorities here to get transferred to permanent housing where the floors are of wood, but because there is discrimination in managing the affairs of this project,

Pistol-Packing Deacon In Toils For Double Assault

A pistol-whipping church deacon who allegedly threatened to kill his wife was taken in custody by Newton police in the small hours of last Sunday morning. Held is 46-year-old Theodore Gray of 1126 E. 53rd St.

In General hospital, reportedly in a critical condition is Orville Phoenix, 37 who also lives at the E. 53rd Street address. Phoenix was allegedly pistol-whipped by Gray when he (Phoenix) intervened in a quarrel between Gray and his wife Ouida.

Police reports quotes Mrs. Gray as saying she and her husband had gone for a drive Sunday night, during the course of which they drank freely from a bottle of liquor. Mrs. Gray says she became nauseous and on her return home she went to the bathroom.

After six years of wedded bliss in typical Hollwood fashion Los Angeles was surprised to learn this week that the good ship of love and romance for pretty Dorothy Dandridge and her husband, Harold Nicholas of the famous brother dance team, had struck a reef and was upset. partment to see if there were any other citations against him. There was none.

Mr. Dudley asked the officer if he was going to give him a ticket, to do it. "I'm in a hurry," he said.

"In a hurry?" exclaimed the officer. "Well, then I'll keep you just a little while longer."

He then began to make inquiries about the change of address on the back of his license. Dudley had typed in the change of address himself. He told the officer so, and couldn't remember whether or not he had informed the department. So then that was considered a misdemeanor.

Mr. Dudley began to grow impatient. The officer insisted upon speaking to him as "boy."

"I'm not a boy," said Dudley. "I'm a man."

Whereupon the officer told him to "shut up," with the additional insulting remarks.

Mr. Dudley says he was dressed pretty well, his car was a new roadster, and he feels the officer just couldn't quite take the fact that a Negro presented so fine an appearance. He plans to post bail for the tickets he got, and then go to court and ask for a jury trial when the hearings will be held. He feels a white man would not have been treated so discourteously as he was.

Dr. Mowrey Will Keynote NEA Annual Confab

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—Dr. Corma Mowrey, president of the National Education Association, will make the keynote address at the 47th annual convention of the American Teachers Association opening here August 13 at Alabama State College.

The subject of her speech will me.. "ATA-NEA.. United.. in.. the Current Challenges of the Teaching Profession." Miss Mowrey will speak at the first general meeting of the three-day convention.

The ATA is a national organization of teachers and administrators in education. Delegates from approximately forty states are expected to be in attendance at the annual event.

Miss Mowrey assumed the presidency of NEA at the close of the 88th annual meeting of the association recently held in St. Louis. She previously served one term as first vice-president. Headquarters of the NEA is in Washington, D. C.

Moss H. Kendrix, a member of NEA headquarters staff and convention consultant, will report to the delegate body on the drive for federal aid. He will also participate in a symposium on professional organization.

Dr. George W. Gore, Jr., president of Florida A. and M. College, Tallahassee, is president of ATA. Dr. Councill Trenholm, host college president, is executive secretary of the association.

K. Of C. Chapter Plans Building At Boys Town

The Southern California Chapter of the Knights of Columbus has assumed the building program at Rancho San Antonio, the Boys Town of the West, as an organization project, it was announced this week by Robert J. Magdlen, president of the Rancho board of directors.

Ambrose A. Unger has been appointed chairman of the Southern California Chapter Committee on the Rancho San Antonio drive for funds.

Two thousand dollars will be collected to complete funds for a 30x60 feet swimming pool for the boys, while $8,000 is needed to complete funds for a new chapel, Magdlen said.

American War Mothers

Friendship Chapter 57, American War Mothers, has had a very busy year working with the hospitals. One of their most recent efforts through the help of Mrs. Blanche Hays, first vice-president of the Chapter, was the organizing of Omega Chapter No. 70, American War Mothers in Pasadena. The new Chapter was properly constituted by the State President, Mrs. Gertrude Greenough.

Negro Children, Ill, Forced To Live On Cement Floors In Cabrillo

white tenants occupy all the permanent housing, and Negroes have to remain in the run-down temporary buildings.

We have an anti-discrimination committee here which has helped some but the authorities are so stubborn about maintaining their miserable policy I still have not been able to get a place fit for my little girl whose time on this earth is very limited in any case. I think that the White House Conference ought to look into this business of discrimination in Federal Housing if it is really interested in the welfare of ALL children."

Another woman tells of the case of Mrs. Cora Edwards who has a daughter with a serious case of asthma. On July 28th she was rushed to the doctor with a bad attack. For the second time the doctor wrote a statement recommending moving from the housing with stone floor. When the statement was shown to Mr. John Dawson, the project manager, he said, "If they don't like it there, why don't they move out?"

Mrs. Marjorie Thompson feels that discrimination in the schools has a very bad effect on the "mental, emotional, and spiritual welfare of the children." (This is the theme of the White House Conference.)

Mrs. Thompson says, "Our girls have inferiority feelings in relation to white girls. The teachers aggravate this. One teacher used to work for claimed she didn't have any prejudice, but then she would say things like this: 'Colored boys are so dumb. They make good laborers though.'

"Whenever there is trouble they always transfer the colored girls but never the white. In Poly Hi in Long Beach, they organize the basketball teams according to group. They are either all Negro, all Japanese, or all white. . . . Our children never get to be yell leaders and thinks like that. There are many activities our children can't get into."

When the women were reminded that the recent PTA convention considered that peace was the most important child care issue today, since failing to accomplish this purpose "our children will have little opportunity for growth, freedom or even life itself," everyone was in agreement. A Stockholm Peace petition was filled out.

Since most of the women belonged to the Dorrie Miller unit of the American Legion Auxiliary it was decided to try and get the unit to send a delegation to the Los Angeles Conference on Children and Youth to be held at Pepperdine College on September 16th.

Another meeting of the same group of women was planned for the following week on the other side of town in order to involve other friends who had not been present at the home of Mrs. Powell.

Robeson Hits Cancellation Of Passport

NEW YORK—Paul Robeson, internationally famous concert artist, whose passport was arbitrarily cancelled by the State Department last week, has demanded an explanation for the unprecedented act.

Pointing out that his passport is necessary in order for him to fill concert engagements abroad and thus earn his livelihood, Robeson characterized the State Department action as "another blatant example of the Truman administration to silence the protests of the Negro people."

In recent years, Robeson's concert appearances in this country have been before progressive audiences only. Throughout the music capitals of the world, the eminent baritone has been applauded by capacity audiences.

Because of his militant stand against Jimcrow and the second class citizenship status of the Negro people, Robeson has earned the disfavor of official and lay leaders of the American white supremacy ideal.

Progress on research with feed crops in the South suggests that in the future Southern farmers may be able to grow enough feed to support three times their present livestock numbers.

Demand Army Investigate Discrimination In Asia

NEW YORK—(ATLAS)—An immediate investigation "of the manner in which Negro troops are treated in Tokyo, and the elimination of racial discrimination so persistently reported" has been asked by Roy Wilkins NAACP administrator, in a letter to Frank Pace, Jr., Secretary of the Army.

Suporting his demand for an investigation, Mr. Wilkins submitted the following quotation from a letter received from an informant in Tokyo:

"The American public ought to know that racial discrimination here is as flagrant as it is in Georgia. And if the occupation is doing anything successfully in Japan, it is successfully indoctrinating the Japanese with the 'American way of Life' which excludes full freedom of anything to many people, especially Negroes.

In many places such as the PX and commissary, one can notice how Japanese clerks in so many instances, turn without question to wait on a white face first. Much of this I know to be the deep influence of the Army's southern element (which is in great number.")

In his letter to the Secretary of the Army, dated July 21, Mr. Wilkins further stated: "Quite apart from the fact that some of the strategy of the Korean war is to disabuse the minds of the Koreans and others that this is a racial war and that this strategy is seriously impared by the practice of racial discrimination by the occupation forces of the United States, no American Negro troops should have to undergo this kind of treatment at hands of their country in 1950."

marriage took place before she had obtained a final divorce decree from a former mate.

Atty. Crispus A. Wright, who appeared in domestic relations court last week for his client, Mr. Boss, told the court that the couple were married in July of 1947 and have no issue. Mrs. Boss, represented by a downtown law firm, entered a cross complaint seeking a divorce.

Mr. Boss presented a record of his marriage as proof that it was impossible for the couple to have legally wed because Mrs. Boss's divorce decree would not have become final until the following September.

Superior Judge Mildred L. Lillie took the matter under submission Thursday when certain other testimony was introduced to show that Boss himself might have also entered the marriage contract without waiting for his divorce from an earlier marriage to become final.

The SIDEWALK

By C.A.B.

Some of the crimes committed on the floor of our Congress would put to shame many of the smaller nations, not in the category of great democracies, should such acts be committed by their government officials.

August, the hot month of the year, marked the opening of a rather hot season in the Congress of the United States.

It seems that William L. Patterson, prominent Negro leader and executive secretary of the Civil Rights Congress, while at a House Lobbying Committee meeting, failed to receive a civil reception from the members of the committee. And after two hours heckling and harrassing, Patterson indicated he did not expect anything better from a representative in Congress, especially from a Congressmen from Georgia, a lynch state.

The idea of even a cultured Black man like William Patterson, for such he is, looking a white Georgia suppremacist in the eyes and telling him what he thought of him and his state, so irked the Georgia Congressman that he lunged at the CRC leader, screaming, "You b—— s—— of a b——."

And it is said that Congressman Henderson Lanham (Dem. Ga.), if such he must be called, was so infuriated and determined to attack Patterson physically that it took two police officers to calm him.

Bilbo, who is now perhaps chief fireman in hell, had his day in the U. S. Congress and that period was one the decent citizens of this nation thought would not be repeated. But why should the people cherish such hope when Georgia, remains Georgia with a tryant as governor and the lynch law remains in vogue?? When the Ku Klux Klan retains its status quo and the Negro voter is intimidated and thrown into prison, and even murdered if he comes to the polls when his KKK neighbor tells him to stay home?

Our government is big and strong. It is demanding respect and getting it from the other nations of the world.

Now we, the fifteen million Black Americans who have always held aloft the Americcan flag, never allowing it to touch the ground, are asking and demanding the same protection and devotion for our service that we have rendered and are even now rendering in Korea.

We are aware that Congressman Lanham who insults the dignity of our government with his use of profanity on the floor of the Congress, should be impeached and sent home.

But no word of condemnation for his behavior is forthcoming.

But Paul Robeson, because he insists that while we criticize other nations' political, social, and economic programs, we should be criticized for refusing to extend full equal citizenship rights to the 15 million American citizens of whom he is a part —he is considered a menace to our country and his passport is demanded.

The administration apparently feels that its "Voice of America" cannot have voices competing with it such as that of Paul Robeson, asking for justice for Willie McGee, the Trenton Six, the Martinsville Seven, and other victims of lynch justice, and demanding the freedom of African and all other colonial peoples.

In attempting to silence Mr. Robeson, the state Department gives example and encouragement to those fascist-minded elements in America who are only too eager to resort to violence in trampling upon American civil liberties as they did at Peekskill a year ago when they sought to prevent Mr. Robeson from giving a concert. The State Department's action is of a piece with the brutal police assault at Union Square on August 2 when many thousands of people were denied the right of free assembly to hear Mr. Robeson, Dr. W. E. B. Du Bois, and other speakers, and to voice their own demand for peace and the outlawing of the atomic bomb.

The jailing of innocent people, the curtailment of freedom of speech and political dissent, and now the government's infringing the right to travel mark the progress to the fascist state in America.

Our government fears to let the outside world know of the struggle of Negro Americans for justice, just as the government of South Africa and other imperialistic regimes fear too close inspection of the plight of black people in Africa.

The State Department's action will most certainly have the effect of adding to the distrust and enmity which the peoples of Asia and Africa feel toward the American government as a result of its leading role today in maintaining colonial and feudal regimes and blocking the liberation struggles of the Korean and other oppressed colored peoples.

Why shouldn't it?

Dr. H. Weathers Taken By Death

Dr. H. H. Weathers, of St. Louis, Mo., reported last week in critical condition as a result of a brain hemorrhage, passed away Friday, August 4, at St. Mary's Infirmary. Dr. Weathers was the instructor of surgery at the St. Louis University.

Funeral services were held at the St. Luke A.M.E. Church with the eulogy delivered by Father Schwitalla, dean emeritus of the St. Louis University Medical School.

Survivors are Mrs. Alice Weathers, wife, three sons, one daughter, a brother and a sister.

Phoenix' upstairs bedroom. She prevailed upon her husband to go to Phoenix's room with her to listen to the records.

During the concert, Gray became nauseous and went downstairs to the bathroom. He later called to his wife and told her to come down. She did not come, and Gray went upstairs after her.

He allegedly used force, and when they returned to their room, Mrs. Gray says her husband beat and kicked her. She screamed, alarming neighbors who called police.

Phoenix, hearing Mrs. Gray's screams rushed to the room. Gray pulled a pistol and proceeded to beat Phoenix. During the altercation the gun discharged twice. Gray beat Phoenix until he lay on the floor unconscious. Mrs. Gray rolled the prostrate man over. Her husband threatened to shoot her if she put her hands on him again. The police arrived at this point and arrested Gray.

The acoused man has been released under $5,000 bail. He will appear for a preliminary hearing Monday morning in Division 4 of the Municipal court. Attorney Walter L. Gordon, Jr., has been retained to defend Gray. Bond was furnished by the Yvonne Shelton Bonding Co.

Atty. Crispus A. Wright, who represented Mrs. Maxey, alleges Maxey deserted his client whom he married in a small Texas town several years ago. Maxey denied the allegations and told the court his marriage with Mrs. Maxey had never been consumated.

Telephone calls and telegrams to the Texas county seat brought forth court records which supported Mrs. Maxey's complaint. Pending trial, Mrs. Maxey was awarded $100 a month for her support, reasonable attorneys fees and cost of court. Mrs. Maxey is seeking a division and partion of $90,000 and property holdings as community property.

Independent-Progressive Party 2nd Convention, Sacramento, Aug. 5, 6

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 6. — The State Capitol last week-end was the scene for four political conventions.

The two old parties came in high-powered automobiles and parlor cars, looking like millionaires or their substitutes.

The Republicans and Democrats took a firm stand on the side of the President's war program, while the theme of the Progressive Party was Peace.

On the ticket in the November election will be the Democratic, Republican, Independent Progressive, and Prohibition candidates.

As was to be expected of the issues endorsed by the Republicans met also the approval of the Democrats. The Republicans pledged their "inexorable, unflinching loyalty and support" to President Truman on Korea. The Democrats also endorsed Truman's policy in Korea.

In contrast to the stand taken by the two old parties, the IPP in its State platform said: "At the birth of our party in 1948 . . . we pointed out that the two old parties, obedient to the forces of big business and the military, prepare for war in the name of peace.

"Today the fruition of that policy has involved us in a conflict in Asia, while on the home front, the same old parties, grown desperate and fearful of the awakening of the American people, hurry to kill freedom here at home."

The delegates approved the recent statement adopted by the national committee of the progressive party, seeking an end to hostilities in Korea. They voted unanimously to send wires to President Truman, Atty-Gen. J. Howard McGrath, and the Senate Judiciary Committee, protesting the jailing of Harry Bridges.

The IPP called for a UN treaty outlawing atomic weapons and proposed a "conference between American and Soviet officials" for the purpose of reaching a settlement of "outstanding international issues." The IPP also came out especially for national, state, and locacl FEPC laws, and the protection of the rights of Communists and all other minority groups, no matter what their economic, religious, or political views.

Reuben Borough, of Los Angeles, was elected state chairman. He succeeds Hugh Bryson, president of the Marine Cooks and Stewards who was the founding chairman of the IPP in California. According to law Bryson coculd not run this year, as the chairmanship of each political party rotates between north and south, and it was Southern California's turn this year.

Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor and publisher of The California Eagle, Los Angeles, and Paul Heide, of Oakland, leader in the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, were elected co-chairmen. Frances Williams, Los Angeles, was eleccted secretary; and George Walsh, San Francisco longshoreman and candidate for secretary of state, was elected treasurer. Martin Ludwig will continue as state director.

Vice chairmen are: Hugh Bryson, Henry Mariott, San Francisco; Ed Dries, Santa Cruz; Virginia Ruiz, Los Angeles; Veda Arnould, San Diego; and Mary Brownwon, Richmond.

National committee members will be: Harry Bridges, ILWU president who was sent to jail in San Francisco just as the convention assembled; Mrs. Bass, Miss Ruiz, Mr. Heide, William Elconin, Elinor Kahn, Harold M. Sawyer, Howard Voch and Sam Miller.

The addresses, discussions, and informal talks showed the fighting spirit of the IPPers, with no intention of giving up the struggle for the principles for which the party was founded. A few of those addresses are given elsewhere in the EAGLE.

The Democrats elected former Assemblyman Glenn M. Anderson, of Hawthorne, as their state chairman; and the Republicans chose T. H. Delap, former state senator of Richmond, as their chairman.

Jilted Swain Sues To Recover Gifts From Girl Who Wed Another

This is one for Ripley. Or it may rival the ancient wheeze of "man bites dog" as an unusual news story. But reversing the usual procedure in which the aggrieved female sues the philandering male for breach of promise, Atty. Curtis C. Taylor last week filed suit for heavy damages against attractive Vera B. Greenwood, for Edward W. Boykin. The complainant is an important employee in the government administration at Sawtelle.

Boykin charges that he and Miss Greenwood have for a long time been parties to a romance that seemed ideal, and which had blossomed into engagement and preparations for marriage. Looking forward to this he had showered her with gifts and had made personal changes in his own life and customs, looking forward to a pleasanter one with her.

Crowning item among the expensive presents and cash, Mr. Boykin declares he gave her a fine 1949 Buick Roadmaster, because she had expressed a desire for it.

Jilted!

However he was rudely awakened rfom his roseate dreams of future bliss, when he read in a weekly paper that in an elaborate ceremony his fiancee had married Dexter T. Cleveland, an employee of the Golden State Mutual Insurance Co.

Now his injured feelings cannot be remedies, he declares, but he can, he insists, be legally reimbursed for his expenditures. Hence his counsel will, when the hearing, (which promises to be sensatioial) is held, demand the return of the car. He will also ask repayment for all presents, and return of cash advanced to his former bride-to-be.

Juanita Berry Exonerated In Marijuana Case

Juanita Berry, an actress, and Billy "Mushmouth" Smith, an entertainer, were exonerated early this week of suspicion violating the health and safety code, and released from custody. Miss Berry and Smith had been arrested in the company of Creme Helen Del, stripteuse, and Anna Hill in front of a liquor store at 2002 W. Manchester boulevard.

The quartet were seated in a car when policemen R. W. Davis and R. J. Long approached. The officers requisitioned three marijuana cigarets concealed in the brassiere of Anna Hill who is 21 and lives at 1948 W. Jefferson.

Police later released Smith and Miss Berry. Creme Dell and Anna Hill were released under bail to be tried later.

43rd Grand Lodge Session

The 43rd biennial Grand Lodge session of the United Brothers of Friendship, Sisters of Mysterious Ten, Princess Council, Royal House, and Juveniles, California, Washington and Oregon jurisdiction, has just closed another successful session. It opened with memorial services at the Lewis Metropolitan Church, C.M.E., Rev. T. A. Sears, minister, on Sunday, June 25.

The session proper opened Monday morning with Grand Master E. W. Fisher and Grand Princess Winnie B. Pope, residing throughout. Highlights of the convention were the timely talk made by the California State Assemblyman, Hon. Augustus F. Hawkins on Monday evening at the public receiption; and the reading of the original charter showing that the Grand Temple of this jurisdiction was organized on September 27, 1913, at San Diego by National Grand Master Speed, since deceased.

Closing two successful financial years, the body was unanimous in voting to support the FEPC bill and the Civil Rights bill, as recommended by Grand Master Fisher.

Officers elected were: E. W. Fisher, Grand Master; Carl Chatman, Deputy Grand Master; Myrtle Chatman, Grand Princess; Minnie Mae Higsby, Vice Princess; Annie E. Seldon, Grand Secretary; Mary McAdoo, Grand Secretary of Relief, and Emmeline J. Brown, Treasurer.

Board of Directors: Thomas B. Norman, chairman; Willie R. Willingham, Mary McCrary, Virginia Curry, Lucy Norwood, Georgia A. Jackson and Hilda Clisby.

Miss Shirlee Arbaugh was appointed organist for the year. Corrine Rodgers, assistant secretary, reporter.

Five hundred delegates from principal cities on the west coast will meet in the first regional conference of the Far Western Councils of the National Council of Negro Women, Inc. to be held Saturday and Sunday, August 12 and 13, in the Golden State Insurance Company auditorium, 1999 West Adams Blvd.

New York Pythians End Jimcrow

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y.—(CNS)—One of the world's greatest fraternal movements, THE KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS, was notified, this week, by the N. Y. State members, 80,000 strong, in convention, that dues will be withheld from the National Lodge unless the "white only" restriction is removed from membership blanks, at least in New York.

Delegates to the State Convention adopted a resolution offered by the Civil Rights Committee of the New York Lodge. U. S. Senator Lehman is a member of Columbus Lodge, No. 338, New York. He termed the restriction "un-American."

The group will carry their demand to the National Convention at Grand Rapids, Michigan, August 14th.

Suspect Held In Shooting And Robbery

William McReynolds, 40 of 719 E. 121st Street was arrested earlier this week by homicide Sgt. Sid. Jollivet and Sgts. J. L. Williams and E. C. Teel of the Firestone Sheriff's sub-station, as a suspect in the surprise burglary shooting of 27-year-old Hoarito Thrower in the office of the Landier Transit Co. at 2251 E. 97th Street.

Thrower was shot in the chest early Monday morning by a burglar he surprised when he opened the door to the office. He is reported to be in a critical condition.

The thief or thieves escaped with $500, taken from the office safe. McReynolds denies he had anything to do with the robbery or the shooting of Thrower. He has retained attorney Rayfield Lundy to defend him.

The Sheriff's officers plan to continue their investigation.

The Progressive Party Policy

True to form the Progressive Party has not equivocated, retracted or even wavered from its platform adopted at the founding convention at Philadelphia, July 23-25, 1948.

The ringing slogan of that first convention was: Peace, Freedom, and Abundance.

At Sacramento last week where the second State convention was held, that same slogan was heard and adopted. Five years after the end of the second world war, the drums are beating for a third. Civil liberties are being destroyed. Millions cry out for relief from unbearably high prices. The American way of life is in danger.

The Progressive Party believes differences between nations which threaten world peace can be resolved only by conferences and negotiations, and not by force. That the people can enjoy abundance only if the vast resources of our land are used for the welfare of all the people, and not for the profits of the few.

The Progressive party is the people's party. From the top level to the bottom, all racial elements are equal, working together with peace as their noblest aim. They contend that the Truman Doctrine with its cold war aspects, the Marshall Plan, the North Atlantic Pact, and the arms program, have failed.

In no uncertain language the Progressive Party condemns the use of the atom bomb.

The people who are tired of war and deception, realize that the two major political parties have failed them in the establishment of adequate housing and jobs; in giving them freedom from fear of starvation and the ravages of war.

They will turn now to the Progressive Party, knowing full well that the liberty of a democracy is not safe if the people tolerate the growth of private power to a point where it becomes stronger than their democratic state. This, they realize, is Fascism.

Believe It or Not

Man's most precious possession is health, however often he neglects to observe and practice small attentions and needs to keep him healthy.

We cultivate flowers by fertilizing and watering and digging away the weeds that sap their strength.

We feed our chickens the sort of food that makes for good health. The same caution is used in hog and other food-producing animals.

Race horses are examined daily. Heart and muscular action watched carefully.

But strange as it sounds we pay little attetion to our own physical fitness. Food, aside from satisfying hunger for the time, comes in for small consideration. We visit a doctor when we are attacked by some disease caused by an overworked heart or a poisoned blood stream.

Tuberculosis is one of the greatest killers we have to contend with. It takes its toll in thousands annually in our community. The lives of many tubercular victims could be saved if they would start in time to drive off the intruder.

The Los Angeles County X-Ray Survey Foundation is making it possible for you and your children from 15 years of age and over, to have a free X-ray examination.

Don't wait. Go to the nearest X-ray station and find out the condition of your chest. An examination in time may save a life.

Take as much thought for your health, and the health of your children, as you do for your flowers, and pigs and chickens.

Is It a Crime to Advocate Peace?

The case of William F. McCarthy, the 38-year-old merchant seaman who waved a placard and made a speech from atop a lamp-post in New York in favor of world peace, is the answer to this question.

The seaman had one eye pretty nearly blinded, his ribs knocked in. As a matter of fact Mr. McCarthy's body is a mass of sores and bruises from police kicks and beatings.

At present McCarthy is in a New York City hospital, awaiting the decision of the hospital physicians as to whether or not his kidneys, his eye, and other members of his body will ever again be useful.

It has come to the attention of the editor of The California Eagle that an Eastside merchant threatened to call the police when persons getting signatures on peace petitions came into his store.

It is a well known fact that certain individuals, newspapers, and organizations advocating a peaceful settlement of the Korean sham-battle are pronounced subversive.

So it seems that we have come to this crossroad—a desire for peace spoken out loud is tantamount to the commitment of a crime.

Study the picture on the first page and you will see a sight, as one New York reporter said, that will make you vomit unless you have a very strong stomach.

It all happened because some honest citizens held a peace demonstration in New York's Union Square last Wednesday, a week ago.

New York's Mayor O'Dwyer and the City Fathers seemed to think that we should be too busy fighting to make democracy work in Korea to find time for peace demonstrations in this country.

One of Mayor O'Dwyer's officers, if you notice closely in the picture, put his foot on the neck of a Negro lad while another officer twisted his prostrate body and threw him in the wagon.

New York's Mayor O'Dwyer commended his officers for doing a good job.

But there are others in New York and all over the nation who violently disagree with the New York police and the mayor, and among them are the American Labor Party, Progressive Party, Civil Rights Congress, New York Council of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions American Communications Association, and United Office and Professional Workers of America.

Because these organizations, with many others, are always in front protesting police brutality, racial discrimination, lynchings, and the like, the war-mongers who profit by war at the expense of the lives of those who fight the wars, they are called enemies of the government.

When the people finally grow weary of war and its ravages on their homes, their happiness and even their lives, they will rise up and drive the traitors out of our government, even as Jesus drove the cheaters out of the house of prayer.

And then we shall have peace and plenty. And it will not be a crime to desire peace.

Tokyo, Korea—Georgia

While our boys of the 24th Division (Negro) are shedding their blood in Korea to prevent those men and women of a different color from their overlords to decide for themselves what form of government they want, the NAACP in Washington, D. C., is receiving complaints from GI's in Tokyo that the discrimination there is the same as in Georgia.

A news report reads: Army Secretary Frank Pace, Jr., at Washington, is in receipt of a demand for an investigation of racial bias against Negro troops in Tokyo. The demand was made by Administrator Roy Wilkins, NAACP, in a letter stating he had been informed that an official army order restricts Negro troops to one of four swimming pools controlled by occupation forces and that the Japanese are being indoctrinated in favor of discrimination, largely by American Southerners in the armed forces.

Administrator Wilkins also included a quotation from a letter he had received from a GI: "The American public ought to know that racial discrimination here is as flagrant as it is in Georgia."

Is THIS what American boys are asked to die for?

Mailed Fist, Velvet Glove

Many of the 300 persons who face the bench in Division 29 of Los Angeles traffic courts each day have the grim look of victims destined for the guillotine.

For a few this dread is justified.

Via the grapevine they already know the record of the balding young man with the gentle voice and the probing eyes who sits in judgment on their misdeeds. The citizen with previous record of repeated major traffic convictions has real enough reason to fear the ordeal. For such as these, the judge's manner can undergo an abrupt change. Then his voice can become as final and unrelenting as the click of a jail door lock.

Thirty-three-year-old Judge A. J. Bernhardt wasn't sent down to Division 29 to play legal patty cake with the boys. He's taking his job seriously, one he defines as an effort to cure the reckless and negligent driver of that specific malady. In the few weeks he's been on the traffic bench, Judge Bernhardt appears to have begun a check of the epidemic nature of the ailment, particularly in those cases where it recurs. Then the needle, sometimes with barbs on it, gets a good workout.

RAPHAEL KONIGSBERG

SUCH A VICTORY!

The boastful accounts of U. S. "victories" over the USSR in the current United Nations meetings reminds one of the French general who lamented, after one of his country's wars—which France won, but lost much of her manpower and resources in the process: "Another such victory and France will be no more."

The press reports that the U. S. "stole a march on the Russians" by proposing condemnation of North Korea as the first item on the agenda—that this was "calculated to provoke the Russians" —that this move had the "obvious purpose of putting Russia on the defensive . . " When the Soviet's effort to expel Chiang Kai-Shek's hatchet-man was defeated, we are told that "The Soviet delegate took his defeat calmly."

One may well ask, Who was defeated in this action? Was it Mr. Malik who sought to obtain representation in the UN for the Chinese Republic, which must be seated sooner or later? Or, was it Mr. Austin who used American power to defend the Chinese traitors, whom his own State Department has damned as corrupt and undemocratic?

Whose action was calculated to uphold the charter of the UN and save it as an instrument for peace and justice? Malik's, who urged the admission of the new China so as to rebuild the only kind of UN which can achieve a constructive solution to the Korean tragedy? Or Austin's, who fought to perpetuate the dishonesty and illegality of the UN's conspiracy in Korea?

Sense of Guilt?

Why didn't the American representative answer Malik's charge that we are guilty of aggression in Korea? Surely this charge reflects on our honor and should have been met at least as bravely as Austin defended the murderer Chiang. Some people may think that all this argument over the agenda and Chiang was a diversion to keep from answering that charge. And others will wonder if the calculated efforts to provoke the Soviet Union is the best way to prove the sincerity of our professed aims in Korea.

What kind of satisfaction or moral prestige can we derive from a purchased parliamentary victory? Our paid clique can give us majority votes from now till doomsday—but the people whom they are supposed to represent will not. It will be doomsday for our planners if they build their policies on any contrary assumptions.

What is it we are so hotly defending in Korea anyway? Our officials say it's the South Korean government, "a truly democratic government" in the eyes of the bi-partisans who built it. (Gov. Warren says it's really Russia we're fighting in Korea.) But the South Korean government was defeated in the election held just a month before it provoked civil war. Syngman Rhee's party got just 22 seats (11%) out of a total of 209 in the Congress. This despite Rhee's use of troops and terror and arresting opposition candidates.

If it's not the government we're defending, then it must be the Korean people. But, can we say we're defending them when they so decisively rejected the Rhee gang (consisting of traitors and Japanese collaborators) which we foisted upon them? The refusal of the vaunted South Korean army to fight and the widespread resentment against our intervention in their civil war gives us the answer.

The Simple Truth

We are left fighting the Korean people—with the arrogance of the white supremecists. We are fighting a people with a recorded history of 4000 years—who used moving metal type for printing 50 years before Gutenberg, who built iron-clad ships 300 years before we made the Monitor and Merrimac. These people our laws say are unfit to become American citizens—and we claim we are at war to defend their liberties.

The simple truth is that this Christian nation (as Truman describes it) is trying to take up the unholy "white man's burden" which the British, French and Dutch tyrants are no longer able to carry. This is a futile effort to reverse the course of history.

That this is the purpose of our Korean gamble is proved by Truman's original orders to intervene in Formosa (which even the British are objecting to). It is proved by the announcement that "The U. S. has decided to give full diplomatic support to Nationalist China"—which the U.P. dispatch calls "a diplomatic about-face." And it is proved again by the press trial balloons on August 5 stating that MacArthur believes that "American efforts in Korea will be useless unless the U. S. is ready to meet the Communist challenge everywhere else in Asia . . ."

This time MacArthur isn't just shooting his mouth off. Are we prepared to go to war with 450 million Chinese, the 80 millions in Indo-China, the many millions more throughout Asia? Is the United States prepared to take on all the colored peoples of the earth—who constitute two-thirds of mankind? Has the slave-holding mentality of the South become the basis of America's foreign policy as well as its domestic scourge?

What madness is this. Do our Forrestals in the government think they will succeed where all other tyrants have failed—even with their atom bombs? Do they think that the oppressed millions, who at last are building a better life for themselves, will welcome us, will welcome a new oppression? They will fight. And the lessons of history show that we would lose.

Surely, the energy and lives and resources which we are expanding in this Asian adventure are worthy of a far more honorable cause than the evil Chiangs and Rhees and the white man's ancient curse.

LABOR ON THE MARCH

Planned, Orderly Retreat

Significantly, the CIO is beating a retreat along the same road on which it marched to impressive leadership of great masses of workers. Organized when the cult-like AFL turned its back on the industrial field in order to obviate the necessity of taking in Negro workers, the CIO gained strength through fighting for and with the Negro workers.

JOHN M. LEE

Tied in with the basic question of organizing the unorganized in all areas, was the related question of extending opportunity and security to Negro and other minority workers. Security and advancement were indivisible. The CIO recognized that unorganized masses meant a weak labor movement, threatened constantly by possible exploitation and strike-breaking through the utilization of a great reservoir of job-hungry and embittered Negro workers.

It was plain horse sense that prompted the CIO to espouse the cause of the Negro workers in the first place. The great love and brotherly feeling came a bit later as a sort of self-righteous afterglow. Much later, the moving cause of justice and extended freedom for all the Negro people was emblazoned on the CIO escutcheon.

Having mouthed platitudes and shouted slogans, dedicated to the great American pastime of playing football with the civil rights of American Negroes, the CIO subjected itself to a sort of self-hypnosis. It came to believe that to say a thing was to have it done, and in no time at all, the CIO was saying much and doing little for the Negro worker.

But this was not the end. It could not be, for by this time there were vast number of Negro workers enrolled as members. Their very presence was an embarrassment, and what was worse . . . there were those who sincerely believed in the underlying principles represented by the platitudes and the slogans. Those who believed, acted to implement their belief, and greater embarrassment ensued.

The time had now come to abandon the Negro workers altogether. It could not have been done through the directness of a purge, but it was done by launching an all-out assault on the allies and supporters of the Negro workers in the CIO. Aided by hysteria and the sell-out leadership of a few hand-picked Negro stooges, the CIO was able to immobilize the militancy of its Negro members.

However, there remained what the CIO termed, "a nosey minority" of so-called small unions. These unions fought uncompromisingly for local autonomy, political freedom and outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley Law as they contended for and put into effect the real principles of trade union democracy. With one or two exceptions, they were expelled.

The CIO was in full retreat. Its apologists explained that this was no retreat; rather they characterized it as a planned, orderly withdrawal to a more patriotic and (incidentally) strategic position. Weakened in numbers and prestige, and bound by secret compact and agreement to the interests of the employers, the CIO beat its breast with the pitiful enthusiasm of an idiot, and proclaimed to the world that it never felt better in its life.

From its position of abject obeisance at the feet of the very forces it was organized to combat, the CIO learned the lesson of true humility. It no longer had the spirit to oppose. There was only sweetness and light, and the desire not to do anything to embarrass Mr. Truman and his government.

It is only natural that, pursuing such a course of almost slavish devotion, the CIO would come to the point it reached last week when it took the first step to turn over the whole works to the FBI and the Labor Department. This in the name of security, of course, but actually because that was the intent in the first place.

The final phase of retreat will come when large numbers of CIO members are forbidden to work . . . and are finally expelled. The purpose will have been fully accomplished. The strongest hope of labor to arise in a generation will have been killed, and the system will be saved. That is the way it is blueprinted.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Letter to editor ....

Dear Mrs. Bass:

To pay the great debt of gratitude for your kindness is impossible. I thank you very kindly for publishing my poem (Negro Freedom) in your last week's paper.

Everyone needs the help of God ,especially leaders like yourself. So I have written the enclosed poem for you. Please accept it, but do not publish it.

Yours truly,
Veril Lee Riser

Mrs. Charlotta Bass
California Eagle
4075 S. Central Ave.
Los Angeles 11, California

Dear Mrs. Bass:

Many compliments have been expressed on the splendid manner in which the story of the recent General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists was told in the California Eagle. Many people have been made Eagle conscious because of this fine issue.

There are still other individuals who are anxious to obtain copies of the paper. If you still have fifty or seventy-five copies of that issue on hand, I would like to place it in several of our churches so that the members desiring this particular issue might be able to obtain it. I shall come by the office to pick the issue up.

May continued success attend you in your very fine work.

Very cordially yours,
Owen A. Troy

ELCTIONS IN WEST AFRICA

Said Anthony Eden in a debate on colonial affairs in the House of Commons:

I am not comforted in the matter by some accounts that I have read of the elections which have taken place in parts of West Africa and the way in which they were conducted. For instance, there were the municipal elections at Accra. Perhaps I might read this account from "West Africa" of what went on. When the voter came along, he was asked:

"What is your name? What is your house number? Is it down here? Ah, yes. Who are you voting for? Mr. Alema? Right. Next please."

That may be a good way of recording votes, but no one will suggest that it has anything to do with a secret ballot. I do not know to which party Mr. Alema belonged, but the point I am making is that this is not a good way to conduct an election to an authority to which we are to pass much more power than it has hitherto had.

DEMOS IN HOT FIGHT OVER KOREA

A last minute attempt to force the Los Angeles County Democratic Committee to endorse the Truman conduct in Korea, was blocked at a meeting of the committee on Tuesday evening.

A resolution was offered endorsing President Truman's sending of troops to Korea and the entire American attitude in the Korean war, just when it was time to dismiss. In the furor which the resolution aroused, the janitors who were waiting to clean the room, flicked off the lights as a broad hint several times.

Those who favored the resolution wanted to force it through willy-nilly, and persistently refused to let it go until the next meeting. Finally upon a show of hands, the "No's" were decided to have it, and the resolution was put off until the September meeting.

The old gags of "Communism," "Reds," etc. etc. were used with vitriolic effect, and even after the meeting adjourned little groups gathered in the halls in heated discussion.

Resolutions adopted were: a condemnation of the City Council for rent de-control with a request to Pres. Truman and Housing Expediter Wood to re-establish control; support of the news vendors in their fight against discrimination; condemning the dismissal of 157 members of the faculty of UCLA for refusing to sign loyalty oath; and recommendation to vote "No" on Proposition 10 on the November ballot, a phony proposition that would force a special election every time a new housing project was to be built.

Proposition 10 was characterized as the "last dying gasp of those who have been profiting by no housing."

By WILLIAM MANDELL

In Lithuania and most of Latvia, both under German occupation, there established the "independent" regimes that held power until 1940. After the Armistice, the German forces played their role under Allied sanction. In Georgia a Menshevik government remained in power after November 7, 1917, and in Azerbaijan a nationalist group temporarily seized control later, but they failed to repress the popular desire to follow the Russian example. Unwilling to yield, these governments placed themselves under the protection of Germany's Turkish ally, whose troops entered the country. Under their pressure, Georgia and also Armenia, which had followed a similar course of development, proclaimed their independence of Russia.

On November 27, 1917, Stalin went to Finland and addressed a Congress of the Finniah Social-Democrats, the country's majority party. He promised "complete freedom for the organization of their lives for the Finns, as for all the other people of Russia. A voluntary and honorable alliance of the Finnish and Russian Peoples. No tutelage or surveillance from above over the Finnish people."

The Finns chose to go their own way. The Soviets redeemed Stalin's pledge by officially recognizing Finland's independence on December 31. This helped swing the scales toward the leftists, and early in 1918 a Soviet-type government was established in the populous southern part of the country. Svinhufrud, the head of the former regime, fled to the north, and called for German help. The Germans under General von der Goltz placed Svinrufrud back in power. In gratitude, he and Baron Mannerheim got the Diet to declare Finland a monarchy. Their invitation to the German Prince of Hesse to rule the country fell through on Germany's defeat.

After repeated appeals to all the warring powers for a general armistice had failed, the Soviet government signed the peace of Brest-Litovsk with the Germans on March 3, 1918, but not before the latter had occupied Estonia and the free portion of Latvia, Belorussia, the Ukraine, the Crimea and Rostov-on-the-Don. They remained in these vital agricultural and industrial areas until the end of the World War, when the Soviets abrogated the Brest Treaty (November 13, 1918). The Allies proceeded to land troops and organize rebellions within the country. Premier Clemenceau of France wrote bluntly:

"The inter-allied plan of action . . . interdicts to the Bolsheviks access to the Ukraine regions, the Caucasus, and Western Siberia."

By September of 1918, when the Germans still held huge territories, the Allies had taken Murmansk and Archangel and much of Central Asia. Through the Czechoslovak Corps, they also occupied the Urals, Siberia and the Middle Volga region. The Soviet government controlled only European Russia proper, from Leningrad (then Petrograd) through Moscow to Stalingrad (then Tsaritsin) and the grain country north of the Caucasus. That was the most difficult period the Soviet government has ever known, far worse than the crises of 1941 and 1942.

Soviet victory in the wars of 1918-1920 was facilitated by the war-weariness first of the German troops, and then those of the Allies, Lloyd George, the British Prime Minister, speaking to the Allied leaders at Paris on January 21, 1919, said:

"Canada had decided to withdraw the troops, because the Canadian soldiers would not agree to stay and fight against the Russians. Similar trouble had also occurred amongst the other Allied troops. And he (George) felt certain that, if the British tried to send any more troops there, there would be mutinty."

Five days earlier he had named other countries specifically:

"If he (George) now proposed to send a thousand British troops to Russia for that purpose, the armies would mutiny. The same applies to the United States troops in Siberia; also to the Canadians and the French as well."

Therefore the anti-Soviet wars were carried on primarily by monarchist Russian forces armed and advised by the Allies. There were also the Poles, financed and supplied by Britain and France, which sent General Weygand to Warsaw. Winston Churchill, then Britain's War Minister, was the chief organizer of the Intervention. A declaration signed by Clemenceau, Lloyd George, Woodrow Wilson, Orlando of Italy and Saionji of Japan, the Big Five of that day, stated:

"The Allied and Associated Governments are . . . disposed to assist the government of Admiral Kolchak and his associates (in Siberia — W.M.) with munitions, supplies, and food to establish themselves as the government of all Russia . . ."

Churchill later boasted that General Denikin in the Ukraine got 250,000 British rifles, 200 guns, 30 tanks, and hundreds of British officers, advisers, and fliers.

The Soviets had not been invited to the Versailles Conference, where this program was formulated.

WAR COMMUNISM

To win, the Soviets had to convert the country into a militay camp. The Red Army was organized. First it consisted of volunteers, then of draftees. Though millions of peasants had walked out of the Tsar's army taking their guns with them, despite its age-long tradition and in the face of drum-head courts martial, they now permitted the Soviet state to separate them again from families they had not seen for three years or more. From a few thousand men early in 1918 the Red Army grew to five millions by 1920.

The fight was also against starvation. In 1918 the bread ration in Moscow and Leningrad fell to an eighth of a pound every other day. There were days when none was available at all. The government organized Committees of the Poor Peasantry. They were given additional land and implements from the great estates in return for helping authorities ferret out grain hidden by the kulaks.

The Committees of the Poor Peasantry existed only during the latter half of 1918. From January 24, 1919, there went into effect the surplus appropriation system, under which all produce above the absolute minimum needed for the peasant's own family was salable to the government at fixed prices. This measure was accompanied by the nationalization of small manufacturing and the grain trade (in addition to the previous socialization of large enterprises). These laws, plus the introduction of compulsory labor service for persons of all classes, regardles sof their means, came to be known as "War Communism."

Around the World

The Council on African Affairs, Inc., of which Paul Robeson is chairman and Dr. Wr. W. E. B. Du Bois, vice-chairman, has issued a statement on its stand on the Korean situation, so vigorous and heartening that we are glad to share it with our readers. The statement was written by Dr. Du Bois. It is entitled "A Protest and a Plea."

A Protest and a Plea

In this deepening crisis of world affairs, the Council on African Affairs wishes to state its own position and that of many friends who agree with it.

We stand for Peace. We believe that the time is past for settling the grave social and political problems of the world by force. We subscribe whole-heartedly to the swelling world-wide declaration against the use of the atom bomb at any time by any civilized nation.

To every objection of this sort here in America, we are given one answer: Communism. And this is the answer not only in the fatal beginning of a third World War, but to every possible question of domestic policy or plan. Always comes the same answer and the same refusal to consider or allow appeal to facts. Today, in the United States, we cannot discuss flood control or natural resources, education or health, unemployment or low wages, or discrimination, lynching and justice in the courts, without straightway being called disloyal traitors and plotters of revolution. The nation is jailing men guiltless of crime, driving the sensitive to suicide, and depriving honest men from earning a living.

Nevertheless, we maintain that it is not treason for us to protest against using black soldiers to reduce free people to slavery. It is not yet treason to work for Peace.

We demand therefore for Korea, as for Africa and the oppressed peoples of the earth, the opportunity to decide what government they will or will not endure. We deny the right of Americans to compel by force the earth to think and act like this country and to submit to that rule of organized wealth which is strangling freedom in this our own land.

LOG CABIN CENTER, Ga.—Dr. Benjamin F. Hubert, executive director of the Association for the Advancement of Negro Country Life, stated that S. J. Phillips, president of the Booker T. Washington Birthplace Memorial, who was selected as general chairman for the 1950 Southwide Soil Conservation Jamboree, was here last week to make all the necessary arrangements for the program which will be held August 18.

A special feature during the 1950 program will be the presentation of "The Burning Bush," a mobile unit carrying a dramatic life of Booker T. Washington, a program of the Booker T. Washington Birthplace Memorial.

TO ENCOURAGE YOUNG WRITERS

Dedicated to JOHN KINLOCH who gave his life fighting for democracy.

WE BELIEVE THAT NOW MORE THAN EVER ALL YOUNG WRITERS MUST BE ENCOURAGED—AND HELP BUILD OUR PEOPLE'S CULTURE. TO ENCOURAGE THEM, WE WILL DEVOTE A FULL PAGE IN EACH ISSUE OF THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE FOR PUBLISHING THEIR WORKS.

COME YE WRITERS! SEND US YOUR ESSAYS, ARTICLES, POEMS, STORIES, SKETCHES—WHATEVER YOU FEEL YOU MUST SAY. KEEP THEM UNDER 1000 WORDS. SEND THEM TO THE EAGLE'S NEST, c/o CALIFORNIA EAGLE, 1055 EAST 41ST STREET, LOS ANGELES.

KINLOCH'S LETTERS

Instead of a letter to his "Aunt Charlotta" this week, the Eagle is publishing a letter and a story which John Kinloch wrote for his mother on her birthday, for the Nest.

Mom, do you remember the short story I read you one night when we lived at 258 West 136th street,—the one that told about the two "sainted" old ladies, ex-shop lifters, who brought cheer and prosperity to a little town in Northern Maine? Remember, Mom, how they gave the town a movie house because they wanted to see some pictures? How they gave it a hospital, a new library, a radio station, a new welfare center. At the end of the story, if you recall, the two elderly ladies had to run away because G-men were on their trail. The townspeople immediately suspected a latter day ascension, sainted the ladies, and planned an annual celebration of their holy coming to Marysville.

I will never forget the fun we had enjoying this story. How we laughed over the cunning deception of the old ladies and how touched we were over their "regeneration." Seldom does a week go by that I don't think of the warmth and gayety of that night.

What happened to the old ladies has always been a question that has bothered me. And maybe it has bothered you, too. So I will attempt to answer it:

The Return of the Sainted Sisters of Marysville

The story, if you remember, was a seven-day wonder. It did more for the circulation of U. S. newspapers than Edward and Wally or the declaration of World War II. It was an earthquake that shook the foundations of the entire network of law enforcement agencies supported by this government. You all know about its sensational climax. Most of you heard it on your radios.

But the whole story has never been told. Not, at least, until now. And here goes:

The stars hung like icy dagger points in the frigid sky over Marysville. First snow had already fallen 2 miles away, on the Canadian side, and winter was at last tiptoeing across the border. It is a time that all the North country loves. Summer's remnants are still visible on the stately New England trees and a hesitating heat still beats down at high noon. But the earth's langourous slumber is ending. Immense and vital, winter sweeps down from the Arctic, brashly hinting of the rage to follow.

Summer is too polite. It is a resting spell between the great annual contest of the elements. This night was tense and brittle in anticipation of the bejeu ferocity to come . . . the flashing volcano of wind, snow and ice which kills the weak of the wilderness, which is like a solemn and tremendous rite of purificating stretching from Nome to Labrador, from the Pole to Albany.

Logically, young Patrick Gabille should have been a very happy man. Yesterday he had been made Sheriff of Mary's County, today he had handled his first case in that lordly position, tonight he should propose to Mam'selle Danielle Heureuse, whose eyes were clear and deep like a night in the woods, who had been to Quebec and Boston and who was undoubtedly the most beautiful woman which a good union of French-Irish blood had ever produced.

But young Patrick Gabille was not happy.

He was unhappy in two ways. First, there was the familiar unhappiness of the man about to propose, the fear of refusal. Then there was another, fiercer unhappiness.

Danielle was magnificent that night. The cold snap had reaped a harvest of scarlet blossoms in her cheeks and her brown hair was alive in the glow of the Heureuse fire place. Mere et Pere had disreetly found urgent business at a neighbor's home when Patrick Gabille came visiting.

For a long time, they had talked of this and that; but now they were silent. Suddenly Patrick was saying the thing he had come to say.

"I have always loved you, Danny, since we were children, just as I have always wanted to be Sheriff of Mary's county. I am now able to support a wife and a family. For that, for me, there is no one but you, Danny." He said this in the curious, dignified manner of a man who is well rehearsed.

Patrick steeled himself for Danny's answer, listening as for the crack of doom.

"Patrick," she said with the shade of French accent which the town's best education had never cured, "you have always known the answer to this. Yes, of course, I am yours forever as I have always been."

Patrick kissed his bride-to-be with precision.

Now she was rattling away after the fashion of women who have won their victory.

"We can be married at the festival of the Sainted Sisters. It is the fifth celebration and the Archbishop from Quebec has said he will come. We will be married by an archbishop! Patreeek! One week is time enough to prepare, n'est pas?

"I shall wear my mother's wedding gown—the lace is 150 years old, they say. Oh, Patreeck, —why is it that the Sheriff he does not wear a uniform? Think of it! We shall be the first to marry at the festival!"

Patrick's other unhappiness was upon him. He sat glumly staring at the floor, into the fire which sent ghoulish shadows careening about the brief Heureuse parlor.

"Patreeck," asked Danny gently, "what is the matter?"

"We cannot be married at the festival."

"But why not?"

"Because there will not be no festival."

"Patreeck!"

"There will be no festival because there are no sainted sisters. They were not from heaven, Danny; they were from Brooklyn.

"Remember the car which was found in the river on the day of the first festival? It was theirs, —a get-away car. Danny, all these years we have loved the memory of two old ladies who are wanted in every town from Portsmouth to Boston."

"But, Patreeck, what for?" The blood had drained from Danny's pretty face.

"Shop lifting. Stealing things from the counters of stores. They had done so for many years. They have now been caught in New York City, the money they have stolen traced to Marysville. To place them in jail, it is necessary only for me to identify them as the Sainted Sisters who spent $60,000 in Marysville within three months!"

Danny was aghast, but her face hardened with quick determination.

"Oh, but you cannot, Patreeck! Remember how it was here before they came? There was always fighting amongst ourselves. Edmond Hewlett and his family had never spoken to Jacques Dupreau and his family, the poor were on relief, not responsible workers as today. Patreeck, it was not so much the hospital or the library or any of that which those old ladies brought to Marysville,—it was the spirit of Love!

"Remember old Cassie Defrange who lived outside of town and spoke to no one? They visited him and talked to him and tended him the night he died. And the O'Rourke's who nearly starved and nobody in the town knew of it—or did anything about it—except them. 'Sainted Sisters,' indeed, Patreeck!"

Danny's eyes flashed sharply.

"Why the festival is a second Christmas—and it's spreading. Next year they plan to celebrate it at Mauvois, across the border. They won't be celebrating any 'shop lifters', as you say. They will be celebrating the love and kindness they brought to us all. Such a spirit we cannot lose, Patreeck. You must not identify them!"

"But, Danny, they know all about it, the N. Y. police. My testimony is formality. Besides, there is my duty . . ."

Patrick Gabille stepped back from the littered desk, exhausted. Sweat tumbled down his spine. He looked into the man's cold face.

"Screwy!" howled police inspector Rainey O'Connor of the commonwealth of New York City. "I have been on the force thirty years and that is the screwiest thing I've ever heard! Whadda you people eat up there—hops?

"Lemme get this straight. You want us to drop the charges against these two old babes on account of they're saints!"

"No, M'sieu, that is not it exactly. You see, it is only the festival which we must save . . . for the spirit of—"

"I know!" bellowed the inspector. "Ya told me. The spirit of brotherly love. But this here is a police department, not a Sunday school!

"Lemme think. Now, is this it: you wanta return the whole $60,000 the old dames chisseled just so we won't jail 'em and mess up this saint business.

"Wait a minute! Where'd you get $60,000 out of a little burg like Marysville? Huh?"

"Well," responded Patrick, "you see, I explained the situation to the selectmen of the town. They pooled all their funds to make up the sum because they feel, as I do, that the money is small compared to the spirit which the sainted sisters brought to our town—and because they love the festival. The secret they will each carry to his grave and the festival wil go on and on and maybe spread all over the country as a second Christmas with all the spirit of loveand kindness and—"

"Shuddup! I know all about the spirit! Tell me, bud, how much did you sink into this thing?"

"All my life's savings, 4,000 dollars," Patrick answered simply.

"This is the SCREWIEST thing I ever heard!"

Police Inspector O'Connor winced. I should have known, he told himself. 10,000 cases for the FBI to check on and they pick this one. It was nice, thought the inspector pitifully, being a big shot. To pound a beat now would be an awful letdown. Would the return call from Washington ever come . . .?

BRr-r-r-ing!

Just as well answer it.

"New York police? O'Connor?" crackled the efficient voice of FBI director Nathaniel Garibaldi Wilcox.

"Uh-ruh." Meekly.

"O'Connor, I have just read the statement you gave my assistant, Herb West. Are you nuts?"

"No, sir. I don't know, sir-I-"

"Do you realize that those old ladies established a radio station in Marysville—two miles from a U. S. border. Why, this is the hottest espionage lead we've had in months. And you tell us something about dropping the case because of a sainted something festival!"

"Well, you see, the Sheriff of the town, a young fellow, he was here—"

"O'Connor, I want the whole story from the beginning—and make it good!"

"Yes, sir. Well, next week is the festival of the Sainted Sisters in Marysville and its got a lotta spirit of love in it, ya see, and . . ."

There was confusion in the division of intelligence (secret service) in the Department of State.

Divisional chief George Hendricks wanted a detailed account of available communication services between the United States and Canada, with special emphasis upon the origin and ownership of radio stations. All had proceeded smoothly until the file on "Origin" was compiled for a small 1,000 watt station in the town of Marysville, Me.

It seemed that the original owners could not be contacted on account of heavenly ascension.

MEMO

From: Geo. Hendricks, divisional chief, intelligence, State Department.

To: Nat Wilcox, FBI director, department of justice.

"What the hell do you mean, 'Can explain whole case of the Sainted Sisters; suspend investigation.'?"

WASHINGTON MERRY GO AROUND

By Drew Pearson & Robert Allen

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18—What kind of whacky feud is on between the department of State's Georgie Hendricks and FBI big shot Nat Wilcox? Yesterday the State department was in an uproar over a case assertedly "bungled" by the G-men. Today Hendericks and Wilcox are cooing like doves. Say the whole thing is settled. Upon questioning, the Secretary of State admitted he does not know what's going on right under his nose.

There was an explosion. You could almost hear the shattering of glass and falling of debris. It was the Secretary of State.

"What!" he boomed into the purple face of George Hendricks. "Do you mean to tell me a sawed off Sheriff from some jerkwater burg in Maine has corrupted the entire law enforcement agency of the United States government? Do you mean—George, did you read that Pearsons—Allen column,—'The Secretary of State admitted he does not know what's going on right under his nose.'

"Why this whole thing amounts to treason! Suppose this is a spy ring in reality, with every law enforcement officer in the country covering up for it! Look what'll happen to the government, the administration — the State department! George, you will be relieved of your duties tomorrow morning. I am releasing to the press this afternoon the whole scandalous story. Before you leave, I want all the government employes involved in this confounded mess brought to Washington for a personal investigation.

"So, I don't know what's going on under my nose! We'll see!"

That afternoon the headlines broke:

CABINET MEMBER CHARGES UNPRECEDENTED GOV'T SCANDAL SECRETARY PROMISES DETAILS AFTER PRESIDENTIAL INTERVIEW HINT FBI, STATE DEP'T SHAKE-UP IN LAW ENFORCEMENT SCANDAL.

And so on and on. For a week, U. S. papers had been building up the President's Thursday address on international affairs. The scandal broke Wednesday morning. In one day national interest shifted completely. If the President must speak, let him, personally, as the executive chief of our government, explain the sensational charges of his Secretary of State. The demand spread in a tidal wave of extras from coast to coast.

By Thursday morning Presidential Secretary Jack Andrews announced a deluge of telegrams unprecedented in administration history.

By Thursday noon, the President had canceled that day's fishing.

The reporters didn't know what to make of it. With the whole nation agog over the alleged government scandal, the President held four hour conferences with as weird a collection of characters as had ever solemnly filed into the White House. Pearson and Allen termed it, "a clambake of gnomes."

"Into the President's office this morning," they continued, "went the strangest collection of citizens these eyes have yet beheld entering sanctum sanctorum. There was the Secretary of State, looking like he'd just finished off a breakfast of ham and nails and tugging at his famous gold-plated biscuit watch at the rate of a hydraulic pump handle. He was followed into the President's office by George Hendricks, divisional chief of intelligence in the State department; Nathaniel Garibaldi Wilcox, FBI gang buster, Inspector Rainey O'Connor of the New York police; Sheriff Patrick Gabille of Marysville Me.; and two unidentified old ladies, looking very much like the pixilated sisters of the flicker, "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town."

At exactly 2:45 Thursday afternoon Jack Andrews released a prepared statement from the President. It said: "In place of my planned talk on international affairs this afternoon at 4 p.m., I shall discuss in full the so-called 'scandal' in U. S. law enforcement agencies." No explanation. Just that.

I was one of the three reporters permitted to hear that broadcast as it was made in the Presi-

SPLASH PARTY

The spacious patio and swimming pool at the home of Dr. and Mrs. John Coleman on S. Arlington was the scene of a gay splash party for the teen-age group of the L. A. Jack and Jills last Tuesday, August 8.

To name a few of the mothers donning pretty cotton frocks and on hand to see that the affair was lots of fun, were (to name a few) Mesdames Helen Hamilton, chairman; Lucille Bowlin and Marjorie DeCosta of Pasadena; Juanita Williams, Marjorie Broady, Corona Baumann, Vera Jackson, Morraine Smith, Madge Shields, Emma Grant, the Provost sisters: Ethel and Cleotha, and many others.

Teen-age members seen in the water, and seeking relief from the summer sun, were Cecelia Renee, Barbara Grant, Halver Miller, Richmona Dunn, Nira Hardon, Chris Lawson, Sidney DeCosta, Beverly and Marlene Crump, Brandon Bowlin, Kerry Jackson, Barbara Weaver, Ann Bradford, Mary Ann Baumann, Earle and Charles Smith and others.

Sunday, August 13, this group will travel via train to the Balboa Park in San Diego for a picnic, and outing. Mesdames Corona Baumann and Juanita Williams are in charge.

Victorian Period Accented At Marlowe-Hughes Wedding

. . . and Her Day was filled with music and the air with love . . . August 6th, her day . . . when she, Rena Anne Marlowe, spoke wedding vows with Howard Hughes at Independent Church with Rev. Clayton D. Russell officiating.

She was the production, the leading lady, and even the scenery on that occasion when she marched down the aisle to the caroling bells attuned to Wagner's Lohengrin.

Patrician Gown

She was a glowing bride in a Patrician gown, rich in wedding tradition with the warmth of a fitted bodice and scolloped neckline complimenting the softness of white slipper satin and its circular train adding a regal note.

A becoming quotation to her gown were the graduated hues of blue her attendants chose. Pearl Marlowe, Dr. Ann Johnson, Catherine Boyd, Jean Dandridge, Leola Landry, and Charlene Fornic were gowned in luxurious Gala blue taffeta, lightly shirred at the shoulders. Miss Thelma Wallace, maid of honor, matched her outfit in Menuhin blue, while Vostile Gipson, matron of honor, in Debutante blue.

Her flower girls, Reve Gipson and Paula Smith, in cludrifts of powder blue net, were adorable. Master John Files was the ring-bearer. Adding a dramatic note to this beautiful wedding party were the handsome white coats worn by ushers Dr. Samuel Marlowe, Lonnie Newton, Bob Sheppard, Joe Marlowe, LaVerne Mack, and Joe Hughes, best man.

Equally stunning was Your directress, the fabulous Leontyne King, wearing a Jacques Fath Original in delicate white organdy cascading down the front in soft tiers, applicqued in fine Cobalt blue lace . . . and co-directress, Wini Orr Smith, in a peach Alyce White gown encrusted in rhinestones.

During the ceremony soloists Buell Thomas and Gwendolyn Harriel sang At Dawning and Grieg's I Love Thee . . . and when Venita Hayden sang All The Things You Are you thought you would cry.

Your Reception

Your reception, following the ceremony, was held at 1215 South St. Andrews place, where many guests and friends gathered to wish you happiness and best wishes.

Your parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel B. Marlowe, were never more proud. Like a bride herself, your mother looked wonderful in her neutral pink with a fluted skirt complimented by a pink hat with matching feathers.

Native Daughter

Yes, it was your moment, Mrs. Howard Hughes. You, who are a member of a pioneer family, who attended Jefferson High school and UCLA, and you, who belong to many clubs . . . Beta Pi Sigma sorority, Business and Professional Women's Club, Good Neighbor and Social Club, and West Indian-American club.

The McCains Of Indianapolis Visit In Los Angeles

Mr. and Mrs. Eschol McCain, of Indanapolis, Ind., motored to this city recently and are the guests of Atty. and Mrs. Ivan Johnson, 697 East Vernon Ave. Mrs. McCain is the step-sister of Mrs. Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. McCain were the dinner guests of Mrs. Mayme Easton Bunch in her beautiful home Tuesday evening.

Atty. and Mrs. Johnson entertained at dinner last Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. F. Barker, of Kansas City, Kans.; Mrs. Camille Hood, of Cincinnati, Ohio; Mrs. James Vena, Los Angeles; and Mr. and Mrs. McCain.

Simon-Perry Ceremony Punctuated With Beauty Of Bold Summer Red

Independent Church was the scene of two beautiful weddings last Sunday afternoon. Decor included a huge wedding band, heavily banked with gladioli, roses, and foliage. Miss Iretha Darlene Simon and Mr. Allan Dunbar Perry were united in marriage by Rev. Clayton D. Russell at 3 p.m.

Happy Sentiment

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. William Simon, marched down the aisle, sentimentally happy in a majestic bouffant white Chantilly lace gown caught up with exquisite satin valances featuring an ever-so-sheer yoke and a skirt sweeping gracefully from a pointed waist into a full flowing train. She wore an organge blossom tiara with a fingertip veil and carried a bouquet of white gladioli and orchids.

To mark this memborable occasion, bridesmaids—Jerry Johnson, Gladys McDough, Doris Grissmore, Lucy Rogers and Gloria Hemphill — chose angle-length misty organdy with wide berthas and cartwheel hats accented with bold red bands and cascading bouquets of red carnations. Mrs. Harriet Wadley, matron of honor, complimented her sister's gown in the same matching organdy. Little Misses Gloria Jean Johnson and Sherrill Jean Townsend were the flower girls while Master Bubby Crump acted as ring-bearer.

The groom was attended by James Hoskins, best man; Johnny Johnson, William Bridges, Wilson Alexander, Charles Stevens, William Josey, T. Johnson, and Oscar Morgan.

Reception at Wilfandel

Immediately following the ceremony guests made their way to the Wilfandel clubhouse, where the reception was held. The table was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake and at either end two large punch bowls attended by two lovely hostesses. The newlyweds received gifts too numerous to mention.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Thelma Simon, mother of the bride, from St. Louis, Missouri, and Mr. Edward Laine, the

Clubs The Social Scene Parties

TO STUDY ABROAD: "Velva Lorette" Henderson, wife of Dr. J. Raymond Henderson, minister at Second Baptist Church, will be guest of honor at a Parisian Bon Voyage party, given by her husband, on Aug. 14th at 8:00 p.m. at Second Baptist Church.

Mrs. Henderson plans to study at a Parisian School of Millinery.

She is wearing two of her latest creations in black velvet. The top hat is trimmed with jet black Goura feathers, lower is trimmed with a black Bird of Paradise. (See story.)

Bon Voyage Party, Mrs. Henderson To Study Abroad

More than three hundred members and friends of Second Baptist Church will attend the elaborate Parisian Bon Voyage party honoring Mrs. "Velva Lorette" Henderson, the minister's wife on Aug. 14, in the social hall of the church from 8:00 p.m. until.

The charming Mrs. Henderson, who holds a professional title of "Velva Lorette" originator of beautiful hats, will add the Parisian touch to her millinery trade by studying under the masters for the subtle elegance that Paris affords. Paris always has been the world's seat of fashion, therefore, she feels it is worth going there to obtain advanced knowledge. Mrs. Henderson, who has studied under local milliners and French designers is anxious to give her patrons the very best that is to be offered.

The feature of the evening will be the apeparance of more than thirty women wearing hats designed by Mrs. Henderson.

She holds a B.A. degree from Wiley College, Marshall, Texas, and is a member of the A. K. A. sorority.

Outstanding Work

Mrs. Henderson is not only an artist increating hats, but a loyal worker in the church. She is the leader of the Recruiters League, organized by her, one of the live wire organizations of the church which is responsible for increasing the membership and placing now members in different organizations. To date the League has been responsible for furnishing and decorating the Ladies Parlor at the church for a total cost of more than $2,200.00.

Dr. J. Raymond Henderson, who is one of Los Angeles most outstanding ministers is giving his wife this Bon Voyage party so that both his and her friends will have a chance to say "au revoir." The very enthusiastic committee-women, heading the Bon Voyage party include: Mrs. Marguerite P. Moore, general chairman; Mrs. Fernanda Toney, program; Mrs. Arnetta M. Brown, publicity; Mrs. Edna Dillsworth, arrangements; Mrs. Margaret Stanford, refreshments; Mrs. Madie Funchess, finance. No stone is being left unturned to make this one of the most beautiful and momentous affairs of the late summer season.

Mrs. Henderson will leave the city on Aug. 15th for Kansas City, Mo., to spend some time with her mother and will sail from New York City, N. Y. for Paris on September 27th on the S. S. America.

groom's cousin, from New York City.

The bride's mother chose a pink taffeta gown with a fluidly draped bodice and crowning her head with a dainty pink net hat. Mrs. Leontyne King was the directress.

The Bridal Pair

An undisclosed honeymoon was enjoyed by the bridal pair, who left following the reception. They will be at home to friends at their own apartment, 1038½ East 42nd place.

Mrs. Allan Perry, who is popular among the younger social set, attended Lincoln University of Jefferson City, Missouri and Los Angeles State college. Her spouse, a gradate of DeWitt Clinton High in New York and Los Angeles City college, is presently attending the College of Chiropracty at Glendale.

Summer Dance Set By Westside Club, August 19

Knights of the West Club, auxiliary of Western Knights Lodge No. 56, F. & A. M., has set Saturday, August 19, 1950, as the date for the beginning of their fall benefit parties at their own beautiful hall, 1480 West Jefferson Boulevard.

Dancing, a Charleston contest, and entertainment by a well known singer are planned by the chairman, Walter McDowell, and Winfield Jones, business manager of the popular Westside club. Members of the committee aiding in preparation of the dance includes Rudolph Fisher, James Wesley, Charles D. Postell, Jerome Smith, and Walter McCowen. Music will be furnished by Campbell's Combo, a young musical organization who have been acclaimed by music lovers as the next name aggregation, coming from Los Angeles. Tables will be set up for canasta, bridge, and other games for those not caring to dance.

Proceeds go to the club's redecoration fund. Current completion of the Hall's redecoration is costing an additional $1500. Their plans are to complete their building in preparation for their annual Christmas Party, their pet philanthrophy, where needy families of the community and the fraternity are invited to frolic and receive gift baskets. The public is cordially invited.

Social Notes

Atty. and Mrs. William Pickens and teen-age sons, Dicky and Billie, who have been visiting Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Somerville for three weeks, left Friday to spend the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brothers in Duarte before returning to their home in Brooklyn, N. Y. They have been royally entertained. As farewell gestures, they were guests of Mrs. Bess Gantt at the studio, luncheon guests of Miss Iva Washington, Hollywood Bowl guests of Miss Miriam Matthews. Friday evening the Brothers entertained at a dinner party at their home, "Wahombre" in Duarte.

Mrs. Nellie Smallwood was a charming hostess to the Breakfast Club Thursday morning. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Camille Hood of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Mrs. Warmebia Barker of Kansas City, Mo.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

"The flow of life cannot be stopped,
Neither as a whole, nor in its parts,
It shall continue for ever, throw-up new forms, new institutions, new experiences."

Earth by Frank Townsend

And so it is in our soccial relationships, day by day.

PERSONALITIES IN THE NEWS

That big broad smile of Charles MacArthur is really one of a swell personality. . . . Saw winsome Gertrude Gipson and her handsome steady-beau at the opening of Count Basie at the Oasis on Friday past. She was really looking chic in her red outfit. . . . Ed Johnson is really swell people, and well worth having as a special friend. . . . Spied Al Moore, advisor of the girls club "Allegretto" cruising through the Milomo t'other Saturday night flashing a real board smile and speaking to first one person and then another. . . . Jack Low, disc jockey of "Sweet and Low" radio fame, can be heard nightly from 11 to 11:30 p. m. over station KGFJ. Give a listen to his voice which is really tantalizing, and, oh yes, the program too!! It's really something new in record program entertainment. . . . Post Session, (four weeks) at University of Southern California finds Earl Brody and Clifford Westfield struggling through a class called "Money and Banking," and from what I'm told it will surely be a STRUGGLE. . . .

OPENING NITE AT A NITERY

Friday night, August 4th was a gala night chuck full of fun and merriment for many who attended the opening of the good Count Basie and his swinging sextet. Your columnist was part of a gay party which included such personalities as Dorothy Duvall, Petey Bradford, and Edith McLynn. Had a ringside table which gave a good view of the show and the people entering and leaving during the course of the evening. A real terrific show headed by such personalities as Wardell Gray, an expert artist of tenor sax melody, and Damita Jo, thrush-voiced lovely, were accepted by the spectators with real ovation. Seen viewing the show here and there was Barbara Britton, movie star, plus many others of Hollywood fame, Bill Slaton and Nellie Becker, Billy Benfield, Toni Sheen, Mattie Comfort and so-o-o-o many others that space will not permit. Another night during the week-end found J. T. and Robert Morgan, the Pasadena boys, Bud Marshall and Gloria Swanson, Billy Renault, and Harry Jones really enjoying a "Real Gone session" of Count's "One O'clock Jump." Saundering by our party during the course of the evening was Joe Harris, Sentinel Theatrical Editor, and Joe Adams, local disc jockey.

VACATION TIDBITS

With the populace of our city still vacationing, your scribe is still getting reports of the enjoyment that so many are having in all parts of the world. . . .

Note that Albert McNeil, Eagle Music Critic, pens from Amsterdam, Holland, that Europe is a magnificant and enchanting place. The Negro artists are being well received with overwhelming appreciation. . . . Lucile Fateful, a visitor to our city from New York, reports that she is really taking advantage of everything Los Angeles has to offer. . . . Alpha man Arthur Lewis, who is now spending his summer months in Chicago, expects to return to Berkeley in time for the Delta National Convention. He recently left our city via the airways. . . . Alpha man Jimmy Jones will soon be going east in his brand and newly purchased Pontiac automobile. Understand that he will welcome three riders, so here's your opportunity if you're interested. . . . Harold Machen pens from the windy city of Chicago that it's really a great life living in the eastern metropolis. He plans to return in early September to continue his school career. . . . The sudden urgent departure of Chuck Smith to rush to his ill father's bedside in Grand Rapids, Michigan was an unexpected turn of events. I'm sure all of Chuck's friends will be in sympathy with him, and hope that he will have Godspeed, and also wish for a possible recovery of his father. . . . Of the others that are away, and that I expect to here from in the near future, are Sherril Luke, still in India, Bill Black, somewhere in Holland, and Camille Cannady, still traveling through parts of Europe. To all dreamers. . . . Think of the day when your world traveling experiences will begin. . . . Happy thought, isn't it. . . .

OPENING OF NEW BUSINESS CONCERN

Proved to be a very successful afternoon well spent. The new Metropolitan Mortuary, 1311 South Central Ave., staged its official opening to the public on Sunday, August 6th, from the hours of 4 to 7 p. m. During my stay at the register book noticed that many of the prominent businesses around town sent representatives to show their encouragement. The hostesses for the afternoon included the wives of the board members and a few of their friends. The ladies were smartly gowned in evening dresses of various pastel colors and made a picture of loveliness. The embalming room is well worth mention which includes the very latest in equipment. Father H. Randolph Moore of St. Philip's Episcopal Church performed the dedication ceremony which was very impressive. A suggested name for the chapel was "All Souls Chapel."

CLUB PARTY A BIG SUCCESS

The girls of the Phi Delphian Social Club staged a very successful party at the South Harvard residence of Carl Peterson on Sunday, August 6th. The theme was "Cocktails In Cotton" which was followed by all the club members. So many people were on the scene that it would be unfair to name a few people and not all, so let's skip that. . . . Huh!?! The dancing to the music of the string trio was really great!! The girls really put on a fine affair. . . . The Scrollers of Kappa Fraternity are to be congratulated for providing those attending with a fine affair at the Alpha Bowling Club on Saturday night past. . . . Looks like the Red and White Formal is really on its way. . . . The affair given by the elta Undergrads on Friday, August 4th was enjoyed by those who attended, and in the near future the faithful followers will soon be showing their appreciation. . . .

AND OF THINGS TO COME

Mrs. Priscilla Ramos, Sigma Gamma Rho wheel, announces that their Annual Scholarship Tea will be held Sunday, August 13th, from 3 to 7 p. m. Scholarships will be given to UCLA, and the Phyllis Wheatley House. . . . The Merry-Go-Rounders will be staging a private Beach Party comes the week-end, and Beach parties are always so much fun. . . . News has reached me that the Scrollers of Kappa Frat will soon be entertaining their many friends at their Annual Red and White Dance. It is to be held the first week in September, and heresay has it that the place will be the beautiful, and spacious El Sombrero Supper Club, 18th at Figueroa St., and oh what an affair it should be !!! . . . Comes the time for the Post Convention, the Delta Undergrads will entertain all their friends at a Unique affair that will take in all the Greek letter orgs. Watch for this. . . .

Optomist Breakfast Club In Fashionable Garden Party

The most outstanding event in a galaxy of recent social affairs was the fashionable garden party given by the Optimist Breakfast Club recently in the beautiful garden of Richard and Hattie Sanders on East 116th Place.

The garden was a perfect setting for the affair with beautiful flowers of every description transforming the scene into a veritable fairyland to greet the guests. Richard Sanders' hobby is flowers and landscaping and he takes just pride in exhibiting his many exotic plants to friends.

Choice viands of all kinds were temptingly displayed on a large table almost the length of the garden. At each end were two crystal punch bowls of champagne punch embedded in ice with American Beauty and pink rose-buds freeen into the ice.

Exhibition red and white dahlias and pink and red roses were part of the table decor. Throughout the afternoon, those who wished, danced to the lilting Hawaiian music of C. L. Burke's Combo. Birdie Roundtree, club member and cateress par excellence handled the menu which sent connoiseurs into sheer ectasy after each delicious morsel.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Tyre Honored at Patio Supper

Mrs. Annie Bell Cleveland and Mrs. Byron Webb were co-hostesses at a patio supper given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Tyre of Oakland. The 55 guests who were present enjoyed television and cards, as well as other amusements. The repast was turkey with all the trimmings, and bubbling champagne.

Among the out-of-towners were: Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hughes of Ohio; Miss Dorothea Brockman of Missouri; Miss Christine Hazlewood of New Jersey; Miss Lillian Wells of Redding; Mr. and Mrs. Steadman of New York City; Miss Mildred Williams, Gertrude Arlington, Anna Cowan and McDora McField, R.N., of Louisville, Ky.

Friends of the Tyres are seeing to it that they spend a happy and busy vacation in the Southland.

SM Club Sponsors Tea

The Philomathean Art, Literary, and Charity Club of Santa Monica, recently sponsored a community tea which was held in the auditorium of the Garfield school with six other clubs participating.

Prizes were offered to the three clubs having the most unique table. First prize went to the Utopian Study Club, Mrs. Elizabeth White, president; second prize, Jolly Thirteen Club, Christine Moore, president; and third prize, The Sportsman's Club, Mr. Johnie Gordon, president, represented by Mr. Thurston Williams.

Prizes were checks of $10, $5, and $2.50.

Judges were Mrs. Marline S. Tucker, teacher and real estate broker; Mrs. John C. Credille, Mrs. Haynes, Mrs. C. W. Ladd, member of the 28th Street "Y" personnel and secretary to two faculty members of Compton College; and Mr. Vernon Bronson, a very outstanding Santa Monica artist, and employee of the Santa Monica school system.

A very interesting program was presented, and music was furnished by Mr. Lundcraft by record disc playing.

Mrs. Hiram D. Cook was general chairman of the affair. Mrs. Loretta Edwards, active in club circles, is president of the Philomathean Club.

Services for Melvin Jacobs Held Monday

Funeral services, postponed from last Friday, were held Monday for the remains of Melvin Jacobs, 49 year old employee of North American Aircraft company, who died suddenly while at his job at 5601 Imperial Blvd. Jacobs succumbed to an apparent heart attack on July 31.

The body was prepared for burial at the Avalon Mortuary Company. The services were held from the chapel of Recession in the mortuary establishment. The deceased, who lived at 203 East 56th street was unmarried.

Negro Art Committee Demands Passport Re-Issue For Robeson

NEW YORK CITY—Secretary of State Dean Acheson was urged to use the authority of his office in seeing that Paul Robeson's passport is re-issued by the Committee for the Negro in the Arts in a letter signed by its executive secretary, Ruth Jett. In commenting on the extraordinary step in marking Mr. Robeson's passport "null and void," Miss Jett said: We fear this unprecedented action paves the way for preventing Negro artists, who detest discrimination and segregation which they meet most often in the United States, from traveling abroad where they find the warmest receptions". She further stated: "We believe that the denial of the right to earn a living at one's chosen craft or profession is enslavement. . . . The cancellation of Mr. Robeson's passport can give comfort only to the Ku Klux Klan and other segments of the American population who would continue the brutal oppression of the Negro people."

College Gives Memorial Award For Race Unity

Brandeis University in Waltham, Massachusetts, the first nonsectarian institution in the Western Hemisphere founded under Jewish sponsorship, has announced the establishment of the Bruce R. Mayper Memorial Award to be presented annually to a Brandeis undergraduate for the promotion of inter-racial amity.

The Mayper Memorial Award has been established at Brandeis by Joseph Mayper of New York City, prominent attorney and philanthropist, in honor of his late son, a Naval Aviator in the recent war. Selected as first recipient of the Award for the year 1949-50 is Lois Spiro of Fall of the Brandeis Newman River, Massachusetts, President of the Brandeis Newman Club, an organization of Catholic students.

In a letter to Mr. and Mrs. Mayper, Dr. Abram L. Sachar, Brandeis President, declared: "We at Brandeis are grateful to you for attaching the name of your heroic son to an annual prize at this University. I know of no more creative way to memoralize the courageous spirit of one who died so that the democratic way of life might live. Through the presentation of an award for the promotion of interracial amity the unfulfilled potentialities of your son will in some measure be completed through blessing the lives of others."

Students at two-year-old Brandeis University, which will graduate its first class in June of 1952, represent varying faiths and nationalities and are drawn from 28 states and six foreign nations. The Mayper Memorial Award will be presented annually at the University's Convocation in June.

FBI Arrests Youth for Draft Board

The FBI arrested Arthur Walker, 26-year-old musician, Tuesday, for failing to notify draft board 109 of a change in his address. Assistant United States Attorney Ray Kinnison states that the maximum punishment for the offense is five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Walker was arrested when a questionnaire mailed to him at 1132 E. 11th street went unclaimed. Friends state Walker had not deliberately failed to respond to the questionnaire.

Throughout the nation reports indicate hundreds of prospective draftees have failed to answer when summoned. Locally close to 100 candidates reportedly did not show up for their pre-induction tests.

Walker is the first draftee to be arrested for failure to respond.

The 110 Travelers Aid Societies throughout the country have been alterted to be ready, should the need arise, to eropen their servicemen's Lounges in the nation's railroad terminals, according to word received here from Mrs. George Hamlin Shaw, president of the National Travelers Aid Association, it was announced by Mr. Irving M. Walker, president of the Los Angeles Travelers Aid Society.

Hobbs Concentration Camp Bill Opposition Increases

The Methodist Federation for Social Service and the United Office and Professional Workers of America have expressed opposition to the Hobbs Concentration Camp Bill, H.R. 10, in letters and telegrams to Senator Pat McCarran, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, and to Senators Ives and Lehman, it was announced this week by the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born. Rev. Jack R. McMichael, executive secretary of the Methodist Federation, considers "passage of this legislation to be a great blow to our prized democratic liberties."

Dr. James A. Blaisdell, president emeritus, Claremont Colleegs, Claremont, Calif., in messages to Senators McCarran and Knowland stated that "the bill seems to me not only unwise and ineffective toward the end in view but also as a distinct threat to our constitutional liberties for it sets the pattern and gives precedent to the further invasion of freedom which we have held to be our most precious national inheritance."

Rabbi Henry Cohen, Temple B'nai Israel, of Galveston, Tex., notified Senators McCarran, Tom Connally and Lyndon Johnson that he is "unalterably opposed to the Hobbs' Concentration Camp Bill."

Messages condemning the Hobbs Bill were also sent by Rockwell Kent, Prof. Berhard Stern, Prof. Vida Scudder and many other organizations and individuals.

College Course For Policemen At L. A. College

Rookie policemen can now go to college to step up their promotions, and ambitious young men and women can train for a career in law enforcement—and all right at home at Los Angeles State and City Colleges.

Beginning in September, a new four-year police training curriculum will be offered at State and City Colleges, announces Dr. Howard S. McDonald, president.

The program was worked out this summer by Dr. William Barker of the law department, with the cooperation of the Los Angeles Police Department, and is designed to prepare students both for in-service training and for entrance into any branch of law enforcement.

Volunteers Needed At RC Blood Center

Top volunteer need of the Los Angeles chapter American Red Cross today calls for women who can serve in various capacities at the Regional Red Cross Blood Service Center, 925 South Western Avenue, and can accept assignment on the mobile units' visitations.

Typists, clerical workers, and women who can assemble laboratory packets are vitally needed at this time, particularly women who can perform clerical duties on mobile unit trips to industrial plants, business houses and to nearby communities.

Women who can serve Red Cross in this phase of its expanding community service should phone the blood service center, REpublic 2-9161, and ask for the volunteer service desk.

A total of 5230 pints of Red Cross-collected whole blood was delivered to more than 100 hospitals and clinical laboratories in Los Angeles and Orange counties during the month of July.

First Negro Police

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—August 1 was red letter day in this northern Florida metropolis.

Six Negroes began their 60-day training period to qualify as patrolmen on the Jacksonville, Florida, police force.

The action followed voting by the City Council, unanimously, for the new experiment that has proven successful in many cities in the South. The rookies will start patroling a beat October 1.

Third World Conflict?

NEW YORK.—(ATLAS)—The National Council of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, has warned that the Korean war might lead to a third world conflict.

Prof. Henry Pratt Fairchild, secretary of the council said one hundred professional men and women had signed the statement. It asked for renewed determination on the part of the United States and Russia in an effort to negotiate peace, and demanded immediate diplomatic discussions.

TO INVADE EUROPE . . . Nellie Lutcher will tread that foreign soil come September. . . . Europeans are anxiously awaiting the arrival of that "real gone gal" and her frantic songs.

Wings Over the South Pacific Terrific Film

HOLLYWOOD—At the very moment America's B-29s are carrying the war to the Red invaders over Korea, Herbert J. Yates, president of Republic Studio, is planning Republic's biggest production, "Wings Over the South Pacific" as a tribute to the U. S. Air Force B-29, the most powerful airplane on earth.

Yates will back this production with the finest cast he has ever asembled. He is planning to head it with John Wayne and will also use John Carroll, Rod Cameron, Forrest Tucker and Willim Ching. An outstanding feminine personality wil also soon be inked.

NEW PROGRAM . . . Bill Sampson, popular disc jockey, has launched a new air time which begins at 12:00 midnight and lasts until the wee morning hour of 5:00 a. m. Bill may be heard nitely on station KWKW.

'Broken Arrow' Theme Pleases

A new indication of Hollywood's cinematic coming of age is to be found in the release of the 20th Century-Fox Technicolor film, "Broken Arrow," which presents an entirely new dramatic approach to the Indian problem.

Several photoplays of recent seasons have demonstrated the ability of certain producers to turn out both artistic and commercial successes with subjects formerly thought taboo, or ones related to racial prejudice or racial misrepresentation.

DELIVERS TINTED MAIL

HOLLYWOOD—Howard DaSilva, member of the original "Oklahoma" musical cast, has been added to the cast of Universal-International's Technicolor "Wyoming Mail," starring Stephen McNally and Alexis Smith.

Earl Bostic Scores In Sax Battle

NEW YORK — Broadway witnessed one of the most terrific music battles of the past decade during last week as two of the nation's top saxaphone virtuosos —both former members of the Lionel Hampton aggregation— put their artistry on display to the delight of hundreds of hep music fans at popular Bop City. The two were stomp king Earl Bostic and hard driving Al Sears.

Sears, always a disciple of the hard driving school, proved something of a surprise by featuring considerable relaxed numbers.

Bostic, on the other hand, unveiled his total bag of showmanship tricks and therein lay the difference, which gave him the slight edge he enjoyed.

The dual engagement of the two bands in the Broadway spot, with Slam Stewart sandwiched between them, will probably result in a nation-wide barnstorming trip with the two brilliant musicians battling it out night after night.

New Breakfast Show Grows In Popularity

An overflow audience participated in last week's "Breakfast for Milady" radio show and enjoyed such stars of stage, screen and radio as Flournoy E. Miller, of "Shuffle Along" fame; Johnny Lee, of the "Amos 'n' Andy" show; Andy Razaf, internationally famous composer of "Honeysuckle Rose" and other hit tunes.

"Breakfast for Milady" is something entirely unique in the realm of radio presentations. It is an audience participation show designed especially for women belonging to minority groups and is a regular Thursday morning feature over Station KOWL (1580 kilo.), broadcast from the main dining room of the beautiful Crystal Center, 4818 So. Avalon oBulevard.

Chester Washington, popular newspaperman, and Duke Coleman, well known in theatrical circles ,share emcee duties.

Period Pieces Play "Cyrano" Mood Music

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — Dimitri Tiomkin, writing, scoring, arranging and directing the music for Stanley Kramer's "Cyrano de Bergerac," which Michael Gordon is directing, is juggling an array of medieval musical instruments with quirks, bumps and twists, but most of all with peculiar sounds.

Art Center For Harlem Planned

NEW YORK—(ATLAS)—Henry M. Letcher, well-known director and founder of the fabulous Letcher Art Center in Washington, D. C., has announced plans to open a similar Center in Harlem in September.

The New York Letcher Art Center will offer complete courses in Arts and Crafts, Sculpture, Ceramics, Dramatics and Painting under the supervision of experienced instructors.

PEACE

The greatest war in the history of mankind came to an end at 1 a. m. this morning (ETO time) when the United States, the Soviet Union, China and Great Britain officially announced that Japan had surrendered unconditionally.

The end came after a flurry of diplomatic messages by Tokyo that it was ready to surrender.

The official surrender terms as announced by President Truman at a special White House press conference at 7 p.m. EWT (1 a.m. ETO time), and duplicated by the Russian, Chinese and British governments, include the unconditional surrender of Japan, according to the Potsdam Declaration.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur as Supreme Allied Commander will accept the surrender when arrangements are completed. Meanwhile, Allied armed forces were ordered to cease offensive action.

The President said that "the proclamation of Victory Day must wait upon the formal signing of the surrender terms by Japan."

He then said that Selective Service would take immediate steps to slash induction of draftees from 80,000 to 50,000 a month. Mr. Truman added that only men under 26 will be drafted from now on.

Mr. Truman read a formal message relayed from Hirohito through the Swiss Government in which Japan pledged to surrender on the conditions set by the U. S., Russia, Great Britain and China. The President, through Secretary of States James F. Byrnes, also sent an order to the Japanese Government to cease hostilities on all fronts.

Japan's official reply to the surrender terms was delivered to Secretary Byrnes, at the State Department. Byrnes left immediately for the White House. The document was delivered by M. Grasslin, the Swiss Charge d'Affaires.

When the Swiss official came out, reporters asked: "Was it the note you took in?" With a big smile, Grasslin nodded confirmation.

A short time later, the reporters were called in, and Mr. Truman made the following announcement:

"I have received this afternoon a message from the Japanese Government in reply to the message forwarded to that government by the Secretary of State on Aug. 11. I deem this reply a full acceptance of the Potsdam Declaration which specified the unconditional surrender of Japan."

In the Japanese reply, the President continued, "there is no qualification." Arrangements are being speeded now for the formal signing of the surrender terms, he added.

The Japanese emperor in his reply said that he was ready to order his forces "wherever located" to stop fighting, and continued that he was prepared "to issue such other orders as may be required by the Supreme Commander . . . .

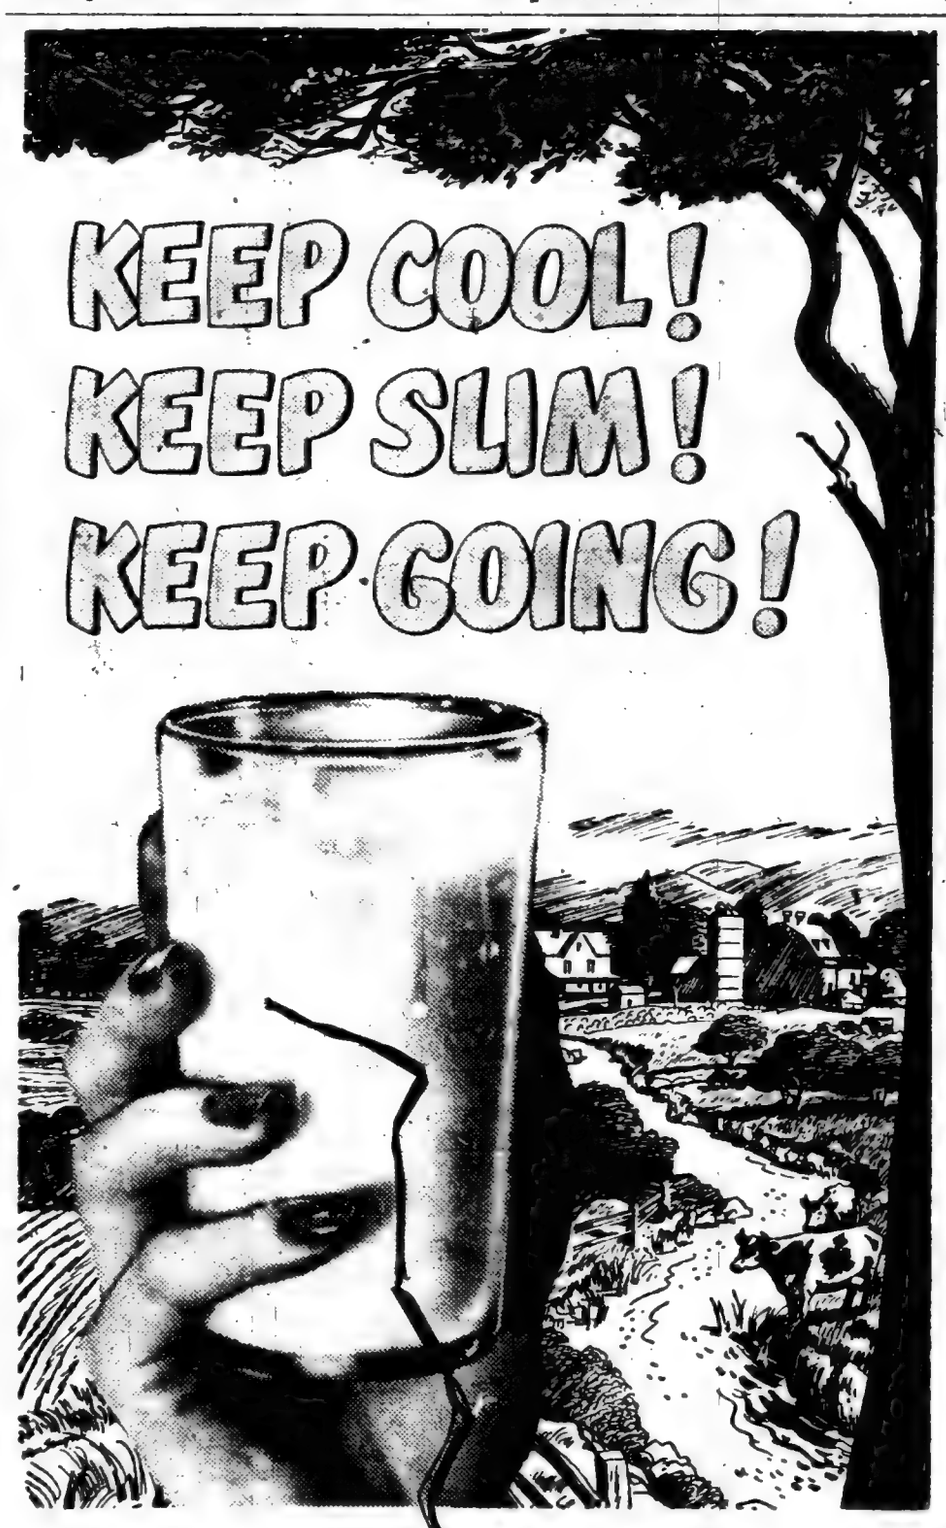
Drive Toward Third World War Aided By Defeat Of Liberty

Linking the case of the Hollywood Ten and other political prisoners with the sinister drive toward World War III and the concurrent crushing of America's heritage of liberty, Albert E. Kahn and Adrian Scott will be the principal speakers at a civic mass meeting to be heeld Friday evening, August 11, at the Park Manor auditorium at Sixth and Western, Los Angeles.



Kahn is the author of the current best-seller, "High Treason." He is also the author of such famous books as "The Great Conspiracy," "Sabotage," "The Plot Against the Peace" and "Dangerous Americans."

Scott is the Hollywood film writer and producer who is about to join his nine Hollywood colleagues in prison for the crime of standing up for guaranteed constitutional liberty in the face of the J. Parnell Thomas committee's demand that he declare his union and pollitical affiliations. The mass meeting will be a community farewell salute to Scott.

Carlotta Bass, distinguished California editor, will be chairman of the meeting, which is being sponsored by the Hollywood Arts, Sciences and Professions Council.

Scott, one of the most brilliant of American film creators, won international acclaim as the producer of the famous motion picture, "Crossfire," an expose of anti-Semitism. The film was widely recognized as an important contribution to genuine Americanism.

The Park Manor civic mass meeting will be attended by representative labor, church, civic and cultural groups. Iit will be a notable landmark in the growing struggle of the American people against the policies leading this nation toward the loss of liberty and catastrophic global war, according to the Arts, Sciences and Professions Council. It is scheduled for 8:15 p. m., with the 60 cents admission to be paid at the door.

Ewart Guinier, Top Trade Unionist, Visits Public Workers Unions

Ewart Guinier is a realist. He would not think of himself as a symbol, for his life is lived on a steady beat of integration, yet as a Negro who holds the highest trade union position ever held by a member of his race, Ewart Guinier is a vital factor in the turbulent struggle the Negro people are waging to throw off the yoke of false leadership and outspokenly content for full citizenship rights.

In Los Angeles on one step of a national tour, in the course of which he will check on the understanding of the basic policies of the United Public Workers of which he is the International Secretary-Treasurer, Guinier sees the refusal of the City Council to grant check-off privileges to the Public Workers union here as an example of pure discrimination.

Hits Council

He sees the action of the City Council in voting down the check-off as a part of the Taft-Hartleyism that is so prevalent, and he calls upon white workers to support the Public Workers in their demand.

"Every time white workers have deserted the fight for Negro rights, white workers have lost ground," he points out.

Guinier is proud of the Negro-white workers' unity he sees here as well as elsewhere in the nation. "There may be some unexpressed weakening in that unity," he admits, "but it is our task to solidify the ranks against such unexpressed weakening."

Discrimination in the Federal Bureau of Engraving which keeps Negro Veterans from becoming plate printers is one of the major projects on which he is working.

Negroes have assisted in plate printing for 300 years, he points out, yet there has never been a single Negro printer or appentice plate printer.

A special examination for Negroes held recently might remedy this, but enemies of fair employment have succeeded in having a bill passed in the House that will nullify the affected of the examination. It is now in the Senate (No. 3050), and Guinier urges protests against its passage.

Top Leaders

Approximately one third of the membership of the Public Workers, operating in 27 states, is Negro. Of a total of 60,000 members 20,000 are Negroes. That represents more than the combined total membership of A. Phillip Randolph's Pullman Porters, and Willard Townsend's Red Caps union. These figures make it understanable why Ewart Guinier is the most important Negro labor leader in the nation.

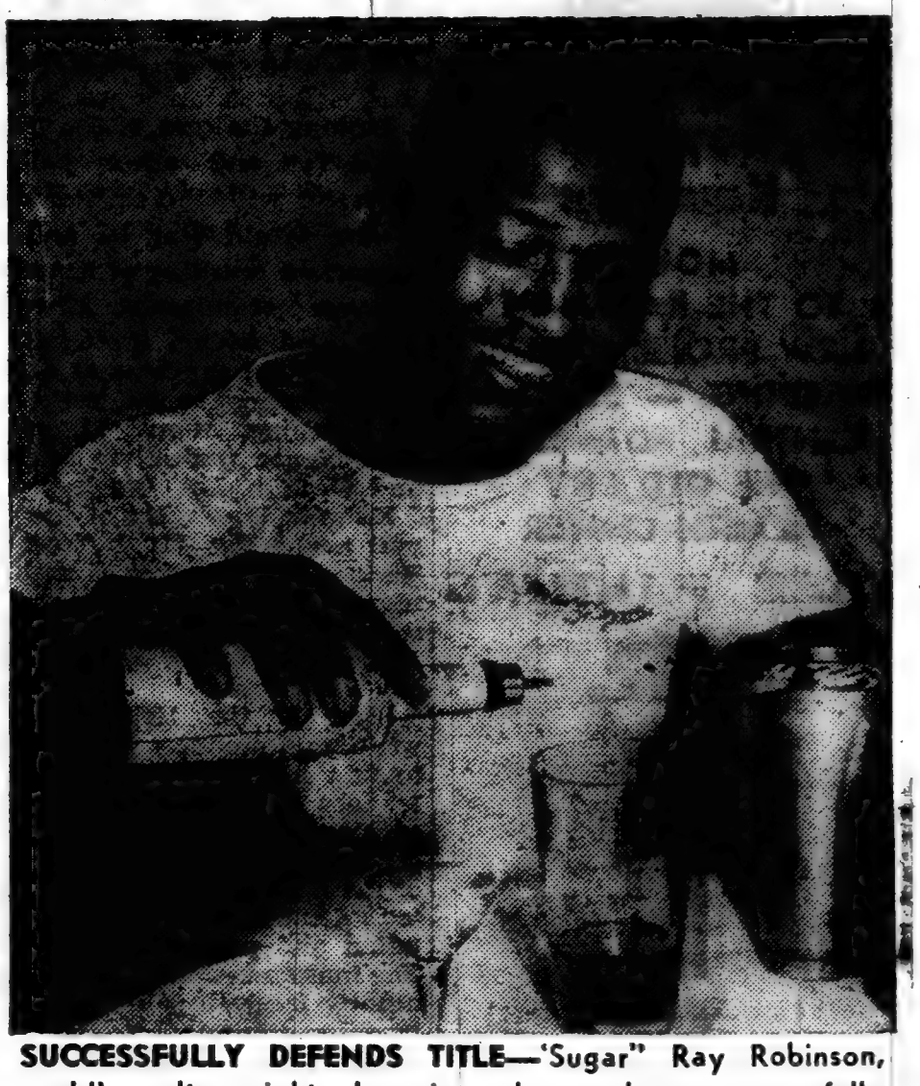
Defeats Fusari Easily

JERSEY CITY, N. J. — Sugar Ray Robinson, risking his welterweight title for a dollar, scampered home an easy 15-round decision winner over backpedalling Charlie Fusari Wednesday night at Roosevelt Stadium. It probably was the last defense of his 147-pound crown because of the weight-making ordeal.

Referee Paul Cavalier gave the Harlem Sugar Man every round but two, with one for Fusari and one even.

Fighting for the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund, Robinson gave a brilliant exhibition of his masterful boxing skill against the blond challenger from Irvington, N. J., before a capacity 30,000 crowd. Thousands were turned away. There were no knockdowns in the one-sided cat-and-mouse struggle and little violence.

Alerted to Robinson's weight problem, that forced him to make three trips to the scales at the noon weigh-in before he hit 147 on the nose, Fusari rode his bicycle all night. The 6-to-1 underdog escaped the knockout that was predicted but that's about all he did. Fusari weighed 145¼.



Sugar Ray nullified Fusari's only weapon by feinting him out of position time after time before he could throw his vaunted right-hand punch. When he did get a chance to let it go, he usually ran into a half-dozen in return.

Long-range head punches wobbled the Jersey milkman in the sixth, ninth and 14th. He slipped down, scurrying away from a right in the sixth but bounced right back.

Sharp-shooting Robinson, always chasing a retreating foe, sliced open a cut over Fusari's left eye in the second. But excellent corner work by Trainer Ray Arcel closed it between rounds. Later in the eighth he brought blood from Charlie's nose with a stinging straight right.

Fusari wobbled like a puppet man in the sixth. That was the round when Sugar Ray walked from his corner and threw a

Mario Trigo To Face Whitewater Tuesday

Archie Whitewater, the Cherokee chieftain who dropped a split decision to Rudy Cruz at the Olympic Tuesday, gets a chance to redeem himself next week when he faces Mario Trigo in the 10-round feature at the downtown arena.

Most of the fans thought that Whitewater deserved a draw against Cruz, at the very least. He made a stirring finish.

Running, Passing to Feature Grid Game

Much has been made of the terrific running and passing duels which will be seen Wednesday night, August 16, when the Los Angeles Rams and Washington Redskins hook up in the fifth renewal of their Los Angeles Times charity pro football clash at the Coliseum.

Bill Dudley of the 'Skins and Glenn Davis of the Rams will uncork their best individual running efforts. Tom Fears of the Rams and Hugh Taylor of the Redskins will be catching passes all over the turf.

But in the final analysis of which team will come up with its third victory in the classic grid series, you can just about figure the decision will rest in the capable hands of Sammy Baugh or Bob Waterfield.

Every time Slingin' Sam gets his meathooks on the ball, he can fling the pigskin for a new National Pro League record. The Redskin ace already has rewritten the book and his feats now are becoming legendary.

But he'll have a tough chore in outgeneraling the Rams' ace T-pourer. Waterfield was the most valuable man in the circuit in 1945, got aced out of similar honors in 1946. And for the past three years he's continued to pull tricks out of the bag in the clutch.

So with the chips down August 16, look for the performances of Waterfield and Baugh to determine the eventual outcome.

It goes without saying, of course, that both stars will have the capable assistance of an array of backs and linemen reading like the Who's Who in pro football.

It'll be a wing-ding like the games of the past. It may be even tougher, now that both clubs have added talent secured not only from the college draft but from the ranks of the now defunct All-America Conference.

PASSER—Slingin' Sammy Baugh, the Washington Redskins great passer, will be seen in action when the Redskins tie up with the Los Angeles Rams Wednesday night, August 16, at the Coliseum. The game is being played for charity and is sponsored by the L.A. Times.

Salas in Upset Win Over Ike Williams

WASHINGTON — Charley Salas, a relatively unknown Mexican-Italian welterweight from Phoenix, Ariz., outfoxed and outpunched Lightweight Champion Ike Williams Monday night to win a unanimous 10-round decision. It was Williams' second straight defeat within a month.

Williams weighed 139½ pounds. Salas was seven pounds heavier.

For Williams, who has knocked out every lightweight that has challenged him, it was the second straight defeat by a welterweight. Williams was upset by Sugar Costner a month ago in Philadelphia.

Salas was a 7-to-1 underdog but the 21-year-old Arizonian, who has never been knocked out, waded in after Williams from the first bell and was still throwing punches at Ike at the end.

Newspaper observers gave Salas seven rounds, Williams two and one was even.

There were no knockdowns but Salas kept a left hook and a left jab in Williams' face most of the way and frequently got the better of the harder exchanges.

The attendance was estimated at 6500.

A crowd of 5950 fans paid $11,437.50 to watch the affair at Griffith Stadium.

Salas opened the encounter by taking the first round when he rapped Williams lightly with a mess of right hands. Both boys waltzed through the second and then Williams showed a spark as he started to wade in, in the third round—it was the only round the Trenton, N. J., boxer won.

Williams left the ring with his eyes and face marked up and his nose bleeding. Salas, on the other hand, looked almost as fresh as when he entered the ring.

The 27-year-old Williams immediately asked Matchmaker Gabe Menendez for a rematch with Salas at the first opportunity.

The coronado Handicap for three-year-olds will be the main event this Saturday. It carries an added value of $10,000 and the distance is one mile. This race will bring together the best three-year-olds in training on the coast and the winner will be favorite for the Del Mar Derby to be run Saturday, Sept. 2.

CALIENTE, Old Mexico— LA proved three-year-old fillies, Limited, one of the most im- with apprentice Bob Petty, made it a wire-to-wire win in the Longacres at six furlongs. It was the feature attraction of the day. Breaking fast, the daughter of War Bam-Miss Victory, scored by two lengths although racing wide down the home stretch.

In beating older horses she paid in the mutuels $11. Hi Molly, the daughter of Gipsy Minstrel-Molly Maguire, had an easy time defeating a choice band of three-year-olds and upwards in the secondary event called The Renton, at one mile. Laying fairly close to the pace and improving her position gradually, came wide into stretch and closed with a rush to win easily , paying $9.20. The daily-double combination of Tom, winner of the second race, and Pauline, victor of the third ,paid $29.80.

While the Quniela holders of the lucky horses, Faro Jack and Sensational Joe, who finished in that order, received $203.20.

Walter C. Marty, general manager, announced the feature attraction this Sunday will be "The Poppy" at six furlongs. "The Sardonyx" will be the secondary, also at six furlongs.

WITH THE GREYHOUNDS AT CALIENTE — With the completion of the fourth stake elimination race Friday night, the original list of 32 nominees for the $5,000 race on Aug. 18 has been cut to 16. And these greyhounds make up the fields for Thursday and Friday nights' semi-final events. Well the great K. C. Stoss was beaten last Saturday night.

Lady Hutch and Rube Ellis hung a nose defeat on the champion. Although Stoss broke very slow and then raced into contention entering the backstretch, challenged the winner rounding the stretch turn and closed with good speed but lost by two noses. He ran a winning race after breaking slow.

In cooperation with the Division of Fish and Game, the Federal government spends more than half a million dollars each year in California wildlife restoration from its proceeds of taxes on fire-arms and ammunition.

Bolanos Fights Terry Young at Olympic Aug. 22

Olympic Matchmaker Babe McCoy announced this week the signing of New York's Terry Young to box Enrique Bolanos, Aug. 22. Young upset the local Latin lightweight ace last summer in New York in a bloody encounter. Most Gotham scribes thought Bolanos won.

Young is expected here seven days before the match. Bolanos will open training drills Sunday at Orner's Main Street Gym.

All of California's inland warmwater fish species, except the Sacramento perch, have been introduced from eastern states, says the Division of Fish and Game.

CITY GOLF COURSES

Starting time for half-rate golf play at Los Angeles' municipal courses has been moved up to 4 p.m. from 5 p.m., according to the City Recreation and Park Department.

The change, which becomes effective August 1, will remain in force during the duration of daylight saving time, giving late-afternoon divot-diggers an opportunity to play complete rounds at reduced rates before twilight.

A fee of 75 cents per round wil prevail after 4 p.m. on the Griffith Park Wilson and Harding courses and the Rancho Course.

TENNIS TOURNEYS

The Los Angeles City Recreation and Park Department's 1950 Boys' and Girls' Novice Tennis Tournaments, the net events that have in the past launched the careers of some of the nation's top stars, will get underway at municipal playgrounds immediately following the closing sessions of the 1950 Tennis School for Boys and Girls on Friday (August 11).

Open to all boys and girls who have never competed in an open tournament, been a member of a school net team, or emerged a winner or runner-up in a playground district or city-wide meet, youngsters 12 years of age and under; junior, boys and girls 15 years and under; and senior, those 17 and under.

Competition in the midget and junior divisions will be limited to boys' and girls' singles. Senior division events will include boys' and girls' singles and boys' and girls' doubles. Youngsters may enter one event in one division only, the Recreation and Park Department reported.

Local playground tournaments will be completed by Saturday, August 19. District tourneys will be held Wednesday and Thursday, August 23 and 24, and the city-wide finals will be held August 30 and 31 at Rancho Cienega Playground.

RICE TINTED FOR FILM

HOLLYWOOD—Thirty pounds of rice had to be painted white for a wedding sequence in Universal - International's "Louisa" when it was discovered that the rice was translucent and looked more like rain in the black and white cameras than what it was actually supposed to represent.

Joe Louis To Finish Prep at Pompton Lakes

POMPTON LAKES, N. J. (CNS)—The Paterson, N. J. Evening News revealed Saturday that Joe Louis had leased his former training camp site for one month beginning August 24th.

Louis, when contacted, at Detroit said the camp had been leased by the IBC. Mannie Seamon, at Smith's Hotel, West Baden, Indiana, had no comment.

Following this surprise announcement came news from the IBC New York headquarters that Sept. 27 will, in all probability, be the Great Day, barring no untoward commitments with the LaMotta-Robinson title schedule, which has definite first preference and would cause the Louis-Charles bout to go to Chicago.

Garcia Battles Vasquez in Top 10 Friday Nite

Manuel Ortiz may box the winner of the Rudy Garcia-Rudy Vasquez fight at the Hollywood Legion stadium. Garcia and Vasquez, both big favorites with film arena fans, clash Friday night.

Both Vasquez and Garcia made names at the Legion in 1948. Vasquez was voted the outstanding young boxer of 1948 as a pro and Garcia won the Golden Gloves title the same year at Hollywood.

Last year fans saw little of Vasquez due to the dispute between Hollywood and the Managers' Association. Garcia is in the spotlight after stopping Harold Dade for the California featherweight title. What made Garcia's win so outstanding was the fact that Dade had met Willie Pep, Sammy Saddler and Ortiz and wasn't kayoed. Garcia has lost but once in 22 pro fights.

Matchmaker Cal Working has has Bernard Docusen booked for next week. His opponent may be Milo Savage who has given Big Duke two close fights.

Tony Espinosa and Cjivero Chavez box Friday's six and the special will be Ray Ascosta and Gil Chavez. Other fours are Rocky Slater vs Jackie Condon, Roberto Cruz vs Aaron Junior and Tello Cruz vs Charley Sawyer.

numbing right-hand lead high to Fusari's head.

The challenger did a rubber-leg act in the ninth when nailed by a Robinson left hook. The Sugar Man made him shake his head with a searing right to the body.

Robinson appeared to tire in the 12th and 13th but cut loose again in the 14th. With the end in sight, Robby no longer worried about running out of gas. When Fusari tried to maul him at close range, he cut loose with both hands to the body and drove the Jersey lad through the ropes.

In the 15th Robinson slipped as he was about to throw a punch. He looked puzzled and went to a corner to rub his shoes in resin.

Hard-Hitting Larry Doby On Batting Spree

CLEVELAND — American League pitchers are feeling the after-effects of Larry Doby's near-tragic skulling of some two weeks ago.

Since Brooklyn's Joe Hatten knocked Doby unconscious with a pitch to the head in a July 24 exhibition game at Ebbets Field, no pitcher has been safe from Larry's bludgeoning bat.

In the 11 games the Cleveland Negro outfielder has played since the accident, he has pounded out nine home runs, driven in 20 and batted .462. His nine homers during that hot spree matched his entire output for the first 86 games.

Doby tried his utmost to give the Indians a sweep of their doubleheader with St. Louis Wednesday. He slammed two home runs and three doubles to drive in five runs. The best the Tribe could do, however, was to split the two games.

Cleevland won the opener, 4-3, with Doby's two homer accounting for all the runs. The Browns bounced back to win the second game, 10-8. Doby belted three doubles.

The split caused the third place Indians to lose a half game to both the pace-setting Detroit Tigers and runner-up Yankees.

Herb McKenley Defeats Rhoden In 400-Meters

MALMO, Sweden—World Record Holder Herb McKenley, regularly second-best this year to George Rhoden of Morgan State, snapped back Tuesday to defeat his rival in a 46.6s. 400-meter race.

The Jamaican's performance was the best turned in at an international track meet here.

Warren Druetzler of Michigan State won the 1500-meter run in 3m. 52.4s. He finished two seconds ahead of Swede Tumba Karlsson.

Lloyd La Beach of Panama outsprinted Jim Colliday of the Chicago CYO in the 100-meter dash. LaBeach ran 10.4s.

Fortune Gordien of the San Francisco Olympic Club threw the discus 167 ft. 6⅝ in. Jim Fuchs of Rale placed second at 159 ft. 11/10 in.

McKenley, Rhoden, Goliday and LaBeach teamed to win the 400-meter relay in 41.6s.

Ky. State Grad Signs Contract With Ball Club

FRANKFORT, Ky.—Leonard Hunt of 2812 Dayton Street, St. Louis, Mo., a 1950 Kentucky State College graduate, recently signed as a member of a Springfield Minor League Baseball Team.

While at Kentucky State College Hunt was an outstanding basketball player, having been elected to the All-Midwest team several times. He was also a stellar baseball star and served as a member of the baseball coaching staff.

Hunt, a "Larry Doby" in his own making, is well known in baseball circles. He is "master" at bat and very dependable in the outfield.

Prior to signing with Springfield Hunt played with the Kansas City Monarchs.

SHARPS & FLATS

By
ALBERT J. McNEIL
Music Critic of the California Eagle

NEW YORK, Aug. 1—New York critics have given serious note to the revival performances of the Gian-Carlo Menotti's drama or musical play, "The Medium," as the composer wishes it to be known, in which Zelma Watson George (known in Los Angeles as Zelma Watson Duke) has the title role. This writer, only recently returned from Europe, found the new opera form both exciting and extremely coherent.

Mr. McNeil

The work is currently playing in New York's Arena Theatre on 47th street off Broadway, and features the antics of a half-crazed, drunken medium whose lust for money through bogus seances drives her insane with fear. Zelma George, the first Negro to play this role on Broadway, carries the role well, although there were moments when we felt a definite lack of voice control. The clever staging, which employs no stage, utilizes a cleared space in the center of a large room, around which are many chairs, arranged in tiers. These devices accentuated by unusual lighting, form the background for the opus. The musical accompaniment is played on two pianos located in the balcony.

We understand that Mrs. George has performed the role 67 times in a Cleveland production sponsored by the Karamu Lyric Theatre. Chandler Cowles, the New York producer, was so impressed that he immediately brought her to Mr. Menott's attention.

Having known Mrs. George at Avalon Center, Los Angeles, we were pleasantly surprised to know of her success here, and to see her widening her vistas into more exciting medias.

(A. J. McN.)

Payne Pupils Piano Recital This Sunday

Mayme Lowe Payne will present her Piano Pupils in Recital Sunday, August 13, at 4:00 p.m. at the June Cobb Truth Center, 1195 East 55th Street. Silver Offering.

The Pupils will render numbers by Chopin, Grieg, Rachmaninoff, Modern composers and their own compositions. A two piano number will be played by Mary Lorena Payne and Johnetta Branche.

ACQUIRES NEW TRAILER

HOLLYWOOD — The fabulous trailer-dressing room which was built during the war years on the Universal - International lot for the personal use of Deanne Durbin has been turned over to Shelley Winters and was presented to the blonde actress at the outset of filming on "Winchester 73," which casts Shelley as the lone feminine cast member.

Jessel Signed For Legion's Music Revue

George Jessel, who for several seasons has spurned Broadway's flattering offers in favor of his berth as a movie producer at Twentieth Century-Fox studios in Hollywood, will return to the stage as the star of "Red, White and Blue," the American Legion's great musical revue which will have its world premiere at the Paramount Downtown Theatre in Los Angeles on Saturday, Oct. 7.

Announcement of the signing of Jessel was made by LeRoy Prinz and Owen Crump, who are producing "Red, White and Blue" for the Legion and who will take it on a two year tour of the nation after its Los Angeles run. Jessel, they said, will head the most sparkling cast of professional stage stars ever assembled for a single production in American theatrical history.

Bowl Presentation Of Maestro's Baton To Be Made Saturday

A famed baton of Arturo Toscanini will be presented to the Southeast Symphony Association by Supervisor Leonard C. Roach during the Hollywood Bowl concert featuring Arthur Fiedler and the Boston Pops orchcestra, Saturday night, August 12.

Mrs. Mabel Massengill, president of the Southeast Symphony Association will receive the baton which was used by the great maestro who was here on the RCA-Victor tour with the NBC Symphony Orchestra, last May. Dr. Karl Wecker, chairman of the Hollywood Bowl Association will introduce Supervisor Roach.

Civic Chorus Will Resume Rehearsals

The South Central Adult Civic Chorus will resume rehearsals under the direction of Mr. Jester Hairston, on Monday, August 14, at 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., at the Washington Carver Junior High School at McKinley and 45th Streets.

There is no membership fee for participation in the chorus which is one of many sponsored by the City's Bureau of Music.

Immediate goal of the chorus on resuming of rehearsals Monday night will be Bach's 106th Cantata, and practicing for the California Centennial Anniversary program.

The chorus is open to everyone from 18 years of age and on. New members will please call Mr. Jester Hairston, ADams 5029 for auditions.

Scores Hit in Concert

Concert goers of Lake Geneva, Wis., were completely conquered by young Los Angeles basso, William de Valentine. The only flaw in the concert was the arrival of so many late-comers. With his winning personality, the young artist soon had his audience in the palm of his hand.

de Valentine is gifted with an unusual flair for singing florid music, and his trill is the equal of any soprano. At the close of Mozart's Alleluia the audience rose to its feet with loud bravos —we have an artist in William de Valentine.

Musicians Association Plans Activities Preceding Confab

The second Chatauqua which will close the series for this year will be held at the Holman Methodist Church this Sunday, August 13, at 5 p. m. on Cimarron and Jefferson. Rev. L. L. White is pastor and will deliver the address.

Sponsored by the L. A. Musicians Association, branch of the N. A. N. M. Inc. no effort has been spared to secure the finest talen for this affair, which will be an annual one.

Added to the list of artists previously named are such well known artists as Thelma Patillo, lyric soprano, Maggie Lewis, organist and Andre Green and his Symphonic Choir. Chairman of this affair, Georgia Horton is very pleased with the program and has secured over fifty patrons personally. Vice-president Nell Plant who is also the program chairman is another tireless worker. The Association is fortunate in having Mrs. Alberta Joyce, chairman of the membership committee.

During the special dispensation, musicians and lovers of good music are invited to join. Joining fee is one dollar with monthly dues fifty cents. Recently, Mrs. Joyce entertained with a farewell party before flying east to attend the N. A. N. M. Convention in Baltimore. She will stop enroute to visit friends and relatives.

The Hightower Youth Orchestra is sponsoring a Television Tea Sunday afternoon from 5-7 p. m. at 466 East Vernon Ave. At this time a new television set will be given away. The public is invited. Funds thus raised will go toward sending these talented young musicians to Baltimore where they will attend the Convention and appear in concert.

Other members attending the Convention are: State Organizer, Marjorie Carter and her talented daughter, Thelma Pearl Brown; Alma Hightower, Faustina Johnson, Caddye Lawson, Venita Hadyn and Jean Jackson plan to fly back.

Miss Jackson will represent the L. A. Branch at the Convention on Branch Night and is one of the featured artists on next Sundays program. Plan to attend for an evening of excellent entertainment. One of the aims of the Association is to present only the finest talent at all times.

Nat'l. Assn. Negro Musicians in Chautauqua, Sunday

Mrs. Nell Plant, vice president of the National Association of Negro Musicians will present the second sacred chautauqua at the Holman Methodist Church, Cimmaron and West Jefferson Blvd., Sunday, August 13th at 5:00 p.m.

Those taking a bow will be: Miss Jean Jackson, a contralto promising to arouse great interest in the near future. Miss Jackson will represent the L. A. Branch at the National's Balltimore Convention August 20-26th. The equally famous McNeil Singers will give three numbers; Mrs. R. Greene, director of Choir of Zion Hill, will present several choral contributions; Mr. and Mrs. Williams, soprano and tenor duet; Mr. Oscar Plant will bring out his baritone with several light airs; Mrs. Irma Tresville, will interpert the old composers at the piano; no program would be complete without a violin so Victoria Cooke, will answer that need; and bring the theme to its interesting and education heights will be Rev. L. L. White, pastor of Holman M. E. Church.

All are invited to attend.

dential study of the White House. It is an experience I shall never forget. Every little ripple of conversation there that day is as familiar to me as my ABC's.

Seated in his shirt sleeves at a broad mahogany desk at one end of the room was the President. Microphones hid half his chin like some Disney mechanical forest. Next to the desk stood two quaint old ladies. Next to them, the Secretary of State, who kept assuring the chief executive that he was "all wrong," that he should send somebody to jail "right off, without a moment's hesitation." The Secretary like this phrase. He repeated it every minute or so. George Hendricks, Jack Andrews, Herb West, O'Connor, this unknown Maine Sheriff, Patrick Gabille, and his girl friends completed the picture. Down my way here the two other reporters, Kelly of the Post and Baker of AP. Over us all crawled a young army of radio technicians.

Just before broadcast time there was a slight flurry. The President wanted a watch on the desk. The Secretary of State accomodated with his 21 jewel biscuit. Everything quieted down. The President began to speak.

Well, there is no need in going over that. You all remember it . . . how the President explained the whole case, how he told of the festival of the Sainted Sisters, which, by a concidence, was in progress at the very moment of his broadcast, how he gave the Presidential blessing to all the enforcement officers who had refused to destroy the dream held so dear by Marysville, Me.

But the paragraphs which have become 'engraved on my mind in letters of fire,' as the old boys used to say, were right at the end. Honest, I've gotthem memized, like the Gettysburg Address or Lou Gerig's last speech in the Yankee stadium or the preamble to the Constitution.

Remember:

"My good friend and earnest fellow worker, the Secretary of State, believes that law enforcement has been polluted in this case. I do not.

"My friends, so long as the officials of the United States government have a sense of justice which transcends the letter of orized, like the Gettysburg Ad- the law, which—in a love and understanding of their fellow man—is grounded in the basic truths of Christianity, we can fear no pollution and no corruption.

"I have revealed the secret of the Sainted Sisters of Marysville only after mature deliberation. I have not planned to destroy the dream which the townspeople have so carefully guarded. Instead, I believe that this 'dream' should be confined to one little town in Northern Maine, but that it should be brought to the entire nation, the whole world.

"In it, my friends, is seen the far-off glimmerings of our deliverance from bondage: the bondage of hatred, greed and prejudice. The two old ladies standing here next to me gave their whole loot to the city of Marysville to make it a happier place in which to live. They gave a great deal more. They gave a rich and unselfish love, one which the town, will never forget—one which I hope the nation will never forget.

"I hereby decree a national holiday to celebrate the return of the Sainted Sisters of Marysville."

MEMORIES

When I think of you,
That you are far away,
Then it seems to me
That we just met today.

When I think of you
And the day we parted,
I still hear your voice,
The beating of your heart.

But you left with me
One thing that is dear,
Dearer than life itself;
And for that I fear.

It is our baby son
That you have never seen.
So you see, my dear,
For his life I fear.

When he grows to be a man
War shall not be then,
And, his wife and child shall live
In a better world. It is coming,
I believe.

A BIRD AND THE NEST

Oh! I like my little nest!
It is cozy. There I rest.
It is high up on the tree,
So the people can't see me.

When I hatch my birdies there
I haven't got much room to spare,
I am sitting 'way up high,
Almost reaching to the sky!

And as soon as they grow spry,
One by one then they will fly.
They will take a little flight,
Stretching to the sunshine light.

I will fly with them to guide,
As a mother by their side.
On the mountains they will rest,
Then will fly back to our nest.

BEAUTIFUL CALIFORNIA

I want to live in California,
Where I can sleep out nights.
Where the nights are dry and warm
And the days are pleasant, bright.

On the mountains and the valley
There is sunshine all day long.
And this is just what I like,
I will live there very long.

And the house that I will live in
On the mountains 'way up high!
There is no place like California.
All day long is blue the sky.

All the groves that I will find there!
Oh! Imagine what it's like!
And the first place I would go to
Is Hollywood. Believe me, Mike.

There are poor, and there are rich.
But there is a little switch.
For the rich, it is the land
With its beauty, with its strand.

There are oil wells, there is fuel.
But who owns them? They are cruel.
And the flowers! And the trees!
Oh, there are so many bees.

To California I will go.
There is no one to tell me ..No."
Even if I have to hike.
I hope you'll help me, Brother Mike.

PIPE

No matter what the brand I'm puffing,
As the vapors lift and roll,
I'll always find unsmoked tobacco
At the bottom of the bowl.

THE THINKER

Whatsover a man thinketh in his heart, so is he;
A thought's made worthy as a thought should be,
And manifested so our God may see
The foolishness we wonder.

Whateler the subject's ponder,
He shall know it;
Into the Book of Life His pen shall stow it;
You needn't be a dreamer or a poet
To think a thought worth thinking.

HO HUM!

When eyes match eyes, when pupils meet,
The story lies, the lines repeat
The same refrain, again, again.
Caressing hair, a love affair.

RUINS OF A CATHEDRAL

Isolated stand, O stand! Walls upon foundation's land, Desolated "Holy-dress," empty-gutted, windowless . . .
. . . Ruins.

FIELD HOSPITAL
(The Army Doctor)

Removed his very eye lens, which edged the pupil's part,
His adenoids, intestines, the "fat around his heart,"
Then probed beyond his sore throat; concluded with a grunt,
And gave him rifle, raincoat.
And—sent him to the front.

FORWARD

If I have omitted the crossing of a "T",
Or placed semi-colons where commas should be;
Reviewing my grammar's illiteracy,
I offer an humble apology.

And if I've neglected the dotting of an "I,"
Parenthetical usages where brackets should lie,
A "you" substitution for "ye," "thou" and "thy";
Please bear with me 'til I the proper form apply.

DELIVERS ADDRESS—Mrs. Alea T. Washington, candidate for State Controller in Alameda County on the IPP ticket, was one of the prominent speakers at the second annual convention of the IPP in Sacramento last weekend.

Alpha Phi Alpha Chapters Establish Fraternity House

Local chapters of Alpha Phi Alpha, national college fraternity are preparing to open a fraternity house and domitory, reportedly the first venture of this sort for the fraternity on the west coast.

Established in a recently-purchased beautiful home at 2116 Western Avenue, the frat house will serve Alpha Delta, USC, Gamma Xi, UCLA and graduate chapter Beta Phi Lambda.

According to Samuel DeBoase, house manager, the house is already in service, but the public opening will not be held until August 19, Alpha Wives will be hostesses for the public opening. The house can accomodate 24 undergraduate members.

Final touches are being put on the house in preparation for the Alpha Phi Alpha Far Western Regional Conference which meets here from August 25 to 27 inclusive. Rudolph Henderson is president of the Conference.

Attorney Ivan J. Johnson 3rd, chairman of the finance committee, is working zealously to enlist financial support for the new project. Attorney William Rex Freeman is chairman of the board, while James Jones is board secretary with Peter Deautrize as treasurer. Four members from each chapter comprise the remaining membership on the board.

Woodlawn 'Y' Plans Benefit For Nursery

A circus at the Woodlawn branch Y.W.C.A. makes Aug. 26 from 1 to 6 another fun occasion to add to your summer date book.

It is a benefit circus for the purpose of purchasing nursery facilities for the Woodlawn branch.

The circus is being given by the "Y" Madonnas who have issued general invitations to the public.

Omega's Plan Western Fling

The Omega Psi Phi Fraternity has decided to go Western. Of course you can always count on the Omegas for doing something different and this time they are really doing it with "Wild West Affair." Realizing that the great mass of the social set gets tired of going to those plain old dances with ties and high heels, the chance has now come when you can be comfortable and still have a good time.

Here's your chance to drag out grandma's old dress or that fancy riding habit; or better still, put on that square dance dress and borrow the next door kids toy guns and really have some fun. If your outfit is good enough, you may win a prizze, because the men of Omega are giving a prize to the best Western outfit. The roundup will be at 2711 S. San Pedro, August 26th at 9 o'clock.

Buttons and Bows and gingham too
Plaid shirt and jeans will do
Anything Western, but just be there
At the Omega's "Wild West Affair."

Get there by horse; get there by car
Either way, it's not too far
Cowboys and Indians will all be there
At the Omega's "Wild West Affair."

Nutriliters Benefit For Laura Bowman

The Nutriliters Club will sponsor a benefit garden party for Miss Laura Bowman, internationally famous actress, next Sunday, August 13, at 3430 S. Walton avenue, from 3 to 9 p.m.

Miss Bowman, for years recognized as one of America's foremost stage and radio figures, recently suffered a stroke and is still in a serious condition at her home.

Her vast array of friends in the theatrical profession are rallying around her and have pledged to donate their talents to this party as well as to a gigantic testimonial stage show to be held next month, possibly at the Lincoln theatre.

During the last few years Miss Bowman has given her services in the interests of countless local civic and religious organizations.

Sunday's affair will be highlighted by featured acts by noted stage, screen, radio and television celebrities. Flournoy E. Miller, producer of "Sugar Hill," "Shuffle Along" and numerous other well-known stage hits, is in charge of entertainment. Marie Coker Dickerson, J. King and Miss Garrett, Nutrilite Club officals, head the planning committee.

OUR PRAYERS

Most of us have formed regular habits, our lives are carefully organized. We have our meal time, our work time and our rest time. Why, then, should we be careless about our time to pray?

It is better to have 15 minutes unhurried time for prayer, than a distracted hour; we must concentrate upon it, and become absorbed by it, if we are to accomplish anything.

Whether you wish to pray in the morning, noon or night . . . or all three times of day, be sure that you are not guilty of not spending any time giving thank to God.

M.M. Dear Prof. Herman: I have been a customer of yours for years. I am now writing you to thank you for telling me about that wonderful book "With God All Things Are Possible." I read its pages over and over, and get so much consolation from them.

R.F. I am worried about my financial condition, what do you advise?

ANSWER: After giving your problem careful thought and consideration I find that you haven't given much thought to budgeting your income, and have just spent your money whenever you wished, without giving the proper consideration to your bills, hence your present predicament. May I suggest that you stop spending and try saving and putting that which you have to spare on your bills, you will soon have them caught up and feel much better about it as well.

J.J. Will we get the house?

ANSWER: Probing into the matter I find that the people now living in the house did not renew their lease, therefore I feel that you may be successful in getting it.

K.M. Does he love me? Will we get married? What should I do if this continues?

ANSWER: Only one question is answered in the column due to the limited amount of space. If you will write to Prof. Herman, in care of this paper, sending your full name, address and birthdate along with 25c to cover three questions, I shall be glad to help you.

CHESS CORNER

Cosmo, a public interracial club, meets Wednesdays, 7:30 p.m., at 2180 W. Adams.

WHITE MATES IN TWO

Solution to last week's puzzle: 1 R-Q5, KxR; T Q-4.

This truly baffling problem is by L. N. De Jong. White: N-KR7; B-QN; Rs-QR4 and 5; Q-QN4; K-QR. Black: Ps-K2 and 3; R-KB; Q-Q4; K-K4.

COSMO LEADS NATIONAL FIGHT ON JIM CROW

By unanimous vote Cosmo members took the initiative in launching a nationwide protest against the barring of W. A. Scott, son of the founder of The Atlanta Daily World, from the annual Southern Chess Association Tournament in North Carolina in July. Scott was invited to play, but chess officials backed down and failed to defend his rights when bigots and the Washington Duke Hotel in Durham objected. Never before has chess been degraded by white supremacist tactics, and the battling response had to come immediately before precedent became set.

It was logical that Cosmo should assume the lead in mobilizing the democratic forces throughout chesdom, with the demand that SCA players be suspended from national tournaments until they cease discrimination. There are several colored clubs in the U. S. that might have stepped forward to head up the battle, but Cosmo as the nation's only interracial club was in a favored position. Copies of our August Bulletin, carrying the story and asking for support, have been mailed to hundreds of leading players in cities and towns in every state.

The principle of the chess unity of all peoples which Cosmo has successfully upheld locally for two years we are prepared to defend on a wider arena. Even if we should fail, racism in chess has been exposed and denounced from a national tribunal—it can not get by unchallenged.

'YM' And 'YW' Join Swim Promotion

The goal of capacity use of the swimming pool at 28th Street YMCA received a boost this week week when the Woodlawn YWCA decided to join forces with the YMCA committee in promoting the present "water-proofing" campaign. The YWCA will continue to encourage the use of the pool by women especially on Monday evenings from 7 to 8 for beginners. Both organizations believe that adults as well as youth should be "water-proffed" to the extent that they can be safe in the water.

The full adult swimming program at 28th Street this month opens the pool on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings from 7 to 10 o'clock with the first hour donated to instruction.

Fun Club at YMCA

Parents of boys 9 to 15 are finding the 28th Street YMCA Summer Fun Club a cure for headaches arising from junior's summer vacation. Instead of having him and his friends or both underfoot or worrying about them if our of sight an increasing number of wise parents are taking advantage of the "Y's" Summer Fun Club and send junior to 28th Street YMCA Monday through Friday from 9 to 5. It is a load off their minds and junior loves it.

Scout Council Awarded Trophy For Excellence

Winning the award for the third time, the George Washington District of the Los Angeles Area Boy Scout Council has received the John Henry Russell trophy for excellence in several phases of Scouting.

Judge W. Turney Fox, vice-president of the Council and coordinator of district chairman activities, presented the trophy to Ray Bartee, chairman of George Washington district, at a meeting of the Council held last Thursday at the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Established by a past president of the Council at the conclusion of his term of office, the John Henry Russell trophy is awarded bi-annually to the district scoring the most points on such things as unit and boy membership, honor unit accomplishments, unit campaign, percentage of trained leadership, active participation of neighborhood commissioners, and other Scouting activities.

Boy Scouts To Mass Flags At Charity Game

Five thousand Scouts of the Los Angeles Area Boy Scout Council will march with massed flags into the Coliseum Wednesday night, August 16, to participate in the opening of the 1950 football season here at the annual East-West charity football game.

Scouts throughout the area are now taking orders for tickets for the classic, designed to raise money for boys' work in the city. All Cubs, Boy Scouts, and Explorers of the Council who have covered their sales territories have been invited to watch the Los Angeles Rams and the Washington Redskins battle to break the two-and-two tie which is the tally for games played during the past four years.

SOS for LA Orphanage

Local volunteers are urgently needed to aid the building reconstruction fund appeal of the Los Angeles Orphanage, Victor H. Roessetti, treasurer, announced last week.

Established in 1856 by the Daughters of Charity, the home has cared for more than 8,000 of the city's homeless children.

Teen-Age Dance Permits Issued By Police Soon

Effective August 20th, persons or groups wishing to conduct a teen-age dance must first secure a permit from the Board of Police Commissioners.

The ordinance requires adequate lighting in all portions of the premises accessible to teenagers, that where off-street parking is made available such area must be lighted and supervised, and that no pass-out checks will be issued enabling participants to leave the premises and then return.

It is further required that dances shall be provided with adequate adult supervision and that supervisors be charged with the responsibility of maintaining acceptable standards of dress and conduct.

The law prohibits a person of twenty years of age or over from attending a teen-age dance as a participant and makes persons who loiter about the premises during dances guilty of a misdemeanor.

Departments of the City of Los Angeles, County of Los Angeles and Board of Education need not seccure permits, but will be required to conform to the minimum specifications of the ordinance.

Lieutenant Harry E. Engelund, Los Angeles Police Juvenile Bureau, President of the Southern California Juvenile Officers Association, states that this legislation was initiated and sponsored by the Association in order to provide legalized dancing for teen-agers in wholesome surroundings.

Mrs. Albert Maltz Describes Prison Life Of Hollywood Ten

Mrs. Albert Maltz, wife of Albert Maltz of the Hollywood Ten, gave the thrilling story of the lives of those prisoners of conscience before the convention of the State Independent Progressive Party in Sacramento last weekend. The address follows:

If events had been otherwise, it is quite possible that Albert Maltz would have been here today to speak to you in behalf of these new political prisoners, the twenty-three men and women in eight Federal prisons. But he is one of them. He has been sifting gravel for the water filtering plant at Mill Point, West Virginia, this past week with Edward Dynstryka. John Howard Lawson has been counting eggs in the prison storeroom at Ashland, Virginia. He also checks in the 100 pounds sacks of sugar which Dalton Trumbo moves.

So I am here in their stead. I will discuss with you what these jailings mean. How does it concern the Independent Progressive Party, and you, personally, that twenty-three American citizens are in jail, and more are in the courts, for defiance of the Un-American Activities Committee?

What makes these cases important? The sentences are not savage, although Carl Marzani is serving three years, and most of the Hollywood Ten got the maximum sentence under the law. But these sentences are mild if we think that Tom Mooney spent a big chunk of his life behind bars; that Sacco and Vanzetti lost life itself.

The treatment that the men are receiving is not brutal. It certainly is wasteful of the special gifts of these men and women, but it is not excessively hard. Our Hollywood Ten, at least, are getting the very same treatment as congressmen who accepted bribes or stole from the public funds.

Nor is the significance of these cases a matter of frame-up and miscarriage of justice. The wife of Willie McGee might stand here today with equal right, to represent the Negro people, living for centuries now, in fear of the rape charge and the lynch law. Or Harry Bridges' wife might stand here to detail the persecution of a fighting labor leader by a cabal of ship owners, hired perjurers, and officers of our government. Since I wrote this, he has been jailed, too.

My first experience in the labor movement was in a strike in Passaic, New Jersey. From the phrase "Jersey Justice" I had my early lessons that the law is not impartial, that Judges are not enthroned above the political, economic, and racial passions of their time, that the democratic processes are relative and partial, and must be fought for if they are to exist at all.

So I do not come to you in naivete, for help for my husband, only, or for other useful people, uselessly jailed. These jailings have a different, a unique character, and they must be understood for what they are.

Let me speak first of the Hollywood Ten, since this is closest to me. Our men were subpoenaed in the Fall of 1947. In that autumn the Truman doctrine was new, and the Marshall Plan had just been announced. Back in those days, one practically never heard the words "cold war." That was a phrase in labor papers ,and some liberal columns. It never appeared in newspaper headlines — much less in State documents. Yet at this time—when most Americans had not even heard the phrase, our Ten men declared that their subpoenas had this meaning — the beginning of a drive to tie the movies to the needs of a cold war—to chain this great medium of education and propaganda to a war drive.

This interpretation seemed a bit fantastic then, to many people. But the hearings themselves added evidence. The Committee members pounded away at the movie producers—"Why did you make 'Mission to Moscow'? Why did you do 'Song of Russia"? When will you make an anti-Communist picture?" At the end of the third day's testimony, Parnell Thomas said bluntly, "We will make the proper suggestions to the producers." And he did and they were improper suggestions. The blacklist of the Ten was the first of them, and with the collaboration of the banks that own the movie industry, these ten men have been deprived of work for nearly three years. This improper suggestion partially achieved its purpose, intimidation of the rest of the movie makers; and through this a stranglehold on the screen. The committee's public demand for hate movies that would name the Soviet Union as a potential enemy, was implemented in secret through the "pay roll route." Thomas put his greedy fingers into the public till, and into the people's culture, and he stole more the second time. He embezzled what maturiy and human dignity there had been in American movies. And with what a result?

The movie producers do not dare to openly preach war to the peace-loving American people—it would be bad for profits. But what have they done in these past three years? They have filled the screen with crime pictures—with such violence and lust that I cannot send my seven-year-old daughter into the theatre lest she come out trembling at a shadow in the lobby. What have the scenes of torture, and blood and anguished fear accomplished if not to prepare the unthinking to say "Drop the bomb, and the sooner the better," to a Peace Petitioner on the street. If not to prepare the American mind for General Hershey's call to the nation two weeks ago? The man who heads Selective Service said, "What we need is a new group of killers." We did not call for killers in the war against Hitler—we needed anti-fascist soldiers then, and we sought to orient them to our just purpose. But for the dirty war in Korea we need killers, brutalized and filled with prejudice, so that they will make "trigger happy troops who fire at North and South Koreans alike," as the correspondents report. In readying the killers to use new weapons that shoot terrible fire and even an atom bomb, against the people of Korea, the movies have done more than their share in these three years.

In the investigation itself I heard Parnell Thomas say what he later took out of the official record; "This investigation is only the first of a seven-point program. We will go on to radio, publishing, the theatre, education, labor, and government." In this announced program, the prosecution and blacklisting of the Ten was his Big Bertha, and the shot he fired out of it was the $64 question. With this weapon and this ammunition other avenues of mass communication have been intimidated and perverted. I know families that stopped taking in a morning paper because of the effect of headlines and pictures on their children. I know others that will not tolerate the nightly carnage on television or on the radio, where new blacklisting impends.

So this is what makes the case of the Hollywood Ten unique—Not that a regulation was violated. As one of the inmates of the Washington jail said in wonder, "Contempt of Congress, what kind of a crime is that?" Not that the proceedings mocked justice, from the Thomas Committee hearings through all the courts and Judges. Not that the victims have lost their freedom. But that through them censorship and thought control are intended for the American people, and have closed down upon us to some degree. Justice Brandeis once wrote in a Supreme Court opinion, "Those who won our independence believed that freedom to think as you will and to speak as you think are means indispensable to the discovery and spread of political truth." Is this the climate of freedom in America today? We know it is not. Taft-Hartley is part of today's climate—the Mundt-Nixon bill and the Hobbes bill threaten new storms tomorrow. Even in this climate of manufactured hysteria people think as they will, but many, many citizens of the United States fear to speak as they think. This is the unique aspect of the case of the Hollywood Ten—that ideas were their crime, those means that are truly indispensable to the discovery and spread of truth.

Now I want to discuss the other political prisoners with you—how strange this phrase in the land that has been the traditional refuge from pogroms, from Czarist terror, from Nazi barbarism. In Federal prisons now are eleven members of the Board of the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee. Among their number are Howard Past, the eminent novelist, Dr. Lyman Bradley, formerly head of the German Department of New York University, three physicians, two attorneys, two labor leaders, a business man, and a housewife. What was their crime? They refused to hand over to the Thomas Committee the records of their charities to refugees from Franco Spain, and the names of thousands of Americans who provided the money—yours among them, possibly. They challenged the committee's right to ask for these records. The punitive intent of the Committee was all too clear to them. It should be clear to us. The bloody butcher has not 23, but 180,000 political prisoners in jails and concentration camps. 90% of them suffer from tuberculosis and heart ailments—the stigmata of Fascist prisons. Over 300,000 Spanish Republicans are living in exile. During the last war it was well known, and documented by the Security Council among other agencies, that Franco was the silent, but useful partner of Hitler. Yet our Secretary of State has notified Congress that he will press the United Nations to admit Franco into their company.

What was the crime of George Marshall, chairman of the Civil Rights Congress? That he would not turn over the records and membership lists of his organization, which pre-dated the CRC and helped to found it. And what was the crime of Eugene Dennis, besides his politics? That he called the very existence of the Committee in question, because of the poll taxers there who do not truly represent their states. And that he challenged its misuse of the power of Congress to investigate.

The twenty-third prisoner is Carl Marzani, a talented film maker, whose outstanding services during the war earned high praise and many citations. He was accused of concealing Communist Party affiliation on various army documents and convicted of perjury on the testimony of two professional anti-Communist witnesses, one exposed as a perjurer in the Bridges case, and the other since confined in a mental institution.

What is it that all these cases have in common? What is their common denominator? I believe it is to be found in their effect on our political climate. The Un-American Activities Committee, with the Truman administration backing up its actions, is trying to close the avenues of free discussion, to silence all opposition to the war policies, to intimidate those who offer help to the victims. The cold war is leading to the hot war, to the total destruction of an atomic war. Free men, speaking freely and free to organize against it, can prevent such a catastrophe. This is the common denominator. Peace is the common denominator.

In the case of the Hollywood Ten, the Appeals Court itself placed the issue in this context when it said, and I quote—"In the current ideological struggle—the motion picture industry plays a critically prominent role in moulding public opinion." This being so, the court concludes, the $64 question is not only pertinent but "Indeed, it is hard to envisage how there could be any more pertinent question in these circumstances." So the Court fired the Big Bertha too, with the same ammunition, "Are you now or have you ever been a member of the Communist Party?"

The Court of the World declares that our struggle for peace is the issue of all these cases. The other evening I was shown the latest batch of clippings about the Hollywood Ten from the European press. Two hundred items—full page stories, banner headlines, three column pictures gathered from the newspapers and magazines all over Europe. They contain the record of dozens of resolutions from unions, film societies, groups of intellectuals, protesting the jailing of the Hollywood Ten. And not only of the Ten. The Europeans in their bitter knowledge of how Fascism works, skip over the technicalities of these political cases. They know well how the winds are blowing when writers, artists, scientists, educators are jailed on such charges. They bombard the American Embassies, they hold mass meetings, they protest these jailings. Peace is their deepest concern; they recognize these men and women as organizers for Peace, and they take heart that such people exist here, and fight hard enough to endure prison for their conviction. And they link these cases together. In Eastern Berlin there was a great mass meeting recently, in a place comparable to Madison Square Garden. I have a photograph of the event. Behind the eminent speakers is a great banner—it reads, "Fast, Maltz, Bridges — 3 victims of American reaction."

It is good to be gathered in convention, meeting our friends from other parts of the state, feeling the strength of united action. One can feel very lonely these days. This loneliness is promoted on the air, sold in the movies, and ballyhooed in the press. Its manufacturers are the war makers. "You are alone," they say to each one of us. "No one fights with you. Since you cannot win, surrender! Let us have our way."

I think I have the right to say to you, "Don't buy this product! It is false and a lie. If you let it in it will paralyze like the bite of a snake. Protect your sanity and your true patriotism and your fighting heart. Protect yourself by joining with others to return the world to Peace.

Peace Rally

This is a national call for peace to all women! Especially to Negro women who have been persecuted most, and have suffered most in all wars of our country!

Let us meet on certain days, as in days of prayer, to pray for peace! Make the strong resolve that we shall not have war! Pray, talk, think peace! Speak to your neighbors, your friends! Assemble ourselves together with the express purpose of fighting for peace! And we shall have peace!

FIGHT TOTALITARIANISM!

The government has hoarded and destroyed food for years to keep prices high. Now if prices rise 5 per cent, and you buy more than some little Hitler thinks you should, you may go to jail.

Mrs. S. A. Williams Shows Moving Pictures Of World Baptist Alliance Convention

All who did not have the privilege of attending the "World's Baptist Alliance" held recently in Cleveland, Ohio are cordially invited to attend the Kingdom Baptist Church Sunday, Aug. 13, 1950, 8 p.m., 2808 Temple Street, to see the moving picture of the Alliance made by Mrs. S. A. Williams, who was a deligate to the World meeting and who has just returned with a wealth of information and inspiration.

There will be other very interesting educational pictures shown on health and nutrition by Mrs. Henrietta Garrot. Mrs. Rhidonia J. Cain, instructor in the National B.T.U. and S. S. Congress will make her report. Rev. A. W. Ross is Pastor of Kingdom.

Convention business prospects for the future look bright, with 55 meetings already booked for next year, six for 1952, and six for 1953.

Baha'i World Faith

"Security of Faith" is the subject of the lecture which Dr. Vera Graham is scheduled to deliver to the public meeting of B'ahai World Faith to be held at their Los Angeles headquarters, 331 South New Hampshire Avenue, on Sunday afternoon, August 13, at 3:30 o'clock.

Dr. Graham quotes from the works of Abdul-Baha: "I say unto you that any one who will rise up in the Cause of God at this time shall be filled with the spirit of God, and that He will send His hosts from heaven to help you, and that nothing will be impossible to you if you have faith."

Russell, Secretary, and Mrs. Mary L. Parker, reporter.

Hardy Offers Civil Rights At Sacramento

Jack W. Hardy, 14th District Congressional candidate offered a controversial "civil rights" resolution to Republican party heads in Sacramento last weekend.

The "Hardy Resolution" calling for rlocal and state legislation to insure equal opportunity of rights, regardless of race, creed or color in the matter of renting homes in Government housing projects, was presented to the GOP State Central Committee meeting in the state capitol last Sunday.

Charging that the Democratic party has paid only lip service to the problem of civil rights Hardy said: "Discrimination is not only contrary to our American principles of freedom but tends to dangerously undermine our national unity . . . vital in these war days."

Shilly shallying on the part of the National administration," Hardy stated, "amounts to a mockery of the democratic freedom."

Name Delegate To World Meet

Mrs. Leo Spitz, wife of the Universal-International film executive, has been appointed by the Executive Committee of the American Association for the United Nations, Inc. (AAUN) as an official delegate to the Plenary Assembly of the World Federation of United Nations Associations which will meet in Geneva, Switzerland, September 6 to 12.

For some time Mrs. Spitz has served as Advisor on Motion Picture Industry Relations for the American Association for the United Nations.

Save The Race!

CAPETOWN, S. Africa—(ATLAS)—The South African government is going all out in its efforts to prevent inter-marriage, even between Africans of different races, and Africans and Indians as the next step in its racial segregation policy.

Marriage between white and colored persons has long been illegal in South Africa.

Rev. Williams At Wesley

The Rev. J. O. Williams, distinguished pastor of the historic Sharp Street Methodist, Baltimore, Md., will be the guest preacher at Wesley Methodist Church both at the morning worship and vespers Sunday. Morning worship begins at 10:50 a. m. and vespers at 7 p. m.

Rev. Williams is an eloquent speaker and is always heard with great profit. Buell Thomas, tenor soloist of the Senior Choir will be the soloist at the morning worship.

Elect Mrs. Anderson B. Bryant S. C. Christian Churches Officer

LONG BEACH—In what is tetrmed one of the most significant moves towards better interracial goodwill and fellowship in religious circles of the city, Mrs. Anderson B. Barnes, Executive Seretary of the Avalon Community Center, last week was elected vice vice-president of the Christian Churches of Southern California.

....Unanimously electing the prominent civic leader and well known worker were some 6,000 delegates attending the State Convention, last week in the Municipal Auditorium of this city.

Comprising the Southern California Conference are one hundred white churches and five Negroes. Mrs. Barnes was a delegate from Avalon Christian Church of which the Rev. Dr. Baxter C. Duke is minister.

A former resident of Indianapolis, Ind., where she served for seven years as National Secretary of Missionary Organizations, Mrs. Barnes received her Bachelor's Degree at Talledga College and her Masters in Religious Education from Chicago Theological Seminary. She is currently enrolled in the School of Social Work at the University of Southern California.

For the past four years she has been Chairman of the Social Education and Action Committee, Women's State Board of Christian Churches, and a member of the State Board Committee of Social and Education.

Corresponding Secretary of the Southern California Federation of Centers and Settlements, during the past year Mrs. Barnes has also served as protestant Church Professional representative of the Functional Committee, Youth Services Division of the Metropolitan Welfare Council. She is also chairman of the Department of Study, Christians' Fellowship at her home church.

The mother of triplets, Anna Elizabeth, Mary Ellen and Sterling Jamieson Barnes, the new church official resides with her husband and family at 623 East Forty-third Street.

She and her family were the recent subjects of a national magazine feature.

Bishop Gordon Challenges The Church

RICHMOND.—Bishop Buford F. Gordon, Charlotte, North Carolina, told the delegates to the General Convention on Christian Education and General Assembly of Christian Youth, meeting here at Hood Temple African M. E. Zion Church last week, that the challenge to build a new world was that of the church and no other agency could do the job as it should be done.

"Those of us who have faith in God look for new heavens and a new earth, depsite the fact that we see all about us a world that is vastly different. We see a world of strife and hate, a world of mistrust and dissatisfaction. We see a world of sorrow and of grief and a world of imminent war and devastation," said the Bishop.

Dr. Morris at L. Beach

Announcement was made today by the Rev. F. C. Washington, pastor of the Friendship Baptist church, Long Beach, that Dr. Charles Satchell Morris, II, of Los Angeles, who recently returned to his home following a ten thousand mile motor trek through the Deep South and the East will be the speccial guest speaker at both worship services next Sunday, August 13.

Music will be furnished by the senior choir of the church.

Quakers Observe Hiroshima Day

The American Friends Service Committee sponsored two meetings held Sunday, August 6. One in Pasadena at the Holliston Methodist Church 1305 East Colorado Street at 1:30 p. m. and the Los Angeles meeting at 3 p. m. at the Wesley Methodist Church 52nd and Main Street.

Sunday, August 6 was the fifth anniversary of the dropping of the atomic bomb on Hiroshima and the first since President Truman announced his decision to go ahead with production of the even more terrible Hydrogen bomb.

"We are anxious to explore all avenues," say the Quakers, "to meditate the hot and cold wars." Dr. A. J. Muste, executive secretary of the Fellowship of Reconciliation, New York City spoke on Hiroshima to Korea to What.

The Society of Friends have a 300 year experience of meeting difficulties without force or violence. Certainly their treatment of the American Indian was singularly successful and peaceful while on the East Coast the Puritan idea was extermination and here on the West coast, enslavement. Negro slavery was eliminate from the Quaker fellowship fifty years before a terrible civil war ended it in the Nation. Quaker ideas on meeting the present alarming problems should be worth considering.

53rd Anniv. World Zionist Congress

Fifty-third anniversary of the first World Zionist Congress will be ceelbrated by Southland Jews at a meeting sponsored by the Zionist Organization of America, Southern Pacific region, 8 p.m. Thursday, August 17.

Mortimer May, ZOA national vice-president, will be the principal speaker at the event which will be held in Temple Sinai, 407 S. New Hampshire.

His subject is: "Israel's Challenge to American Jewry."

Other speakers at the session include Captain Yaacov Adam, former officer in the Israeli Navy, and Samuel Lackman, ZOA regional president.

The public is invited.

Holman Methodist

The Evangelistic Choir of Holman Methodist Church, 2003 West Jefferson Blvd., will present a branch of the Los Angeles Musician Association in their second monthly Sacred Chautauqua, Sunday, August 13th at 5 p. m. Numbers will be rendered by Albert McNeil Singers; Zion Hill Baptist Church Choir; Dr. H. Hamilton Williams, organist and others. Reverend White, pastor of the churchc will speak on "Music." The public is invited to attend this program.

Black Man Will Win World War III, Says Rev. J. Webb

"The Third World War" was preached on by Rev. James M. Webb, the noted Evangelist and author, of Chicago, Ill., Sunday night, August 6, at the church of the Living God, 410 East 31st Street.

According to Biblical history and prophecy, says Rev. Webb, God has prepared a colored man who was rocked in black man's credle in Africa, to be victorious in this coming war. Whereas the colored man was used by the allied nations to win World Wars I and II, so will God use a colored man to win the coming war. God is able to put his Divine power in any man—and destroy any human power.

Rev. Webb is planning to show his Biblical pictures, entitled, "The Black Man's part in the Bible" at the Elks Temple or some large church. He claims that God used colored men and women making Biblical History. His matter is in books, pictures and reccord forms.

National Guardsmen Alerted For Service

Finality of induction into active service of individual National Guardsmen of the 40th Infantry Division probably will not be known for a week to 10 days after the Southern California outfit is activated on Sept. 1, it was announced this week by Maj. Gen. Daniel H. Hudelson, division commander.

Hudelson explained that final physical examination of division personnel cannot be made until after the organization has answered the call to duty.

Yes! PRICE IS IMPORTANT

The Angelus Funeral Home has always maintained moderate prices as an important part of their service to bereaved families. We consider it our solemn obligation to assist in selecting a service most appropriate to the family's circumstances, and we never knowingly countenance "over-spending."

A PROVED PLAN

NOTICE OF ADOPTION OF RESOLUTION OF INTENTION TO LEASE A PORTION OF WAREHOUSE SITE

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Education of the City of Los Angeles has adopted the following resolution of intention to lease a portion of the Warehouse Site, to-wit:

"(1) RESOLVED, that the Board of Education of the City of Los Angeles, in regular and open meeting, hereby declares its intention to lease that portion of the Warehouse Site designated as 1411 South San Pedro Street, the use of which is not now needed for school purposes, in the City of Los Angeles, County of Los Angeles, State of California, and more particularly described as follows:

Brick restaurant building located on Part of the 445/1000 acre tract of of land allotted to Maria O. de Altamarino, by the Final Decree of Partition had in Case No. 4021 of the District Court, described by metes and bounds, together with a fifteen (15) foot strip of land immediately adjacent to the northerly wall of said building;

"That the term of the proposed lease shall be for two years beginning October 1, 1950, and ending September 30, 1952, and that the Lease of the above property shall be made at a minimum rental of Forty-five Dollars ($45.00) per month, payable monthly in advance on or about the first day of each and every month, at the office of the Realty Section of said Lessor in the City of Los Angeles, or at such other place as said Lessor may designate; it being understood that the first and last payment of said accepted monthly rental shall be made at the beginning of the term of the Lease;

"That each bid must be accompanied by a certified check or cashier's check made payable to the order of the Board of Education of the City of Los Angeles, or cash, for not less than Ninety Dollars ($90.00) as a guarantee that the bidder, if successful, will enter into a Lease for said premises as provided for herein;

"That a public meeting of said Board be held at its usual place of meeting, Los Angeles City Board of Education Administrative Offices, 451 North Hill Street, in said City of Los Angeles, on Monday, September 11, 1950, at five o'clock p.m., at which time and place sealed proposals to lease said property on the foregoing terms will be received and considered:

"That any responsible person present at said meeting be given an opportunity to raise the bids orally after the sealed bids are opened; it being understood that any oral bid shall exceed by at least five per cent (5%) the highest of any written bid received; and it being further understood that the Board reserves the right to reject any bid or all bids if it deems such action for the best public interest, and to withdraw said property from lease, under this resolution; and

"That if the Board accepts any bid or bids under this resolution, it is understood that the Lease to be executed by the Board shall include provisions substantially the same as those included in a former Lease covering said property dated September 23, 1948, by and between LOS ANGELES CITY HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT OF LOS ANGELES COUNTY, Lessor, and NINA TELLEZ and MARIAN MILLER, Lessee, on file and available for examination at the Realty Section of the Board of Education, 1445 South San Pedro Street, Los Angeles, California.

"(II) BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That notice of said meeting shall be given by posting copies of this resolution signed by this Board or by a majority thereof, in three public places in Los Angeles City High School District, not less than fifteen days before the date of said Meeting, and by publication of the above resolution not less than once a week for three successive weeks before the date of said meeting in a newspaper, of general circulation."

By order of the Board of Education of the City of Los Angeles.

A. S. NIBECKER, JR.
Business Manager and Architect.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Education of the City of Los Angeles will receive bids for furnishing, all labor and material for the following work:

KIND OF WORK AND NAME OF SCHOOL

Construction of New Switchboard and Service at the Twenty-eighth Street School.

DATE OF BID OPENING

August 17, 1950.

Each bid shall be in accordance with drawings, specifications and other contract documents now on file in the Building Branch of the Business Division of said Board, 1425 South San Pedro Street, Los Angeles. Prospective bidders may secure copies of said drawings and specifications at the office of said Building Branch.

Pursuant to the Labor Code of the State of California, the Board of Education has ascertained the general prevailing rate of per diem wages for each craft or type of workman needed to execute the contracts which will be awarded the successful bidders; and these prevailing rates are contained in said specifications adopted by the Board, and are as follows:

CLASSIFICATION

Foremen

All foremen not herein separately classified, shall be paid not less than 17½ cents per hour more than the hourly rate of the highest classification over which he has supervision as to the SIX BASIC TRADES; and not less than 12½ cents per hour as to the SUB-TRADES, more than the journeymen rate for the craft involved.

Apprentices

May be employed in conformity with Section 1777.5 of the California Labor Code.

Riggers

Same wage scale as craft to which rigging is incidental.

Welders

Same wage scale as craft to which welding is incidental.

CLASSIFICATION	Hourly Wage Rate
LABORERS
Laborers, General and Construction	$1.67
Asphalt Raker and Ironer	1.77
Electricians
Electrician	$2.50

The rates of per diem wages for each of the various classifications of work shall be the hereinbefore set forth prevailing rates of hourly wages multiplied by eight (8). Eight (8) hours shall constitute a day's work; it being understood that in the event that workmen are employed less than eight (8) hours per day, the per diem wages shall be deemed to be that fraction of the per diem wages herein established that the number of hours of employment bears to eight (8) hours.

WORKING RULES

1. Where a single shift is worked, eight (8) consecutive hours between 7 A.M. and 5 P.M. shall constitute a day's work at straight time for all workers.
2. Forty (40) hours between Monday 7 A.M. and Friday 5 P.M. shall constitute a week's work at straight time.
3. All work performed in excess of eight (8) hours per day or forty (40) hours per week or on Holidays and Sundays shall be paid for at the rate for overtime of the craft involved.
4. Holidays as herein referred to shall be deemed to be New Year's Day, Decoration Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Armistice Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas. If any of the above holidays fall on Sunday, the Monday following shall be considered a legal holiday.

It shall be mandatory upon the contractor to whom a contract is awarded, and upon all subcontractors under him to pay not less than said general prevailing rates of per diem wages to all workmen employed in the execution of the contract.

Notice is also hereby given that all bidders may submit with their bids, a sworn statement of their financial responsibility, technical ability and experience. Such sworn statement may be required to be furnished before award is made to any particular bidder.

Each bid shall be made out on forms to be obtained at said Building Branch of the Board of Education; must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or bidder's bond (issued by a surety company accredited by the Board of Education) for not less than Five Per Cent (5%) of the amount of the bid, made payable to the order of the Board of Education of the City of Los Angeles; shall be sealed and filed with the Purchasing Agent of the Board of Education, Room 200, 1425 South San Pedro Street, on or before 2:00 P.M. on the dates shown above and will be opened and read aloud in public at, or about, said time and in the public hall, second floor, of the above address.

The above-mentioned check or bidder's bond shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into contract if awarded the work, or any part thereof, and will be declared forfeited if the successful bidder refuses to enter into contract after being requested to do so by the Board of Education.

The successful bidders will be required to furnish labor and material bonds in an amount equal to 75% of the contract price, and faithful performance bonds in an amount equal to 100% of the contract price, said bonds to be secured by a surety company or surety companies satisfactory to the Board of Education.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids, and/or waive any informality on a bid. No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of sixty (60) days after the date set for the opening thereof.

By order of the Board of Education of the City of Los Angeles.

Dated: Los Angeles, California, July 31, 1950.

CRC Urges Protest U. S. Court Smith Act

The decision of the U. S. Court of Appeals to uphold Judge Medina's conviction of the twelve Communist leaders is considered so dangerous and of such grave importance that everyone interested in justice is urged to write immediately to the National Non-Partisan Committee of the Civil Rights Congress, 23 West 26th street, New York 10, N. Y. The Committee can then use the millions of protests to prove to the court the people of America will not submit quietly to this raw injustice.

The committee suggests the following message:

The recent decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals in New York upholding the Smith Act and conviction of the eleven Communist leaders is aimed at outlawing the Communist Party. It is inconsistent with the Supreme Court decision in the Schneiderman case. It has placed new restrictions on the right of free speech, press and assembly as established by the First Amendment to the Constitution of our United States, and has given the sanction of the court to other violations of the Bill of Rights.

We therefore hold that this decision cannot be regarded as final and that the Supreme Court must review the decision. We also hold that the right to bail should be continued for the eleven Communist leaders during this appeal.

Calvert Employee Visits Eagle Office

Joseph F. Makel of the Calvert Distillers Corporation, is on the West Coast making a survey of the Negro market. He is staying at the Clark Hotel while making friends in L.A. He has been with the company approximately ten years, and comes highly recommended as the national sales representative of Calvert liquors from his home in New York. His area comprises 27 states, all told.

Mr. Makel is an especially friendly young man. He dropped into the office of The California Eagle last Wednesday for a little chat in company of Theodore Albritton, local representative, and made a very favorable impression upon everyone. He is a graduate of Lincoln University.

MDPA Officers

The new officers and various charimen of the Women's Auxiliary to the Medical, Dental, and Pharmaceutical Association of Southern California met July 31st at the home of the new president, Mrs. Charlene oJhnson. Mrs. Johnson announced the chairmen she has seelcted to head the respective committees this year and such chairmen will also serve as members of the executive board.

The following is a list of the committees and their chairmen: Program committee, Mrs. Eloise Davis; Membership, Mrs. Clara Webb; Sunshine, Mrs. Ann Smith; Publicity, Mrs. Davine Carney; Hospitality, Mrs. Georgia Hardiman; Ways and Means, Mrs. Lililan Sanford; Budget, Mrs. Melba Holley; Health, Mrs. Sylvia Weeks. Three special committees are to be formed: Music and Art, Chairman, Mrs. Evelyn Coleman; Entertainment, Dr. Geraldine Woods; and Historian, Mrs. Lady George Forde.

This pormises to be a big year for the Auxiliary with many worthwhile endeavors planned in addition to a full social program. It is the aim of the Auxiliary to give its assistance in the social and civic betterment of the community; because of this aim they have adopted the title for this year's program "Serving in Our Community."

Georgians Flog Negro

SOPERTON, Ga.—(CNS)—Will Robinson, 48, was beaten for fifteen minutes with a leather whip, this week, by night riders dressed in robes resembling those of the Ku-Klux-Klan, who, reportedly, had just flogged three other men, according to the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Special Agent Edward Mason, director of the Savannah office, acknowledged that a complaint had been sent to the U. S. Dept. of Justice.

According to Robinson four carloads of masked and hooded men broke into his home and forced him, at gunpoint, to a clearing in the woods. He said he was accused of stealing turpentine barrels and making whiskey. He was told to leave the country.

Burns Prexy LA Parks

Veteran Los Angeles civic leader and elder statesman Robert L. Burns last week was elected president of the Los Angeles City Recreation and Park Commission for the 1950-51 fiscal year, succeeding Mrs. Rollin Brown.

Mrs. William J. Wilson was named to succeed Burns as the Commission's vice-president.

Mrs. Brown was presented an engraved gavel by her fellow Recreation and Park commissioners as a memento of her term as head of the group.

The State of California gave financial assistance to 5,790 World War II veterans who attended school during the spring term of 1950, it was reported today by the State Department of Veterans Affairs. The total expenditure was $1,438,215.32.

SALES REPRESENTATIVE—Joseph F. Makel, national sales representative of the Calvert Distillers Corporation, who is in Los Angeles making a survey of the Negro market, was a visitor at the office of the California EAGLE Wednesday. He was accompanied by Ted Albritton, local representative.

UNESCO Action

WASHINGTON — Failing to agree upon action to have the State Department to include Articles 22-27 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights in its draft covenant on human rights, the executive committee of the United States National Commission for UNESCO has appointed Charles S. Johnson and Milton Eisenhower to a committee to make a further study of the question.

Rally for Peace Saturday On Central Avenue at 43rd

A rally for peace will be held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock on the southeast corner of Central avenue and 43rd street. Calling for outlawing of the atom bomb by international agreement, the call for the rally urges the saving of American lives.

The rally will urge support for Prime Minister Nehru's proposals for immediate peaceful mediation in Korea.

Speakers will be: Reuben Borough, state chairman of the IPP and candidate for state treasurer; Lester Tate, sergeant-at-arms of local 700, Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers; Marie Bowden, a rank and file member of the United Electrical Workers; Peter Hyun, recently returned from Korea and former editor of the newspaper, Korean Independence. and Horace Alexander, YPA representative.

The rally is sponsored by the Labor Peace Committee.

Perry Resigns NAACP Position

The resignation of Leslie S. Perry from the Washington Bureau of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the appointment of Clarence Mitchell as director of that bureau were announced this week.

"For more than a year now," Mr. Perry said in his letter of resignation, "I have had a strong desire to devote my full time to the practice of law and several other activities in which I am interested. Since the 81st Congress is expected to wind up its work and adjourn in two or three weeks, I believe that I can leave the staff at this time without any interruption or impairment of the Association's legislative program."

The resignation becomes effective on August 31. Mr. Perry, a member of the District bar, joined the NAACP staff in 1942. He maintained contacts with members of Congress, departmental heads and frequently appeareed before congressional committees for the NAACP. He regularly compiled the voting record of members of Congress on issues vital to the NAACP.

Batonettes In Community Sing Sunday In Exposition Park

Dick Layland's "Batonettes" will headline the Exposition Park Community Sing next Sunday afternoon (Aug. 13) from 3 to 5 p. m. The free program, sponsored by the city's Bureau of Music, will open with 45 minutes of community singing under the direction of Win Haslett, with Constance Johnson as accompanist.

Led by Dick Layland, national amateur baton-twirling champion, the show will also feature John Delyi and Barbara Gayle in Latin - American dances, Marian Korpf and Nancy Koepke doing a baton-twirling duet while blindfolded, varied dance acts, and a synchronized twirling act by "The Batonettes," a troupe of talented drum majors and majorettes sponsored by Layland.

The program is given at the bandstand on the North Drive in Exposition Park, between the Coliseum and County Museum.

DEMANDS APOLOGY TO NATION'S NEGROES

CRC Leader Condemns Slur Of Lanham

An immediate apology by Rep. Henderson Lanham (D.-Ga.) to the 15,000,000 Negro Americans he insulted in the meeting rooms of Congress has been demanded by William L. Patterson, executive secretary of the Civil Rights Congress, in a letter to Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn.

On Friday, August 4, Lanham repeatedly shouted "Black son of a bitch!" at Patterson, prominent American Negro leader and attorney, and was about to assault the CRS leader when police stepped in and restrained him. The incident occurred while Patterson was testifying before the House Lobbying Committee.

In his letter, Patterson declared: "This was not alone an insult to me. It is a gross insult to the 15 millions of American Negroes, some of whom are at this moment dying in Korea in a war incited by the Lanhams of America against another colored people seeking liberation. It is an insult to William L. Dawson and Clayton Powell, two congressmen sitting in the House Mr. Lanham has sought to disgrace."

The epithets by the white-supremacist congressman and the

Seek Investigation In Killing Of Williams By Vice Officer

Public indignation may force an investigation in the shooting of Randolph J. Williams, 30-year-old book store proprietor, who was killed by police last Thursday night when he walked to the rear of his home at 3035 Buckingham Road, to check up on a prowler.

Police officers W. T. Smith and A. L. James cornered Williams as he walked down the driveway. According to the police, who were in plain clothes, Williams opened fire on them.

IPP Calls On All Progressives To Help Wipe Out LA Slums

The Independent Progressive Party last week called upon all organizations and individuals who were interested in progress, to stand firm in the effort to wipe out slum conditions in this city.

Recognizing the recent attacks on the Chavez Ravine Housing Project, by the Los Angeles Times, as "an attempt by real estate interests and their spokesmen, who use the Korean war a sane excuse to nullify the already started projects," the IPP pledged the facilities of its entire organization to mobilize the community in a fight for further gains for the people.

Jack Berman, IPP executive vice chairman, blasted the

The Benny Jones robbery trial due to have gone before the court last Thursday morning was postponed until Thursday, August 24. The robbery element, although on the surface of primary consideration, is expetced to prove of secondary interest to the lottery-numbers racket war existing in southeast Los Angeles.

Atty. Earl C. Broady, who is representing Jones, arrested several months ago as a suspect in the robbery of a Chinese lottery runner, will map his defense around a frame-up arrest to protect the powerfully entrenched Harry Lee headed lottery ring said to be flourishing in the Watts-South Los Angeles area.

Observers have noted the existence of a terrific rivalry of operators of Chinese lottery gambling already established in the area, and the attempt being made by Negro numbers and policy owners to cut into their lush gaming take. The robbery trial of Jones is expetced to reveal the power of Chinese gambling lords in the area.

Dr. W. E. B. DuBois Says Force Will Not Settle World's Ills

NEW YORK—In an interview at LaGuardia airport, Dr. W. E. B. DuBois, chairman of the Peace Information Center and of the Council on African Affairs, declared: "I believe that the time is past for settling the grave social and political problems of the world by force. I stand for peace and will work with all groups who honestly aim at outlawing war as an instrument of national policy."

Dr. DuBois was embarking for Prague, Czechoslovakia, where he had been invited as a guest to attend the Executive Committee of the World Congress of Defenders of Peace. This is Dr. DuBois' fourth peace conference in a year. He participated in the

Hit by Truck, Man Awarded $3750 Damages

Julian Fields, an employee of the Inca Co., who sustained a chipped knee and a scarred lip as the result of having been struck by a truck in an alley in July of 1949, was awarded $3,750 in damages at the conclusion of a four-day trial in the courtroom of Superior Court Judge Robert Gardner.

Atty. Crispus A. Wright, who represented Fields during the trial, successfully argued before the court that the defendant company, the Pacific Bearing Company, was liable for the injuries sustained by his client, because of the negligent manner in which their employee drove his truck through the alley.

Police Kick Youth, Call Him Black S.O.B.

Complaints have been made against a police officer, badge No. 1954 who used unnecessary roughness last Saturday morning rousting patrons of a restaurant at 1172 E. 12th Street.

The incident, as reported to the California Eagle by an eyewitness occurred about 3 a.m. The youth was drinking coffee when two policemen entered the restaurant. This, it is reported, is a nightly routine. They did not molest the youth, but later one of the officers beckoned for

Jailed Hollywood Film Writers Share Prison With Accuser

What has happened to the Hollywood Ten — the writers and film creators sentenced to prison for their 1947 defiance of J. Parnell Thomas and his congressional committee on un-American activities?

John Howard Lawson, author of many Broadway plays, famous films and of the forthcoming study of American history, "The Hidden Heritage," is counting egs in a federal prison in Ashland, Kentucky, where he is serving a one year sentence.

Dalton Trumbo, novelist, playwright, screen writer, war correspondent, is also serving a year in the same prison. A fellow prisoner is former Congressman May, serving time for grafting in war industry orders while his country was at war.

Edward Dmytryk, internationally honored film director whose film "Crossfire" won patrotic acclaim, is serving six months in a federal prison at Millpoint, West Virginia.

Albert Maltz, novelist, playwright, screen writer, whose books and pictures were cited by the armed services as important contributions to the war effort, is serving one year in the same prison. He is engaged in sifting gravel from a creek bed.

Herbert Biberman, film director and producer, is serving six months in Texarkana, Texas.

Alvah Bessie, novelist, screen writer, newspaper man and war correspondent, is serving one year in the same prison.

Samuel Ornitz, novelist, playwright, screen writer, whose famous book, "Haunch, Paunch and Jowl" is an American classic, is in a federal prison hospital in Springfield, Missouri.

Lester Cole, author of dozens of Hollywood's most successful screen plays, is serving one year in a federal prison at Danbury, Conn.

Ring Lardner, Jr., screen writer and winner of a Motion Picture Academy Oscar for his famous film, "A Woman of Distinction" is serving one year in the same prison at Danbury.

In this institution Lardner and Cole have a prison mate, former congressman J. Parnell Thomas, whose questions concerning their political and union affiliations they refused to answer on constitutional grounds. Prison regulations prohibit announcement of the results of the first meeting between Cole, Lardner and Parnell Thomas, who is in prison for stealing money from the U. S. Treasury.

Adrian Scott, film writer and producer whose films "Crossfire" and "Murder, My Sweet" won wide recognition, will receive his prison sentence in September. He was granted a delay because of serious illness.

in the country where police brutality is not more widespread than last year, or the year before that. 'Legal' lynchings in the form of frame-ups are multiplying in the Bay Area, with its vastly increased Negro population, and abuses of the civil rights of Negroes have reached a new level."

Police brutality and frame-ups, segregation, jobs, and other subjects vital to the Negro people—and to all Americans as well —will be discussed at this conference. The objectives of the conference are to determine the facts — and then suggest some way of doing something about it.

They plan concrete action to unite all sections of the community in defense of, and for the extension of Negro rights.

CMF Meets Monday

The Board of Directors of the Community Medical Foundation will meet Monday, August 21, at 1856 Lemoyne, at 8 p.m. Ken Hartford is executive director. The Community Medical Foundation is located at 5503 S. Broadway.

Equal Economic Opportunity Is Confab Theme

"Toward Equal Economic Opportunity," is the theme of the 40th Anniversary Annual Conference of the National Urban League, which will be held at Gand Rapids, Mich., September 3rd to 8th, it was announced by Lloyd K. Garrison, president of the nation's oldest interracial social service agency.

More than 400 delegates will meet to review the work of the League, to plan effectively to meet the crucial demands of the present emergency period, and to continue the League's leadership toward equal economic opportunity for all.

The Grand Rapids Urban League under the leadership of Mrs. Lee Wilson Hutchins, president, and Paul Phillips, executive secretary, will serve as Conference host.

Trade Unions Ban Brewer's Jim Crow Beer

The Harlem Trade Union Council this week called on the people of Harlem to apply economic sanctions against the following New York brewers who have not hired Negroes: Schaefers, Rupperts, Rheingold, Trommers, Piels, Ballantines, and R & H beer.

"Most of the beer brewed locally in New York City is consumed in Negro communities... "and we're tired of the run-around we've been getting. The employers all say they don't discriminate, but the facts refute this. There are 10,000 workers in New York City breweries and not one Negro (except a few in the distributing field).

"We call on the people of Harlem to put pressure on these brewers until they start hiring without discrimination."

Cultural and Scientific Conference on World Peace.. at.. the Waldorf Astoria, the Paris Peace Conference and went to Moscow at the invitation of the All-Soviet Trade Union Peace Conference.

Dr. DuBois stated: "It is not yet treason to work for peace. American Negroes, particularly, who have suffered slavery and caste in this land and in spite of painful progress are still neither free nor equal citizens of the United States, ought unanimously to demand for all the oppressed of the world the opportunity to decide what government they will or will not endure. In the struggles of people for national self-determination, imperialism must give way to a general settlement based upon the decisions of a genuine United Nations organization."

Apology to 15,000,000 Negro Americans Demanded of Lanham attempted attack came after the Civil Rights Congress head spoke of the efforts of his organization to avert the "legal lynching" of Willie McGee in Mississippi, the Martinsville Seven in Virginia and the Trenton Six in New Jersey, and the life sentence imposed in Lanham's state on Mrs. Rosa Lee Ingram for defending her honor against awhite supremacist landlord.

"I felt as though a rebelous Georgia Klan lyncher had been turned loose in the halls of the United States Congress," Mr. Patterson continued.

He added, "Mr. Speaker, I sincerely hope that the halls of Congress are not now to be turned into a hunting ground for lynchers and racism to run rampant in its committee rooms provoked as it were by the loosing of murderous bombs upon the heads of a great Asian colored people."

In releasing Patterson's letter to Rayburn, CRC said, "Any attempt by the Speaker or the Democratic Party to separate themselves from Lanham's insult to the Negro people without a severe reprimand will be taken as insult upon insult by the Negro people."

Patterson had been appearing before the committee in response to a subpoena asking for CRC's records and lists of contributors. He had refused to turn over such list on the grounds that the request was in reality an attempt to destroy the Negro-white organization at a time when it was winning victory after victory against white supremacy frame-ups. One week before his appearance, Patterson had led a successful world-wide campaign which won last-minute stays of execution for McGee and the Martinsville Seven.

Judgeship for ExNAACP Head In the Offing

It was reliably reported this that Governor Earl Warrn is momentarily expected to name a Negro to one of several vacant seats on the judiciary. The name of Atty. Thomas L. Griffith, is rumored the most frequently mentioned among Negro lawyers for a judgeship.

Gov. Warren is said to favor Griffith because of his long association with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, 15 of which years he served as president of the Los Angeles branch.

Atty. Griffith, a republican of long standing, would satisfy party leaders long suffering under the embarrasment of Warren's failure to appoint one of the group to the bench.

Hope for Cancer Victims

ST. LOUIS—Present indications are that a large number of advance cases of cancer which once were regarded as incurable can now be salvaged, declared Dr. Edwin C. Ernst, St. Louis radiologist.

The physician said he reported to colleagues on four years' work at Barnard Hospital in which he called an entirely new method in treating cancer of the uterus.

The officers took the man in that the lock on a garage at the rear of the station had been tampered with. After remaining in jail about a week, during which time he claims he was beaten, Allen was released.

He was taken into custody a second time after his mother indignant over the beatings suffered by her son, wrote letters of complaint to numerous city officials. The charges against the man were the same as the original arrest.

Several complaints have been received about Newton Street police who roust the patrons of certain entertainment and eating places while not using the same procedure with the patron of other spots.

An investigation is being made and it will be followed with a conference with Newton Street and other police officials.

The SIDEWALK

By C.A.B.

This is the first lap of a trip I hope will take me many places in Europe.

To the girls of Alpha Lamba and its head, Mrs. Marion Jackson; the Doll League and all the little darlings who pooled their pennies and purchased my luggage last year when I was scheduled to go to China, but was stopped, I want you to know that beautiful luggage is with me now, and is serving the purpose for which it was purchased in the beginning.

I left Los Angeles on Friday, August 11, at 8:30 in the morning. It was Flight 94 from our City of the Angels to New York, and everything went along smoothly. We had an hour's delay at Chicago while some repairs were made. But believe me, all the passengers said they would rather put up with a slight delay than to go on as per schedule, and not feel sure whether or not we were going to crack up.

My stay in the world's greatest metropolis was all too brief for me to say any more than this: The skyscrapers are just as tall as ever. The people rush along as they always have, and the heat is what you can expect to encounter in New York during the month of August.

At the Los Angeles airport to bid me "bon voyage" was Albert E. Kahn, author of "High Treason." He presented me with a copy of his book inscribed with a beautiful message and his autograph. I am sure I shall find great pleasure in reading it during the Paris flight.

Others who saw me off were members of the Eagle staff, Frances Williams, Atty. Herbert Simmons, Marguerite Edwards—who drove me to the airport with three members of the staff—Betty Willett, Virginia Alexander, Pearl Fagelson, Sadie Dureshkin, who brought useful gifts; and others. I cannot remember all the names but I was very glad to see so many there and to hear all the cheery "Bon Voyages."

Here in New York I am staying at the Hotel Commodore, and am as comfortable as Queen Elizabeth in her palace.

The trip across the country was really wonderful. Sometimes we were riding in the fleecy white clouds, and it seemed as if we had them as a floor. Then we would come out of that strange white world, and see the real world beneath us—far, far down, looking like the patches in a quilt, green and brown, with threads of roads and highways joining them together.

America is a wonderful country. And as we flew along so smoothly thousands of feet above its surface, I though of that hym, "America, the Beautiful." When Katherine Lee Bates wrote that stirring hymn, she was travelling across our country, too, I believe. But she was on a railroad train, however, and could really see the fields of waving grain, the rivers, the valleys, the mountains, the highways much better than I could. Or at least from a very different angle.

I felt a lump come into my throat when I hummed—silently, if you can hum silently, within my inner self, these words:

"America! America!
God shed His grace on thee!
And crown thy good with brotherhood
From sea to shining sea."

It made me want to work a little harder to answer that prayer. Although at times as just about every one knows who knows me, I've worked to the very limit, and it has seemed as if I couldn't go on another step. Some people sing that last stanza a little differently. They sing:

"We shed our blood for thee!
To crown thy good with brotherhood
From sea to shining sea."

That is what it will take. A dedication that will offer up our lives for America, in order that it may be a country crowned with brotherhood from sea to shining sea. Prayers and faith without works won't do much good.

For a few weeks now, however—might turn out to be months, one never knows—I have left my worries and cares in the hands of Raphael Konigsberg, John Lee, Pauletta Fears, Ellis Spears, Marian Inglewood, Gertrude Gipson, "Johnny" Forrester, and all my other friends whose number in truth is legion.

I leave New York this afternoon (Saturday, at 3 o'clock) for Paris by plane. Shirley Graham came in to see me while I was writing this.

Later. I am flying to Paris via Newfoundland. By the time you read this I shall probably be in Paris. The airport in Newfoundland is beautiful, but the climate is nothing like sunshiny California—at least when the sun is shining.

I plan to make the Sidewalk a travelogue of my trip, and share with all the readers of The California Eagle as much as I can of what I am enjoying so much.

I am on the wing. But bye now.

IPP Calls

Times for its attempt to scuttle the 10,000 Housing program by stating that the Times editorial "is symptomatic of a trend on the part of big business and reaction, who want to put a harness on all social reform, housing, and civil liberties, all in the name of the "war effort," but omits any reference to the tremendous and profitable projects now under construction by Metropolitan Life Insurance, and other private real estate interests."

The IPP statement was contained in a letter to Howard L. Holtzendorf, Los Angeles Housing Director, and called on the Housing Authority to mobilize the community to guaranttee continuance of the present program.

The text of the letter follows:

"The Independent Progressive Party is greatly disturbed by the recent attacks made on the program of the Los Angeles Housing Authority.

The attempts being made by real estate interests and their spokesmen, who use the Korean war as an excuse to nullify the already started projects, are a real danger to the entire housing program, and to all projects and legislation designed to alleviate substandard conditions in this community.

These same interests have used every effort in the past to thwart social reform. Their present efforts are only further tactics that will capitalize on the international situation, and thus gain the ends that they could not accomplish previously. If these interests are allowed to torpedo this minimum program that has long been overdue, it can mean an end to any project that is designed to give the people of Los Angeles a better standard of living.

Th Los Angeles Times' recent editorial could have better appraised "slum conditions" by living in one, or at least seeing one, instead of having to depend on a definition written in a dictionary. The Times states that all housing should wait "until the war in the Orient shapes itself itno a recognizable pattern." They should be reminded that many of the men who served in World War II, and some who are already in uniform again, come from the area known as Chavez Ravine. Does the Times doubt that they would be against a decent place to live, with adequate toilet facilities, and an absence of tuberculosis?

The Times further states that Chavez Ravine is "far from a slum in the accepted sense of the word." Whether the Times accepts it or not, the people who live there accept it as substandard housing, and would further tell anyone that it does not in any sense of the word represent adequate living conditions. The Times articles is seriously lacking in its understanding of what the people need now. Its editorial is symptomatic of a trend on the part of big business, and reaction, who want to put a harness on all social reform, housing, and civil liberties, all in the name of the "war effort," but omits any reference to the tremendous and profitable projects now under construction by Metropolitan Life Insurance, and other private real estate interests.

Since the inception of the Public Housing program in this community, racists, and real estate interests have tried to prevent Los Angeles from obtaining needed units, rented on a democratic basis according to need. Their efforts now in using Korea, or other international tensions as a means of preevnting further expansions of the housing program, can only be interpreted as a devious attempt to satisfy their own desires at the peoples' expense.

The Independent Progressive Party urges the Housing Authority to call on all groups in this community to stand firm in the effort to wipe out slum conditions in this city.

We pledge our complete cooperation, and the facilities of our entire organization, to bring the truth to the entire community, and to fight for further gains for the people."

Demand Apology From Congress For S.O.B. Tag

NEW YORK—A call for Congress "to apologize to the Negro people and our country" was issued today by a labor union.

The call came from Ernest Thompson, secretary of the Fair Practices Committee of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America (UE).

In a letter to Congressman Sam Rayburn, Speaker of the House of Representatives, Mr. Thompson stated:

"Last Friday our country was witness to a most disgraceful insult to the Negro people of America by Representative Henderson Lanham (D-Georgia) acting in an official capacity as a representative of the United States House of Representatives. Congressman Lanham not only called Mr. William Patterson, a Negro called before a Congressional Committee as a witness, a 'black son-of-a-bitch,' but also attempted to assault him.

"This action has brought a disgrace upon the Congress of the United States.

"It becomes the duty of the Congress to apologize to the Negro people and to our country. It is also incumbent upon Congress to discipline Congressman Lanham for his actions.

,f?os

"On behalf of the members of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America, we call upon you to take immediate steps to grant redress to the Negro people of America for this insult and to all the American people who cherish decency and democracy which this Congressional representative has so viciously violated."

Zombie jaywalkers accounted for 50 per cent of the 146 pedestrians killed in the city of Los Angeles during 1949. One out of every three of the 146 had been drinking. In 1950 to date, 80 pedestrians have been killed on city streets. Forty of these were the zombie or dreamer type.

Mrs. Bass In Europe To Report On Continental Conditions

Charlotta A. Bass, Editor and Publisher of The California Eagle, left by plane on August 11th for Paris, France, and a tour of Europe—to bring to The Eagle's readers a first-hand account of conditions on that continent.

Evidence of the esteem in which The Eagle's editor is held by liberal forces in our community is given by the city-wide efforts which made this trip possible.

Last winter various groups and individuals jointly raised the sum of $1200 to send Mrs. Bass to the Conference of Asian Women in Peking—as a representative of American women. The State Department refused to permit her to go to China.

It is this fund, which has been kept intact for such a mission by Charlotta Bass, which is financing the present trip. While in Europe she plans to make a careful study of the situation there—and on her return will report fully to the people of Los Angeles and California.

The staff of The California Eagle, on her behalf and their own, take this opportunity to express to the men and women of goodwill who made this tour possible their profound appreciation—and their pride in the honor extended their Editor, who has devoted her life to bring first-class citizenship to her people and democracy to all Americans.

Cooperative Community Health Group Fights Against Disease

Under the direction of the Community Health Association, Inc., with headquarters located on the mezzanine of a large retail market at 1010 West Jefferson Blvd. at McClintock, a drive has been set to motion by the Cooperative Community Health Program, to enlist the assistance of all community minded persons to give prompt aid in combating mounting health impairing problems.

The move sponsored by the Los Angeles City Health Department, is directly under the supervision of Dr. Ruth Temple, Special Health Services director and founder of the Community Health Association. It is a nonprofit voluntary corporation organized in 1938 and incorporated in 1943.

Seeks Cooperation

Exalyn B. Jones, secretary of the westside unit at 1010 West Jefferson Blvd. promises a full and varied program to active minded volunteers during the remainder of the calendar year. She is seeking the cooperation of individuals and groups, special appeals are being made to clubs, sororities and women's clubs to sponsor many of the fund raising affairs being attractively programmed.

Complete community mobilation on all fronts in underway, Dr. Temple pointed out, to overcome the three pernicious spreaders of disease: Ignorance, Indolence and Infection, by carrying health Information and Health Action to the people who are at the grass roots of our communities.

Volunteers are needed now for the establishment and keeping in active support such Good Health Producing Processes as:

1. Health Study Club; 2. Health Information Centers; 3. Block to Block Plans, and 4. The Annual County-iwde Health Week. Interested persons or organizations are asked to call or write the westend headquarters of Cooperative Community Health Program at 1010 West Jefferson Blvd. or phone REpublic 5455. Ask for Exalyn B. Jones, secretary.

Speed was the direct cause of 1694 fatal motor vehicle accidentss in California in 1949, one third of the total number of highway deaths on record that year. This year, the National Safety Council warns you either to get the lead out of your foot or install a governor on that Offenhauser special of yours. No need to ask for a one way ticket to Morgue Corners. Get smart. Slow down.

The National Safety Council reminds you that 1800 children under five years of age were killed in motor vehicle accidents throughout the nation in 1949. Watch when you back from your driveway. Go slow when you drive in residential districts. Don't be the one who lives with regret. . . .

Seek Investigation

Smith admitted returning the fire and killing Williams with a slug through the heart.

Reflex Action?

There were no witnesses to the shooting, but from the position of the victim's body he was shot without warning and he turned to face Smith who came up behind him. A bullet hole in the foundation of the building, which Smith says he fired, is believed to have come from the gun carried by Williams. The theory is that it was fired by the victim through reflex action after Smith's shot entered his heart.

Smith and Williams admit they were peering in the bedroom window where Williams and his wife Rita were reclining. The dead man's wife is white. The police explained they were snooping because of complaints from neighbors who reported prostitution being carried on in the Williams apartment.

Investigation by the California Eagle turned up several points which cast doubt on the story told by police at the inquest which was held Tuesday.

1. Why didn't the police arrest persons in the Williams apartment following the shooting if prostitution was being carried on, and if they found marijuana on the victim?

2. Why didn't the police enter or raid the house instead of staking out and trying to sneak in a bedroom window?

3. How could the cops hold a flashlight on their identification cards and shoot at the same time?

4. Who is the vice officer who had been trying to "date" the victim's wife, telling her he was better than "a n----r"?

5. Who were the neighbors who complained about prostitution? (This is particularly important since the neighbors say Williams and his wife were "nice people.")

Investigation

At least one member of the coroner's jury felt that further investigation should be recommended in the case. What action the Internal Affairs department of the Police Department will take was not learned at press time, but it is known that a grand jury investigation will be asked by several community organizations.

Funeral services for Williams weer held at the Angelus Funeral Home Tuesday afternoon.

Ambijan Meets In Roosevelt Hotel; Discusses Needs Of Israel

In festive surroundings, but in a serious mood, members of the Los Angeles Branch of Ambijan gathered in the Roosevelt Hotel in Hollywood last Sunday evening to listen to speakers tell of the need of the Jewish people in Israel.

Originally organized ,as explained by Rabbi Franklin Cohen, who acted as toastmaster for the banquet, to support a settlement in southern Soviet Union named Birobidjan, when that settlement became self-supporting efforts of the members were turned to assist the Jewish people struggling in Israel.

In spite of the headlines, Rabbi Cohen pointed out, more and more clergymen of all religious faiths are turning to the true religion—that of peace.

"But if we should read Isaiah, or Ezekiel, or any of our great prophets on the street corner," he said, "we would be in danger of being sent to jail. This was the danger facing the Jews in Germany under the Hitler regime. I have heard many say since then, if they had fought that action, if they had insisted upon meeting together, they might not haev suffered so much. We must continue to fight today.

"We cannot save our lives by staying at home. We must give to the world our gospel. Our stone tablets, our Golden Rule of another Jewish rabbi, which says 'Thou shalt not kill.' We still can save this country, the world from war. But not by talking about it. Not even by staying at home and praying about it. But by getting out and working for peace with all our hearts and souls and strength and mind."

Mr. Samuel Rosenfeld, executive secretary of Ambijan, told of the ravages of the cold war in the new little Republic of Israel, and described the peace conference which was held there in March, with about 3000 delegates attending. The long history of the Jewish people, he said, is that of a great desire for peace. "The new young state must continue so."

"Any Jew inciting war is a betrayer of Judaism and of Americanism," declared Mr. Rosenfeld. "The problem in Israel can be solved by a system of equality. There must be no discrimination against the Arabs. But unfortunately," he added, "the right wing of both Jews and Arabs is like that of the Nazis in Germany."

Mr. Rosenfeld said complete unity in Israel is a necessity, and that trying to divide Israel is like trying to divide a child.

In introducing the next speaker, Mrs. Albert Maltz, Rabbi Cohen said, "America is poor this month because of the loss of our beloved Hollywood Ten, when we need them so badly to help educate the minds of the people. But in the future days those who have done this deed, of sending them to prison, will not be proud. Only those will be proud who have stood with them."

Rabbi Cohen spoke of them as the "Immortal Minion of the United States," a reference to the rule in Hebrew that at least ten persons must be present in order to offer official prayer.

Mrs. Maltz told something of the prison life of the Hollywood Ten, and mentioned the absurdity of showing their pictures on television today while the authors are in jail. "The Blockade," "Destination Over Tokio," and others lauded just a few years ago as aiding in winning World War II are being shown in the homes of America every night.

"But," she added significantly, "the people seeing those pictures at home on their television sets, are not told that the writers and the producers of those pictures are now in jail, imprisoned because of their political beliefs."

Mrs. Gena Medam, one of the founders of Ambijan, spoke briefly in English of "our great ally in war, Soviet Russia, whom now our leaders would have us consider our enemy. Then she spoke passionately in Yiddish, telling something of the persecutions endured by those who fought the people's cause in China, in Italy, and in other countries. She noted there were over 10,000,000 signatures to the peace petition ,and urged all to get more to sign.

Arno Tanney, accompanied by Gregory Kingsley, sang several songs; and violinist Duci Kerekparto, accompanied by Matilda Barsha, thrilled his audience with his selections. All was enthusiastically received.

A resolution calling upon President Truman and Attorney General J. Howard McGrath to free the Hollywood Ten, was unanimously adopted.

Mr. Aaron Kertman, chairman of Ambijan, introduced Rabbi Cohen, who acted as toastmaster.

Mrs. Rose Rosenfeld was chairman of the committee which arranged the banquet and the program.

ILWU Caucus Demands Bail For Bridges

NORTH BEND, Ore.—The coastwide caucus of Longshore, Shipclerks and Walking Boss locals of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, voted as its first order of business this week a demand that Harry Bridges, international president of the union, be released on bail and granted a new trial.

The caucus also voted to put the resolution to coastwide referendum in longshore, shipclerks and walking boss locals.

Elections

The caucus, made up of nearly a hundred delegates from locals up and down the Pacific Coast, elected James Fantz of Portland Local 8 as permanent chairman and named Joe Jakovac of Coos Bay Local 12 secretary.

The resolution demanding Bridges' release was introduced by Portland Local 8 which had adopted it at a membership meeting on August 9.

Fatal Shooting Follows Series Of Arguments

Bitter argument over the ownership of property at 1505 E. 53rd street ended fatally for Alfred Ankam, 35, early Thursday evening. Ankam was shot five times by James Bellinger.

At press time, police investigation of the shooting had not been completed, but it was learned that Ankam and Bellinger had quarrelled frequently over ownership of the E. 53rd street property where they both resided.

Wednesday evening, around 6:30, Ankam engaged in a disput with Mrs. Birdie Bellinger, wife of James Bellinger. According to reports, Ankam became belligerent. Overhearing the quarrel, Bellinger acquired a German Luger and pumped five bullets into the deecased.

Bellinger was apprehended by Newton Street police. He is in custody charged with suspicion of homicide.

Strather New Rental Agent For Elks Bldg.

Horace D. Milan, Exalted Ruler of Golden West Lodge No. 86, I. B. P. O. E. of W., at a press conference Friday night, Aug. 11, in the beautiful new $30,000 cocktail lounge, told of the many improvements now in the process of completion, in the main auditorium, for the convenience of the prospective clients for their fall and future affairs.

The auditorium will take on the new look comparable to any in town. He pointed out that the building is the second largest owned by our group in the city, or for that matter west of Chicago. Being a non-profit organization the community is the recipient of the funds made by using the facilities of the building.

Under a new policy, Bob Strather will act as rental agent and liaison officer for the Lodge.

If all the 18,000,000 trout and salmon planted in California waters last year were laid end to end, they would reach from San Francisco to Omaha, Nebr., the Division of Fish and Game reports.

8000 Witnessed Annual Health Festival Of Youth Council

A capacity crowd of 8,000 jammed South Park Friday night for the Third Annual Health Festival, a star-studded variety show produced by the Southeast Youth Health Council.

Top rank personalities, assisted by local youth talent, provided one of the largest outdoor entertainment spectacles held in this area, emphasizing the theme "TB or not TB. Get a Chest X-Ray."

Master of ceremonies was Hunter Hancock, famed disc jockey, and headliners included such names as Count Basie, who was x-rayed on the stage, and his band's singer, Damita Jo.

Also appearing were Rudy Render, Roselle Gale, The Mellow Moods, Gene Phillips, The Floyd Dixon Trio, Jimmy Valentine, and Helen Crozier.

Talent Winner

The Talent Show was won by Roy Blackburn, who sang ::Danny Boy" to take the $10 first prize. Second prize of $6 was won by a trio composed of Erthel and Charles Haywood and Milton Bradford. The third prize of $4 went to saxophone player Donald Bohannon. Golden State Insurance Company donated the awards.

Assisting with the M.C. chores was Frank Kent, 17-year-old president of the Southeast Youth Health Council, the teen-age group which sponsors the Festival and other community health improvement programs.

High Praise

High praise for the work of the Youth Health Council, and for the "public spirited contribution" of the entertainers was voiced by prominent public health and other officials who attended the event.

Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer, called the Festival a "dramatic demonstration of what young people interested in community health betterment can do when they have full adult support."

Press Club In Outing Sunday

The Los Angeles Press Club plans to spend all day Sunday at Elsinore in an informal "get together." Members of the club and their guests will arrive in time for breakfast and leave Sunday night.

They will make the trip by automobile to Clarence Muse's "Muse-A-While" resort. The entertainment committee of the clum, chairmaned by Mrs. Virgin Marmillion, made arrangements with Muse for the one-day outing at his place. It will be the initial social event of organization.

"SO THE PEOPLE MAY KNOW"

Open Letter

August 14, 1950

Dear Friends and Families:

In case you may have read or been told that some newly established funeral parlor was "formerly the Smith & Williams Co.," we are attempting to nullify any such false statement and propaganda.

Therefore, the management proudly announces that the SMITH & WILLIAMS COMPANY, Inc., Funeral Directors, a California corporation since 1912, is very much in operation in its beautiful, new building located at 9920 S. Central Avenue, and is associated with the new PASKEL-GRIGSBY MORTUARY, Inc., at the same location.

More than ever we emphasize sympathetic and efficient service to the bereaved familis of Los Angls and vicinity with our voncniently new and spacious facilities.

Unfortunately there are those outsiders who would capitalize on the good name and reputation of our 38 years' effective service in this community and we hope you will not be misguided by any hoax or pretext as a means of solicitation.

Personal service in the most up-to-date manner is yours by dialing LOgan 5-3687 on your telephone.

With the greatest respect for fair play and ethical practices we are,

Sincerely your friend and servant,

BOARD MEMBERS AND TRUSTEES of the St. Matthew C. M. E. Church of Milwaukee watch smilingly as their pastor, Reverend W.J.G. McLin, thanks Sol E. Abrams, vice president and general manager of the Jos. Schlitz Brewing Company, for a check of $3,000 given by Schlitz for the purchase of a new organ for the church. Standing, left to right, are: J. H. Sanders, chairman of the Senior Steward Board; J. L. Thompson, church treasurer; Mrs. Roxy Taylor, president of the Senior Stewardess Board; Rev. McLin; Mr. Abrams; and Walter Flagg, chairman of the Church Trustee Board.

Organ Presented to Church By Milwaukee Brewing Company

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Monday, August 7, was truly a big day in the life of the Reverend W. J. G. McLin, pastor of the St. Matthew C. M. E. Church of Milwaukee. Not only was it his devoted wife's birthday, but it was the day his beloved church was presented with a brand-new Hammond organ by the Jos. Schlitz Brewing Company of Milwaukee.

Mr. Sol E. Abrams, vice president and general manager of Schlitz, presented a check for $3,000 to Reverend McLin in the presence of the officers and trustees of the church.

"We, of the Jos. Schlitz Brewing Company, are proud and happy to make this contribution to our good friends and neighbors at St. Matthew's Church in recognition of its contribution to the spiritual enlightenment of this community," Mr. Abrams said.

Tears of happiness stood in Reverend McLin's eyes as he accepted the check.

"Happy!"

"Please tell our friends at Schlitz how happy you are making hundreds of our church members," Reverend McLin said. "In all of my preachings, I have always said that the best we have is what we must give to the Lord. In giving us this check, the Joseph Schlitz Brewing Company is making it possible for us to have, not just another organ, but the very best organ."

St. Matthew C. M. E. Church was erected at 538 West Walnut Street in 1882. Its present organ was installed soon afterwards, but time has taken toll of its once-golden tones. The new Hammond organ will be installed right where the old one stood, and the old pipes will once more pour out full-throated music.

Formal dedication of the new organ will take place Sunday, September 10, at 3 p.m. Bishop R. A. Carter, Senior Bishop of the C. M. E. Church of America, will come ot Milwaukee from Chicago for the ceremony. Mrs. Carter, wife of the Bishop, will make the speech of acceptance on behalf of the members of St. Matthew's Church. Representatives of the Jos. Schlitz Brewing Company will be present at the dedication.

White Lawyer Brings Racial Bias Suit

Friday, August 11th, is the filing date of a suit in Superior Court by Richard W. Petherbridge, an attorney for damages in a civil action proceedings against the owners of "Bea's Torch Club," at 3331 So. Main Street.

The action brought in the law offices of Atty. Harbert W. Simmons Jr., asserts that the cafe owners specifically on three different occasions refused to serve the plaintiff Petherbridge, or his party, because of the presence at the dining table of a person of the Negro group. This, Atty. Simmons claims, is a violation of the State civil rights bill.

At the time the case was filed, Atty. Simmons, requested the court to enjoin "Bea's Torch Club" from continuing to deny service to plaintiff, or any other persons regardless of their race or color. Judge W. Turney Fox before whom the request was made, refused to grant the injunction. He set August 23rd as the date for the defendant of "Bea's Torch Club," to appear in court and show cause why a restraining order should not be granted.

Atty. Simmons pointed out, that should such a restraining order be granted, it would prevent "Bea's Torch Club," from hereafter refusing service to any person, or persons regardless of race or color. This case is unique, in that it is presented in the angle of a white person insulted, rather than the outraged Negro, who ardently feels himself an American. The plaintiff, Atty. Richard W. Petherbridge, white, is an associate of Atty. Herbert W. Simmons Jr., who brought the action in the name of his law partner and William J. Roberts.

Soft-eyed Gnu 'Suzie Q' at Griffith Zoo

The animal population at Griffith Park Zoo has been increased by the arrival of "Suzy Q," a soft-eyed gnu fawn whose mother Natalie, became a resident of the municipal menagerie about a year ago, the Los Angeles City Recreation and Park Department reported this week.

Suzy Q weighed 25 pounds at birth, and has already gained approximately 15 pounds in weight. When she reaches maturity in about three years, she will tip the beam at around 800 pounds, according to Chief Animal Keeper Charles Allen.

You are not your neighbor's keeper but you can put in some time trying to be your own keeper.

Leadership Needed

Dorothy Thompson, whose column appears every day in The Daily News, has never been counted among the ultra-liberals or progressives. Quite the contrary. But in Tuesday's News she let loose a barrage which would have branded anyone less conservative as virtually a Red.

She said: "Those of us who believe that the American foreign policy is utterly reckless and leading us straight into catastrophe are effectively disfranchised. There is only one party, and it is a war party. There is no patriotic leadership that challenges the course on which we have embarked, or has the brains or the courage to chart another.

"The present course is to offer ourselves as the policeman of the world, to enforce, by the sacrifice of American lives and fortune, the court orders (as it were) of United Nations countries who will not or cannot themselves fight to enforce them, and to put down aggression wherever it may raise its ugly head, in whatever corner of the globe.

"The 'law against aggression' which Truman, the generals, and the majority of Republicans have committed us to 'police' is no law. There is not even a definition of aggression in the UN charter."

In this confusion Miss Thompson speaks of "our vacant-minded leaders (who) appoint the American people to be the Galahads of the world, to liberate all victims of aggression—whether they want to be liberated or not . . . That is the lesson of Korea.

"It is a war we cannot win, morally, politically, or militarily. We cannot win it morally because no Asiatic trusts the foreign devil, no matter what banner he carries. We cannot win it politically, because we have not one ally in Asia—having already done our best to extirpate all western influences and sympathetic powers.

"A policy which commands the British to get out of India and the Dutch out of Indonesia, and then decides to support the French in Indo-China . . . which refuses to support Chiang in China, and then decides to support him in Formosa, and which totally disarms Japan, and then decides to defend it, is not a policy.

"It is a tale told by an idiot."

Miss Thompson believes Stalin is trying to lure us into a war with China, and even with all Asia, and when we are bled white to launch an attack upon us and win an easy victory.

This we cannot agree with. But we definitely have no business in Korea "whether they want to be liberated or not!" We have no business in China. In any part of Asia. In Europe. In any part of the world. Forcing those people to accept our particular economic philosophy. "Liberating them!!!" Faugh! How stupid can we get?

"We have already lost Asia," says Miss Thompson. "It is a loss we can acknowledge and sustain. . . : And if there is a statesman in this country with courage to talk some sense and lead this nation away from certain disaster, he will be elected president.

"Despite the high-pressure sales talk, the people are hostile and alarmed."

The people rejected such a leader, Henry Wallace, in 1948. But the danger then was only showing above the horizon, and it was only in the minds of a few—of those who dare to think for themselves.

Now that it is present to all of us — where is the leadership now?

Recall Davenport

Citizens of Los Angeles who live in the 12th Councilmanic District, the district represented in the City Council by Ed Davenport, have been talking among themselves for some time about recalling their representative who no longer represents them.

When Davenport first ran for office, he posed as a friend of Franklin D. Roosevelt and as one who believed in the principles FDR stood for. He boasted, however, that his father had been a supporter of the old Quay machine in Pennsylvania. So anyone from Pennsylvania who heard his protestations obout the principles of Roosevelt, and at the same time his boast about Quay (no matter if it was said jokingly) voted for him with many mental reservations. And with the excuse, "There doesn't seem to be anyone else to vote for."

Davenport was elected the first time by a very small margin. But once in, with the privilege of writing "Incumbent" under his name on the ballot, he has won hands down in every election since then.

And once in, his ancestry asserted itself, and he acted true to form. Old Mat Quay himself couldn't have been more reactionary than Ed Davenport has been in the City Council. At first claiming to be a Democrat, he later threw off that cloak of hypocrisy and became one of the most rabid, Red-baiting, reactionary Republicans in the city.

Davenport has denounced every progressive, forward movement as being Communistic. Aping Jack Tenney in the California Legislature, he proopsed a city ordinance that would force all city employees to sign a loyalty oath. He has opposed child care centers, housing projects, FEPC, labor unions, rent control, price control ,all anti-discrimination measures—everything that the decent citizens of America want and are fighting for.

In his opposition he has ranted and raved, "Communist! Communist!" to every person who has dared to lift up his voice in protest.

He is one of the leaders in Los Angeles who would fasten the chains of Fascism upon America.

His final act of aggression is that of doing away with rent control in the city. His ravings against Communism have not always affected us personally. 'So what? We're not Communists," we've been thinking complacently. So we've settled back in our armchairs and done nothing.

But now that rent control is to be abandoned, and our landlords can and likely will charge us any amount they wish, we're beginning to sit up and take notice. What! Raise that rent from $35 a month to $55, maybe $60! Maybe even higher.

That would take quite a chunk out of our pay check, wouldn't it?

And who was the man who led this decontrol business?

Why, Ed Davenport, member of the City Council from the 12th District.

So now, since the threat has become something more than a mere cloud the size of a man's hand, and since it affects us very personally, we're all willing to listen to any proposal to recall the councilman who did so much to decontrol rent.

Who's Your Congressman?

When the November elections roll around, the heavy concentration of Negro citizens in the 14th Congressional District will have little to choose from in the two candidates presented by the Democratic and Republican parties. The history of the Republican Party and its relationship with the Negro people is a record of do-nothingness and empty promises.

Similarly, the Democratic party in recent years has come to rely on promises rather than performance in its dealings with the Negro people. It is not conceivable that the candidate of either of the major parties will bring to the Negro citizens in the Fourteenth District the kind of representation they deserve and have every right to expect.

Some community expression was made behind the candidacy of Vince Monroe Townsend in the primary elections, and more than 14,000 voters broke away from the unilateral line represented by the Republican and Democratic parties, to take a long stride in the direction of self-representation.

Those who stand in positions of leadership in the community must be aware of the sentiment abroad that the November elections, and not some period two years hence, is the time to carry on the drive for a Negro Representative from the Fourteenth District.

That sentiment should be explored carefully in a meeting or a series of meetings expressly set up to determine whether or not a Negro Congressional candidate should be entered in the November elections.

It may be that this is not the time to advance political aims of the community, but such a conclusion can only be valid after consultation and deliberation with and among the leaders and representatives who hold all shades of opinion. This cannot be a narrow movement in any sense of the word, and it must be borne in mind that should there be a candidate in November, he must make his bid under the banner of the Independent Progressive Party.

RAPHAEL KONIGSBERG

THE ANNIVERSARY

Five years ago, August 15, 1945, the greatest, bloodiest war in history ended with the surrender of his country's forces by Hirohito —predecessor of the present emperor of Japan. The victory of the allied free peoples of the world demonstrated beyond all doubt their superiority over the fascists.

Every allied man and woman who participated in that war made history—as surely as did, for example, the freedom-loving people who achieved the French, American and Russian Revolutions. The allies gave mankind another chance to build the better world the best of men and women have dreamed of for ages. We proved once again that history is not made exclusively by the high-born, the rich and the generals (as the textbooks say)—that the people make history.

We paid a terrible price for victory: 22,000,000 men, women and children were killed during World War II—of whom 326,000 were slain American soldiers; 670,000 American soldiers were wounded. The value of the homes and buildings and land destroyed and the billions of tons of material expended can only be guessed at—but undoubtedly enough to give homes and schools and hospitals, and much more, to all the people who need them.

And it is important to recall why we and our allies fought such a costly war. The U. S. War Department, in its political education program for our troops, stated officially that we were fighting to defeat fascism, which it described as:

"Fascism is the precise opposite of democracy. . . . Fascism is government by the few and for the few. . . . Fascism came to power in Germany, Italy and Japan. . . . supported in secret by powerful financial and military interests. . . . The fascists solved' unemployment by converting their nations into giant war machines. . . . Those who subsidized and ran fascism grew richer. . . . People of a fascist state earn less and less. . . .

"Any fascist attempt to gain power in America . . . would work under the guise of 'super-patriotism' and 'super-Americanism' . . . Indiscriminate pinning of the label 'Red' on people and proposals which one opposes is . . . a favorite trick of native as well as foreign fascists. . . ."

I know this was the official American definition of fascism and the enemy because for over three years as an army orientation officer I was ordered to indoctrinate our troops with that definition. I believed it to be true then. I believe it to be equally true now—and confirmed by what has been happening in my own country since the war ended.

The U. S. Army trained me well to recognize the symptoms of fascism. I am able to assert therefore that every part of that official definition describes accurately what native fascists are trying to do in America today.

WE FOUGHT WELL

Consequently, this poses a question of great significance—one which every thinking American must answer for himself: If the USA was right in paying so high a price to defeat fascism, can our government be right five years later in its actions which follow so closely its own definition of a fascist state?

If what we did five years ago to destroy the fascist states was right, what our government is doing now must be wrong. We can't possibly be right in both situations which are "precisely opposite" to each other. If what our government is doing today is right, then in helping to stop the fascists five years ago we paid an awful price to commit the greatest mistake in history.

There are certain infamous Americans who insist that we were wrong to join the allied cause in World War II. But do the American people think so? To do so means to say that every American and allied soldier and civilian who died in the war died for a lie, that all the sacrifice the rest of us made on the battlefields and home fronts were for an evil cause.

Dare the Trumans-Dulles-Warrens tell our gold star mothers that their sons gave their lives for naught? That they dare not—for they know that that is the lie. They know the American people would reject such a betrayal, would drive such betrayers from public life.

We know we were right in fighting the fascists five years ago. We know that in beating them we gave democracy another chance. This is the great victory of that war . . . which makes our sacrifice worthwhile. We learned that safe-guarding democracy, our children's future, is a life-time job—and that we have the strength and wisdom to do it. We learned that we must fight fascism all the time, everywhere.

After our victory we had every right to expect the building of the better world we'd fought for. By our deeds, we the people earned that reward and proved ourselves worthy of it. We proved also that we are capable of creating it ourselves.

We have great pride in that victory—a pride that fortifies us, that confirms our invincible power, a pride that is a source of profound satisfaction and a rich heritage for our children, a pride that will generate the determination to build a better life.

On this fifth anniversary of the world war's end, therefore, we pledge that we will take our victory back from the misleaders, from the traitors who sold us and our nation short.

LABOR ON THE MARCH

The Greater Unity

Expressed in the earthy terms of the worker, unity is an ideal that is hard-bitten and practical. It does not presuppose any of the sentimental clap-trap that is implied on the more urbane level of national politics, and in consequence it does not have the same immediately compelling influence, but measured by the standard of true brotherhood, it is by far a more enduring quality.

JOHN M. LEE

Workers united . . . is a force that is at one and the same time, a graphic demonstration of solidarity, and a challenge to bigotry and discrimination. So long as it was possible for them to stay united, workers in the trade unions were the hard core of the people's movement in the United States. The strength and unity of the nation took its pace from the forward step of labor.

Prior to the advent of Taft-Hartleyism and top leadership sell-outs and betrayals, the trade unions represented mass America in full growth toward the realization of true democracy.

Historically, the trade union movement has always been looked upon as a force left of center. The simplest demands of labor have been characterized as revolutionary from the very beginning. Sincere, militant labor leaders have always been called 'agitators' and Communists. To the exploiters and profit-mad slave drivers, the eight hour day, paid vacations and insurance benefits, are principles of a foreign philosophy.

But it was these things, and many other humane advances for the workers that are responsible for creating the industrial might of America. Workers built it, and they were able to build it great because they were working together in unity for the realization of an ideal.

Having lost the fight to destroy labor at the roots, its enemies worked to capture it from the top. But even this comparatively simple process could not be carried out in the face of the prevailing unity. That unity had to be destroyed. This was done with a frenzied bedlam of name-calling and patriotic hysteria born of an unnamed, but highly characterized fear.

....Disorganized and demoralized trade unionists are shooting to the left at shadows and myths while fascism in a real and discernable form, moves in upon them from the right. Having established that some part of the trade union movement is subversive of American interests (through the efforts and connivance of top trade union leadership) the fascists are moving now to establish that ALL organized labor is subversive.

Every effort of organized labor to promote gains in wages, hours and conditions will be opposed by the same elements that drew up the blue prints for the purges which hunts and expulsions in the CIO. Admittedly willing to form an alliance with fascists, the CIO will soon have to surrender what's left of its prestige and dignity in order to keep its part of the bargain.

The AFL and the Brotherhoods with their backwawrd, slowly-receding philosophy of white supremacy, will be in position to meet the CIO as it marches backward to the assigned status of a company union.

In destroying the unity of the workers, the captured leaders of the trade union movement proclaimed that they were devising a greater unity. They successfully sold vast numbers of rank and filers on the idea that hatred, political persecution and even violence, are higher purposes than solidarity of the workers and struggles for advanced conditions.

They deserted the struggles of the Negro workers in the unions and in the shops, and then worked to divide them when progressive union leadership took up their fight and carried it forward.

Slavishly devoted to the inept leadership of President Truman, the labor statesmen surrendered their right to speak out as American citizens, and immobilized large sections of their membership in the process. The greater unity which they proclaimed, must lead them now, step by step, down the road to a third world war. They have no choice . . . they dare not speak out for peace.

L. A. BUILDS HOMES

LOS ANGELES. — Construction in Los Angeles county last month held to the 1950 record-setting pace as 45 cities and the unicorporated area issued permits totaling $95,178,476 in valuations during the first full month of the Korean crisis, the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce reported this week.

Homebuilding continued to pace the building boom with 54,537 permits issued thus far this year for $417,728,592 worth of residential construction, or 68 per cent of the 1950 aggregate.

L. A. COUNTY FAIR

POMONA—Fifty counties and communities of California will be represented in one of the largest and most comprehensive displays of agricultural wealth ever assembled at Los Angeles County Fair. In addition to the prize products of orchards, gardens and fields, there will be specimens of practically every fruit, vegetable and grain grown on the continent. The fair opens September 15 and continues through October 1.

A grand tottal of $69,141 will be distributed in cash awards. In addition there will be beautiful trophies representing a considerable sum. Judges will include experts from over the country and competition is expected to be especially keen this year.

RACIAL BIAS IN JAPAN

NEW YORK — Roy Wilkins, NAACP administrator, last week renewed his request that the Department of the Army take steps to correct reported discrimination against Negro troops in Japan.

In his letter, Mr. Wilkins repeated the specific report that General Walter Leo Weible "had issued an order restricting Negro Army personnel to one of the four swimming pools in Tokyo used by occupation forces."

CRC APPEAL

President Truman's assertion in a message to Congress Tuesday that "once a government is committed to the principle of silencing the voice of opposition, it has only one way to go . . . down the path of increasingly repressive measures" was quoted last week by the Civil Rights Congress in a national appeal against the conviction of the eleven Communist leaders.

It asked the U. S. Supreme Court grant a hearing in the case of the Communist leaders and then reverse the Circuit Court decision on their appeal.

In support of its national appeal, the Civil Rights Congress issued an analysis of the Court of Appeals decision in which it declared, "this court decision takes a long step toward fascism. It bases itself upon a novel and dangerous doctrine which nullifies the free speech provisions of the United States Constitution."

The new Democratic party platform adopted in Sacramento not only specifically endorses state FEPC legislation, but has strengthened its civil rights plank considerably over the plank adopted at its state convention two years ago, it was pointed out by Edward Howden of San Francisco, who represented the California Federation for Civic Unity and the Los Angeles and San Francisco Councils for Equal Employment Opportunity.

The GOP plank called for "favorable enactment of state legislation" in the interests of guaranteeing "equal opportunity," but did not specify FEPC.

NAACP ASK STATEHOOD BILLS

NEW YORK—Branches of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People throughout the country were called upon to urge their senators to vote for the statehood bills for Hawaii and Alaska.

In a letter to the branches, NAACP Secretary Walter White cited the charge made by Joseph R. Farrington, Hawaiian delegate to Congress that the opposition to the bill to admit Hawaii "is based upon race prejudice" and is "composed largely of Dixiecrats."

"Soldiers of all races from the Hawaiian Islands are fighting and dying in Korea. Mr. White's letter said. "Hawaii has satisfied every other requirement for statehood. Race prejudice should not be permitted to keep them from enjoying their full rights just because most of the citizens happen to be colored—Hawaiians, Japanese, Chinese and mixed races. If Hawaii is denied statehood it will indicate plainly to the colored people of Asia that the United States does not mean what it says about democracy."

Because the Korean War and the "troubled world condition are certain to mean higher federal taxes for national defense," it is necessary for county and city officials to reduce spending "at the local level," Robert Le Fevre, economic expert asserted. "Adoption of Proposition No. 1, on the November ballot, repealing the personal property taxes, wil lhelp to enforce economy at the local level, and will therefore be helpful to the national war effort."

SIGNS OF THE TIMES

OCEAN PARK — Police were summoned to Ashland avenue and Ocean Front when a heckler tossed a couple of rocks at Poulson. . . . When officers attempted to arrest Poulson, Baravalle got in the way and was picked up, too.

DEFEAT FRANCO LOAN

NEW YORK — Walter White, NAACP executive secretary, has wired the majority and minority leaders in the House of Representatives urging defeat of the Senate - approved $100,000,000 loan to Spain.

At the same time, on August 4, Mr. White sent a wire to President Truman endorsing his opposition to the loan and urging that he continue to use his influence to block this aid to the Franco government.

BENSON STAYS WITH IPP

APPLETON, Minn.—Elmer A. Benson says he'll stay with the Progressive Party as its national chairman, in spite of the fact Henry Wallace has resigned. He says the IPP is the only party not afraid of peace.

A Guide to the Soviet

There was a conscious and highly important distinction between the treatment of urban small business and the peasantry. The former was actually nationalized; the latter was subjected only to drastic control of its produce. This stemmed from political considerations. Prior to the land reforms, when the peasants classified as poor had been in the majority, Communist policy was for government by an alliance of the industrial workers with them. This was accompanied by opposition to the kulaks—the employing and money-lending peasants—any by measures to neutralize the middle, or ihdependent, peasants. Now, however, additional land, implements and working cattle had raised most of the poor to the level of the middle peasants.

The Bolsheviks therefore changed their policy to one of a stable alliance with the middle peasantry by winning its approval. The purpose of this change was to guarantee the government majority support in the country. In 1919, it was decided that the newly-enlarged middle peasantry, which owed its land ownership to the Soviet government, was to be won by persuasion for measures leading eventually to socialism in the countryside. Under no circumstances was coercion to be used against this largest section of the peasant class. Thus, private farming remained virtually unmolested for a decade until the development of industry made possible mechanized farming on a collective basis.

Immense destruction was brought by three years of civil war and intervention following four years of world war. 4,332 railroad bridges had been blown up, and 1200 miles of track destroyed. Pig iron and textile output was reduced to three and five per cent of normal, respectively. Nevertheless, some economic and social progress was made during the war. The first big industrial projects were begun, including a power plant near Petrograd and two near Moscow. The first 900 state-owned farms and 6,000 co-operative farms of various types were organized during this period of warfare. Free medical care was introduced. Mansions of the former ruling classes were converted into hospitals, dispensaries and children's day nurseries. In the cities, workers were moved en masse from their cellars and barracks into the apartments of the well-to-do. Most often, no charge was made either for rent, electricity or other services. The ten million children attending school in the shrunken Soviet areas at this time was 25 per cent more than had attended in all Tsarist Russia. The teaching profession was inspired by this opportunity to educate their countrymen. Teachers kept school and organized new ones—despite hunger and lack of fuel to heat the buildings, and even of paper, books, and pencils.

Workers' clubs were established everywhere. Working people were admitted free to the country's great theaters, which were put on government subsidies. Public dining rooms were opened to render less difficult the lot of the working housewife. A special was set up to return to normal life the great numbers of children rendered homeless by war and famine.

These measures found a response among the people. There was, for example, a movement in which Lenin saw the first beginnings of the hoped-for Communist attitude toward labor. Workers, on their own initiative and without remuneration, would turn out on Saturdays to do urgently needed jobs in industry and transport.

On August 29, 1918, when Poland was still under German occupation, the Soviet government abrogated Tsarist Russia's treaties with Prussia, Germany, and Austria, partitioning Poland, and proclaimed the right of the Polish people to independence. When the Poles declared their independence on November 9, Soviet Russia was the first to recognize Poland's sovereignty. However, in 1920, Marshal Pilsudski, who had risen to the top in Poland, attacked without a declaration of war, and drove deep into Soviet territory, seizing Kiev. At that time the Red Army was engaged by the anti-Soviet forces of General Wrangel, but it turned on the Poles in a counter-attack that carried to the gates of Warsaw and Lvov. But with French aid the Poles forced the Red Army back. Yielding to force, the nearly-exhausted Soviet state agreed to a treaty that left the western half of Belorussia and large western areas of the Ukraine in Polish hands. This having established peace in the west, the Red Army now turned south and in November, 1920, crushed Wrangel in the Crimea. In the winter of 1921-22, fighting flared up anew when the Finns drove into Soviet Karelia, but they were pushed back quickly. British-supported raiders in Central Asia were put down that same year. The Intervention came to an end October 25, 1922, when the Japanese were forced out of Vladivostok. But they remained on northern Sakhalin Island until 1925.

TEXAS NAACP TO AID SWEATT

DALLAS, Texas—A state-wide fund-raising effort to obtain $50,000 for a "Sweatt Victory Fund" was launched last week under the auspices of the Texas State Conference of Branches of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Eleven thousand dollars of the fund has been earmarked as a contribution to the education and support of Heman Marion Sweatt, who will abandon his letter-carrying job in September to devote full time to his studies at the University of Texas Law School.

NEGROES REFUSED SERVICE

DAYTON, O.—An all-white jury, after deliberating 20 minutes, returned a verdict of "not guilty" for a waitress who had refused to serve a mixed group of four delegates attending an NAACP Youth conference here last fall.

In a thirty-page opinion handed down by Vice Chancellor Collins J. Seitz of the Court of Chancery, the court upheld the NAACP contention that the facilities offered at Delaware State College, a Negro Institution, "are grossly inferior" to those of the University of Delaware. He ruled that Negro Students who are citizens of Delaware must be admitted to the University on the same basis as white students.

SCROLL TO NAACP

RICHMOND, Va.—Cited for "constant and conspicuous labors in the service of the Christian ideal of brotherhood" and for its "relentless attack upon attitudes and practices that hurt human personality," the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has been awarded a scroll by the Christian Education Department of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church.

Madison S. Jones, Jr., NAACP administrative assistant, received the scroll on behalf of the Association at the closing session of the general convention on Christian education and general assembly of Christian youth of then AMEZ church here on August 6.

MONTEGOMERY, Ala.—Teachers today have the responsibility to preserve those human qualities that will safeguard our Nation's future and spread to the world, East and West, "those truths that will keep us forever free," Dr. Corma A. Moowrey, president of the National Education Association, said in an address here Sunday at the 47th annual convention of the American Teachers Association.

"We teachers must accept this responsibility," she said. "We must take up with an untiring challenge the heritage which has taught us that in a democratic form of government—power, instead of descending from above, ascends from the common people.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Daniel Hargrove, minister-missionary of the Church of Christ, writes a vivid description of the parade of the American Legion of California held during the convention of the Legion in Sacramento over the weekend. He says most of the paraders were drunk or half-drunk, that the way they acted was reminiscent of the Hitler days in Germany, and that they were a disgrace to America.

"Hundreds of men and women, sixteen to seventy years old, paraded down the street more than half naked, in night gowns, short shorts, BVD's, and some with almost nothing on except a lot of paint. . . . Girls with a short the size of a dollar bill strutted.

"I am sure that if my son had taken part in such a shameful disgusting parade and the general act of Saturday, that I would disown him forever."

Note: But a mere man, not a preacher, upon reading that description, sighed and murmured sotto voce, "Wish I'd been there."

Dear Mrs. Bass:

I take this opportunity to express my sincere thanks for your wholehearted cooperation in assisting in molding public opinion, with respect to my election to the Board of Trustees of the Willowbrook School District.

It shall be my sincere endeavor to do all that I feel is right in making those schools under my jurisdiction the best that the state can offer. I solicit your remarks and suggestions at any time, to improve our school facilities. With your help I am sure that we will be able, together, to guide and assist the boys of today in becoming useful men of tomorrow.

Very truly yours,

RAYFIELD LUNDY.

A Visit To The Home Of Frederick Douglas

Three days before he entered prison, a victim of the Un-American Activities Committee, Albert Maltz sought out the Washington home of Frederick Douglas. The following is a portion of a letter to his wife giving his impressions of this national shrine.

By Albert Maltz

"One does not find the house of Frederick Douglas listed in the "Things To See" section of the newspapers and at the Afro-American no one knew its address. It is an old two story Victorian house on a hill. It must once have commanded a fine view of the Potomac but now many houses block the view. The grounds are untended and shaggy, the house needs paint. A colored family lives in another house to the rear and they provide visitors with the key and with a member of the family to see that visitors do not pilfer. There is no admission charge but there is a collection box.

"Some random items: in a glass closet are the gun and the American flag carried by John Brown at Harper's Ferry. In Douglas' bedroom are a pair of dumbells for exercise like mine at home. A piano and a clavichord speaks a musical interest on the part of someone in the household.

"Tremendously, tremendously exciting to me and all of us was his study. Unlike shrines, this one is open. I sat in his chair, at his desk, opened his drawers. While the drawers contain a miscellany, including some things obviously put in there latter, like many pictures of him, there are other items that undoubtedly were there when he sat there 55 years ago, just before his death. His small spectacles in a case, a device (very clever) for punching holes in paper, a notebook in which he kept his expense accounts. (Like Washington, and Maltz, he seemed devoted to this; he has several ledgers of expense accounts—1 porter house, 35c, tip 7c, etc.

"A photograph there showed him seated at this very desk, his white hair bushy at the back of his head, his broad back bent over in concentration. He was a very big man, about Robeson's size and girth, and there is a picture of him there as a young man that bears an astonishing resemblance to Haywood Patterson.

"Then—a researcher's delight but a crime against our country—two files containing thousands of letters sent by him or received from others. There are three card indexes telling the persons involved in each letter, but the letters themselves are merely in folders in the files and are no more protected against loss by fire than the letters of anyone. It is terrible that this is so. They ought to be in a library, certainly photostated.

"We only had about an hour and a half there. If I have any opportunity, I will go there again before I leave."

Bay Area Conference

OAKLAND—A Bay Area Conference on Negro Rights will be held in Greater Cooper A.M.E. Zion Church, 1420 Myrtle street, Oakland, on Saturday, August 26, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

One of the objectives of the Conference is to show how discrimination, segregation, and police brutality injure white people as well as Negro people; to show how much the rights and the strength of Labor are damaged by attacks on the rights of Negro people; and to discuss state and national civil rights legislation.

TO ENCOURAGE YOUNG WRITERS

Dedicated to JOHN KINLOCH who gave his life fighting for democracy.

WE BELIEVE THAT NOW MORE THAN EVER ALL YOUNG WRITERS MUST BE ENCOURAGED—AND HELP BUILD OUR PEOPLE'S CULTURE. TO ENCOURAGE THEM, WE WILL DEVOTE A FULL PAGE IN EACH ISSUE OF THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE FOR PUBLISHING THEIR WORKS.

COME YE WRITERS! SEND US YOUR ESSAYS, ARTICLES, POEMS, STORIES, SKETCHES—WHATEVER YOU FEEL YOU MUST SAY, KEEP THEM UNDER 1000 WORDS. SEND THEM TO THE EAGLE'S NEST, c/o CALIFORNIA EAGLE, 1055 EAST 41ST STREET, LOS ANGELES.

KINLOCH'S LETTERS

(First in a Series Special Eagle Correspondent)

WASHINGTON — ALL right. Suppose your're with me. We're just arrived in Washington. From Chicago to the capital, the nation has been blanketed with snow and your sport suit has collected dumb stares at the rate of six every two miles.

First, you've got to find some place to stay. You know what you've heard: That Washington bread boxes are rented out to lodgers.

Quick as a flash, we are at the 12th Street branch of the Young Men's Christian Association. No rooms. But you can check your baggage there, and they refer you to a nice, respectable home at 1919 Thirteenth Street.

It's just around the corner, so we set out into the frigid streets, pants flapping around like submachine guns.

We pull up before a dainty redbrick house, set coyly from the sidewalk with white marble steps sparkling white. B-b-b-br-r-ring, we hit the bell.

A nice little middle-aged lady comes to the door, and we tell her we're from the "Y" and show her the card they've given us and she let's us in.

The room is $1.50 per diem, she points out, and hastily adds, "This is a God-fearing home, young man. You look like a fine boy, but we'd better get things straight now. I don't have any drinking or carousing in my house, no loud talk or profane language. Now, if you want that kind of life you go on over to the Logan hotel!"

We assured the good lady that we were raised right, and moreover that she reminded us of our dear little mother back home. Well, that does it.

Furthermore, we know the Logan hotel is ful up.

"God bless you young man," she says, "and that'll be $3 in advance."

WE THINK OF YVONNE

We are in Washington strictly on business. The California Eagle has sent us there to draw a bead on the California Congressmen who have hatcheted the anti-poll tax fight. We are supposed to go to the House of Representatives, flash our reporter's pass from the good county of Ls Angeles, and start giving hly hell to the legislators of the land.

We are to write a feature on John Rankin. One on Vito Marcantonio. Another on Will Rogers, Jr. We should go visit these guys immediately, if not sooner.

Instead, we think about Yvonne. Well, maybe I better do this sort of thing solo. I think about Yvonne.

Yvonne is the girl who used to live next door when we were kids in the city of New York and used to play fly ball in the middle of 136th Street. She is a big girl now, and she works for Uncle's War Department as the secretary of an adputant general. Ahem.

Yvonne lives in the Girls Dormitory for government workers, whatever that is. It is located at 1919 Third Street, N. W. I leave you in our room, and head for the Girls' Dormitory considering about as follows:

"Wonder what the heck Yvonne looks like now? . . . haven't seen her in years. . . . Just because she writes there's some military character infesting her love life just now, why be discouraged? . . . Aren't we old neighborhood sweethears? . . . Think of the heady rush of memories that will throb through her choice young nogin at the very sight of me! . . . Even psychology is on my side . . . After all, ain't I young Kinlochinvar from out of the West? Well, ain't I?"

I arrived at the Girls' Dormitory. Yiip! It's a huge, block-long structure knee-deep in modern design, three stories high, bright and shiny as a new copper penny! In and out of the doors pulsate whole waves of lovely clerical items. Peace, it's wonderful!

Merrily, I bounced through the dors. I am promptly struck dumb. (No cracks).

The joint is terrific!

It looks like one of those svelte modern hotel lobbies. Everything soft blue under quiet indirect lightning. There is a sort of preliminary room where the desk attendant holds forth and there are spacious sofas for gentleman callers to await their various babes. After the girl comes downstairs, the pair graduate into the next room. A havenly wide place, full of nooks and crannies, soft lamps, chairs, sofas; this room is the lovers' delight. You just sit in it, bowled over by culture, and quietly coo. There's a big grand piano in one corner, and some lovely number is parked there playing things like "Night and Day," "Stardust", and similar sentimental jive.

The whole thing strikes you like a movie set, and its' a long time before you think that it's a strictly jimcrow set-up.

I gave my name to the little man at the desk. He presses a button, and says Miss So-and-So will be right down.

I get nervous. There's a small mirror near—about into which I start tossing apprehensive glances. I have shaved, I note, with something less than the usual blood-letting. I am standing up straight; my clothes have just been pressed; and I've got on the coat with the shoulders. Better, I couldn't look. Into the room floats a pert little vision done up in brown and red; I don't know what, but she's in some kind of sticky material that brings out all the high spots. Long black hair framing a delicate taffy-brown complexion. Oh, Baby!

Somehow she doesn't plop. "Why, hello, John," she says gayly, but keeping a good distance. Deep in the heart of Kinloch, there is a glandular disturbance. Shooting stars start shooting.

We go along into the nook—and cranny room.

Yvonne says how nice I look, except she expected I should be taller and with a mustache. I promptly tell her that cosmic design meant us two as one, etc.

Yvonne gently points out what a fine character she thinks I am and what good friends we will always be, and she thinks about me like a brother, and she feels so safe with me, and I'm the type that will understand how she feels about Sgt. Coles. (Out of sheer gallantry, I won't reveal the slug's first name.)

Yvonne says she'll duck working tomorrow so we two old friends can be together.

Hope blossoms like a tropic flower.

We got to dinner in the modern dining hall of the Girls' Dormitory. First thing I lay eyes on is a Caliofrnia gal who used to work at Green's Southern Kitchen but who is now punching the keys for Uncle. We have never said two words to each other, but we stage a tearful re-union like Martin Dies and Adolph Hitler.

Food is higher than a kite, and I suddenly have a squeamish stomach and eat only pie and coffee.

Yvonne chatters on and on about how crumby life is at the nation's capital, but how she likes her job, and how she loves that blasted army underling.

I make a corny joke here and there in my own irresistible manner, and she laffs her head off. I begin to detect little hints of that Old Feeling.

Tomorrow, I think, we shall be alone together all day.

Tomorrow, I think, Woo! Woo!

I go home and write a letter to my dear Aunt Charlotta about how hard I am working on a story about the Marcantonio Anti-Poll Tax Bill.

I go to bed, but I don't sleep. There's a jig-saw bugging about my innards. It keeps humming a little tune, "Tomorrow . . . Tomorrow . . . Tomorrow."

Instead of the usual letters of John Kinloch, here is a tale of adventure written in his own inimitable way, concerning a trip he made to Washington, D.C., in the early years of the war.

A STORY OF LOVE AND DISAPPOINTMENT AND LOVE AND ETC.

By JOHN KINLOCH

Dear Chums:

I'd just as well pick up where I left off a few weeks ago. Remember?—Oh, well, anyway, it was in the middle of a mess.

Yvonne was cavorting around in my dreams, beautiful long dreams about a honeymoon for just us two. But even in the dream something was wrong. A little man kept popping in and out of the thing. "GREETINGS," he said, "GREETINGS FROM THE PRESIDENT, etc." he kept saying. I nearly went nuts.

Besides there were lumps in the bed. In the funniest damn places. There probably isn't a lumpless bed in the whole city of Washington, D.C. Especially when your're dreaming about the gal who used to live acrost the street, with the pigtails. Especially when you just saw her a few hours ago. All grown up, so to speak. All grown up in the right places with the right emphasis. All grown up and ready for love.

The only trouble is, my chums—the only trouble is somebody saw her first. She told me about him in those few breathless moments together. As a matter of fact, she didn't tell me about anything else. Just him.

I'm no Gable, you understand. But there I was all shaved and clean and sharp as a TACK. She never got around to noticing me, though, except once. ....

"You're pretty smart, huh?" she said.

Quietly I died. Right on the spot.

A little later at the CLUB CAVERN, where my old friend, WILLIE BRYANT, was master of ceremonies with the usual cracks, only more so—I looked her over from top to toe. What an excursion! It was only then that I started tying shoelaces with my elbows. Otherwise I was perfectly normal. Room temperature hadn't gone up but the heat was terrific. That's all.

I was a gone goose and I didn't even ration myself.

MAKE AN IMPRESSION, JOHN!

Well, I started doing that business with my right eyebrow, but she thought the smoke was affecting me and sent for a bromo. I'd never tasted the stuff before, and I'll tell you it's quite an experience. Haven't sobered up yet. CLUB CAVERN hasn't cleaned up yet.

That's were I left off a few weeks ago. That's where I thought I left off. That's where things just began to happen.

(There are too many first person singulars in this letter. Too many "I's." Which isn't good taste. Hereafter every other "I" will be represented by "R" See what "R" means?)

Next morning after the lumpy dreams, she took the day off to show me around our Nation's Capitol, on account of R am an old friend and nothing more. Every once in a while I snatched madly at her hand, but quick as a flash, she's start pointing with a remark, "And OVER THERE is the Lincoln Memorial!" Honest to God, one time three passersby reported her as a fascist agitator! I cleared that up, though, R told the cops she had a statue of Liberty complex.

LATER ON

She had a surprise for me, she said. As homeward we wended our way, she told me.

"A big surprise," she said. "I know you'll like him. Really like him, I mean."

R caught on. MOVE OVER, quoth the heart of me to my right great toe.

THERE HE WAS

No getting out of it. That was he, as the Better Grammar people put it.

"Hello," I said.

Yeah, that was him, and I don't give a damn how it's said. Tall, smooth. Tarzan with a G.I. zoot suit. A jungle lion come for his mate. Whatta Man!

One good thing. My friend Rene had happened in from Ft. Belvoire, and he's a pretty chesty character in his own right. The four of us stood there. The other three didn't understand with what an effort.

Rene and I soon left. The Lion had something Terribly Important to tell her. Private.

It's always nice walking down the street with Rene. The prettiest girls start smiling at you. But even this didn't help. I felt BAD.

HE HAD TO GO

It turned out that the Lion wasn't such a beast after all. Anyway he wasn't any holy terror to the armed forces. They didn't mind ordering him deep into the heart of Military Information. Yvonne cried all night. She told me.

Military Information turned out to be not half so near a battle-field as we might have expecetd, which is too bad, since it virtually removes any chance of the Lion becoming a Hero of the Republic, even posthumously, i.e. even after he is croaked.

Well, there we were, Yvonne and me, a couple of broken hearts. Naturally our conversation was on a high plane, almost stratospheric. "OH, THE EMPTY HOURS," she kept remarking.

I told her in my best journalist manner that this needn't be at all. There is life throbbing about you, I said. There is America fighting a war of survival. There is a world straining at its chains. The spirit of freedom is abroad in the land, and the oppressor's rights are challenged, from Mississippi to Sevastopol, as they have never been challenged before.

Works for Eagle

Now she's in Los Angeles filling those EMPTY HOURS as a bright young reporter for the EAGLE.

Love?

I'll be durned if it ain't still that blasted buck sergeant.

Phooey!

Kollegian Kapers

By Kathy Key

Hi Kids, Gee, I feel sad this week. I am leaving and Joe Adams just played (Journey's End by Dinah Washington). I am taking a job this coming semester in Meridian, Miss., teaching grammar school, but did not know I had to leave so suddenly until yesterday. Oh, well, on with the news. . . . Poor Bernadine High and Lee Coleman were all set for the dance at the Alpha Saturday night, but Bern was sick, so in order not to be disappointed, she put on the loud shirt Lee had bought her for the dance and lay in bed thinking of the wonderful time she could be having with Lee at the dance, tsk tsk. . . . Why doesn't Crawley White and Fran Ramsey stop playing cat and mouse. Why don't you two catch each other and get it over with? . . . MEMOS OF A MIDNIGHTER: . . . (last names ommitted by special request) Robert told Bettye, his new flame "drinking makes you so beautiful," "but I haven't been drinking," she objects. "I know, sighs Robert, "but I have." . . . Saw Rose Marie Land and Ralph Cole cooing and whispering sweet nothings at the Lincoln last night. . . . Say, did'ja hear the latest, John Bowden is working! Atta boy John, I allus knew you had it in you. . . . Well Kids tomorrow night is the night. WHAT DO I MEAN? Why the ZETAS PARFAIT FIESTA! Yep, Saturday night, August 12, 1931 S. Hobart, 9 p. m. sharp. It'll be waaaay out . . . and be on the lookout for the OMEGAS PLAID HOP at the Parkway Manor . . . Sure enjoyed the dinner prepared for us by Charles Wilson's mom, J. B. Sheppard sure wigged of between stuffing himself with chicken. . . . Well Kids this is it, oh yeah, I think that I will continue my column in the form of a letter to my best pal, Fran Ramsey. It'll be real weird so look for it. Now that I'll be gone I can really talk about you in my column HAH! and do drop me a line or two between correcting spelling papers and drilling alphabets I'll write ya. The address is 220 33rd Ave., Meridan, Miss. Nice knowing ya. . . . Later (much later).

Dr. Albert L. Turner, Dean of the North Carolina College Law School, Durham, delivered the Commencement Address at Shaw University Thursday morning, August 17 at 11:00 o'clock, marking completion of the annual summer session of the 85th academic year.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick, Chicago, Guest Of Mrs. Wilson

Mrs. Thelma Kirkpatrick, of 419 E. 48th street, Chicago, is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. James J. Wilson of 1703 E. 123rd street.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Wilson were classmates in Wetsern Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio. They both are graduates of the School of Applied Social Sciences, and received their master's degree from Western Reserve University.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick is a teacher in the city schools of Chicago. She will leave this week for her home.

Castiles Speak 'I Do's' In Wedding Ceremony

It ain't stale, but it ain't new. That is, the marriage of Vera and Frances Castile. In fact they were made one, just a couple of weeks ago at the Holy Cross Catholic Church. I'm tellin ya, it was a beautiful rainbow "weddin". The colors ranged from nile green to pale pink. If you've got the time, take a peep at the bridemaids' and ushers' names. Louise Woods, Mary Lee Hampton, Marie Jackson, Olivia Castile and Gracie White. Hold your breath, here go the men's names: Floyd Alex, Harry Hamilton, Grover Hamilton, Frank Woods and Frank Whittaker. Uups . . . almost forgot, Olivia Castile the sister of the groom, caught the wedding bouquet. Hum . . . guess that means she's next in line for the big step.

L. A. Guest from Texas

Mrs. L. V. Phelps and Mrs. Millie King, of San Antonio, Texas, have just completed an extended vacation in Los Angeles with relatives. They were the guests of Mrs. Phelp's brother, Mr. Frank Townsend and wife, Mrs. Frances Townsend, at 1055 East 16th street, Long Beach, and nieces, Mrs. Evelyn Carr and daughter, Mrs. Mary L. Cox.

They enjoyed a sight-seeing trip to Catalina Island, and some of the many activities of the Angel City. A farewell dinner was given by Mrs. Carr and daughter at a friend's home, Mrs. Patton, on 37th Drive.

Incidentally Mrs. Mary L. Cox is receiving her apprenticeship as a linotype operator in the Eagle Print Shop.

FEATURED ARTIST at the National Delta Sigma Theta sorority convention meeting up in Berkeley, California, was Vivian Scott, New York pianist, who shared the program with a New York vocalist, Wednesday, Guest Artist night. Miss Scott, who is the younger sister of Phyllis Scott, is a graduate of Howard University and Julliard.

SOCIALITING WITH . . .

Vivian D. Johnson

"I wandered about the earth, meeting all sorts of people;
And I lived every kind of a place
Doing all manner of work."

Earth by Frank Townsend.

And so this can apply to the numerous amount of us that come in daily contact with our fellowman in all types of situations. . . . And so this can apply to the many social functions that call together our fellowman in heterogenous grouping. . . .

FOR THIS WEEK PAST the activity that was tops in attraction for the collegiate crowd was the "Plaid and Pinafore" Dance given by Kappa Fraternity. This idea was as clever as any that has presented itself to the public in past months. Here and there among the crowd the idea was strictly followed. Wouldn't it be grand to really view the crowd at an affair with a special theme attire carried out to the letter??? I'll say so! Many of the genial men of Kappa Frat were on hand to greet the patrons with smiles of welcome. . . .

CONVERSING WITH Roxie Machabie one day last week revealed that the Twilighters Social Club were in readiness for their "Cocktails Under the Stars" held Friday, Aug. 11. Sorry that yours truly did not get to attend this affair, but reports have it that an exciting evening held sway. This club is the possessor of a new twist in social organizations. It includes both fellows and girls, and I'm told that they get along extra fine. . . .

INTERESTING COMING EVENTS include, as a first mention this week, the affair of the frat called Omega Psi Phi. It is uniquely entitled "Wild West Affier," and is to be held at Fraternity Hall, at 2711 So. San Pedro St. Leave it to these boys who always seem to choose the places that one one else ever thinks of. Very thoughtful I would say. . . . There will be a prize offered for the best western outfit on the premises. So wear yours, I'll have mine own, and how!! . . .

A VERY WORTHWHILE GESTURE on the part of Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority will be exhibited on Sunday, August 20th, when the girls will present to you their Scholarship Tea at the Phyllis Wheatley Home. The time . . . 3 to 7 p.m. The lucky misses that will receive their scholarships are Ora Strather and Evelyn Blake both of UCLA. As long as such encouragement as this action on the part of a sorority is given to our female youth the better the coming generations will be by desiring to become dynamic fine young women of tomorrow. . .

WHEN GREEKDOM HAS ITS regional, national, and local conventions it is always a happy, and enjoyable time for many who are within that world. We might mention that up Berkeley way the Women of Delta Sigma Sorority are now daily engaged in carrying on their 21st National Convention. From correspondences, yours truly has observed that there is going to be great entertainment as well as business to take care of. Each sorority and fraternity will entertain as is the traditional manner. Many of the social set has journeyed northward to get a week's experience as part of group that will be made up of women from all parts of the country. . . . The post convention brings the majority of west coast visitors down

Paris, Texas, Relatives Visit Brother

Mrs. Ruth Ward and Mrs. Matilda Moody of Paris, Texas, are among recent visitors to the city. They are guests in the home of their brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ben H. Graham, 432 East 46th Street.

Cavalrettes' Summer Festival, Saturday

The Summer Festival of the Cavalrettes Social Club will be given Saturday (tomorrow), August 19, at 353 West 51st street. The Spanish customs will be carried out, and there will be plenty of surprises and fun in store for the guests and members of the club. Erma Jones is chairman of the affair.

The Cavalrettes met in a regular business meetin.g after a month's vacation, at the home of Edna Clarke. Interesting travelogues were given by Mesdames Carter, Ross, Ivie, and Jones, who were vacationing in the Eastern and Middle Western States. Motion pictures were shown by the hostess.

Jackie Moore, president of the club, and Benester Fisher, and their husbands, will spend their vacation in Yosemite and Carmel-by-the-Sea.

Friday Nighters Elect New Body

The Friday Nighters regaled a past president and exalted a new leader at the home of Dr. and Mrs. LeRoy Weekes last Friday night.

Installation of officers was performed by the retiring president, Mrs. Jarone Johnson. The theme of the installation being an analogy between the growth of a young tree and the growth of a new organization. Each officer was presented with a lei of white carnations and the incoming president a lei of white gardenias. Two new members were accepted into the club, Mrs. Ellis Toney, wife of the prominent psychiatrist of Beverly Hills, and Mrs. John Carney, wife of the popular skin specialist.

Charlene Johnson, retiring president, was presented with a handsome Sterling silver pin, two clasped hands graced with an oval turquoise on the fourth finger, a custom design of Walter Wright of Farmers Market.

The palatial Weekes residence was transformed into a veritable fairyland of flowers and that festive touch of gracious hospitality that makes even a small informal gathering seem regal. After a delightful repast, the guests enjoyed a bantering conversation of mutual past war experiences and possible future entanglements.

New officers of the club are, Mrs. LeRoy Weekes, president; Mrs. Marion Johnson, secretary; Mrs. Vernice Spann, vice president; Mrs. Zrelda Sealey, treasurer; Mrs. Wayne Howard, historian.

Travelers Feted

The occasion was a beautiful luncheon party at the lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. William Threadgil, 9412 South Hooper avenue. Those honored were Rev. and Mrs. Charles Fisher, their two charming daughters, Mattie and Jacqueline, and Rosetta Rembert, who are vacationing from Selma, Alabama.

Others present were: Dr. Roscoe Williams, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Wylene Robinson, niece of the Threadgils; and Mrs. Lelia Montgomery and mother; Little Everege Byrd.

Alpha Phi Alpha Schedules Annual Western Regional

Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc., will meet in its Third Annual Western Regional Conference August 25, 26, 27, in Los Angeles.

Los Angeles Chapters Alpha Delta: (University of So. Calif.), Beta Psi Lambda (Graduate) and Gamma XI (UCLA) will host delegates and visiting Brothers, from the eleven States of the Western Area. Headquarters for all activities will be the newly acquired Alpha Fraternity House, located at 2116 So. Western Ave., just two blocks northe of the Golden State Mutual Insurance Building.

Western vice president D. Rudolph Henderson Jr., reported that all Chapters have indicated that 100% participation is almost assured, as the result of his recent trip throughout the Western Area. Numerous Brothers will arrive following their visit to the Delta National Convention the preceding week.

General Officers to Attend

General President Belford V. Lawson, Washington, D. C., attorney ,and leading attorney in the recent U. S. Supreme Court decision in the Elmer W. Henderson case against the U. S. Government and Southern Railroad, will address a closed session. This will mark his 24th Regional Conference since taking office in 1945. During his trip to the West Coast, Attorney Lawson will address the Delta National Convention in Berkeley, Calif.

Also on hand for oCnferences and sesisons will be the Fraternities' Full Time General Secretary, Bennie D. Brown, from Chicago, Illinois. Mr. Brown heads the Organization's Office Headquarters in the Midwestern city.

Gala Social Affairs Scheduled

Although the proposed Conference is designed for intensive work, delegates and their guests will be entertained in an informal party opening night. The highlight of the lighter side will be the Alpha Summer Formal at the Royal Palms Hotel, Saturday, August 26. Sunday afternoon public reception will close the activities.

ANUAL WILFANDEL FESTIVAL plans are being formulated by the committee shown above. The festival will be held on Saturday, September 9, in the beautiful gardens at the home of Mrs. Paul Williams, who is club president. Shown seated are: Mmes. Paul Williams, Meritt Cohen, Seth Lee, Van Williams and Bertram Tucker. Standing: Mmes. Eastern Star Chapter Honor Given to Mrs. Faye Johnson

Starlight Chapter No. 51, O.E.S. crowned Mrs. Faye Johnson as Miss Starlight 1950 on August 9, 1950 with a very impressive ceremony at the Western Knights Masonic Hall. Members of the Chapter formed a court and marched in by candle light with large gold letters spelling out the title.

Her gloves and shoes were placed on by the other contestants. The crown was presented by the Associate Matron, Lessie Postel, in the absence of the Matron Ella Dostey who suffered a serious automobile accident a few minutes before the meeting.

The members formed a tableau with candles and letters each with an appropriate saying for the letter. Mrs. Johnson won first prize in a financial drive held recently by the Chapter in which Star Points participated. Other prizes were won by Mrs. Ellee Jones, 2nd, Mrs. Frances Winston, 3rd, and Mrs. Mattie Williams, 4th. Mrs. Agnes Marshall was the fifth contestant.

The Chapter deeply regretted the Matron's aceident as plans had been made for an elaborate welcome home party in her honor. The Grand Worthy Patron, Arthur Crosby and other O.E.S. dignataries were present.

Wilfandel Garden Festival in Mrs. Paul Williams' Garden

Under the direction of Mrs. Seth Lee, Ways and Means Chairman, Wildandel Club members have outlined plans for their annual festival. Saturday, Sept. 9th is the date. The place, the beautiful garden at the home of club president, Mrs. Paul Williams.

Among those selected to serve as committee chairmen are: Mrs. Maudel Mays, Spanish Dinner; Mrs. Bessie Burke, drinks; Mrs. Josephine Brown, hot dogs; Mrs. Laura Fowler, ice cream and cake; Mrs. Ethel Atkinson, handiwork booth; Mrs. Lena Tucker, chance wheel; Mrs. Fannie Williams, fortune telling; Miss Frances Henderson, square dancing.

Mrs. Mae Meyers will be in charge of the fashion show; and Mr. Van Williams will provide suitable moving pictures for the small children.

Double Wedding to Unite Oakland Couples Sunday

A double wedding, unusual in the tradition of formal ceremonies will be the social highlight of the season in Oakland on Sunday, August 20, when two prominent ministers in that community wed two well-known ladies at the First Methodist Church.

The ceremonies will be performed at five o'clock with the Rev. G. Linwood Fauntleroy uniting in marriage with Alice Lucinda Calbert, and the Rev. George Allen Fitch exchanging vows with Carrie Mae Johnson.

A reception immediately following the ceremonies will be held at the North Oakland YMCA, Brockhurst and Market Streets.

Silver Spurs Riding Club Activities

Members of the Silver Spurs Riding Club were guests of Julie Carrasco, at a candle-lit Mexican Buffet supper, on July 31st, at which a variety of authentic below-the-Border dishes were served, at her home. A huge bowl of Tequila Punch proved most popular with the guests.

Henri O'Bryant, well-known Hollywood designer, was present to complete plans for the girls' outfits to be worn in the Entry Parade at the Sheriff's Rodeo on August 27th in the Coliseum. The meeting adjourned early so that all could arrive on time at the Elk's auditorium, where they were guests of the Knights of Pythians, and amid great fanfare and picture-taking, presented with a huge ribbon award for their cooperation with the Fraternal Order, and for their beautiful attire which brought rounds of applause from all present.

The Club's next meeting was held at the Adviser's home, Mrs. Faustina Johnson, where the popping of Champagne into the capacious bowl completely enlivened the proceedings. The members finally departed at a very late hour, amid much laughter and fun.

Mr. Jackson, of Jackson's Riding Academy, entertained members with fried chicken and all the tirimmings, after their last Sunday morning ride at his ranch. They were allowed the freedom of the Ranch, personnel and horses included, until late in the evening, and Martha Fountain invited the club to journey to her attractive home after Wednesday night's ride, where she royally entertained them with a dancing and cocktail party.

Many activities, which will be of great interest to their friends and the community, have been planned, under the direction of the president, Lillie Marie George. The Silver Spurs are directing their efforts towards promoting a program conductive to Juvenile betterment.

MRS. LILLIAN SHARPE HUNTER, of New York City, the only woman field representative of the New York State Commission, is visiting in Los Angeles, the guest of Miss Beatrice De Vaughn, 214 East 41st Place. Many social functions have honored her during her stay in Los Angeles.

Alpha House Opening Delayed By Regional Convention Meet

The formal public opening of the Alpha house at 2116 S. Western Avenue will be delayed until later in the summer, in view of the Regional convention being held in Los Angeles August 25-27. The house manager Mr. S. P. DeBose has planned, however, a series of closed events which will procede the formal opening.

Among the affairs planned for the sneak preview is an Alpha breakfast Sunday, August 20, 1050. Atty. Belford V. Lawson, National President will be guest of honor. Mr. DeBose is being assisted by the board of directors of the Alpha house foundation.

Atty. William R. Freeman is the president of the board, with representatives from the three local chapters of the fraternity. The convention social committee, headed by Messrs Eddie Addizie, Dave Arbor, and Dewey Davidson has in the making a chain of social events which will relieve the tension of the business sessions of the convention. A formal opening date will be forthcoming soon.

INFANTICIPATING—Lovely Camille Cannady, wife of Attorney George Cannady, is on the list of expectant mothers. The attractive young matron is vacationing in Europe with her two sisters, Mrs. Howard Allen and Clara Harris.

to Los Angeles for a three-day session, which includes a Public Meeting Tuesday night, August 22, at the Second Baptist Church at 8:15 p.m. at which Mr. Norman Corwin, Radio Consultant, Public Information Department of the United Nations Organization will be one of the featured speakers. Remember, the general public is invited, so, see you there, I'm sure it will be very inspiring. . . .

Pan Hellenic Council of Los Angeles has planned a unique affair that will be held during the post-convention. All the Greeks are invited to be present at this function. . . .

THE PRECEDING BRINGS US TO THE great fraternity of Alpha Phi Alpha. . . . The men of Alpha will hold their regional meet in the city from August 25 to 27 inclusive. David Arbor, publicity chairman for many functions reports that a full schedule will be followed. On the 25th a closed Welcome Party will be held; the 26th presents the public with the Annual 'A Phi A" Formal Dance. Invitations will be in the mail soon. A public reception will be held on the 27th, at which the local and regional officers will be in evidence. The theme will follow the Garden Party idea. This should be ideal for observing late summer fashions of the Alpha wives and sweethearts. Will surely give you a full account. Sunday, August 20th, will be quite a morning for the fellows. A special breakfast is to be given honoring Belford Lawson Jr., Washington, D.C., attorney, who is a very active frat man in his part of the country. . . . And so the men of Alpha and the women of Delta meet and greet. . . .

As we leave this thought, I may mention that Kappa and Alpha Frat and AKA Sorority will have a great time when all three meet and greet in the lively town of St. Louis, Mo., around Christmas time for their respective National Confabs. Hmmmm, just think of what a ball that will be ! ! !

BEING MUSICALLY MINDED is lots of fun and enjoyment for me. It seems that I just can't stay away from the Oasis Club while Count Basie and Sextet holds the spotlight. The mellow and rapturous tones of the scintillating saxaphone of Wardell Gray are just "blase," especially when he blows "These Foolish Things." Spied Frances Garland and Dorothy Bradley making a handsome couple on the dance floor as the tune flowed. If you miss this wonderful entertainment at the club, your best bet would be to catch them at the Elks Auditorium (and you all know where that is) on Saturday night coming up. While listening to the entertaining radio show of Jack Low on Tuesday night past enjoyed a person to person interview between Jack and Hadda Brooks. Didn't know she was in town. Hadda gave the news that she is appearing in a film with Humphrey Bogart which will begin for the public sometime next week. Understand that she's now appearing at Jerry Walsh's Studio Club, show time about 10:15 nightly except Sunday.

NEWS BRIEFS . . . Here and there are the peeople of our city who are still vacationing for the summer. Latest note from a vacationer was from Dorothy Calhoun Farley who writes from San Francisco that it's really a town to behold. . . . Dr. E. I. Robinson of Los Angeles will leave on Sunday, August 20th, for Hampton, Va., where he will attend the National Medical Convention, held annually. He will play an important part in many of the sessions, having been a past nationally officer. . . . To clear up a rumor that has been circulating around the town, the wheels of A Phi A Frat report that the opening, formally, of the Alpha House will be delayed until late summer. So, watch for the correct date here. . . . Making a last minute deadline, and a real last minute one! Just pulled out an invitation to an informal party which will be hostesses by win-Defender, on Sunday, Aug. 20. some Tomi Ayres, of the Chicago Know it will be entertaining. Received greetings from Lucille C. Norman, wife of Fred Norman, one of Broadway's noted music arrangers, wishing me success as part of the Eagle staff. She resides in New York. . . . Here tell that Helen and Cris Wright gave one of their popular social functions over the week end. Know it was really done in grand style. . . . With the last line and almost a late deadline, may I say, don't forget to call AD. 1-6215 to report your social news. . . . Til next time. . . .

49th Street P. T. A. Meet

Although vacation activities took a majority of the members of the 49th Street School PTA, members of the executive board proper for the ensuing year met at the home of incoming president, Mrs. Roy E. Ayers, last Sunday afternoon.

Plans and discussion centered primarily on the group's first venture prior to the opening of the fall semester. A mammoth "Back to School" fashion show, featuring kiddies from the school and surrounding areas will be the chief September affair. The theme for the program this year is "Planning Together—Working Together" and the president outlined an interesting and stimulating agenda.

Preesnt at the gathering, which took on social significance after the business of the day had been covered, were: Mesdames Louise Wilson, Mae Horace, Lou Edna Dodson, Ada Barnes, Ella Harris, Grace E. Graham, Ella Green, Luella Ewing, Wilhelmenia Monroe. Members who were unable to attend because of vacationing were: Mrs. Constance Parhms, who is visiting in Chicago; Mrs. Lulabelle Lauderdale, visiting in Elsinore; Mrs. Mildred Caldwell, sightseeing at Lincoln University in Missouri; Mrs. Fannie Blake, Riverside; Mrs. E. M. Grose, attending Daughters of Isis convention in Boston; and Mrs. Bessie B. Burke, principal, who was completing preparations for a trip to Honolulu.

LA Pan Hellenic Annual Green Reunion

All Los Angeles Greek Letter Fraternity and Sorority members and guests will hie off to scenic Elysian Park Lodge Monday Night, August 21, for an informal evening of fun and entertainment. "This is a 'Must', and a treat no Greek will want to miss! The grand caravan will be leaving from all parts of the city and will meet at the lodge from 6 o'clock on. Refreshments will be served at 6:30 p.m." This is the message received from Pan Hellenic's inspiring new president, Mrs. Gaynell Miles.

The honored guests will be the dignitaries of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority and Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity in Los Angeles on convention business. Among those receiving greetings will be Mrs. Dorothy Height Reeves, Grand President of Delta Sigma Theta; Belford Lawson, Grand President of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity; Dorothy Ferebe, past Supreme Basilous of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority and new president of the N.C.W.N.; and May Wright Downs, president of the National Pan-Hellenic Council.

A gala evening of square dancing, ballroom dancing and dramatic skits has been planned by the Social and Program chairmen, Mis Haroldine Browning and Mr. Ashton C. Kitchen. Master of ceremonies will be Mr. Johnnie Brewer of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity.

Every Greek is urged to keep this date open!!!

DR. NANNIE HELEN BURROUGHS recently received some of the highest church honors a woman could achieve at the meeting of the Baptist World Alliance in Cleveland when she was elected member-at-large of the executive committee, 1950-55, and also vice chairman of the women's section of the Alliance. This achievement climaxes nearly a half century of work with the world organization for Dr. Burroughs. She attended the first meeting held in London in 1950.—(ANP)

Mrs. Hunter, New York State Comm. Guest in L.A.

Mrs. Lillian Sharpe Hunter, of New York City arrived in Los Angeles on Saturday. She is the only woman field representative of the New York State Commission Against Discrimination. She was appointed by Governor Thomas E. Dewey in 1944 on the temporary commission which presented the bill for FEPC to the Legislature. Mrs. Hunter was then made public relations consultant.

Mrs. Hunter was associated with The Amsterdam News for sixteen years, and directed the presentation of 52 debutantes for The Amsterdam in March, 1950, a feature which was carried by Life and other national magazines.

While in the city Mrs. Hunter is the guest of Miss Bea De Vaughn at 214 East 41st place.

On Sunday she was a guest at the Ritz matron's picnic at Griffith Park. She was also seen at a lawn party given by Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Miles, and at a formal dinner party given by Mrs. Guther Wheeler .

OLE LID IS DOFFED TO BENNY CARTER

Two decades ago a small-fry constituent of Harlem, Benny Carter, walked along a crowded street pulling a wagon load of laundry bundles.

In all the cacophony of voices and street noises something halted the boy. The little red wagon squeaked in turning around. The boy stood in front of a music shop, mesmerized by the haunting wail of a trumpet recording.

It began then and there: Result: Benny Carter, to be hailed as one of America's most versatile bandleaders — a composer, arranger, virtuoso of four instruments.

Hollywood's film studios, ever alert for fresh talent, were quick to make use of his musical genius, and within the last year he has signed his name to special arrangements for such outstanding 20th Century-Fox products as "Panic In the Streets," "No Way Out" and "My Blue Heaven," all as yet unreleased.

Then came Hollywood, hundreds of recordings, untold legions of dance-loving followers, and Benny was securely enthroned as one of America's most versatile men of music.

Coleman Brothers Win Wax Contract

LINDEN—It was announced this week that the Coleman Brothers have been signed to a long term recording contract with the Regal Record Co. of Linden, N. J., following the success of their choral work in the new Paul Gayten recording, "Goodnite Irene."

Managed by Howard Biggs, ex-aranger and coach for the Ravens, the Coleman Brothers Quartet is well known for concert and theatre work in the northwestern states. Discovered by Biggs six months ago, the four were brought east to provide the special background harmony on the new Gayten waxing, "Irene." Because of the rocketing success of the disc since its release only two weeks ago, the group was inked this week to become a permanent part of the diskery's talent roster.

Elks Hall Really Making Improvement

Last Thursday evening, members of the Press were invited to attend a Press Party at the newly redecorated Elks Temple 4016 South Central Avenue as the guest of the Exalted Ruler, Mr. Milen and new Public Relationist Bob Strauther.

Members of the Press were informed of the various improvements that had been made and changes taking place in the very near future. While touring the place, we very much impressed with the new complete and well equipped $23,000 bar and fixtures.

Fraternities, Sororities and Promoters will no longer find a necessity to take their business elsewhere with the many improvements that are being made which will include more dancing space, cocktail tables, enabling those who are sitting out to sip cocktails.

A new Patio is being built that will provide ample space for social teas, church affairs, etc.

Surely such an organization, headed by such an aggressive Exalted Ruler should be supported and encouraged by those of us who have previously been helping other organizations.

Bostic Wins Return Date At Bop City

NEW YORK—Chalk up one of the biggest personal artistic triumphs in years beside the name of Earl Bostic, erstwhile king of the alto sax, scored during a limited stand at Bop City last week.

Bostic created such a sensation at the citadel of the flatted fifth that he has been practically ordered to return in late September for an extended stay.

So good music lovers will be enjoying the Earl Bostic rhythms again along Mazda Lane soon after the leaves begin to turn brown.

Damita Jo At Orpheum

Lovely Damita Jo, the charming possessor of "the most exciting new voice of the year," opens as featured vocalist at Los Angeles' Orpheum theatre with the Count Basie Sextette and "Sugar-chile" Robinson, beginning Thursday, August 24. A real "Cinderella Girl" is Damita Jo, and a heartwarming example of how real talent and beauty can reach the top with proper guidance and a few lucky breaks.

Just six months ago the brown-eyed songstress began her professional career singing for lowly "scale"—in that instance, $50 a week. The first turn of luck came when Curtis Moseby brought her to the attention of the Sloate-Dale Agency, who represent such top-flight stars as Sarah Vaughan, Ella Fitzgerald and Dinah Washington.

A discovery recording artist and guest on many of the top radio and television programs, lovely Damita Jo promises to be one of the brightest new stars of the nation.

Toni Smashes Records

NEW YORK CITY—Toni "Candy Store Blues" Harper's first Broadway date as the headline attraction of the Strand Theatre, has taken the Main Stem by storm and has set a new box office record for 1950, at the Warner Brothers popular picture house.

Once again proving herself to be a potent 12-year old bundle of rhythm, Toni smashed all box office records for this house, which chalked up $34,000 Friday through Sunday. Variety, the Bible of Show Business, points out that this figure is normally a good average for an entire week.

When Toni Harper steps to the footlights, smooths down her starched ruffled dress, and gives out with her jive-up Mother Goose, there can be no doubt in anyone's mind how it is that she holds a calloused Broadway in the palm of her hand.

Darnel Takes To Road On Tour

NEW YORK—Winding up a four day engagement at the National Theatre in Louisville, Larry Darnell takes to the road with the Paul Williams band, continuing his junket of one niters that will carry the singer in and out of the midwestern states during the next month.

The famed vocalist will appear at the Cleveland Auditorium Friday (18) and at the New Elms Ballroom in Youngstown the following nite. He then travels to Detroit for a Sunday bow at the Club Valley till the 23rd, before moving on to subsequent stands in the midwestern circuit.

Among the highlights of the Darnell tour will be dates in Akron, Springfield and other key Ohio cities. Born in that state, four local communities where Darnell lived as a boy, are planning gala homecoming dances for the singer who is popularly known as the "Princess Charmer". Three Springfield music shops are having a special contest for girls only, the gimick centering around Darnell's recording of "My Kind of Baby." Disc jockey Andy Franklin of station WJMO, Cleveland, is credited with originating the idea in his town, since this is the most requested tune on that tallow spinner's show.

GETTING THE NEWS FROM G. G.:

Dance lovers will all welcome the news that Count Basie and his sextette will swing and sway come Saturday night at the Elks Hall when his swingsational little combo get together and play the kinnda music you enjoy dancing to. . . . Had the honor of taking out the 20th Century Fox Hills Studio a group of the city's leading M.D.'s to see this much publicised "No Way Out" . . . their response was overwhelming (and which we shall include in our review) included in the group Dr. Wells Forde, Dr. P. Taylor, Dr. L. Boddie, Dr. Carauso and the nationally known Dr. Lowell Goin. . . . This week the old lid is doffed to Benny Carter "that amazing man of music" for his wonderful arrangements in "No Way Out" and also "Panic In The Streets" both pictures are to be released by 20th Century-Fox. . . . And of course if we were throwing orchids we'd sure throw one right through the open door of "Dolphin's of Hollywood" for having one of the most complete record stores in the business . . . we wouldn't even think of estimating the number of records Dolphin has on hand . . . but we can truthfully say that any record he doesn't have . . he really doesn't need . . . if it's true that success means goodfortune, prosperity, having attained the desired effect well . . . there is no doubt that Mr. Dolphin is a true example of the word . . . Toni Harper wowing 'em at New York's Strand Theatre . . . Guests are still raving about the wonderful party given by Atty Crispus Wright and Helen Wright . . . really did the thing up with the band of C. L. Burke and a complete Hawaiian atmosphere . . . Handsome Lowell Thomas is all in a dither over shapely Nita Wilson . . . fella insists that "she takes pretty pills" says she's Linda Darnell, Lena Horne and Lana Turner all wrapped up in one . . . geel whatta torch he must be carrying . . . Hear that our pal Peg Leg Bates really gave em the works at New York's Radio City Music Hall . . . Peg now headlining the show at the Roxy there . . .Percy Mayfield's "Two Years Of Torture" recently listed in Cash Box as moving up to fourth place . . . (and just between us that's one of the erasons why Mr. Dolphin is putting out that real broad smile) . . . Errol Garner at the "88" the headliner at the Oasis tonight . . . Dr. Booker always causing second looks when strolling down the ave in his dignified manner in his oh! sooo white suit . . .he's our idea of how a real distinguished Doc should look . . . Hary Bigelow and Jerry (Sweet Dreams) really doin the town Sunday night last . . . Hear that Cab Calloway wanted the kinda loot that the Amos N' Andy show didn't want to put out, we're talking about the TV show. The recent benefit for Laura Bowman brought many of the great actresses out to help in any way possible . . . Laura has been ill for almost a month . . . Ernest Whiteman headed the program for the afternoon and contributed much . . . Richard Hickman deserves a lotta credit for the wonderful array of talent he had out at South Park for the mammouth Health Festival in coordination with "Get A Chest X-Ray" campaign that has been going on for the last few months . . . Todd Duncan and "Lost In The Stars" open this week at the Bay City's Curran . . . Louis Jordan's "I Like To Boogie Real Slow with The Blue Lights Turned Down Low" a real hit on the juke boxes . . . Gearge Allen trying to drown a torch that has learned to swim, in just plain co-cah co-lah . . . he fell in love way up to his hear and the fall was really terrific . . . Aha! how about this dept? . . . The story of the henpecked husband who never was allowed to smoke in the house, but who got even with his wife . . . when he died, he stipulated in his will that his body be cremated and the ashes scattered over the living-room rug . . . Betty Harris she's the social lovely and Harold Clark are closer than five minutes to twelve . . . Joyce Cherry she's from Philly . . . has a smile as heartwarming as a baby's hug . . . Sarah Vaughn back at the Apollo Theater in Harlem . . . That new bar plus soooo many other things at the newly redecorated Elks Lounge is something to see.

NOTES, NEWS AND NONSENSE

Understand that NBC will maintain the Duffy's Tavern show with Ed Gardner, Mantan Moreland etc . . . whether they get a sponser or not . . SUDDEN THAWT: One thing sure, betting is like liquor . . . you can make it illegal, but you can't make it unpopular . . .LaMar Hill (Angelus Funeral Home Prexy) dining with wife Puffy and friends . . . Word comes from Sidney Poitier (he plays the role of the Negro doctor in "No Way Out") that he is engaged . . .which makes previous releases a little doubtful that he has definite plans of remaining a bachelor . . . We're very anxious for the Negro Art Theater to busy themselves again with another production . . . River Boy now in full sway out at Orchid Gables . . . Angelle Stratton looking very pretty in a new creation made by talented Cora Howard . . . Comes that time again . . . which reminds us to leave you with something that goes like this "Most of the world's troubles seem to be caused by people behaving like human beings."

While visiting out on the strip yesterday . . . dropped by the oh! so cozy new apartment of shapely Dottie Dandridge. . . . Located in the heart of Hollywd. . . . Dottie's curves mold in soooo nicely with her new frenchy atmosphere. . . .

Garner Headliner At Oasis

Music lovers and fans of Eroll Garner who have been anxiously awaiting for this great artist will welcome the news of his opening tonight at the Oasis for a two week engagement.

Returning after over a year's absence Garner has since made musical history. So great has been the demand for Garner's bookings that he has played only a percentage of the locations that want him but even with these limited appearances Erroll won both the Downbeat and Metronome piano polls for 1949 being voted the nation's favorite jazz pianist.

Garner did such outstanding business at the Deuces that both operators and critics credited him with reviving jazz on 52nd street and with creating a comeback for the jazz piano.

Supporting Erroll Garner will be the nifty little combo of Lee Young. ..Make it a must go to the Oasis and see the best show in town, and meet Joe Abrahms and Bill Robinson, those two great guys that ade always on hand to make your evening at the Oasis an enjoyable one.

Amos Milburn Heads For City

LUBBOCK, Tex. — Amos Milburn has heeded a frantic call from Eddie Mesner, president of the Aladdin Record Co., and will conclude his current road tour this week in order to head for California to do some rush recording for the Aladdin label at the firm's Hollywood studios.

The famed "Bewildered" man has been so occupied on the road during the past few months that he has been unable to settle down for any recording sessions, thus completely exhausting the Aladdin firm's supply of unreleased Milburn platters.

Amos, who is consistently one of the biggest-selling stars in the recording industry, has had no less than 10 new records released since the first of the year, including such smash hits as "Anybody's Blues," "Birmingham Bounce" and "Two Years of Torture."

Count Basie At Elks Sat. Nite

Count Basie and his swingsation Sextette will play their only Los Angeles dance tomorrow night, August 19th at the newly redecorated Elks Hall, 4016 South Central Ave.

Those who have been unfortunate to miss the Count at the Oasis due to capacity filled nitely, will really get an extra treat when Basie plays all of those old goodies plus his new ones tomorrow night.

Featured with the Basie crew, Wardell Gray that dynamic saxaphonist who always rocks the place and also Buddy De Franco.

Those who have listened to the former aggregations of the Count can't understand why it is that this newly organized Sextette can be compared with his former seventeen pieces. But it's true, the band is terrific, they dish out with a brand of rythm that is entirely different from anything you have ever heard.

Make it a must at the Elks Hall tomorrow night from 9 to 1 to dance to the music of Count Basie.

Eagle Salutes Outstanding Disc Jockies

JOE ADAMS . . (KOWL) . . Mayor of Melody) . . . Saluted for his versitility and the wide appeal of his program which includes something for everybody. Most of the fans tell us they love Joe's fine diction and his cozy way of embracing you with a well chosen sentence.

HOLLYWOOD—It is estimated that more than 200,000,000 people have read "Treaasure Island" since Robert Louis Stevenson wrote the famed adventure story for his 13-year-old step-son 70 years ago. Walt Disney has filmed the thrilling tale as an all live-action picture

ROY LOGGINS . . . (KALI) . . . Selected as outstanding and saluted for his contribution to the many youth, with whom he makes daily contact through his program that features a wide variety of waxings, for his personal time spent visiting youngsters in the many hospitals and sanitoriums, this coupled with his casual, natural "air voice" made Roy an easy pick.

OUTSTANDING DISC JOCKEYS SALUTED

Responding to expressions of our readers who feel as we do that honor is due the Disc Jockeys who work overtime to entertain, to encourage and to cheer, your California Eagle theatrical editor preesnts in this issue several of the outstanding platter spinners who have earned high praise from the listeners.

Each Disc Jockey has his own point of merit, and all of them are somebody's favorite. We are not attempting to determine who is the top Disc Jockey, for each one has contributed in his own way to the delight and advancement of Mr. and Mrs. Public and the music they want to hear.

A TRIBUTE TO GENE NORMAN

GENE NORMAN (KGFJ) saluted for the smooth assurance in his voice plus a well chosen program, balanced to please even the most difficult listeners.

BILL SAMPSON . . (KWKW) . . . A salute to Bill Sampson for his quiet companionship in the small of the night. Bill's four hours of mood music sets the tempo for the stay-up-laters.

RAY ROBINSON . . (KGFJ . . . A salute to Ray Robinson for his aggressiveness, sincerity and his presentation of a fresh approach to Dick Jocking.

HOLLYWOOD—Joseph Cotte who co-stars with Valli in RK Radio's "Walk Softly, Stranger reads at least three newspape every day and several boo every week. Though he dislik travel he likes to read trav books.

HUNTER HANCOCK (KFVD)—Harlematinee . . . A salute to Hunter for a suave cosmopolitan program featuring exclusively top Negro artists and for untiring service donated toward any worthy cause.

CAMILLE HOWARD . . Plays the Elks Sunday, August 20, along with Jimmy Witherspoon.

JACK LOW (KGFJ) . . . Saluted for his wonderful contribution in stressing news of the Negro Community, for his nitely salute to an outstanding citizen. For his wide variation of music and above all his mellow-soothing "new voice" which we predict to reach top results in the field of Disc Jocking.

HOLLYWOOD—As a precaution against mishap, everything for the movies except actors must come in pairs. Eighteen expensive RKO Radio's "Crack Down," featuring Bill Williams, Ca Balenda Robert Armstro Frank McHugh and Steve Fla but to play safe, two of each, a total of 36 were provided.

Negro Actors Guild Of America Present Award To Zanuck

The Negro Actors Guild Monday made an award to Mr. Darryl F. Zanuck, vice-president in charge of production for Twentieth Century-Fox, for his new drama of race relations, "No Way Out." The presentation will be made by the Guild's president Noble Sissle, at a party at the Hotel Theresa, 125th Street and 7th Avenue, and accepted for Mr. Zanuck by Linda Darnell, one of the stars of the film.

The award, a scroll, cites the producer "for the intelligent and understanding use of Negro performers in the film medium, and especially in 'No Way Out.'"

Witherspoon And Camille Howard At Elks, Sunday, Aug. 20

Now that the new policy has been inaugurated at the Elks Ballroom on Central avenue, with the kickoff dance last Sunday night, everyone is looking forward to the bill of fare for this coming Sunday when blues and boogie takes the spotlight with Jimmy Witherspoon and Camille Howard.

This new teaming of "Spoon" and Howard is really paying off in big figures, and those who have had a chance to see and hear them are still raving. On the group's first date at the Avadon here in Los Angeles, no less than 2600 happy patrons turned out to hear them.

Home Owners in Organization For Civic Pride

The Allied Gardens Home Protective League which is an organization made up of civic-minded property owners of Compton who have united together to protect, preserve and further the understanding of neighborly concern for the rights and property of others.

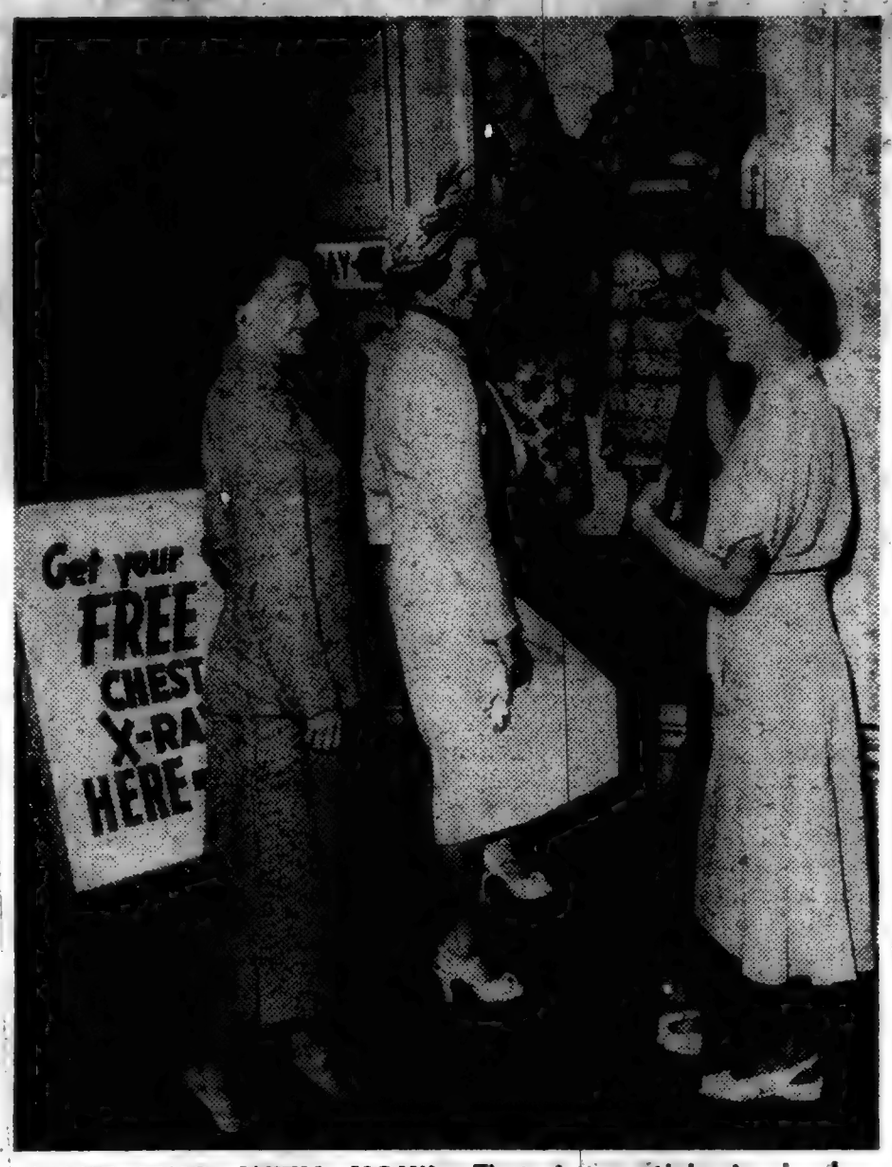
The officers just elected to head the League are Mr. James McDaniels, president; Mrs. Geneva Smith, vice president; Mrs. Jean McDaniels, recording secretary, and Mrs. Leon Carter, chaplain.

Projects undertaken by the League is a neighborhood paint and clean-up campaign. Street light installation, repair of streets and sidewalks, and the establishment of a floral island between Wilmington Boulevard and Wilmington Avenue are being planned with the assistance of the City Engineers of the city of Compton.

Wrestlers In Benefit For Watts Church

Big time wrestling will invade the Watts-South Los Angeles area the night of Thursday, September 14, when the Holy Name Society of St. Lawrence Church, stage the second of their sports shows in the parish school gym, 101 and Compton

Jules Strombow, in charge of the wrestling troupe at Olympic Auditorium has assured members of the committee arranging that he will send the best wrestlers available at the time of the show into the area.



The church benefit show will mark the first time that 'ibg time' wrestlers have ever appeared in that area. Holy Name committeemen, have left nothing undone in their spirited effort to give the people of the southeast area an evening of excellent entertainment. All are welcome.

Workshop Play Portrays Negro As Human Being

"How I Wonder," Donald Ogden Stewart's new play, to be presented by the Beverly-Fairfax Jewish Community Center's Actor's Workshop at the New Globe Theatre, starting August 19, presents a Negro as a human being. Moving away from the presentation of a colored person as a "Stepin Fechit" or "Uncle Tom" character, Stewart's play presents the Negro as a member of our society who must think through clearly who his friends and allies are.

Emmett Smith plays the role of Cliff, the butler of Professor Lemuel Stevenson and his characterization has been described as superlative by Howard Da Sylva, member of the Center's Drama Committee, who has attended rehearsals.

Others in the cast of this play, directed by Paul Gurev, are Stephen Roberts, Kenneth Jampol, Ronald Singer, Sylvia Moscowitz, Jean Stein, Ben Freedman, Sidney Morris, Beki Finer and Phil Resnick. Tickets may be secured through the Beverly-Fairfax Jewish Community Center, 8008 Beverly Boulevard, WEbster 9141.

"TAKE TWO WITH YOU"—First to participate in Los Angeles County X-Ray Survey's new slogan "Take Two With You" are Mrs. Richard Reed (right) of the Foundation's Public Information committee, with her two guests. They are, left to right, Mrs. Clifford Ford (Bee Canterbury), women's editor of NBC press department and president of Theta Sigma Phi, honorary journalism fraternity for women, and Mrs. John N. Briggs, Westwood, wife of the eminent chest surgeon. Goal of the Fundation is 3,000,000 x-rays by the end of the year.

United Nations Consultant To Address Delta Convention

Mr. Norman Corwin, Radio Consultant, Public Information Department of the United Nations Organization will be one of the speakers at the public meeting of the post-session of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority's Convention, Tuesday night, Aug. 22, 1950, at 8:15 at the Second Baptist Church, Corner 24th and Griffith.

The Convention theme: "Human Rights—From Charter to Practice" will be discussed by Mr. Corwin from an International angle especially The United Nations in its relations to Human Rights. At this time Mr. Corwin is in Hollywood where his Document A-777 is being filmed.

Other outstanding persons participating on the Symposium are: Mrs. Sadie T. M. Alexander, a member of the President's Committee on Civil Rights, a practicing attorney in Philadelphia, and an honorary President of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority. Attorney Alexander will discuss our responsibility in our home land in the area of Human Rights.

Lawson Speaks

Attorney Belford Lawson, who distinguished himself in his handling of the historic Henderson vs. Southern Railway Case, will speak on the significance of the recent Supreme Court Decisions in our effort to strengthen our democratic way of life.

Attorney Lawson is General Counsel for the American Council on Human Rights, and Grand President of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity. A question and answer period will follow which will give the audience an opportunity to participate in the discussion. Miss Dorothy I. Height, Grand President of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, will act as Moderator of the Symposium.

Mrs. Mary Lou Robeson, who is president of the Los Angeles Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority... states that elaborate plans are under way for the entertainment of the delegates and visiting Deltas, who represent nearly every state in the union and Haiti. These women will come down from Berkeley to this post session on a tour provided by Grand Chapter.

The Pan Hellenic Council of Los Angeles and other groups are doing a major part also toward their entertainment.

Thrift Shop Appeals for Old Utensils

Thrift shops and salvage shops scattered throughout Los Angeles, and operated by and for the benefit of various welfare agencies, have been signally successful, and the Braille Institute's Thrift Shop, at 729 South Vermont Avenue, is no exception.

Established a year ago, under the direction oof Mrs. Grace Carpenter, who also is a member of the Braille Institute's Board of Trustees, the Thrift Shop is performing what might be called a "double" social service.

Operated entirely by a group of volunteers, and at little expense except rent, it has been possible to re-sell all donated articles at extremely low prices —a boon to those in low income groups who patronize the store. At the same time, the net income is used for the welfare of the blind.

An urgent call has been sent out by Mrs. Carpenter for "more goods." Used clothing and shoes are especially needed; but it is requested that articles of clothing be cleaned. Household utensils and dashes also are popular. A pick-up service has been established, and anyone having articles to donate to the Thrift Shop should telephone the Braille Institute (OLympic 1121.)

Local Musicians Association Program At Holman Methodist

The Los Angeles Musicians preesnted their Final Sacred Chautauqua on last Sunday afternoon at Holman Methodist Church. Mrs. Georgia Horton was general chairman for the event. Mrs. Nell Dobson Plant served as program chairman. The propram was unusual and highly enjoyed by all present.

Each participant played a stellar role. Among the artists featured were: Oscar B. Plant, well-known baritone; The Albert McNeil Singers; Jean Jackson, contralto; Erma Tresville, pianist; Thelma Patillo, lyric soprano; Majorie Lewis, organist.

The Zion Hill Baptist Choir was at its best, under the direction of Revere Greene. The Holman Evangelistic Choir, under the capable direction of Walter Powell, rendered several numbers. Mrs. Lillie T. Hogue, president of the association, made the response and Reverend L. L. White was the principal speaker.

Mrs. Faaustina Johnson, Regional Director served as Mistress of Ceremony. Mrs. Billie Lythecom, Director of Publicity for the Association over a period of years and unanimously re-elected in the last election, handled the publicity for the Chatauqua Series. Recently, Mr. John Valentine was appointed as her assistant. Honored guests were: Mrs. T L. Scott, Mrs. L. L. White and Mr. Jester Hairston.

President Mrs. Lillie Hogue is planning a very outstanding event for the early fall. The Association wishes to thank the press and their many friends for their wonderful support.

Uhl Warning On Typhoid Fever Given Public

A sharp warning to travelers to Mexico to get vaccinated against typhoid fever was issued this week by Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer.

"Three recent cases — one of them fatal—have been positively traced to typhoid infections acquired while touring Mexico," Dr. Uhl said.

He explained that the inoculation is not required to cross the border, but has been "continuously recommended," adding:

"Too few travelers think of getting this protection. Typhoid fever is still a serious disease. But it can be prevented with immunization."

Eslande Robeson Hits Husband's Enemies

Mrs. Eslanda Goode Robeson, wife of the great singer and patriot, Paul Robeson, received a nasty letter from a man who claimed he knew Walter Camp who named Robeson to the All-American football team in 1918.

The occasion for the letter was the attempt of the State Department at Washington, to revoke the passport of Paul Robeson. This person, whom Mrs. Robeson designates only by the initials "R.W.P.", wrote to Paul, applauding the decision of the U. S. Government, and telling him he has also written to Rutgers University, suggesting that the university cancel his athletic and college honors.

Mrs Robeson, through the press, replied to R.W.P. Her letter, restrained and courteous, together with the letter of R.W.P. was published in the Springfield Union. Springfield, Mass.

We are glad to give both to our readers.

The letter written to Robeson by "R. W. P." is as follows:

"Sir:

"I was a friend and close associate of Walter Camp who named you on his all-American team of 1918.

"I have heard tonight, over the radio, that the U. S. government has denied you passport facilities. I applaud that decision! I consider you an ingrate—than whom there is nothing worse.

"Today I have written to Rutgers suggesting that the university cancel your varsity letters and other athletic honors, as a disgrace to the college, as you certainly are.

"Knowing Mr. Camp, as I did, I am sure that he would have cut off his right arm rather than honor a person who acts toward his country as an ingrate, such as you have done.

"I suppose Vishinsky, Malik, Dennis, the "Daily Worker" and such creatures cheer for you. But decent people—whether of your ancestry, or mine—have nothing but disgust for you, as an ingrate and a renegade."

Mrs. Robeson's Reply

"My husband is at present under a great deal of pressure from our government, and from some un-American fellow citizens, I have, herefore, decided to withhold your letter from him for a few days, and to answer it myself, on his behalf.

"You say that you were a friend and close associate of Walter Camp, who named Paul Robeson on his all-American team of 1918. Then I hope you believe—along with me and millions of other sport fans—that Walter Camp chose the members of his all-American football teams because of their ability, prowess, and sportsmanship on the gridiron, and not because of their political opinions, if any, nor because they went hat-in-hand saying 'Yes, Sir,' and or 'No Sir,' to our government officials, police, and other people currently in power.

"You say you have written to Rutgers, suggesting that the university cancel Paul's varsity letters and other honors. I shall be most interested to see what they do about that.

Those Honors Were Earned

"There will have to be a lot of cancellations. The university will have to cancel 15 varsity letters won honorably in four different sports, football, baseball, basketball and track. They will have to cancel his Phi Beta Kappa key. They will have to cancel his membership in Cap-and-Skull, the senior fraternity made up of the four men who most truly and fully represent the foremost ideals and traditions of Rutgers.

"If and when Rutgers, or any group or person cancels Paul Robeson's place in the football Hall-of-Fame, his membership in Phil Beta Kappa and Cap-and-Skull, they will cancel the integrity of those institutions.

"Because Paul's place on these rolls-of-honor were won by brilliant, consistent, solid performance, over a period of four consecutive years, before thousands of witnesses. His record is on the books, in the newspapers and magazines, in the hearts and minds of his fellow students who studied, worked and played with him, and his fellow citizens who watched and applauded him from the stands.

"I'm afraid you are going to have to find some other way out from under Paul Robeson. The A grades still stand on the books at Rutgers; the faculty, Phi Beta Kappa, Cap-and-Skull merely observed, recorded, and applauded. He actually did catch those forward passes and run that interference; Walter Camp and Louis Lee Arms and Charles A. Taylor and George Daley and other sports writers merely observed, recorded and applauded. He actually is one of the great singers and actors in the world today; music and dramatic critics all over the world merely listened to his concerts, observed his performances, recorded and applauded.

How Dare You Call Names?

"And in case anybody wants to erase, tear up or burn the records, they need not waste the time and effort. I have them all preserved, the newspaper and magazine articles and the official scholarstic and athletic records are neatly pasted into scrapbooks. I read them on rainy days when the going gets particularly rough. And to cover an emergency, I have duplicate scrapbooks in safekeeping abroad.

"You say you suppose Vishinsky, Malik, Dennis, the "Daily Worker" and such creatures cheer Robeson. But decent people . . . have nothing but disgust for him as an ingrate and a renegade.

"It is this paragraph of your letter which makes me really angry, and forces me to answer you. How dare you call Paul Robeson names? I deeply resent this name-calling. Un-Americans are very quick to call people names, and this little habit is building hatred against them. The latest example is calling the Korean people "Gooks."

Cites Indignities

"When you speak of gratitude, you forget that the vast majority of my Negro people are not free in the free world. You infer that Paul should be grateful to the fellow students who tore out his fingernails with iron cleats when he tried out for the football team at Rutgers; to the music faculty who did not think his voice was good enough to make the glee club; to the fellow citizens who did not allow him to make films nor play Othello here in his own country until after he had achieved enormous success in them abroad; who never allowed him nor any other Negro singer to become a member of the Metropolitan Opera Company in New York; who will not allow his son to work in industry as an electrical engineer although he graduated with honors (Etta Kappa Nu and Tau Beta Pi) from Cornell University; who will not now allow him to pursue his career nor earn his living as a singer and actor; who tried to kill him at Peekskill last September when he sang a concert there; who deny him, his family, his 15,000,000 fellow Negroes the civil rights which are guaranteed them by our magnificent Constitution and Bill of Rights.

"Be reasonable, man. To whom shall Paul be grateful, and for what?

"I believe Paul is grateful to his fellow citizens, white and black, who treat him and all people as human beings, who work and fight and vote to force the carrying out of our sacred Amer-ideals and principles as embodied in our Constitution and Bill of Rights. I believe that he is grateful to people in all part of the world who really do believe in and practice living democracy and humanity to all people everywhere.

"As for the little matter of the passport and the State Department, Paul and I have had passports for 30 years, and Paul has had one all his life. Protests Hit Action Against Foreign Born

In an Open Letter to President Truman 150 prominent Americans have declared their concern "over the recent announcement by the Department of Justice that it will seek the denaturalization of more than 1,000 naturalized American citizens on political grounds," it was announced by the American Committee for protection of Foreign Born.

The statement declares that "any attempt to establish distinctions between the rights possessed by naturalized American citizens and the rights possessed by native born Americans violates basic American principles.

Negro Actors Guild

It marks the first time the Guild has made an award to a motion picture company.

In making the presentation, Mr. Sissle said:

"The Negro Actors Guild feels that the film 'No Way Out' is the greatest step forward in the fight against racial prejudice since the start of movie-making. It is by far the most dramatic and most effective expose of prejudice and discrimination yet filmed. 'No Way Out' is not just a Negro-versus-white story, but a real exploration in the destructive effects to blind and unreasoing hatred."

Miss Darnell is in New York for festivities attending the world premiere of "No Way Out" on Wednesday 16, at the Rivoli Theatre.

The Rubdown

By BILLY YOUNG

NEW YORK CITY — (Calvin News Service)—As the major league teams go down to the wire, we come to the realization that, after two years, there are still a number of teams that have no NEGRO players. WHY? Don't come up with that old gimmick that "we're waiting to see!" Waiting to see what? THE END OF THE WORLD! Since Branch Rickey's (and remember EVERY MAJOR LEAGUE TEAM HAD an executive at that original meeting) innovation not a team in either circuit has a complaint to make. Let's get down to brass tacks. Charles Comiskey, Jr. (whom I wish to thank for his note about Luke Appling) is making his move—all well and good. The N. Y. Yankees (probably caused Weiss to have indigestion) have signed two farm hands—and maybe they will get up, eventually. The St. Louis Cardinals (Gas House Gang), who should have been second on the list to put a Negro on the team; the mighty "kid" outfit known as the Philadelphia Phillies; the Boston Red Sox; the Detroit Tigers; the Philadelphia Athletics; the Pittsburgh Pirates; the Cincinnati Reds; the Chicago Cubs; the Washington Senators. NONE LISTED IN THE LAST GROUP have Negro players. Some have potentials (farm hands) but it is known that the move to shove some Negroes in the Minor Leagues was to TO KEEP THEM OUT OF THE MAJORS. Hard to believe, isn't it?

YOU WILL NOTE, upon close observation, that teams who haven't had the "courage to tackle the so-called "problem" are centers of population. Population means money. We hope there is more money in those towns than there is in Hard Tack, Arkansas. The Negro as a box office potential isn't the premise upon which we advance either. No indeed. The story is: Negroes who do play ball, play the fool out of it and those that are capable will draw twice as many whites as Negroes; primarily because there are more whites and secondarily because sport fans don't care if you look like a mallard duck shot with a 30-30 special—as long as you can do the job. Remember the ovation given Henry Armstrong, in the Garden, following the long, bloody battle with Fritzie Zivic? "Hank" was cut to pieces but the beak-busting fans roared for twenty minutes—the greatest sight in the world, in the manner of tribute.

IT HAS BEEN SAID that the majors want more background on Negro players. That's too d - - n bad! Had they shown a smattering of interest, records would have been kept. They did everything they could to keep records from being kept. Why? It was a challenge. Do you realize that Menede, pitching for the Cuban Stars against the K.C. Monarchs, at Chicago, was nearly fifty years old and pitched a no-hitter! You heard me. If you could get hold of Casper Holstein (who was part owner of the Stars) he could tell you. The only two men, now, who would have either written documentary or a memory which anyone could trust, are "Fay" Young and Dan Burley. Nothing is better proof of knowing what one is talking about than experience and having been on the scene.

IT IS A SAD commentary on this so-called Democracy that it took this long to do it. Thanks to Jackie Robinson and Roy Campanella (also Don Newcombe) anyway. Better late than never, but one thing we must learn as a ethnic group of people: LET US STOP THIS "BETTER LATE THAN NEVER." Make powers that be do what they are going to do—RIGHT NOW! They don't play baseball in hell; That goes for the Phillies and the remainder of the group mentioned before.

Will Vie For Title Sept. 27

NEW YORK—It was announced Thursday that Ezzard Charles, recognized by the National Boxing Association as the world's heavyweight champion, and Joe Louis, retired champion, would clash for the title here at Yankee Stadium, Sept. 27. Terms were agreed upon by both fighters and the match is on.

Charles successfully defended his title this week against Freddy Beshore, whom he halted in the 14th round of a scheduled 15-rounder.

Louis, meanwhile, has been training at West Baden, Ind., and will move to Pompton Lakes, N. J., to complete his prepping for the Charles go. Thus far no retired heavyweight champion has regained the title but Louis is almost a sure bet to become the first ever to turn the trick.

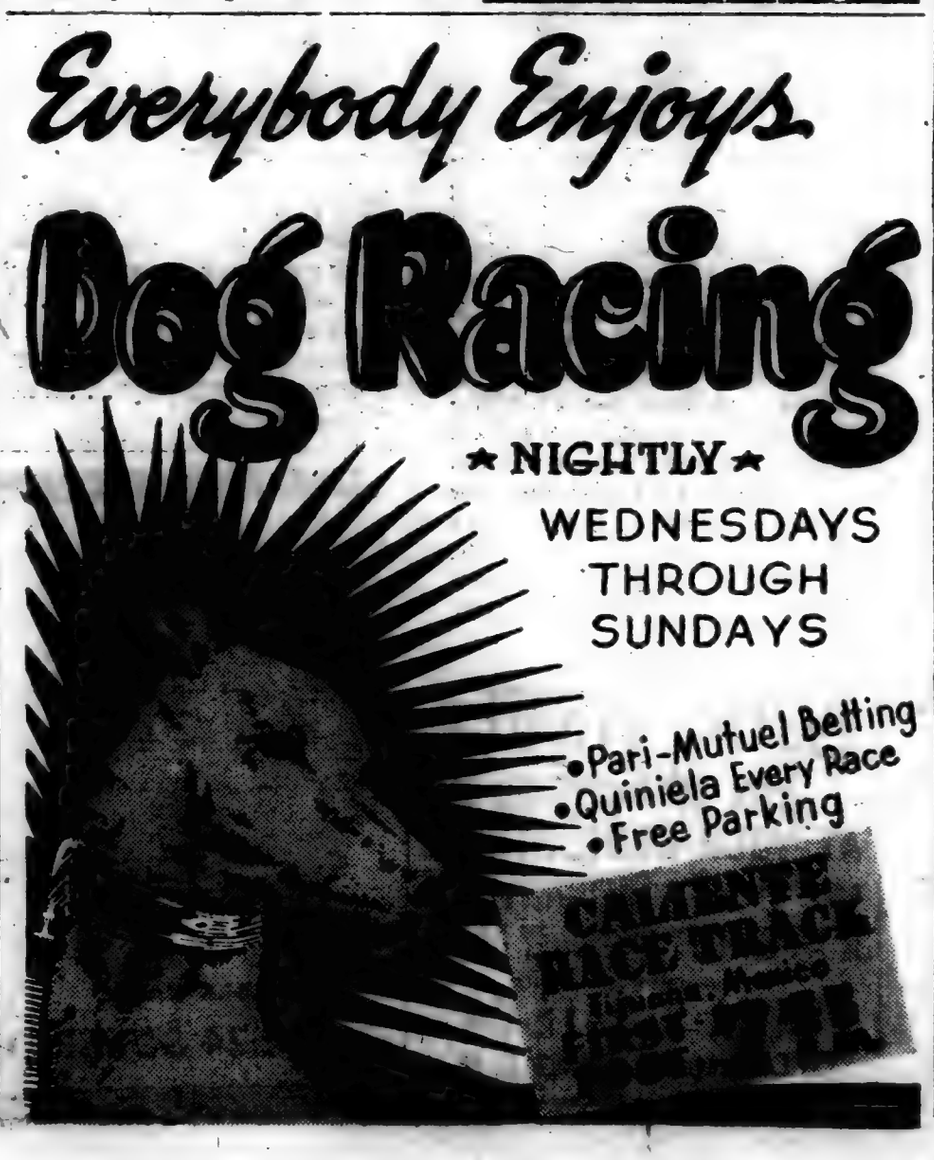
Mal Whitfield Sets New Records Abroad

Olympic Champion Mal Whitfield barely fell short of the world record he set out to break last Saturday but still ran the fastest half mile of 1950 before 40,000 spectators.

The 25-year-old king of middle distance runners sped 880 yards in 1m. 50s., just eight-tenths of a second short of the world mark. The time of the Ohio State graduate is the best ever recorded on the springy cinders of White City Stadium.

A capacity crowd watched giant Arthur Wint of Jamaica chase the American at a flying pace. But Wint ran out of gas a furlong from home and Whitfield had to come in almost alone. This probably acconuuted for his failure to lower Sidney Wooderson's world mark of 1m. 49.2s. which has stood for 12 years.

The race was the highlight of a three-way international track meet between the United States, Great Britain and a team from the Benelux countries—Belgium the Netherlands and Luxembourg. Great Britain won the meet by two points over the United States, 76 to 74. The Benelux team scored 40 points.



The United States won eight events including a double by Otis Chandler, the Stanford strong man. Chandler captured the shot-put with a heave of 53 ft. 4¼ in. and the discus with a tos of 146 ft. 1 in.

His points were balanced by a British double in the dashes by the Trinidad speed merchant, MacDonald Bailey. Bailey beat the American 100-meter champion, Art Bragg of Morgan State, by inches in the 100-yard dash in 9.7s. and by almost four yards in the 220-yard dash in 21.4s.

Two things led to the United States' defeat: lack of an entry in the broad jump and Britain's

EZZY CHARLES HALTS BESHORE

Champion Retains Crown

BUFFALO, N. Y.—Ezzard Charles, pressed by mauling Fred Beshoe during the early rounds, stopped the Harrisburg challenger in 2m. 53s. of the 14th round Tuesday night in the third successful defense of his NBA heavyweight title.

Referee Barney Felix halted the contest with blood streaming from Beshore's puffed right ear and mouth while the crowd roared its displeasure.

The champion from Cincinnati never dropped the swarming Pennsylvania Dutchman although he had him in trouble several times. Charles appeared ring rusty and off in his timing after a 10-month layoff.

A disappointing crowd of 6298 paid only $28,666.36 gross to watch the bout. It was the smallest crowd and gate in modern heavyweight title history. The previous low was $48,192 for Joe Louis-Harry Thomas at Chicago Stadium, April 1, 1938. Low attendance was 10,609 at Madison Square Garden, March 29, 1940, for a championship fight between Louis and Johnny Paycheck. As the promoters estimated they needed a gross of about $50,000 to break even, they took quite a red ink bath.

Beshore's onrushing style of infighting bothered the champion no end. He foght in spurts, apparently not sure of himself. Gathering steam in the late rounds, he bombed Beshore with withering body and head punches.

Referee Felix had Charles out front, 12-2 when he stepped between the blood-drenched battlers. Judge Anse Carroll saw it 12-1 with one even. Judge Leo Stachowlak had Charles out front, 9-3, with two ever. The AP card saw 10-2 with two e'en.

The end came suddenly, , st when it appeared that the 5-to-1 underdog challenger was going to last the route. A smashing right staggered Beshore as he came out of a clinch. Another right to the head, followed by six straight punches without return, left Beshore wobbling in midring with his hands down. Noticing the blood streaming from the ear cut, Felix intervened.

With a Joe Louis match, practically set for Yankee Stadium Sept. 27, Charles took few risks. He said later he had him figured out in the first round. Still the champion wound up with a cut left eye that also dripped blood.

"My timing was off," said Charles in his dressing room, "I couldn't get a good right hand shot at him. The guys I trained with were more or less standup guys. I didn't know he was going to fight that way."

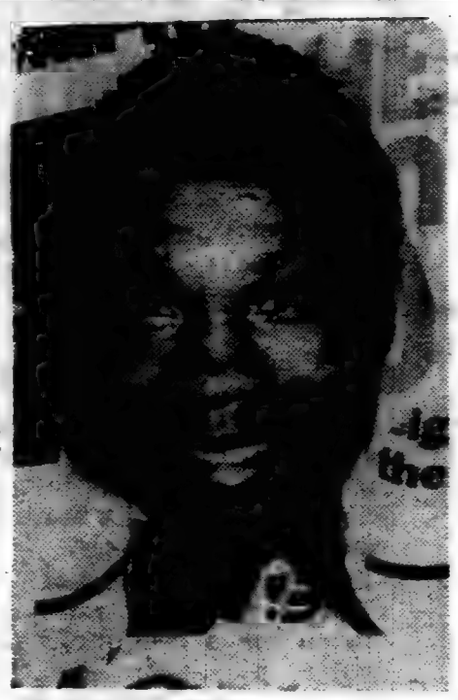
Herb McKenley Ticks Off 400m. In 46 Seconds

HALSINGBORG, Sweden — Herb McKenley of Jamaica sprinted the 400-meter dash through a heavy rain Sunday night in 46 seconds, only one-tenth second off his own world record.

The Illinois graduate, competing with a touring American track team, ran around two turns for the best performance of the night.

Lloyd LaBeach of Panama approached McKenley's performance with a time of 10.3s. in the 100-meter dash, also one-tenth second above the world record he shares. He came back later to win the 200-meter dash in 20.8s., also one-tenth above his own mark around a curve McKenley placed second in 21s.

A second group of American athletes competed at Boras, Central Sweden, and succeeded in six of eight events.



George Rhoden of Morgan State and Fortune Gordien of the San Francisco Olympic Club were double winners.

Rhoden captured the 200 meters in 21.5, with Jim Golliday of Chicago second in 21.8. Rhoden then won the 400 meters in 47.6.

Gordien was victorious in the discus throw at 172ft ¼in., then took the shot-put at 51ft. 8⅞in.

CALIENTE STAKES TONIGHT

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex.—Greyhound racing fever reaches a high pitch here at the Tijuana Kennel Club Friday night when eight of the country's top greyhounds will battle it out wire to wire in the first running of the $5000 added Caliente Stakes.

IN TITLE QUEST — John L. Davis, Oakland lightweight, who is considered by many as the best fighter in that weight on the West Coast, will meet Carlos Chavez for the California State lightweight title at the Olympic Auditorium Tuesday night, Aug. 29, in a 12-round bout, it was announced this week.

Sandy Saddler Inks Pact For Title Bout

NEW YORK—Contracts for two championship fights were signed last week.

Willie Pep of Hartford, Ct., world featherweight king, signed to defend his crown against Sandy Saddler of New York, former champion, in the New York Yankee Stadium on Friday, Sept. 8.

The other signing, held without the benefit of flash bulbs and an audience, made official Ray Robinson's defense of his Pennsylvania middleweight title against Jose Basora at Scranton on Aug. 25. The date was changed from Aug. 23.

GREYHOUND RACING BONUS—$5,000 in silver dollars will be offered tonight (Friday) at the Tijuana Kennel Club, Tijuana, Mexico, when the $5,000 added Caliente Stakes will be run. Eight of the nation's swiftest greyhounds will battle it out for the lucrative purse.

John L. Davis, Carlos Chavez to Fight for State Lightie Crown

Carlos Chavez, veteran lightweight who turned in the best performance of his long career when he soundly trounced Art (Golden Boy) Aragon on June 6, will meet rugged John L. Davis, Oakland ace, at the Olympic Auditorium on Tuesday, August 29.

They battle 12 rounds, and the lightweight championship of California is at stake.

Enrique Bolanos held the title until last November, when he lost an unpopular decision to Maxie Docussen. Maxie shoved off for New Orleans after winning the crown, and stayed there for more than eight months. There's a Commission ruling that state champions must defend their titles every six months if suitable contenders are available.

In the lightweight class, there are oodles of suitable contenders, and since Maxie was absent, the State Athletic Commission declared the title vacant.

Certainly no one can criticize the right of either Chavez or John L. to fight for the state crown. Both have repeatedly proved their class, quality and caliber.

When Chavez defeated Aragon last June, it was his fifth straight win this year; his most important victory prior to that, scored in Feburary, was a 9-round TKO over Jess Flores of Stockton. He had also beaten Emil Barao, the Hayward Hammer.

John L. Davis is perhaps the most underestimated lightweight on the Coast. Back in '48, he defeated Art Aragon; then he lost decisions to Aragon, Enrique Bolanos, Maxie Docusen, Bernard Docusen, and Tommy Campbell. But every one was a "tightfit"; every one could have gone to Davis, and there would have been no great to-do about it.

Moreover, John L. had Bolanos on the floor in his first meeting with Enrique; the newspapers denounced the Campbell decision over Davis at Hollywood as a bare-faced robbery.

John keeps improving with every fight. He's a real clubfighter, loves to get in close and whale away with both fists.

Certainly the winner of the Chavez-Davis fight would be a worthy opponent for Ike Williams.

On The Turf

By GEORGE A. RAMSEY

GEORGE RAMSEY

Del Mar (Where the Surf Meet the Turf) Jockey Johnny Longden the young old man of the saddle still keeps booting them home, at the present time he is the leading rider at the Del Mar meeting. At the end of 17 days of racing at the sea side course Longden has scored with 19 winners. Sometimes he's booed, and then cheered, but he just keeps pomping along on his horses.

Ray York, the apprentice sensation is in second place, just one short of Longden. The mutuel handle for the first 17 days is off from last year. The first 17 days handle was $8,790,894. Last year at the same time it was $9,411,795. The average crowd has been 8736. Daily average for the same period last year was 9475. Blue Reading and Sun State will be hard to beat in the Del Mar Derby, they were two horses that were in plenty trouble.

Blue Reading had to race on the outside most of the mile journey. While Sun State came from fifth place in the stretch and closed with a rush. Watch these two in the Derby. Feature attraction for the week end will be the Solana Beach Handicap at six furlongs and carries an added value of $7,500. It's for three-year-olds and upwards.

Caliente Old Mexico: Weight broke the Brooklyn bridge down as the saying goes. But weight did stop the winning streak of one of the gamest horses seen at the border course in many years. Poco Mas 'who broke' down and was laid up for a long rest was brought back to the races and started a new life south of the border down Mexico way.

The once stake horse and son of Swahill-Liborqueen started on his comeback in cheap claiming races but soon advanced to the handicap division. Winning four straight. He was upped in weight every time he won, but the load put on him in the Poppy, last Sunday feature was just too much for the game thoroughbred, the age and weight was against him, although making a game bid into the home stretch his younger foe beat his a nose. The winner was the hot favorite, Go Charm, a three-year-old. So as the saying goes, youth must be served. It was a great race for the aging Poco Mas.

The daily-double combination of More Ali, winner of the second race and Balko Boy, victor of the third paid $15.0. While the Quniela backers received $42.40 when War Archives was first and Son O' Carmen finished second. This Sunday General Walter C. Marty's feature attraction will be the Chula Vista handicap at one mile and seventy yards. "The San Ysidro" at six furlongs will be the second Ry. Post time remains at 12:45.

John Alessio, assistant general manager at Calinte race track is planing some vast improvements for the lovers of the sport of kings at the border course. Every since he has become assistant general manager, Mr. Alessio has continued to make improvements and beautifying the course. His new idea will add more beauty to the famous track.

One of the outstanding attractions ever offered at the Caliente track will be held on Sunday, Sept. 3rd, when 15 races will be held for a gala Labor Day program. The first race will start at 11 a. m. Also cash door prizes of $1,000 will be given away. Three races will be run in the morning and 12 in the afternoon. Music by the famous Mexican band and singers will entertain the fans during the lunch hour. It promises to be a gala day south of the border, down romantic Mexico way. Further details later in this paper.

With the Greyhounds at Caliente Old Mexico.

K. C. Stoss is the uncrowned champion at the Greyhound course again beating the best, with the Caliente Greyhound stakes Friday night. The question is will the champion be beat? The famous race the first of it's kind ever held in the West carries an added value of $5,000. Popular General Manager William (Bill) Collier is planning a gala night for this outstanding attraction. One of the largest crowds ever to attend dog races in the West is expected to witness the great race between the greatest dogs ever to race south of the border.

Many added attractions will be offered for the fans, this will be the second of the big stakes to be run. The $10,000 handicap to be run later is the main event and the big attraction of the season. Miss Barbara Jones, pretty majorette was named queen of the Greyhound club, and will be featured during the months of September and October.

She will be known as the ceptic sweetheart of the Tijuana Greyhound Club. Special event nights for Negro organizations is drawing large crowds every Wednesday night. The famous drum and bugle corps with the high steppinfg majorettes and drill teams has proven very papular to the crowds.

Willy Slykhuis of Holland won the mile easily in 4m. 16.2s. for the only Benelux victory. Tom Kirwan of Penn was third.

Monday at Dublin, Ireland

Whitfield outsprinted Arthur Wint of Great Britain, his Olympic conquerer, to win the 440-yard dash in 47.8s. on a soggy track. The time equals the Irish record.

The victory of the Ohio State graduate high-lighted the first day of an three-day international athletics show. Reggie Pearman of New York University ran third.

Art Bragg of Morgan State defeated Britain's MacDonald Bailey in the 100-yard dash tonight in 9.9s.

Campanella's Single Gives Bums Victory

NEW YORK—Roy Campanella's second-inning single, scoring Carl Furillo from second base, gave the Brooklyn Dodgers a 1-0 victory over the New York Giants Tuesday night.

A crowd of 49,021 saw Preacher Roe edge Larry Jansen.

Jansen gave up only four hits to Roe's five. The Giants' ace right-hander faced only 18 batters in the last six innings. It was Roe's 16th victory.

Furillo opened the second with a single. Gil Hodges bounced to Jansen for a seemingly certain double play. But Ed Stanky dropped Jansen's quick toss and all hands were safe. Then Campanella delivered his game-winning blow.

Home Football Games of Rams To Be Telecast

The Los Angeles Rams' home football games as well as their clash with the '49ers at San Francisco probably will be telecast live this fall.

It was learned this week that two television set manufacturers have submitted bids to President Daniel F. Reeves offering gate receipt guarantees similar to the plan approved sometime ago by the college teams in the Pacific Coast Conference.

The information is that ,while no contract has been signed, one of these offers is so satisfactory that the Rams are now working out deals with the other National Football League Clubs who oppose them here.

Under the proposed package plan, the advertiser would obtain the rights to telecast the six regular season tussles, two exhibition games, the '49er clash at Kezar stadium and the game movies of all contests played elsewhere.

Based on the guarnteed minimum gate receipts plan which Les Hoffman and KTTV set up with the colleges, the maximum outlay by the successful bidder for the Ram rights could go beyond the $150,000 mark.

The information is that all but the Detroit Lions and the Green Bay Packers have arrived at agreements with the Rams for their games here.

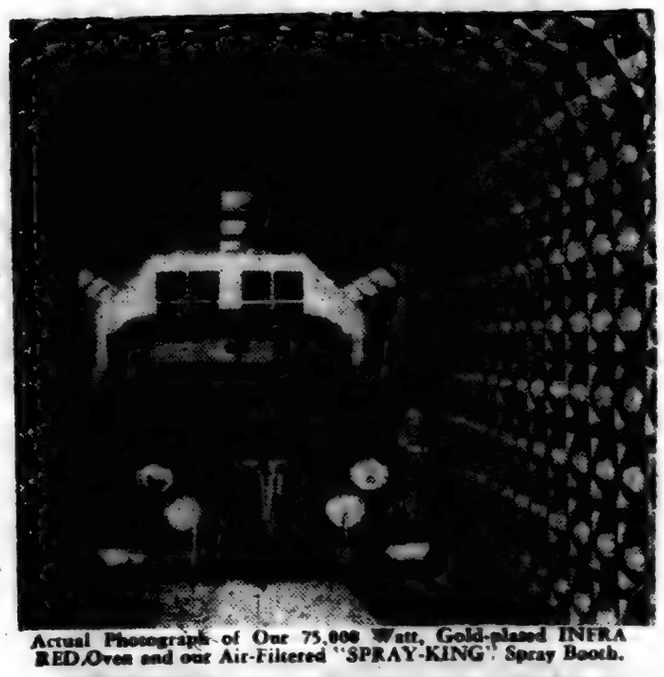
Tennis Marvel Wants to Play At Forest Hills

TALLAHASSEE, Fla.—The sensation and marvel created by the lanky Miss Althea Gibson on the tennis court does not end there.



Miss Althea Gibson, a freshman student at the Florida A and M College, Tallahassee, Florida, has for the past few weeks occupied the lead stories on leading journals' sport pages and has been the subject matter for several editorials of the nation's leading magazines.

Her greatest champion is found in the person of Miss Alice Marble. Miss Marble, a former national tennis champion, took the opportunity of an American Lawn Tennis editorial to champion Miss Gibson's cause. Miss Marble thinks that, "The entrance of Negroes into national tennis is as inevitable as it has been proved in baseball, football and boxing." Adding the personal appeal and interest to the Gibson case. Miss Marble declares . . . "If I can give her one iota more of confidence by rooting my heart out from the gallery, she can take my word for it: I'll be there."

Many other sports writers, editorialists and interested prominent people have expressed a grave concern for the evidencing situation that Althea Gibson will be denied the privilege of a Forest Hill debut—because her skin is not a "desirable" color—despite her professional proficiency.

Joe Louis goes to Pompton, Lakes, N. J., Aug. 22, to finish training for his title quest in September.

BACH COMES INTO HIS OWN

Two hundred years ago last Friday, Johann Sebastian Bach died at the age of 65. The anniversary of his death has been observed all over the civilized world, and the greatest contemporary musicians have joined in paying tribue to the man whose work still stands after two centuries as the wellspring an dsoure of all music that comes afterward.

Mr. McNeil

In his own time Bach was widely respected, even celebrated, in the limited circle that took a serious interest in music. But, principally because he did not write operas, as Handel and other of his contemporaries did, he was almost entirely unknown to the fashionable world of European's music. When he died there was only one comprehensive obituary notice written and the authors of that were his son, Phillip Emanuel, and a loyal pupil, Johann Freidrich Agricola.

He was able to give only a part of his time to writing music, for all his life he held official positions that consisted not only of playing the organ and directing and writing for the choir, but also in his final post as cantor of St. Thomas' Church in Leipzig he had to teach the boys, be responsible for their discipline, set them "a shining example of an honest retiring manner of life," and "always, so far as possible walk with the boys at funerals."

20 CHILDREN

In addition, his domestic life must at least have been mildly distracting for he had two wives and 20 children. His second wife was a professional musician, and Bach took the time to teach her as well as several of his gifted sons. And one cannot help but wonder what domestic vicissitudes were created by one child who was mentally deficient.

It becomes incerasingly amazing to discover the appeal that this supposedly "musicians' composer" has for the multitude. Such recondite masterpieces as the B Minor Mass, the St. Matthew Passion, many of the cantatas, the unaccompanied violin and cello sonatas, "The Well-Tempered Clavier," seem no longer to present hazards to popular appreciation and are accepted by the laity as eagerly as by the profession.

Bach, after 200 years, has come into his own.

SYMPHONIC CHORISTERS

Last Sunday I had the privilege of hearing The Symphonic Choristers under the direction of Andre Green. I must say that this group of male singers, sixteen in number, was out of this world. Leonard de Paur would have been amazed had he been there. These singers not only have his style, but have even gone beyond that. This group has been in existence since 1949 with its new personnel, and is composed of students from U.C.L.A., U.S.C. and L.A.C.C.

Andre Green the conductor of this fine group is a graduate of U.S.C. and has written a cantata entiltled "Regeneration of Saul." This work is written for mixed-chorus, male chorus, female chorus, bartone soloist and dramatic tenor. Its initial performance will be in September by the Bishop College Alumni Chorus. Green is working out of the city Bureau of Music and has an adult chorus which meets every Tuesday night at James A. Foshay Junior High School. Andre Green is now in the process of writing an oratorio. James Smalley wrote the libretto for the contata and will write the libretto for the oratorio. We are looking for great things in this fine group of choristers.

LE BALLET RUSSE DE MONTE CARLO

Last Thursday night at Hollywood Bowl the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo preformed to an almost full house. "Swan Lake," "Nutcracker," and "Sherezade" made up the program. I must say that Alexandra Danilova, and Leon Danelian were as usual superb.

LOS ANGELES MUSICIANS

On August 13, the musicians presented the second in a series of Sacred Chatauquas at Holman Methodist Church.

HELEN TRAUBEL SINGS

Helen Traubel sang at Hollywood Bowl recently to an almost capacity house. Miss Traubel was, to this writer's opinion, better in this concert appearance than she is on the operatic stage. Brunhilde's Immolation was superbly done. Alfred Wallenstein met up to Miss Traubel in all things.

The orchestra performed Wagner better than anything else this season. The public proved itself, in the respect that it can digest Wagner as well or better than the other composers' works.

The "Dance of the Apprentices" from "Die Meistersinger" was the best offering of the orchestra. Gowned in white and looking the role of a great Wagnerian singer, Miss Traubel sang with finesse the "Liebestod." All I can say is that this evening was the best the bowl has presented all season.

Africa Films At Museum Friday

Six films showing life on the African continent from French Morocco in northern Africa to Kruger National Park in the Union of South Africa will be presented on the regular weekly documentary film series at the Los Angeles County Museum in Exposition Park, Friday evening, August 18, at 8 o'clock.

The films to be shown are: "French Morocco." "People of the Chad." "Touareg." "Kabylia." "Rhythm of Africa" and "Kruger National Park."

This program will be presented in the museum's second floor lecture hall. Admission is free.

Make certain your car is sound mechanically.

Square Dancing Classes Held At Avalon CC

With square dancing the current rage among the guys and gals this summer the happy couples who attend these dances will be glad to learn that a big square dance will be given to Clarence Muse' Muse-A-While Ranch, Perris, California, Sunday, Sept. 3rd, the day before Labor Day.

W. L. Hutcherson, square dance caller, and teacher of the new dance rage here at Avalon Community Center every Wednesday night at 8 p.m., urges persons anxious to learn square dancing to attend his classes. You can be a good square dancer by Labor Day if you start next Wednesday.

Band Concert In Exposition Park Sunday

The Los Angeles Negro Concert Band, led by Percy McDavid, will play a free two-hour concert this Sunday from 3 to 5 p.m., at the bandstand in Exposition Park. The stand is located on the North Drive, between the County Museum and Coliseum.

Sponsored by the city's Bureau of Music and Local 767 of the American Federation of Musicians, the talented ensemble of 26 musicians numbers many well known solo performers in its ranks. Among the numbers they will play on Sunday's program are Grieg's "Peer Gynt" Suite, Franz Lehar's "Merry Widow" waltz, Bizet's "Carmen" fantasy, Dinicu's "Hora Staccato," and the spiritual, "Deep River."

The concert is one of a series being given throughout Los Angeles by the Bureau of Music in cooperation with Locals 47 and 767, with the alternating community sings at Exposition Park marks an important facet of Los Angeles' project to provide "More Music for More People."

Beginners' Art Classes Formed In Hollywood

Art for beginners, with instruction by Gar Embrey will be introduced at the Graphic Arts Workshop, 5444 Hollywood Boulevard, this month. Classes start August 23, 24, and 26.

On Wednesday, August 23, beginning painting, which enables the student to design a painting, and to learn new ways of observing and analyzing, by group criticism, will be formed. No previous experience is necessary.

On Thursday, August 24, a class in painting and drawing from life, designed to teach the student how to capture the feeling of action in a model, will be organized.

Saturday, August 25, is the date on which the class in landscape and model will be formed. Prospective students are invited to call HO. 36278 for further information.

BRILILANT DANCE TEAM RETURNS—The topnotch novelty dance team of Wyvonne and De'Varrie have returned to Los Angeles after a successful engagement in San Francisco. De'Varrie is busy now considering television offers and engagements at local night spots. The team enjoyed success in eastern cities before coming to the West Coast.

Compinsky String Quartet in Free Museum Concert Sunday

Music by Schubert, Beethoven and George Antheil will be performed by the Manuel Compinsky String Quartet at the Los Angeles County Museum in Exposition Park on Sunday afternoon, August 20, at 3 o'clock.

Feature of the concert, in the current Contemporary American series, will be the first performance of George Antheil's Quartet No. 3 (1946). The remainder of the program will include the Quartet in A Minor, Op. 29 by Schubert, and Quartet in F, Op. 18, No. 1 by Beethoven.

Members of the Manuel Compinsky String Quartet are: Manuel Compinsky, violin; Leonard Atkins, violin; Joseph Reilich, viola; Joseph Ullstein, cello.

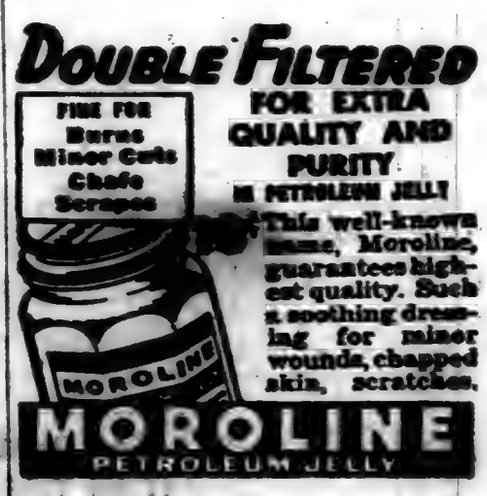
These weekly Sunday concerts are presented in the museum's second floor concert hall and begin promptly at 3 p.m.

Admission is free.

Adult Civic Chorus Program Activities For Fall Announced

Chorus director Jester Hairston has revealed an unusually full program of activity for the South Central Adult Civic Chorus, city-sponsored unit which has resumed Monday evening rehearsals at George Washington Carver Junior High School, McKinley and 45th Streets.

The South Central Adult Civic Chorus has been invited to participate in the nationally-known Bach Festival sponsored by the First Congregational Church of Los Angeles, and will sing the Bach Cantata No. 106 for the November observance of the Festival.



In addition the chorus will take part in the several day Hollywood Bowl programs in September, observing the Centennial celebration of California's admission to statehood. This series of concerts and pageants will mark the major observance of this anniversary in Southern California.

Church Program

On September 17 the Chorus has been invited to give a program at St. Mark's Community church, 83rd St. and Gramercy Avenue—making a total of three major events in which the group will take part at the beginning of the fall season.

In announcing these programs Hairston stressed that membership in the chorus is open to any person over 18 years of age, that there was no charge for singing with the group, and that auditions could be arranged by calling him at ADams 5029. The chorus, sponsored by the City of Los Angeles Bureau of Music, rehearses every Monday at 7:30 p.m. at Carver Junior High.

Before attempting to pass another vehicle, make sure you have ample visibility and clearance ahead.

Anna Louise Strong Reports on Korea

By ANNA LOUISE STRONG

If anything comes clear in six weeks of Korean war it is that Russia has won a Korean devotion that America has not been able to inspire. Everyone agrees that the North Koreans fight like fanatics and that the South Koreans mostly vanished into the hills.

Yet there was no original difference betwween southerners and northerners; Koreans are all one nation and no Korean ever recognized the Parallel. Nor were the southerners badly equipped, unless our high brass were all Pollyannas when they bragged that they had built in Korea "an Asiatic West Point"—just a few days before the war.

The difference then seems to lie in a greaater devotion, a greater will to fight. How did Russia arouse this, when America did not?

First factor in Russian popularity, as I saw it on my visit to the Soviet Zone of North Korea in 1947—the only trip made by any American writer to North Korea since the Japanese war—was that the Russians treated the Koreans as equals, and as owners of the land. Americans—whether GI's or tourists—seldom treat even British or French as equals, much less Asiatics.

At the big banquet that celebrated in Pyongyang the second anniversary of liberation from Japan, Korean high brass and officials sat all mixed together with Russian opposite numbers. They drank together, got somewhat tipsy together, drank alternate toasts, challenged each other to singing; and the Russians sang old Ukrainian love songs, not Bolshevik propaganda. In the dance that followed, Russians were gallantly asking the Korean women as partners and laughing as they worked out unaccustomed steps. It was a free and easy mixing such as few white Americans go in for with people of a darker skin.

A second strong point was that the Russians never openly bossed Koreans. They did not even appoint Korean officials or take sides for and against proposed Korean laws, as the Americans did constantly in the South. If I asked any Russian his opinion about anything in Korea, the usual answer was: "It is the Koreans' country; ask them."

The Russians were not widely popular at first; their popularity grew. The first troops that came in fighting Japanese were tough babies, straight from the German front. They couldn't always tell Japanese from Koreans. There were regrettable incidents. A foreign army in a country of different race cannot always tell friend from foe, as the Americans in South Korea find today.

But the Russians quickly withdrew these fighting troops and replaced them with small numbers of selected experts in farming, industry, engineering and government. The Koreans didn't even call them "troops"; they reserved that name for the original fighting force. This second lot made it clear that their much more modest function was "just to give advice."

Koreans had no experience at all in government or management; they had been suppressed by Japan. They felt their inexperience, but they were touchy when outsiders tried, as the Americans did, to tell them what to do. But the moment they learned that the Russians had experience, but weren't pushing it on them, they began of their own initiative to ask Russian advice.

A Korean farm inspector on the east coast told me that there were a dozen Russians in the provincial capital—this was in 1947—and they were there" just to give advice." . . . "We Koreans run everything," he bragged.

"For instance," he said, "I'm a farm inspector because I know farming both from home and from school. But I don't know anything about inspecting. No Korean had such a job before. I don't know what questions to ask the farmers or how to make government reports. So I go and ask one of those Russians who did that kind of work in his own country. They have specialties of all kind."

Then he added a priceless comment on the Russians. "They are good-hearted, simple people who have more experience of government than we."

This attitude towards what was then the Russian occupation may be amusingly naive. But it is partly the brag of a newly liberated people and partly shrewd Russian technique. Any person who can put across that impression among the nations of Asia is going to win them as friends.

Letter from Mrs. Maltz

Mrs. Charlotta Bass
California Eagle
Dear Mrs. Bass:

I was very pleased indeed that you reprinted my speech to the IPP convention in full. I wonder if I might have a copy of the issue for Albert?

I am enclosing a description of Frederick Douglas' home which Albert visited while he was in Washington. I thought it might be of interest for the paper.

I think you will be glad to know that Albert has been assigned as a medical orderly. This means mostly pushing a mop but he seems very content with the work. He says the days are not long enough to do everything he wants to do—work, play chess, play baseball, read and write. The time is passing quickly, he says. Of course all of the men put the best possible face on their imprisonment when they write to us. I will be seeing him on August 27.

Cordially yours,

MARGARET MALTZ.

(Note: Of course Mrs. Maltz may have as many copies as she wants of the EAGLE. And anything else either she or Albert Maltz, as martyrs to a great cause, may ask. Editor.)

See Albert Maltz's description of the Frederick Douglas home on another page of the EAGLE.

World Watches U. S. Political Prisoners

"If the U. S. State Department and other powerful agencies are worried by the effect the imprisonment of the Hollywood Ten is having on U. S. public relations abroad, there is one way to remedy the situation—let them work for the imediate release of these distiguished American writers and film creators imprisoned for their patriotic stand in defense of American civil liberties."

This was the reply of the Committee to Free the Hollywood Ten to the charge published in Daily Variety, show business newspaper, that the State Department, the Motion Picture Association and other organizations are deeply concerned by the impact this case is having on U. S. foreign relations.

SAY YOU SAW IT IN THE EAGLE

you toss sleeplessly upon your bed at night, going over and over your problems and troubles? Do they seem to be so big that you cannot solve them? Do they have a tendency to make you despondent and unhappy?

Then, why not let Prof. Herman help you to find peace and comfort by aiding you in solving your many problems.

Frequently, our courage falters, and we cannot bear misfortune, bad luck and adverse conditions. We need encouragement and assistance.

He is willing to lend a helping hand, why not accept it.

Send your complete name, address and birthdate. Questions are 3 for 25c, 6 for 50c, etc.

C. R. Dear Prof. Herman: Each week I read your column and find it more interesting each time. Will you please help me with my problem. Should I ask her to marry me?

ANSWER. Concentrating upon your question I find that the girl loves you dearly, inspite of what her guardian has said about your background and age. Go through with your plans for marriage. For I feel that you will be happy together.

O. Will my dreams come true? How soon? Shall I tell J. S.?

ANSWER. Due to the limited amount of space, only one question is answered in the column. I suggest your writing to Prof. Herman in care of this paper.

L. M. Shall I go back to him?

ANSWER. I'm of the opinion you won't regret going back home to your husband, as he and the children need you. I feel things will be much better this time.

T. W. I have worked so many years and I haven't accomplished anything. Do you think I will ever own a home?

ANSWER. I suggest you place your income on a budget, by so doing, you will be able to save more money than in the past, thus enabling you to buy the home you now occupy and have longed to call your own.

B. T. Why does my wife nag so much? She hasn't always been this way.

ANSWER. A careful analysis of your problem indicates your wife's attitude has changed because of your habitual drinking. It is revealed to me that she will change and be as she once was, if you break yourself of the drinking habit.

Morale of Ex-G.I.'s

Good morale was something that American troops were supposed to have in World War II —but what about the morale of ex-GIs who have been attending college during the past five years?

Byron H. Atkinson, coordinator of Special Student Services on the Los Angeles campus of the University of California, attempts to answer the question in a current issue of School and Society.

He breaks down peacetime morale into five categories and gives these answers for UCLA veterans:

1. Campus discipline — about the same as before the war.

2. Housing—not good, too high a percentage of veterans living with friends and families rather than in dormitories or apartments.

3. Student jobs—only about 23 per cent need to work part-time as compared to about 45 per cent before the war.

4. Solvency—no veterans able to live on their GI subsistence checks. Married students in more precarious financial position than unmarried.

5. Employment after graduation—approximately 70 per cent placed in jobs related to academic studies.

Atkinson concludes: "If the time, money and effort spent by all organizations in attempting to raise veteran subsistence were focused on improved housing and increase the low-cost recreational facilities, the veteran student would be the first to retain his morale."

Jefferson PTA Picnic

The board members of Jefferson High PTA plan a combined board meeting and picnic for their August 21 meeting to be held in South Park.

The organization plans its biggest year since its beginning. A very extensive membership drive will be conducted with the purpose of securing parents who can take active part in the work.

The theme for the coming year will be: "What heritage for Our Children?"

L. A. State And City Colleges

An enrollment which may exceed 18,000, the addition of new applied arts curricula, and a building program to accommodate this growth are the principal features of the 1950-51 academic program which, unless otherwise affected by war, is shaping up at Los Angeles State and City Colleges, Dr. Howard S. McDonald, president of the colleges, stated this week.

City College is preparing for 7,000 evening students, some 1500 above last year's figure, and for the normal number of 7500 day students, while State College expects a total day and evening enrollment of at least 3500.

A brand new four-year course in police training will be offered in the Fall in City College. Details of the program were worked out during the summer with the help of the Los Angeles Police Department.

A large scale building program is in the blueprint stage, including plans for the construction of multi-story buildings. In the meantime, as a temporary measure, 23 bungalow classrooms are under construction.

Fall semester registration begins September 11 for both colleges.

Regional Planners Requested To Outlaw Racial Segregation

The nation's city and regional planners were asked this week to declare themselves against racial segregation in housing and urban redevelopment and to pledge their profession's support of the goal of full "residential equality of opportunity free of imposed barriers as to race, culture, creed, or ancestry."

Meeting this week in Los Angeles, the 1950 National Planning Conference, sponsored by the American Society of Planning Officials, received the request from Edward Howden of San Francisco as chairman of the Housing Committee of the National Association of Intergroup Relations Officials.

Gist of the proposed resolution is that planners, whost task is to help create the environmental conditions of "good human communities," should try to steer vast new programs of housing and slum clearance in American cities away from outmoded patterns of segregation.

Of special local interest was an action of the Los Angeles City Council in the week just preceding the planning meet—directing that an ordinance be drafted to prohibit racial or religious discrimination in the city's new redevelopment program. The vote was 14 to 1.

Other cities which have outlawed discrimination or segregation in urban redevelopment include New York and San San Francisco.

Mr. Bohn is executive director of the Cleveland Metropolitan Housing Authority. Mr. Howden is director of the Council for Civic Unity of San Francisco.

Safest Drivers Made Safer

Rural school bus operators—among the safest drivers in the state, according to the California Highway Patrol—are not permitted to rest on their laurels. Before the autumn school term begins, approximately 5,500 of them will have been re-examined to make sure of their continued fitness for their jobs, the Highway Patrol announced this week.

L. A. COUNTY LEAGUE VOTES BAN ON DIXIE JIM CROW

The full force of the L. A. County Chess League, representing all clubs in this area, was thrown into the growing fight to suspend the Southern Chess Association from national tournaments until it ceases exclusion of southern colored players.

Vote of club delegates at the County League meeting of August 10th was unanimous, endorsing a resolution by George Croy, California state champion, that SCA players be banned from all U. S. Chess Federation events. This columnist as acting League president was chairman, and will forward the resolution to USCF officials in the east.

Los Angeles ranks second in importance in American chess, subordinate only to New York, and the League's strong anti-discrimination stand is a serious blow to SCA prestige. If more influential leagues throughout the nation vote similar resolutions, the SCA will be compelled to cease segregation or find itself segregated from the U. S. Chess.

U. S. CHAMP VS WORLD CHAMP

At the time of this encounter (Groningen international tournament, 1946) neither of these great masters had yet gained his title.

Youth Reports

Report on National Convention, NAACP: Given at Victory Baptist Church, Los Angeles by Horace Alexander, Youth Delegate, former vice-president NAACP youth, Chairman. Y.P.A. So. Calif., August 11, 1950).

Jim Crow at Home

In a southern town a Negro youth was walking home from the white section of the city where he had been working hard for 13 hours at a salary of one dollar a day. As he strolled along, he suddenly became aware of what might happen to him if some white hooligans or the police might spot him walking in this neighborhood after dark.

The chilling terror of being beaten, or even lynched on a trumped up charge of rape, caused the lad to speed it up, strike a trot and try to get across the tracks as soon as possible. But no sooner than this awareness had awaken in him, there was a loud noise of screeching auto brakes.

A car swerved to the curb and stopped. Two policemen stepped out with their pistols drawn. "Get your hands up black boy. Where ya think you're running too. You're the coon that attacked that woman a little while ago. We oughta to shoot you right now and leave you here, but that's too good for your kind. We're gonna beat you, throw you in jail, and let a lynch mob come and take you out. It'll teach the others that this is a white man's territory, and a "dark's" got no right that a white man is bound to respect."

Who was this Negro Youth?

Jim Crow Abroad

He is Willie McGee of Mississippi, Thompson of the Trenton 6, Jones of the Martinsville 7, Mrs. Ingram's young son, my own brother, now called upon to kill Koreans on their own soil. Korea! Korea? Yes, I know the tenseness that runs through your body and mind when you hear the word. Because I too, become tense and feel deeply.

We both chill because of our distaste for the bloody horror of war. "But to be distasteful of war," you'll continue, "is to be for peace, and to be for peace is to be subversive, so the papers say." "And anyway what's all this got to do with the convention and the role of youth." Well, all this has a lot to do with the convention and young people.

Because it was under these conditions at home and abroad that important decisions on NAACP youth and the fight for civil rights were made. It was in this atmosphere of international conflict and growing jim crow bigotry at home that the 41st convention assembled to work out a program for civil rights, including a program from youth. It has been said that men's minds reflect the conditions under which they live. Certainly this convention was not immune to the effects of our times.

What were some of these decisions? How and why did they come about? What are their effects in light of what has been said about jim crow frame-ups and the desire of youth for a world at peace?

Special Youth Needs

As you remember, it has been the position of our youth council, that there are special needs and problems facing young people that require a youthful approach in their solution. And that this approach can most nearly be effected therefore, by a youth council with youth leadership, and a youth council that enjoys a fraternal, mutual relationship with the adult branch. Indeed it was this kind of relationship that was spelled out at the Dayton youth convention in Novembtr, 1949.

This is not to say that youth councils should be separate and apart from the Association as a whole. On the contrary, as the constitution of youth councils says—"youth councils shall be an integral part of the National Association."

It is on the above point that much discussion in the youth sessions at the convention took place. The majority of youth delegates were in favor of a resolution introduced by the Los Angeles delegation which would

Appeal for Life Guards At 28th St. YM

The use of the swimming pool at the 28th Street YMCA is greatly restricted these hot summer days by a need for volunteer life guards. This is especially hard on the boys who are often denied the privilege of a swim because the "Y" cannot afford a life guard in the afternoons. Under the law the pool cannot be used except when a qualified life guard is on duty.

Walter L. Hutcherson, a master of Physical Education from USC, is giving the boys two hours a week as a volunteer life guard and is able and willing to give the necessary aquatic tests to other volunteers who are willing to serve the boys as life guards.

Hooper Ave. P.T.A.

Mrs. John Reynolds entertained the Hooper Avenue Executive Board in the lovely yard at the home of her sister, Mrs. Rosie Lee Anderson, on Elva street.

Hot dogs with all the trimmings were served with delicious punch. Many games were played which everyone enjoyed.

Those who attended were Mesdames Roy Kirkland, Etoy Kelley, Mattie Kyles, Emily Boone, Virginia Kimbro, Joseph Wilkerson, Hattie R. Johnson from Chicago, Illinois; Robert Walters, Zelma Andrews, and Qzell Moses.

Mrs. Lonzie Jones, president of Hooper Ave. PTA, met her program committee recently in her home to plan the program for the 1950-1951 school term. They chose the theme "What Heritage for Our Children."

Hooper Ave. PTA held their annual picnic at Fern Dell in Griffith Park, Thursday, August 17. Mrs. Lonzie Jones, president.

eliminate the "subordinate" clause from the youth constitution. But before a vote was taken, the credentials committee disfranchised several of the Boston delegates and thus defeating the automomy resolutions. Also eliminated at these sessions was the annual youth convention. The next of which had been scheduled for Indianapolis late this year.

It is already evident by the description given thus for, that there is something new and different about this convention with respect to the youth question. What are some of these new elements?

First, there was one resolution passed at this convention dealing with youth. There were twenty-one resolutions adopted at the Dayton conference on youth.

No Substance

Second, the resolution that was adopted dealt only with the relationship between youth and adults. There was no resolution on program for young people outlining the fight against jim crow and other civil rights questions.

Now the lone youth resolution that was taken up had as its main ingredients, three essential parts: (1) Placing one youth on each standing committee of the branch.

(2) Set up a national Executive youth committee with representations from each region. To be initiated at the discretion of the youth secretary.

(3) Place one youth on the national board of directors—at the discretion of the board.

Progressive Role of Youth

What conclusions can be drawn from this new state of affairs? I think it must be said that there is a profound concern about the future and destiny of youth. And I ask, who can feel most deeply and act most persistently than those who are directly effected by particular kinds of problems, in cooperation of course, with those who are sincerely interested in the solution of those problems for the sake of the victims. But through out history, there has always been those who hold on to the outmoded and antequated past. They hold on to tradition for tradition sake.

They hold on as though change were not inevitable as the sun rises and sets. They hold on because their private selfish interest coincides with the past, and change represents both a challenge to the past and to the narrow interests of individuals, but looks forward to the broader horizon of goodness to all humanity.

Throughout the struggle of the Negro in America for human dignity and freedom there has been the old and the new. The retrogressive and the progressive. Such for example was the Niagara movement which was a challenge to the Booker T. Washington back seat position. The Niagara movement was the forerunner and embryo of the NAACP. It was led by the youthful WEB DuBois and others.

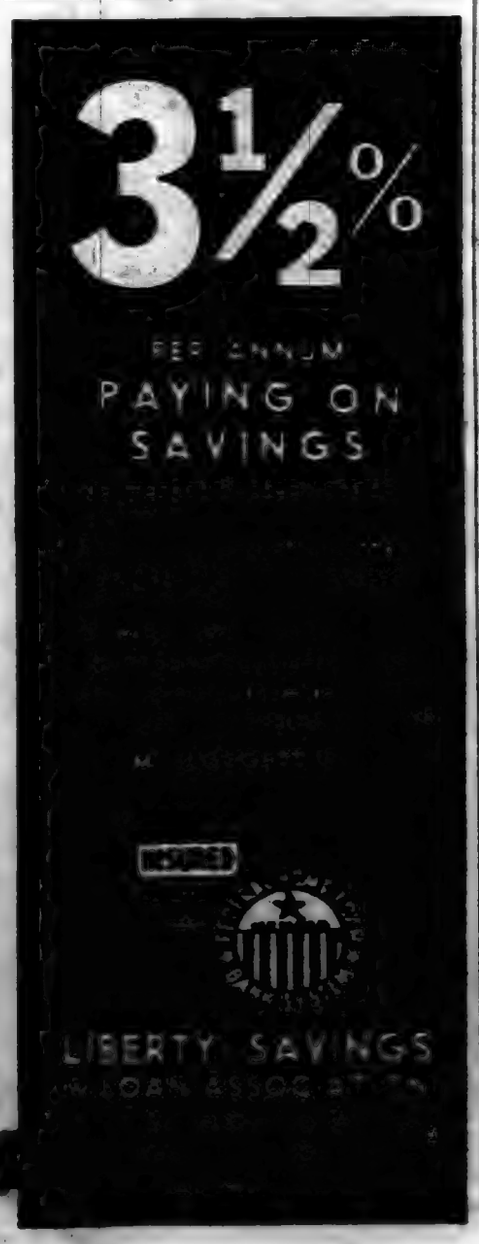
Youth have always been among the torch barriers for that is new, that is growing, and that is the future. This is necessarily so, for youth has not gotten into a set blind pattern, excepted without question. Youth uses as its basis for future orientation, modern scientific analysis, and with the help of God charts its course. But youth are not only the leaders of the future, they are the leaders of other young people today.

Incomplete

The youth "integration" policy laid down at the 41st convention leaves at least half to be desired. Because it provides organizational premises, without a comprehensive youth program in behalf of their own needs. The end result being that youth are tangled in a sea of general program which does not use as its point of departure the special angle of the young people themselves.

It is my opinion finally, that there are certain positive features that must be mentioned. The youth representation on each standing committee of the branch as provided in the resolution on youth is one such features. It is my very strong feeling that youth participation in the branch committees can do much toward building a genuine harmonious relationship; built on mutual respect and recognition of youth needs.

I am confident that the young people of our youth council, in cooperation with the adult branch, will fully assume the responsibility that the times demand of us; the times of Willie McGee, and Mrs. Ingram, the times of "international manslaughter."



Yes, I am confident that the young people of our youth council do realize that one of the needs of our sick and bleeding world is a clear thinking, farsighted youth, and strong and fighting youth councils of the NAACP. We have a rich heritage from our fore-fathers and we'll help carry the banner for a better, peaceful world and an America without jim crow.

CHILDREN ON RELIEF

Nearly two times as many children in Los Angeles county were on the "aid to needy children" rolls during June, 1950, as there were in June, 1949, California Taxpayers' association reported last week.

In June, 1950, there were 40,082 children in the county on the rolls for this kind of aid, 92 per cent more than the 21,268 listed for June, 1949.

California wound up the 1949-50 fiscal yeaar, which ended June 30, in excellent financial condition, according to a report issued by State Controller Thomas H. Kuchel.

Peace Rally

This is a national call for peace to all women! Especially to Negro women who have been persecuted most, and have suffered most in all wars of our country!

Let us meet on certain days, as in days of prayer, to pray for peace! Make the strong resolve that we shall not have war! Pray, talk, think peace! Speak to your neighbors, your friends! Assemble ourselves together with the express purpose of fighting for peace! And we shall have peace!

First Baptists, Venice, Celebrate Women's Day

The First Baptist Church of Venice, Calif, Rev. L .D. Reveal, pastor, celebrated its fifth annual Women's Day Sunday, August 6. Principal speakers for the occasion were Mesdames Ruby Medlock, worker among young people and Marie Williams, hospital missionary, both of Los Angeles at the special afternoon mass meeting. Both addressed themselves to the theme: "Godly Women Doing Good." A splendid supporting paper was read by Mrs. Charlie Mae Stewart. Music was made for the occasion by the Senior choir of the First A.M.E. Church of Santa Monica, directed by Mrs. Sherman Dall Jones, well known coloratura soprano, and by Mrs. Helen Powell, soloist of Kansas City, Kansas.

The successful Women's Day committee was headed by Mrs. Margaret Reveal, wife of the pastor assisted by Mrs. Ola Kirby as co-chairman. There were forty captains for the drive of the women—working over a period of sixty days. Mrs. Marie Watts was mistress of ceremonies for the special program occasion. The welcome address was delivered by Mrs. Selda Wilson. Mrs. Otto D. Abbott of the Venice Baptist church responded to same. Monies raised by the forty captains added to the public offering for the afternoon occasion totaled seven hundred seventy-nine dollars with more expected to be reported. In finances raised attendance registered and in enthusiasm observed this was the church's most successful and outstanding Women's Day. The church is located at 688 Westminster Ave., Venice.

Woman's Day Program

A Woman's Day Program will be given at Price Chapel A.M.E. Church, 425 E. Vernon Ave., Aug. 20th, 11 a. m. The speaker will be Rev. Irean Dade with the Woman's Day theme, "Service" Music will be by Woman's Day Choir and all day guest soloist, Mrs. Susie McBride Johnson.

Golden Anniv. NNBL

The National Negro Business League is celebrating its golden anniversary, with its headquarters in Tuskegee Institute, Alabaca.

Horace Sudduth, the League's eighth president, points to the fact that "only through organization can the buying power of Negroes be turned effectively into the channels that will constantly replenish the source of this buying power."

It is estimated that there are at least 50,000,000 Negro buyers in the United States—and their purchasing power mounts up to many millions of dollars per day.

"To associate such fabulous sums with Negroes is something new in national economic reckonings, and the U. S. Commerce Department, as well as Big Business" generally is taking note of the fact that Negro business can be big business, too.

The National Negro Business League was organized by Booker T. Washington in Boston, Mass. in 1900. He was its first president.

Say You Saw It in the EAGLE

BOOKS & AUTHORS

A century ago writers of biography put their subjects on pedestals and issued many a musty tome about superhuman being who were larger than life and, it must be confessed, usually twice as dull. The inevitable reaction to this was an era of debunking, when so many blemishes were discovered in lives hitherto used as examples for the young that all history seemed to be a record of rogues, charlatans and psychological misfits.

In recent years a balance has been reached. Many biographies now are as readable and interesting as good novels and yet involve careful research and an exact appraisal of their subjects. Some recent accounts of varied and colorful lives are suggested by your public library.

THE LITTLE PRINCESSES
By Marion Crawford

Designed to delight the thousands who have been captivated by Elizabeth and Margaret Rose, this account by "Crawfie," for seventeen years governess to the royal family, is an engaging portrait of two very modern little princesses. The story of the serious young heiress to the throne of England and her impulsive madcap sister begins with the five-year-old Lillibet solemnly driving a team of horses which consisted solely of the bedposts and reaches a fascinating climax in a royal romance and a royal wedding.

CAPTAIN SAM GRANT
By Lloyd Lewis

This warm, sympathetic study of Ulysses S. Grant as a young man while recording the odd contradictions in his character, does not attempt to conjecture on them unduly. The youthful career of the future military genius is portrayed as full of uncertainty and apparent shiftlessness and few could have predicted his later fame. The book was intended as part of a longer life of Grant, but the project was unhappily interrupted by the author's death. However, Captain Sam Grant is complete and absorbing in itself.

YANKEE FROM OLYMPUS
By Catherine Bowen

Interest in this fine biography has recently been revived by the news that it is being made into a motion picture. Although the author centers her attention chifly on the famous Mr. Chief Justice Holmes, one of the finest judicial and philosophic minds of our century, she also studies his fascinating family, depicting Abiel Holmes, a minister, born in 1763, and of course inclubing the famous physician and author, Oliver Wendell Holmes the elder. The book is not only authentic from a scholarly point of view, but abounds in delightful anecdotes. Above all there merges from its pages a clear picture of three great men, each embodying tage in himself something of the heritage of American civilization.

HENRY GEORGE, CITIZEN OF THE WORLD
By Anna De Mille

The nineteenth century reformer, famous as an exponent of the single tax, is revealed in this work by one of his daughters as a man who was as loveable as he was remarkable. As one reviewer has said, it is something of a miracle to create in the reader a real affection for an economist, but that is what one comes away with after reading the book. The glimpses afforded of George's devoted wife are also delightful. Whatever one may think of his social theories, Henry George as a human proves irresistable.

SHAKESPEARE OF LONDON
By Marchette Chute

If more books have been written about Napoleon than any other man, as is often claimed, the Bard of Avon must by this time be running him a close second. After hundreds of scholars have filled libraries proving what Shakespeare believed or did not believe, and that he was himself or somebody else (one venturesome gentleman claims he was really Queen Elizabeth, who must have tossed off Hamlet while planning the proper strategy for the Spanish Armada) we have here a book based on what Shakespeare's own contemporaries believed about him. And if we lack the demigod built up in later centuries, we have a vigorous, flesh and blood actor, poet, man of the Renaissance, who comes to life in these pages as in few recent books.

PORTRAIT OF A GENIUS, BUT . .
By Richard Aldington

The genius, offered here with reservations, is that Tempestuous and tormented man of letters, the late D. H. Lawrence. Of the many books written about Lawrence and his desperate pilgrimage over the earth from Italy, aldington's is perhaps the most interesting from the standpoint of the general reader. Here is an account of surely one of the oddest marriages of all times. Lawrence is well known for his subtle studies of the relations between men and women but he never achieves any story so complicated and fascinating as his own married life.

THE MARX BROTHERS
By Kyle Crichton

The story of the zany brothers that is marked by a vivid picture of their remarkable mother, whose determination and spunk is one of the chief reasons for their rise from poverty to fame.

98.6—A Novel by LEON SUBMELIAN. E. P. Dutton & Co., N. Y.

The title of this novel, 98.6, refers to the normal temperature of the human body. It is an appropriate title for a novel dealing with a young man's fight against tuberculosis.

Daniel Moore, a university student, discovers one day that he has tuberculosis, in an advanced stage. He is sent to a state sanatorium—and later, with his sister's support, to a private sanatorium. After 2 years of curing he does recover. He returns to school, engages in a tempestous love affair with a Hollywood lady, breaks down again—returns to a sanatorium, and once more regains his health.

That in essence is the story. Its setting is clearly Los Angeles and S. California. It endeavors to expose conditions in local public sanatoria—which demand public attention and correction.

But the novel is more than a story. First, it presents the reader with almost a clinical report of tuberculosis and the nature of its treatment today. Secondly, it attempts to probe the intellectual and spiritual trials of its sensitive hero—tho the emphasis on religion verges on the mystical and tends to distort this phase of the study.

The two factors cited are not separate, but closely related—for, as authorities in tuberculosis recognize, there is an extremely close relationship between the patient's physical and mental condition. (The psychosomatic concept.)

In its depiction of the lives of the patients taking the cure the novel reflects the society in which we live and the personalities such a society creates. All the selfishnes that is bred in us, all the prejudices and conceits, reveal themselves sharply in the confines of a sanatorium, in the battle against tuberculosis.

There is missing in the novel an adequate awareness of the economic factors in society which breed tuberculosis—and many other pestilences. The novel fails therefore to achieve the significance which a well-rounded treatment of such a subject would accomplish.

Musicians Hold Second Sacred Chautauqua At Holman Methodist

The Los Angeles Musicians presented their Final Sacred chautauqua on last Sunday afternoon at the Holman Methodist Church. Mrs. Georgia Horton was general chairman for the event. Mrs. Nell Dobson Plant served as program chairman. The program was unusual and highly enjoyed by all present.

Each participant played a stellar role. Among the artists featured were: Oscar B. Plant, well-known baritone; The Albert McNeil Singers; Jean Jackson, contralto; Erma Tresville, pianist; Thelma Patillo, lyric soprano; Marporie Lewis, organist.

The Zion Hill Baptist Choir was at its best, under the direction of Revere Greene. The Holman Evangelist Choir, under the capable direction of Walter Powell, rendered several numbers. Mrs. Lillie T. Hogue, president of the association, made the response and Reverend L. L. White was the principal speaker.

Honored guests were: Mrs. T. L. Scott, Mrs. L. L. White and Mr. Jester Hairston. Mrs. Billie Lynthecom, Director of Publicity for the association, was reelected for a second term. Assisting her is Mr. John S. Valentine. The association wishes to thank their many friends for their wonderful support.

Dr. Henderson Elected President Western Baptist Convention, Calif.

The Western Baptist Convention of California in its sixtieth annual session at the Bethel Baptist Church in San Diego, Rev. Chas. H. Hampton, pastor, Aug. 7 through 13, drew to a spectacular close on Sunday afternoon, the 13th, in a giant mass meeting, after electing Dr. J. Raymond Henderson of Los Angeles its president for the ensuing year.

Featured in the sessions were inspirational addresses by Rev. O. T. McWilliams, Rev. Freeman Williams, Rev. E. S. Redd and Rev. Jesse Walker. The introductory sermon was preached by Rev. G. G. Bailey; the annual sermon by Rev. Elliott Brown; the historical sermon by Rev. L. M. Curtis; the doctrinal sermon by Rev. R. W. Washington; the missionary sermon by Rev. J. Raymond Henderson; the educational sermon by Rev. L. A. Felix; the evangelistic sermon by Rev. T. M. Chambers, and the mass meeting sermon, the final message, by Rev. H. B. Charles.

The annual addresses of departmental heads were as follows: A. B. Washington, representing the laymen; Rev. Ernest S. Redd, the Sunday school and B.T.U. Convention; Mrs. Marguerite P. Moore, Young People's Congress; Mrs. Lavoile Williams, echoes from the World Baptist Alliance; Mrs. B. B. Cassell, the Young People; and by Mrs. Blanche N. Carter, president of the Women's Auxiliary, who sounded a keynote for the women, and gave a practical demonstration of a highly spiritual leadership serving well. Dr. Ralph L. Mayberry, executive secretary of the Los Angeles City Mission Society, delivered a most searching and inspiring address from the subject: "Are We Orthodox?"

Rev. L. A. Felix, executive secretary of the convention, made a report showing that the busines affairs of the convention are in healthy condition. Dr. G. E. Gordon Brownville gave his address as representative of the Southern California Baptist Convention.

The outstanding expressions of the convention were from the Rev. Welford P. Carter of Santa Monica, president of the convention.

At the election hour, the body chose as officers for the ensuing year the following: president, Dr. J. Raymond Henderson; first vice president, Dr. Jonathan L. Cas-

A. Davis; Assistant recording secretary, Rev. L. D. Revol; Treasurer, Rev. E. A. Anderson; Statistician, Rev. L. D. Stevens; Auditor, Rev. G. A. Miller; President of the Women's Auxiliary. Mrs. Blanche N. Carter; Executive secretary, Women's Auxiliary Mrs. Arbazine Waldon; Pres. of S. S. and B.T.U. Convention, Mrs. Marguerita P. Moore; Vice Pres. of S. S. and B.T.U. Convention, Rev. W. A. Gray. The election of moderators, Rev. H. B. Charles, Rev. Wm. Thomas and Rev. W. A. Gray, of the Los Angeles, Tri-county and Southwest districts, respectively, by the personnel of those districts was approved by the state convention as per usual practice.

The next annual session will convene in August 1951 with the Zion Hill Baptist church of Los Angeles, while the mid-winter session will be entertained by the Calvary Baptist church of Santa Monica.

Women's Day At Wesley

Women's Day will be observed at Wesley Methodist Church 52nd and Main Streets on Sunday, August 20. Three outstanding services will be held.

At the morning hour, 10:50 a.m., the speaker will be Mrs. Otis L. Craggett, wife of the minister of the Western Avenue Christian Church. Music will be furnished by a chorus of women under the direction of Mrs. Lucille Huley. Dinner will be served at the church following the morning hour.

At 3:30 p.m. there will be a great Musical Festival including many outstanding choir and musical groups of the city. Among those appearing will be Victory Baptist, 28th Street Christian, Lewis Metropolitan C.M.E. Church, Holman Methodist, St. John Methodist, Hamilton Gospel, Hamilton Christian Carolers, Zion Hill Baptist, Luther Carpenter A Capella chorus, Trianglar Church of Truth and Tabernacle of Faith Baptist.

At 7 p.m., the day will close with a Vesper Program. Featured will be soloists of the city and a forum on the theme for the day, "An Enduring Faith for This Hour." This will be led by Miss Mary Banks, city school teacher, and Miss Lynelle Houston, city librarian, and summarized by Mrs. Gertrude Johnson and others.

The public is cordially invited to attend all of these services.

Baha'i World Faith

"Tomorrow Is Yours" is the subject of the lecture which Mr. Robert B. Powers will deliver at the public meeting of Baha'i World Faith to be held at the Los Angeles headquarters, 331 South New Hampshire Avenue on Sunday afternoon, August 20 at 3:30 o'clock.

Mr. Powers quotes from the works of Abdul-Baha: "The gift of God to this age is the knowledge of the oneness of mankind and the fundamental oneness of religion."

Rev. Gare Is Back

The Rev. Herman Gare of St. Louis, Mo., newly elected pastor of the Second Baptist Church of Long Beach, will be in his pulpit Sunday, August 20th.

REV. JEANETTA O. CHINN gives a true message on healing

Second Baptist Beneficiary Of Pastor's Insurance Policy

An $11,000 insurance policy recently written on the life of Reverend J. Raymond Henderson, pastor, Second Baptist Church, names the church, located at 24th and Griffith in Los Angeles, as beneficiary.

Reverend Henderson, long recognized by the community as a progressive minister and astute business man, took this move to provide his church with a financial safeguard in the event of his death. The insurance, written by Field Representative Ike Adams, Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company, helps to cover the readjustment period which the church faces in the event of the loss of its leader. It is an application of the "key [illegible]" insurance concept widely [illegible] throughout the country covering key or leading persons in organizations, institutions, or busines sfirms. None of the members of the minister's family will receive any of the policy proceeds.

Under Reverend Henderson's ministry Second Baptist Church has retired a debt of $76,000. He has led the church into several new ventures, one of which is the Community Center adjoining the church building, owned and maintained by the church membership. It has a working girls' dormitory, a home for the aged, a day nursery, and a recreational annex. The church also owns a beach house at Elsinore for use of its members.

Africa Trip

Reverend Henderson recently returned from Africa where he studied Baptist Missions in the country with a group of leading Baptist ministers. The commission was undertaken following a proposal for the study by the Second Baptist pastor.

State Congress of Texas Diocese AME, Aug. 21-27

WACO, Texas — A record attendance and an unprecedented and comprehensive program, upon which a number of church dignataries will function on a week-long program, has been mapped for state congress of the Texas diocese of the African Methodist Episcopal Church which will convene at Paul Quinn College, Waco, Texas, August 21-27. The Rt. Rev. Joseph Gomez, presiding bishop of the Texas district, announced that a record number of representatives from each of the more than four hundred churches over the state, seven bishops from other districts of the connection and an array of general officers, candidates for general offices and outstanding church dignitaries from all over the nation will attend the meeting.

The congress normally attracts around eight thousand people each year but due to the complete construction of two more buildings, including the new $150,000 administration building, together with improvements to other existing buildings and freshly laid sidewalks and curbs along the frontal expanse of the twenty-two acre campus and to all of the buildings, which is a sight-seeing must to the housands of adherents of African Methodism in Texas, the attendance is expected to soar far above prior years to an unprecedented high.

It is good discretion not to make too much of any man at the first, because one cannot hold out in that proportion.

Rev. Haynes In Bowen Methodist Pulpit Sunday

The Rev. L. L. Haynes Jr. will speak on the subject "Behold the Man" at 11 a.m. Sunday, August 20, at Bowen Methodist Church, East 36th and Trinity Streets. Mr. Haynes holds his Ph.D. degree from Boston University and is at present Professor of Philosophy and Religion at Philander Smith College, Little Rock, Arkansas.

The Haynes family motored through the country to visit with their many relatives and friends in Los Angeles. They are stopping with his sister, Mrs. Armenda Nelson, at 1815 East 50th Street.

Bowen's present minister, John C. Bain, and his wife are taking a much needed rest and vacation in Denver, Colorado.

"Unsurpassed Service Through The Years"

HUNDREDS SAVE SAID, as time has passed, that the ceremony we conducted was one of correct appointment, and that our personal assistance was with a spirit of sincere helpfulness.

SUCH PUBLIC CONFIDENCE is not won by words. Actions are the only reliable symptoms of sympathetic sincerity. And that is what you get in a CONNER-JOHNSON service, whether it is one of utmost simplicity, or the most elaborate.

Consult us about our recommended pre-payment plan of funeral expenses, with no obligation. It costs only a few cents a day.

Unity Lutheran Church Meet Will Discuss Unity Program

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. — Issues vital to church unity will dominate the agenda of the United Lutheran Church in America at its 17th biennial convention Oct. 4-12, in Des Moines, oIwa.

This became known this week when a tentative program of events was prepared by the Rev. F. Eppling Reinartz, D.D., New York, secretary of the church. The nine-day conclave of North America's largest Lutheran body will be held in Des Moines' KRNT Radio Theater.

The issues coming before an estimated 2,000 delegates and visitors at the convention will be relevant to both Lutheran unity with other Protestant bodies. Heading the list is a recommendation that the ULCA join the proposed National Council of the Churches of Christ in the United States of America.

Ohio Minister At St. Philips Church Sunday

The Rev. H. Randolph Moore, Rector, has announced that the Rev. Dr. Edmund H. Oxley of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, Cincinnati, Ohio, will be the Special Guest Preacher at the 11 a.m. service on Sunday, August 20, at St. Philip's Church, 28th and Stanford Avenue.

Dr. Oxley, a graduate of Howard and Harvard Universities, is an outstanding eastern prelate. His daughter, Dr. Lucy Oxley Peace, a practicing physician of Cincinnati, his granddaughter and nephew are with him on their California vacation.

Altar Society Plans Affair

August 20th is the date set for the second annual musical tea sponsored by the ladies of the Altar Society of Holy Name Catholic Church. The affair will be held from 4 until 7 o'clock in the evening in the garden and patio of Mr. and Mrs. Juan Tizal at 2150 South Hobart Blvd.

Committee planners who [illegible] to repeat last year's successful affair are Mrs. Robert Raphael, chairman, and Mmes. Anne Costello, Florence Moyer, Ruth Lucy, Lydelia Vest, Elsie Matthews, Edith Claiborne, Beulah Arnaud, Winifred Atwood and Misses Estelle Moontague and Annis Lackey.

The public is cordially invited.

Kindred tastes, motives, and aspirations are necessary to the formation of a happy and permanent companionship.

NOTICE OF STREET LIGHTING MAINTENANCE

Notice is hereby given that on August 3, 1950, the Council of the City of Los Angeles duly passed Ordinance No. 96,891 declaring its intention to order the necessary LIGHTING POSTS and appliances to be MAINTAINED and ELECTRIC CURRENT to be FURNISHED for lighting said posts for the period of one year beginning July 1, 1951, for the lighting of that certain district designated as Central Avenue between Florence Avenue and Manchester Avenue, on, over and along those certain public streets of the City of Los Angeles as follows: CENTRAL AVENUE between Manchester Avenue and 150 feet south of Manchester Avenue; and CENTRAL AVENUE (West Side) between Florence Avenue and Manchester Avenue.

Reference is hereby made to the report of the Board of Public Works in connection therewith, on file in the office of the City Clerk; to said Ordinance of Intention; and to Ordinance No. 75,000, as amended, for further particulars.

That October 2, 1950, at the hour of 10 o'clock A.M. of said day, in the Council Chamber in the City Hall of said city, has been designated as the time and place for the hearing of protests relative to the proposed improvement. Any person objecting to the said improvement or to the extent of the assessment district, or to any assessment therefor, may file a written protest with the City Clerk at any time PRIOR to the day set for the hearing of such protests, specifying the ground or grounds upon which such protest is based. Such protests must contain a description of the property in which each signer thereof is interested, sufficient to identify the same and be delivered to the City Clrk, and no othr protests than those presented in the form and within the time specified will be considered.

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS
of the City of Los Angeles.

Note: This improvement proposes only the operation and maintenance of the existing lighting system.

28th St. YMCA Campaigns for Unpaid Pledges

The board of managers of 28th Stret Branch YMCA at a special Board meeting last Monday evening undertook to complete the task of collecting over three thousand dollars due the Branch from unpaid pledges made this year and last year to the support Fund. The continued operation of the YMCA program and services for the youth of the community depend upon the success of this effort, according to Branch chairman Bowdoin

Daniel V. Sawyer and the Finance Committee of the Board believe that the score of pledges still unpaid were made in good faith and will be honored. Other members of the Finance committee are: Louis M. Blodgett, L. G. Robinson, Allan C. Woodard 3rd, and Lonzie L. Jones.

NOTICE OF SALE OF PROPERTY FOR DELINQUENT LIGHTING ASSESSMENTS

Notice is hereby given that assessments levied against the parcels of land described herein and as shown on the assessment diagram and roll for the furnishing of electric current for the lighting of CENTRAL AVENUE between Florence and Manchester Avenue in the City of Los Angeles, as provided by Ordinance of Intention No. 95467, have not been paid and are delinquent. The delinquent assessments with penalties and costs accruing thereon are cash liens upon said parcels. Notice is further given that unless each of said delinquent assessments, together with the penalties and costs thereon, is paid, the Board of Public Works, of the City of Los Angeles, State of California, will, on the 30th day of August, 1950, at ten o'clock A.M., in its office, Room 88, City Hall, No. 200 N. Spring St. in said City, sell at public auction for lawful money of the United States the property upon which each delinquent assessment is a lien, or so much thereof as shall be necessary to realize the amount assessed against the same, including the penalties and costs aforesaid, and fifty cents for certificate of sale.

At any time after the expiration of twelve months from the date of sale, said Board of Public Works will execute to the purchaser, or his assignee on his application, a deed of the property sold; provided, however, that at any time after the date of sale and prior to the execution and delivery of said deed, any property sold under the provisions of Ordinance No. 75,000, as amended, may be redeemed by the payment to the Board of Public Works, of the amount for which the property was sold with an additional penalty of one percent per month, until paid, of said amount of sale.

Fanning Heads Campaign for Westview Funds

Michael D. Fanning, Los Angeles Postmaster, and Mrs. Samuel Genis, Beverly Hills Hotel, conferred Tuesday noon with Archbishop J. Francis A. McIntyre, head of the Los Angeles Archdiocese, in regard to the campaign for funds for the St. Augustine - Westview Hospital which, when completed, will be taken over by the Franciscan Sisters of the Sacred Heart, who have been for a number of years in charge of the Queen of the Angels Hospital in this city.

St. Augustine-Westview Hospital, to be located at 54th and South Main Streets, will be an inter-racial hospital containing 100 beds. Its cost is estimated to be at better than $1,000,000. The fund raising campaign, of which Postmaster Fanning will be chairman, will start immediately.

Overweight Is A Mental Job

NEW YORK — Many of the present day methods of weight reducing fail because they do not help the overweight person to understand why he or she overeats, Mary Jane Moore, R.N., says in her new book YOU CAN TOO, published by The J. J. Tepper Corporation of New York at $2.00.

"A woman may be required to diet and exercise the remainder of her life to keep a decent figure," Miss Moore says, "unless she understands and conquers the causes of overeating." This is the reason figure bulges reappear and weight soars at the end of a rigid diet or reducing course, Miss Moore explains, adding that getting at the source of frustrations is a permanent solution.

As former superintendent in one of New York City's leading hospitals, and throughout her nursing career, Miss Moore encountered the numerous illnesses which result from many of the reducing diets, medicines or courses. Not only are some of these methods frequently dangerous, but too rapid loss of weight can lower resistance and affect the heart adversely, Miss Moore says in her new book.

One-Third Overweight

"Although it is well known that carrying extra poundage is detrimental to health and beauty, approximately one-third of American women today are overweight," Miss Moore reports. "It is no wonder that harmful get-slim-quick schemes find such a following."

Miss Moore, who did graduate work in psychology at Columbia University, believes overeating can be properly understood only as a common defense mechanism in the same category with chain-smoking, alcoholism or stealing. While socially more acceptable, overeating is just as harmful as other defense mechanisms, she believes.

The whole gamut of excuses for not reducing—from "it's my glands" to "at least my wrinkles won't show"—is dealt with in YOU CAN TOO, and most of them are found to have no basis in fact. As for fat hiding wrinkles, Miss Moore says: "This I doubt. And just think what else shows—and it's seen by many more people than ever get close enough to count wrinkles!"

Arrest State Dept. Aide on Sex Charge

WASHINGTON (CNS)—A Harvard graduate and expert (top policymaker) on far east affairs, arrested by Capital park police for sex perversion with a 22-year-old man, resigned last week.

Explaining his act to the officers, the man stated: "It was one of those things. This is not something I do all of the time. It happened this once. I was drunk. I'm not a drinking man. I realize the impulse is there. Now, I've got to straighten myself out."

The accused, whose name is not given to protect his family, is unmarried and supports a sister and her child. He has been in the State Department four years and handled Japanese War Reparations following working as an economic secretary.

The act of perversion was not denied.

Millions of young men are beginning to wonder whether they will have to fight for their country.

HOLLYWOOD — Lex Barker, like almost everybody else, has always thought of equatorial Africa as being a very hot place. Now there on location for distribution by RKO Radio, "Tarzan's Peril," he has found out differently. Daily rains and overcast skies keep the jungle, which is 6,500 feet above sea level, at a daytime chilly temperature of 50 degrees and it gets even colder at night.

Conf. Discusses Negro Rights In Bay Area

Segregation, jobs, police brutality—these area few of the topics to be discussed at the Bay Area Conference on Negro Rights which will be held in the Greater Cooper AME Zion Church, 1420 Myrtle street, Oakland, tomorrow (Saturday, August 26) beginning at 10 a.m. and continuing through to 5 p.m.

The objectives of the conference, as stated in the Call, are:

Howard Calls Latest Charge 'Phony'

Apparently incensed over recurring court actions arising out of an attempt to oust him from the organization he founded, the Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association, H. A. Howard, widely known realty broker, this week struck back at his tormentors in a demand that one of the latest cases in the program of harrassment, be brought immediately to court.

Not Served

The case, recently recorded only thus far in a newspaper article, involves Howard as the defendant in a heavy damage suit to compel performance of a contract to build an apartment for a client. Although the newspaper ran glaring accounts of the impending suit almost a month ago, Howard has never been legally served in the matter.

Atty. Jacque Boyle, representing the alleged complainants, has been notified of the desire on the part of Howard to be served with proper papers so he may prepare an answer, but to date his request, made through the law offices of Atty Rayfield Lundy, have been ignored. Atty. Lundy is inclined to believe the threatened suit, is merely a part of the well organized plot to harrass his client in the eyes of the public in the midst of federal court trial.

The newspaper account linking Howard with some alleged failure to comply with the terms of a contract to build a three unit apartment for clients while

Board Asks Investigation Of "Trigger Happy" Cops

The executive board of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will hear a recommendation at its meeting next Monday night that the Internal Affairs Division of the police department be asked to investigate the fatal shooting of Randolph J. Williams Jr. by vice squad detective W. T. Smith.

Williams was shot through the heart by Smith when he (Williams) walked to the rear of his home to find out who was prowling outside his bedroom window. Smith and a partner, A. L. James, admitted they were snooping around the building in response to complaints that prostitution was being carried on in the Williams apartment. Both policemen were in plain clothes.

Attorney Edward Maddox, who heads the legal department of the NAACP, learned from Mrs. Rita Williams, the slain man's wife, that the gun Williams carried was more of a souvenir than a weapon, and that he had only intended to frighten the prowler.

The slain youth was a graduate of Jefferson High School, and he was well known in the community. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Randolph J. Williams Sr., have been employed by Max Factor for a number of years.

State Dep't. Refuses Author Passport Right

Albert E. Kahn, author and journalist, today made public the fact that the State Department has refused to renew his passport and to permit him to travel abroad at the present time. The reason given for this action by the State Department, as expressed in a letter to Mr. Kahn from Willis H. Young, Acting Chief of the Passport Division, was that the Department feels that to permit Mr. Kahn to travel abroad would be "con-

Harry Bridges Freed by U. S. Court

Harry Bridges, fighting trade union leader, was released from jail yesterday (Thursday) by a 2-1 decision of the U. S. Court of Appeals in San Francisco. He was freed on $25,000 bail.

Vincent Hallinan, his militant attorney, declared "The court's decision to free Harry Bridges restores our faith in the courts."

Members of Bridges' union, the International Longshoremen & Warehousemen's Union, and all progressive unions and political groups have been protesting the revocation of Bridges' bail as a direct violation of the U. S. Constitution. The bail had been revoked on the insistent request of the U. S. Attorney-General, Howard McGrath—a Truman appointee.

After months of hysteria and fascist attacks on our civil rights, as part of the bi-partisan cold war against the American people, the release of Harry Bridges comes as a ray of hope. It is dramatic testimony to the power of an aroused citizenry.

Wealthy Riding Academy Owner Charged With Mental Cruelty

Mrs. Ruth Jackson has filed a suit for divorce against her wealthy riding acedemy owner husband, Charles T. Jackson. The complaint filed through the law offices of Atty. Crispus A. Wright, charges her mate with cruelty.

Monday, when the couple faced each other in domestic relations court, Atty. Earl C. Broady, who is representing Jackson, presented an affidavit signed by the husband alleging that Mrs. Jackson was an habitual drunkard and that he could do nothing with her. Mrs. Jackson's complaint sought alimony pending outcome of the trial, a division of the community property, court costs and reasonable attorney's fee.

Jackson owns and operates the fashionable riding a[illegible]demy.

Request Full Labor Support In Howard University Dispute

NEW YORK—Thomas Richardson, chairman of the Anti-Discrimination Committee of the United Public Workers of America, announced this week that labor organizations throughout the country had been called upon to support the Howard University members of the United Public Workers in their efforts to improve their economic conditions. Mr. Richardson said that the request for support had gone to key labor leaders in the various sections of the country.

The Howard University Branch of the United Public Workers of America has been engaged in a dispute with the officials of the University arising from the failure of the University to solve a number of pressing grievances.

The University has so far evaded its responsibility in settling these grievances by saying that public relations would not permit it to meet and discuss these problems with a union which was expelled from national CIO during recent internal organizational fight in that organization.

Howard employees list the following as some of the key grievances:

1. Inadequate pay and refusal of the University to pay an already granted increase on the regular pay checks.

2. Failure of the University to grant in-grade and longevity increases thus causing some Howard University employees to lose up to $4,000 over a period of years.

3. Inadequate retirement system which causes some retired University employees to draw as little as $25 per month.

4. Wholesal and unjust layoffs among teachers and non-teachers.

5. Arbitrary refusal of the University's Board of Trustees to renew the contract between the Howard Branch of the United Public Workers and the University. (The employees point out that their union has had contractural relations with the University since 1945.)

Guest Tenants Of Jim Crow Town, Feted

NEW YORK — Mr. and Mrs. Hardine Hendrix, who were guest tenants in Stuyvesant Town last year, but who were not welcome to some of the tenants in the Jim Crow neighborhood, were feted at the Hotel Diplomat on W. 43rd street last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Hendrix had occupied an apartment vacated by a friend for several months. Other tenants objected to having Negroes in Stuyvesant Town.

There were 200 neighbors at the party. Speakers announced they intended to keep up the fight against discrimination in both Stuyvesant Town and the Peter Cooper Village, Metropolitan Life Insurance developments.

Mr. Kahn, who is co-author of the best-sellers Sabotage! and The Great Conspiracy, and author of the new book, High Treason, charged State Department officials with denying him a passport because of his having exposed "their anti-democratic intrigues" in his books and articles.

Mr. Kahn also declared that the State Department does not wish him to report his impressions of events abroad at this time. According to Mr. Kahn, the represents "an abridgment of action of the State Department freedom of the press."

Williams Wins $1000 Drawing At Rosebud

Mr. Bennie J. Williams of 1458 E. 20th Street was the lucky winner of $1.000 on Sunday night, Aug. 20th. Mr. Williams was at the Rosebud theater when his name was drawn on the regular Sunday night "Win the Money" drawing which is played every Sunday, Wednesday, and Saturday nights at the Lincoln, Bill Robinson, Rosebud, Florence Mills, and Savoy theaters.

In order to participate and be eligible to win one of these huge cash awards you must first register at any of the above listed theaters, then be present every Sunday, Wednesday, and Saturday nights at any one of these theaters and if your name is called "you win the money."

The SIDEWALK

By C.A.B.

Paris, France

From the time it was understood I was going to make this trip to Paris, it has been one grand rush.

The plane from Los Angeles to New York was about two hours late. We had to lay over at Chicago for repairs. But all of us were very glad those repairs could be made on the ground, and that something didn't go wrong when we were a mile or so above terra firma, where no repairs could be made.

When we reached New York, however, about 11 p.m. Friday, August 11, some of my friends were waiting there for me and they accompanied me to the Commodore Hotel where reservations had been made for me. It was very convenient for plane connection the next day.

I got a few hours' good rest in New York, and then was ready for the next hop on this my first trip abroad.

My waiting hours in New York were spent with that grand little lady, Shirley Graham, whose literary achievements swell her heart rather than her head.

With her pen and her vocie Shirley joins with the people all over the world in their plea for peace. She believes as so many of us do, but who are afraid to speak out, that the threat of an atomic bomb destruction is but one of the fearful threats hanging over us. And that it is not the greatest.

She feels that "subversives" from other parts of the world—as the powers that be choose to label them—do not menace our peace and freedom at home in the USA at all. Rather the danger to the United States government stems from our own stubborn resistance to the truth. That so long as we permit graft and corruption a free hand in business and politics, the greedy few will keep the millions of workers and common people (the masses) in human slavery, and world peace—the Holy Grail—which we the people must find, retreats farther and farther from our grasp.

We had a wonderful time together. In addition to the stubborn resistance to the truth of the American people, there is also our indifference, our complacency, our apathy. The people of New York aren't any more interested in their government than we are in California. When compilations are made after each election, the percentages of those who vote is only around 50—the same as in California. The wonder is that we have as good a government as we have!

Of course, New York has Vito Marcantonio. But when it comes down to fine points, his vote in the House of Representatives counts only one. The same as Rankin's. Or Eastland's. Or any of the other reactionaries. We ought to have at least 300 Vito Marcantonios in the House of Representatives, and about 50 like him in the U. S. Senate. Then it wouldn't make any difference who was president of the United States, whether Truman, or Dewy, or even Hoover. Congress would make the laws, and if any president dared to veto them, they would be passed right over his veto.

Wonder how long it will take us to learn to elect progressives to Congress, instead of going all out to elect only a president.

Well, it is now 4:30 p.m. same day, New York time, and there on the ground near the gate of the Marine Terminal La Guardia Field is that giant Constellation, breathing hard and flapping her wings, making ready for the flight from New York to Paris.

It was a beautiful afternoon, and from New York to Gander, Newfoundland, our first and only stop, there were but a few mild ripples on the air waves.

About two hours' ride out of Gander we struck what appeared to be a storm at sea, but not too rough. The only thing that frightened me was the speed. At New York we were told that the flight would be sixteen hours. Our captain cut it down four hours, which made us reach Paris four hours ahead of time.

So this is it!

I am in Paris, France, at the Parisares de la Paix 2, Rue de L'Elysee, Paris VIII, France.

When I think even of trying to describe Paris, I lose completely any descriptive ability. And names! And words! That's another story.

I once studied, or thought I studied French. This morning, my first experience, I tried to order breakfast. A sweet little French girl asked me, I presume, what I wanted.

I answered in English. "Coffee and toast." She didn't understand. Then I tried French, or what I intended to be French. The look on her face made me feel she didn't understand a word I had said.

Then I resorted to sign language. I put my hand to my mouth, as if drinking from a cup, and drew an imaginary slice of toast on the table with my finger.

I got a cup of the blackest coffe and the toughest bread I believe I have ever tackled.

I am only passing through Paris, going on to my next stop. But I propose to come back to this historic spot.

Just a glimpse of Paris and her countryside makes me know that I want to know more about her historical background and her future outlook.

Paris, as I see it now, is BEAUTIFUL. Paris is gay. Paris is ugly. Paris is brave. Paris is stalwart.

Paris—is crumbling?

Edith Sampson Fails To Get U. N. Position

Premature reports earlier this week that President Truman would appoint Edith Sampson a delegate to the UN General Assembly fizzled Thursday when announcement of the five appointees was made and did not include Mrs. Sampson's name.

Heralded as a refutation of a so-called Russian charge that the United States practices discrimination, the supposed appointment was given wide coverage in the Negro press.

Observers who expressed the opinion that any appointment received by Mrs. Sampson would be a reward for her unwavering devotion to the administration, pointed out that racial discrimination can not be removed by appointing a single Negro to a high post.

Negro Rights

To determine what are the facts, concentrating on the local scene. To show how discrimination, segregation, and police brutality injure the white people as well as the Negro people; and to show how much the rights and the strength of Labor are damaged by attacks on the rights of the Negro people.

To find the extent to which acts of discrimination or segregation by various governmental bodies encourage similar actions by private parties.

To discuss state and national civil rights legislation. And to plan concrete action to unite all sections of the community in defense of, and for the extension of, Negro rights.

In every city, with no exceptions, states the Call, segregation is practiced in housing, schools, hospitals, etc. Even the California prison system officially enforces Jim-crow among the inmates, and everywhere there are restaurants, hotels, bowling alleys, etc. which discriminate in spite of the existence of the California Civil Rights act prohibiting such discrimination.

Howard Demands Trial Now In "Unserved" Damage Suit

he was president of the Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association, listed Mrs. Eva Levy and her daughter Fayne Coleman of 411 East Forty-seventh street as plaintiffs. Both, the newspaper report claimed, suffered heavy losses due to fraudulent manipulations.

It develops, however, that Howard in fact, had befriended the family of Mrs. Levy and was at a loss to explain the reason for the woman's name being associated with a suit against him. Howard stated he had known the Levy's for 30 years. He said they had been a tenant of his since 1941 in the house they occupy at the Forty-seventh street address.

Howard said, the son and daughter of Mrs. Levy had worked for him when he opened the Villa Arlington House, on West Adams boulevard. It was at that time, he said, Mrs. Levy asked him to aid her in purchasing some income property. She told him, he said, she only had $1,000 in cash. Howard said he assisted her in obtaining loans totalling $18,300 to build a three unit bldg. at 3011 Virginia Road.

Not Responsible

This building, the newspaper article stated, is yet unfinished and is the basis of Mrs. Levy and her daughter's suit. Howard emphatically denied he is in anyway responsible for Mrs. Levy's alleged plight. He said Mrs. Levy and daughter have received regular statements each month up until June of 1950. He also, stated, she has signed all contracts and sub-contracts involving the building of her home.

Atty. Lundy made public this statement: "I wrote Atty. Jacque Boyle representing Mrs. Levy and Mrs. Fayne Coleman in this action against Mr. Howard two weeks ago, that my client was anxious to receive proper legal service in order to quickly dispose of the issue. But, to date, neither myself, or my client, has received a reply." He noted also, that he learned that the information gathered by the newspaper for its article, named in addition to Howard, the Broadway Federal, and the Title Insurance company.

The Silver Jubilee Convention of the International Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Portrs, AFL, opening in New York, September 10, marks the 25th Anniversary of the founding of America's most unique labor organization.

Telephone Manager Urges Care In Replacing Your Receiver

A fire in your home, a sick child who needs a doctor's care, a matter to be handled immediately by the police—these important emergencies require prompt calls on your telephone. But emergency calls are not possible by those in distress who share the same telephone line with a person who carelessly leaves his telephone receiver off the hook.

So said Earl S. Ricker, district manaer of The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, this week as he recounted one of the company's continuing problems here—an increasing number of cases recorded each month among ADams and CEntury telephone users of improper replacement of receivers on the hook after calls have been completed.

"During these days when telephone service means so much to individuals whose expanding requirements for voice communication must be met," Ricker stated, "the importance of being a 'good party-line neighbor' cannot be over-emphasized."

The telephone company does its best, the manager pointed out, to keep the lines open and the equipment in good working order but it also must rely on the individual subscribers to maintain lines that are not continuously busy.

Ricker listed the following points for subscription to watch at al times:

1) Replace the receiver properly after each use.

2) See that books or magazines do not interfere with the receiver.

3) Keep the telephone out of reach of small children who might lift the receiver.

4) Keep the telephone in such a place that house pets will not be able to knock it over and disrupt the service.

Sign Statement In Support Of Right To Bail

On the eve of the answer of the 11 Communist leaders to the United States Attorney's move to jail them immediately, the Civil Rights Congress and the National Non-Partisan Committee have issued a partial list of signers to a statement supporting the continued right of the Communists to bail.

The group includes over 145 American citizens from 25 states and represents a cross-section of American life, including leaders among the Negro people, trade unionists from 30 industries, church leaders ,artists and professionals.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla.—On Sunday, August 20, at Florida A and M College, 175 persons were granted degrees. The President George W. Gore, Jr., officiated. The baccalaureate - commencement address was delivered by Dr. Harry V. Richardson, president of Gammon Theological Seminary, Atlanta, Georgia.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla.—The Florida A and M College dormitory quota for men students has been rached totaling 440, while the dormitory quota for women lacks 265 of its 618 capacity.

President George W. Gore, Jr. has emphasized the ned for the college to serve sa many citizens as possible. He further states that we must sek to get the number of students that we can serve best. The quota will be adhered to strictly. Students who apply late for room and admission will be placed on the waiting list.

When school opens on September 10 for freshmen over 500 of them will be going through the orientation program. This will consist of a "get-acquainted" day, physical exams, a guidance movie, a freshman social, etc.

LOCK YOUR CAR

Pointing out that the majority of cars stolen are those easiest to take, the California Highway Patrol's stolen vehicle detail appealed to motorists to lock their cars even when parking them for a minute or two.

Leaving the key in the ignition is an invitation to waiting car thieves, the warning said, adding that at least two-thirds of the thefts would occur if the owners would take th esimple and elemental precaution of removing the key.

There are three classs of automobile thieves, according to the Patrol.

They are the, so-called joyriders, those seeking quick transportation, and th commercial operators. The majority of the 1,500 cars reported stolen monthly are taken by the first two classes, youths who usually abandon the vehicles after a few hours.

250,000 Blooms At Pomona Fair

POMONA—In a land of flowers it is not surprising that the flower show in conjunction with Los Angeles County Fair in Pomona September 15 through October 1 should be one of exceptional beauty and appeal. This year promises to surpass all previous attempts in providing a gloriously beautiful display of universal appeal.

Over 25,000 square feet have ben set aside in the center of the palace of agriculture, and here some 250,000 plants and blooms will be shown from day to day. One whole section has been set aside for an incomparable display of costly orchids for which there will be a $1000 first prize. The exotic blossoms will be arranged to resemble precious stones.

There will be a preview showing of several thousand roses of two types sponsored by two national organizations famous in floral circles. The Southern California Floral Association is to have a huge exhibit with four new arrangements each day. Another unusual presentation by the American Institute of Decorators is expected to win popular acclaim. A formal English garden and an informal tropical garden will add variety. In a center island there will be a magnificent display of tuberous begonias and an apiary filled with gaily plumed birds. Trees will be used to give a forest effect.

Open Letter

August 14, 1950

Dear Friends and Familes:

In case you may have read or been told that some newly established funeral parlor was "formerly the Smith & Williams Co.," we are attempting to nullify any such false statement and propaganda.

Therefore, the management proudly announces that the SMITH & WILLIAMS COMPANY, Inc., Funeral Directors, a California corporation since 1912, is very much in operation in its beautiful, new building located at 9920 S. Central Avenue, and is associated with the new PASKEL-GRIGSBY MORTUARY, Inc., at the same location.

More than ever we emphasize sympathetic and efficient service to the bereaved familis of Los Angis and vicinity with our voncniently new and spacious facilities.

Unfortunately there are those outsiders who would capitalize on the good name and reputation of our 38 years' effective service in this community and we hope you will not be misguided by any hoax or pretext as a means of solicitation.

Personal service in the most up-to-date manner is yours by dialing LOgan 5-3687 on your telephone.

With the greatest respect for fair play and ethical practices we are,

Sincerely your friend and servant,
SMITH & WILLIAMS CO., Inc.

Alpha House Foundation Breakfast

The Alpha House Foundation of Greater Los Angeles was host at breakfast to Alpha men and their wives on last Sunday morning at the Alpha House on Western Ave.

Breakfast

A delicious breakfast was served to the brothers of the three Los Angeles chapters and many out of town brothers, some already here for the Regional Conference and others on vacation General President Belford V. Lawson of Washington, D. C., was guest of honor and the after breakfast speaker, his brief informal talk being focussed on the Alpha Fraternity Nationally. After breakfast guests were taken on tour of the spacious house and grounds, many of the visitors staying on to fraternalize.

Among the out of town visitors was Mrs. Ethel Wise Absalom, known professionally as Ethel Wise the well known coloratura soprano from New York and Washington, D. C., Miss Wise is on the coast for a brief visit mixing business with pleasure; Brother Samuel P. DeBose, manager of Alpha House did a splendid job of making the breakfast a real social treat.

The Alpha wives auxiliary turned out in force and were responsible for the beautiful floral decorations.

New W & P Branch Office

To give added service and convenience to residents of Southeast Los Angeles, a new municipal Department of Water and Power branch office is being built at 4521 South Central Avenue, and is scheduled to be completed about November 1, it was announced this week.

The Department has designed a modern and attractive structure which will contribute to the appearance of the area as well as being added convenience and service to consumers of electricity and water. It will be a one-story, concrete block edifice, with its front wall consisting almost completely of plate glass. A large paved lot in the rear will provide parking space for Water and Power Department customers.

The new office will replace the present one at 1065 East Vernon Avenue, where residents of this district now pay their water and electric bills.

KKK in Chicago

CHICAGO—(ATLAS) — Bricks and bottles flew in all directions but mostly at the two family houses at 7224 Lawrence Avenue on the South side, when two Negro families moved into the white neighborhood. But quick action by the police prevented what veteran observers said might have blown the lid off of civil rights and evoked one of the bloodest riots in the history of this country.

The whites protesting the moving in of the Negro families, despite the sacrifice Negroes are making in the Korean War, were quieted after more than forty police moved in to combat the outbreak.

The Mayor's Committee on human relations, a municipal agency, which was set up to combat racial tensions, attributed the origin of the trouble to a small band of vicious Ku Klux Klan clique.

Leander Griffin, a Negro printing firm employe and a member of the Indiana Ave., A.M.E. Church, started moving into the building he has purchased. When word spread through the neighborhood that Negroes were moving in, the white residents started to congregate near the house and police were summoned.

The Sunday before when the same became known that the house had been sold to a Negro, the garage was set afire. But in the latest incident, the crowds became larger and larger, when the latest Negro moved in, accompanied by his wife and two-weeks old baby and a two year old son.

There was no trouble until that night when the street lights in the block in the area of the houses, suddenly went out and that is when the bricks and bottles begin to fly. Police barricaded the block.

The Senate Judiciary Committee has voted to report the Hobbs Concentration Camp Bill out of Committee and the possibility of its being on the floor of the Senate is imminent. The bill provides for concentration camps for non-citizens whose deportation cannot be effectuated; for denial of bail to non-citizens held in deportation proceedings; for the regular reporting of non-citizens to the Immigration and Naturalization Service; for submitting to medical and psychiatric examinations; for giving information under oath as to circumstances, associations, activities and habits; and other such undemocratic provisions.

The Committe urges all individuals and organizations to write or wire immediately to the two United States Senators from their state expressing opposition to the bill.

ILWU Supports Security and Union Rights

NORTH BEND, Ore. — The Longshore, Shipclerks and Walking Boss caucus of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union voted overwhelmingly last week to cooperate in any security program on a coastwide basis 'pfoviding such a program is not used by the enemies of this union for their own purpose."

A statement of policy adopted declared that the union's record for loyalty and patriotism has never been questioned and calls for minimum and basic protections guaranteed to all indivividuals in our democracy.

In addition to the policy statement, the caucus adopted a part of the Coast Labor Relations Committee report which said:

"We will fight against screening being used for purposes of discrimination or for the purpose of establishing a blacklist.

"Any man screened from military jobs shall retain his full constitutional union rights and his rights under the contract to work his share on commercial jobs."

The chief trouble with the human race is human beings.

Scheme To Frighten Support From Tax Law Repeal Exposed

A clever scheme for frightening California taxpayers into opposing repeal of the personal property tax at the November election was exposed this week by The Pasadena Independent.

In a front page story, under the by-line of Ed Essentier, The Independent related how Assistant City Manager Robert M. McCurdy of Pasadena had conceived the scheme and had placed it before the League of California Cities, one of the leading opponents of the repeal, for consideration.

The plot, as outlined by The Independent, would be to induce several California cities to propose local eleftions for the purported purpose of voting increased taxes on real estate.

The proposed municipal elections for increasing realty taxes, the newspaper pointed out, "would be used as a governmental sledge-hammer to get voters to turn down Proposition No. 1 for fear their real property taxes would be increased."

McCurdy, according ot the article, would suggest that Pasadena's city real estate tax rate be increased from $1 to $1.33 in order to frighten the voters of that community into voting "No" on the personal property repeal.

How Long Must We Wait?

We've been agitating for FEPC ever since World War II ended, after we had had a taste of it during that war. We've gained some ground. A few of the states have laws which make discrimination in employment illegal, and almost everywhere in the North it is illegal to show discrimination or to have segregation in any public place of entertainment or eating or recreation.

But too often that's as far as it goes. We have laws. But we don't obey them. We seek for loopholes to avoid obeying them.

A business man in Charlotte, N. C., upon being asked his opinion of FEPC in the South, compared his attitude and that of most Southerners with that of the people of the North, pointing especially to New York, and called us plain hypocrites!

"We have segregation openly and honestly," he said. "You are hypocrites about it. What about your fine restaurants? I haven't heard of Negroes in any large numbers being served in the Stork Club.... Sure, you let the Negroes ride your subways with you. Theoretically, he has equal rights and freedom. But does he? How about Negroes liivng like animals in a cage in Harlem, in slums far worse than anything existing in the South? What besides lip service, do you do for the Negro in the North? Yet you point the finger at us and tell us what to do. It doesn't make sense."

So far as that reference to "slums" is concerned, it could apply to almost any city, including Los Angeles. And not only to Negro people, but also to all people who haven't the money to buy or build a home or to pay the rents asked in the high rent districts. But outside of the cities, we doubt if there's any place anywhere in the United States that can equal the horror of the share-croppers' condition — virtual slavery without the subsistence given a slave.

But anyway, in this poll of the South conducted by the International News Service, the concensus of opinion seems to be that it would not be wise to have FEPC in the South. Even the liberals say the people should be "educated" for it first. That it won't do any good to force such legislation down their throats.

But that's the sort of argument that has been used for every piece of progressive legislation, on matter how mild, that has ever been enacted! When there is no law, you have nothing to appeal to but a man's sense of justice. And when he has no sense of justice, at least so far as we are concerned, it's a sorry business trying to get anything done through him.

When you have a law, you have a tool to work with. A weapon to fight with. When those laws are broken, as of course they are many times, we can go to the courts and demand justice. And the judge MUST decide in our favor, if the law is on our side. Of course we want education. We want agitation. We want everything that is necessary to arouse the people of the country to the desperate need of giving the people of America what our Constitution and our Bill of Rights have promised us.

But we want a tool to work with toward that end. We want a Federal Fair Employment Practices law. How much longer will we have to wait for it?

Don't Shirk Your Duty

Again comes the almost heartbreaking effort of American citizens who are politically aware, to get their fellow Americans to do their duty for their country.

This duty is such a simple thing. It requires so little effort. It is not at all like shouldering a gun and marching off to war, perhaps never to see your home and loved ones again. If every American citizen performed this simple duty, if he had performed it throughout the years, our boys would not now be fighting in Korea, 8000 miles away.

That simple duty, so easy to perform, is just to vote on each election day. To study the principles involved in that election. To vote for the candidates who stand for those principles.

But before you can vote, you must first be registered. That, too, is very easy. The deputy registrar will help you. You will find a deputy registrar sitting at almost every market, in the public library, on the street corners, wherever people are wont to gather. There may be one in your church Sunday!

There are only a few days left to register in order to vote in the election in November. So if you, yourself, do not see a deputy registrar, or cannot find one, ask your grocer, ask your neighbor, ask your pastor, ask anyone where to go. You'll find one easily enough if you really want to.

Don't shirk your duty to America, to our boys, now. Under our Constitution and our form of government, we, the people of the United States can have anything at all we want. ANYTHING. By voting for it. The reason we have wars, the reason we have so much unrest, so much chaos, is because we American citizens haven't taken as much interest in our government as we should.

NOW, when the danger is right at our doors, we begin to bestir ourselves. And it is not yet too late. Don't shirk your duty as an American citizen. Register to vote NOW.

Consider This Well

The Los Angeles Board of Supervisors has passed an ordinance making it necessary for members of the Communist party to register with the Sheriff. Next Tuesday, the City Council will hold a public hearing on a similar proposal.

It is possible to be caught up in the hysteria and abnormal spirit of the times and look upon these measures as acts of patriotic statesmanship and foresight but this is too far from the truth in the light of past and curernt history.

The catch-all aspects of the ordinances passed by the Board of Supervisors give rise to suspicion that fascism rather than democratic Americanism is the aim. They would have you believe that in order to curb the so-called international conspiracy of Communism they must legislate away the right to think, speak and examine, of all Americans.

What are these subversive organizations whose membership must register with the Sheriff's office? Will the members of the NAACP have to obey this dictum? Will it henceforth be an act of subversion to speak out against Jimcrow and the second class citizenship status of the Negro people?

Is is conspiracy to speak out against the conspiracy of white supremacy? Will the fight against police brutality, and the struggle to outlaw discrimination against Negro teachers in the school system become a part of the clear and an present danger?

The Board of Supervisors have a responsibility to the Negro people which they must face squarely in this situation. Primarily they must resist the temtation to classify action directed toward full freedom for the Negro people, carried out by the Negro people and their allies, as subversive.

We are opposed to legislation that would fill concentration camps with large numbers of American citizens who dare to speak their minds, though they speak in opposition to the government, for we know that among them will be Negro citizens whose only disloyal acts are contained in their never-ending struggle to be respected and treated with equality . . . on the battlefields and in civilian life.

Protest to the Board of Supervisors.

Howard U. Unfair

The story of how Howard University has refused to grant bargaining rights to members of the United Public Workers of America, employed at the University, and the ousting of Dean William West, is told on another page of this paper. The following is taken from editorial column of the Washington Afro-American, August 12, 1950:

That odor you smell in educational circles probably grows out of the employment practices at Howard University.

The case of Dean William West is the latest in point. After more than a quarter of a century as the friend and father confessor of young men struggling for an education, he received what his friends brand as shabby treatment.

Dean West had eaten his chicken, wiped his mouth and settled back to enjoy the after-dinner speeches at a banquet when he was shocked and surprised to discover that the fete was in honor of his own retirement which was already in effect although he had received no official notice.

His food stuck in his throat, and he probably developed ulcers and faced a heart attack.

This comes on the heels of the annual flareup over the reduction in staff which affected other instructors the same way.

Howard University certainly has the right to cut its personnel goods to fit its student requirement cloth, but humanity dictates that these measures should be taken at a time when other schools are in the process of reorganizing their own faculties so that those who are to be dropped can bargain in the open market.

Sending out notices after employment rolls have been frozen works a hardship on those in the teaching profession.

Moreover, rumblings in the lower brackets of menial employees indicate that Howard's inhumanity does not end at the teaching level.

Using the ousting of the United Public Workers from the CIO as an excuse to deny bargaining rights to a large group of low paid workers, the University has turned deaf ears to the pleas of this group for relief of legitimate grievances.

Simply ignoring these people because their union was a victim of the CIO's so-called Red purge does not make their problems disappear into thin air.

If Howard's menials are suffering hardship, as is contended, then the institution should find some way of correcting the evils within the framework of good labor-management relations.

Having our greatest institution, which should be a model of leadership, branded as indulging in vicious anti-labor practices against its own race does not speak well for the "capstone" education."

RAPHAEL KONIGSBERG

WHAT'S WRONG WITH PEACE?

Has American history ever witnessed a more immoral episode than the directed attacks on the campaign for peace?

There have been other periods when those in control of our nation have sunk to the most hellish depths of infamy—for example, in their support of slavery and in their betrayal of the freed slaves during Reconstruction days—but never a more immoral period than now when they want to make peace itself un-American.

In H. (for Hoover) Truman's "Christian nation" the Prince of Peace, the founder of Christianity, would be jailed for treason.

Such a hate-filled war on peace and brotherhood could be engineered only by those who have lost all faith in their fellowmen and democracy, who have lost all civilized attributes, who have ceased to be human beings. They have become beasts. They are fascists.

The bi-partisan smearing of the peace campaign, abetted by those who have pretended to moral leadership in our land—yea, even the Federal Council of Churches of Christ, the Synagogue Council of America, the National Catholic Welfare Conference—and have Judas-like betrayed our trust, is of course an inevitable development of the cold war.

We can see that the silencing of the liberal voices on the air, in the press and movies, the jailing of trade unionists and leaders of the Communist Party, were necessary to the bi-partisans to kill opposition to their war drive. Now they want to crush those who still have not been intimidated.

A government which commits itself to a domestic and foreign policy based on brute force—material power and an assumed monopoly of atom bombs—will inevitably try to outlaw peace. Now it is attempting to belittle the dangers of its own superweapon in order to prepare us to accept more readily an atomic war.

The very casualness with which government spokesmen and owners of the press and radio are offering us advice on "what to do when the A-bombs fall" is more than horrifying. It damns them as forever outside the pale of humanity. They have already given us up for lost . . . !

PEACE IS GOOD FOR PEOPLE

Why don't they work as hard for peace? What have the people of America to fear from peace? Would peace destroy our sons and our cities? Would it deprive us of homes and jobs? Would it make the lives of our Negro and Jewish and other minorities more insecure? Is it not clear that the best and highest form of Americanism today is to campaign for peace?

The peace-haters say they would favor peace, if it were an "American peace"—and they damn the present peace campaign as "Communist inspired." While we're not aware that peace too has become a Wall Street monopoly, and it is difficult to understand that there can be an American peace different and separate from world peace, we must answer them with: So what!

While the facts show simply that a group of freedom loving men and women gathered in Stockholm to initiate the peace campaign, and needed no orders from Moscow to love peace—we must assert: So what! What if the Soviet delegates participated in that conference? Does that make peace unclean? If the Soviet leaders want peace, must America's officials automatically react with war?

If our leaders are so concerned about the USSR's support of such movements, why wasn't the world peace campaign American-inspired? What a wonderful thing this could be! Wouldn't it be a more certain way to win us moral leadership of the free peoples than to arm their oppressors everywhere, imprison our best minds, and call on our youth to form an "army of killers?"

So what if the Communists prefer peace! We want peace too—and the more who demand it the surer we are of getting it! We're sick of this national insanity which dictates that we don't dare do a decent thing if the Soviets are doing it—or if we do such a thing we must justify it by claiming it will help "stop those ——— Russians!"

We reject this suicidal corruption of the American way of life. We reject this phony Americanism which can stomach the police slaying of Negroes and the freeing of Nazis for "good behavior" while inspiring force and violence against good Americans who work for peace.

NEW CRUSADERS

We charge the haters of peace with Satanic sacrilege in declaring—as does a Drew Pearson—that our drive to war, our creation of another Spanish tragedy in Korea, is the American way of practising the teachings of Christ, a new crusade.

We proudly claim that it is we who circulate the petitions and speak up for peace who are the new crusaders. We boldly join with the 260 million good men and women all over the world who have already signed the peace pledge. For ours is the way of life . . . and in the spirit of the faith which the killers of peace betray, we promise:

They shall not be forgiven
For they know what they do!

ACCOMPLISH YOUR MISSION!
SIGN THE PEACE PETITION!

LABOR ON THE MARCH

Fairness Is a Casualty

Fair Employment Practices legislation is out of the question so long as the war in Korea continues. Even the staunchest friends of FEPC (if there be any such friends) will not dare to introduce such a measure during the present emergency.

JOHN M. LEE

President Truman, who rode to victory on a platform of which FEPC was one of the strongest planks, recognizes that, had he the will to do so, putting up even a token fight for FEPC would create strife and disunity.

Perhaps, out of the depths of patriotic reasoning, a worker who is a member of a minority group can find it less insulting to be rejected for employment because American youths are slaughtering and being slaughtered in Korea. It may truly be the test of devotion to accept without complaint a lesser status from one's own country, because one's country is bombing and blasting out a road toward freedom for the natives of a small Pacific island.

But long-suffering Negro and other minority workers are not made of the stuff stern enough to enable them to watch freedom's chance die at home, while at the same time they are alerted to watch it bloom across the ocean.

Sometime during the process of carrying freedom abroad while it stifles freedom at home, the government must stand still and listen to its conscience. The controlled and thwarted development of the Negro people toward full citizenship is an American disgrace. The whole concept of racial superiority on which this nation has proceeded at home and abroad, is the troublesome burden our diplomats and our soldiers must bear as we become more and more involved in the affairs of Asia.

The great colored populations of the world are allies of the Negro people, for they too have been the white man's burden, and they no longer cherish the doubtful distinction. It may be worth the try to divide them on the basis of political or ideological beliefs, but it seems more logical to conclude, that as they have been segregated, so shall they unite. The American-designated "GOOKS" of North Korea are the brothers of the more tolerable South Koreans.

A relatively minor matter such as a Fair Employment Practices law that will give American Negro workers equality of job opportunity, has more than a little bearing on our position in Asia. Such a proposal now would bring on a filibuster and immobilize our national legislative process.

As matters go now, to propose FEPC would be tantamount to committing an act of subversion. It would give aid and comfort to the enemy. It would be a betrayal of a leading and an enduring American tradition. It would be disastrous.

We dare not consider the measure and then vote it up or vote it down. The very thought of such a thing would bring apoplexy to half of official Washington. In this mental state we prepare to approach the colored peoples of the world to speak to them of democracy, freedom and fair play.

The 15 or 16 million American Negroes are only a small portion of the "racially inferior" peoples with whom the United States must be concerned in the future. Calling them names and disparaigng their ancestry won't do the trick.

Currently, we are making plans to engage in a tremendous propaganda campaign in order to tell the people of Asia and the rest of the world just what kind of a nation we really are. The theme of our program is, "Tell the Truth." It is believed that by telling the truth about the United States we will be able to offset the damaging attitudes held by most of the peoples of the world regarding us.

How much telling the truth to the people of Asia, Africa and India about the status and treatment of the Negro people will help us, is beyond my comprehension. Perhaps they, like some American Negroes, will feel that inferiority is the lot of the colored people, but it is more likely that they will ask the questions that some of us in this country have been asking again and again.

And these are questions that the United States must be prepared to answer. We may have to explain, for instance, why it would be considered a dangerous act of disunity to present legislation regarding Fair Employment Practices at this time.

FILE SUIT AGAINST UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND

BALTIMORE. (ATLAS) — Twenty-seven-year-old Parren J. Mitchell of Baltimore, has filed suit against the University of Maryland to compel his admission to the University's Graduate School of Sociology. He claims his application has been ignored solely because he is a Negro.

Parren's name is added to the list of six Negroes that have filed suit against the University of Maryland because of bias.

UPW AT HOWARD

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Several hundred members of the United Public Workers of America employed at Howard University have been engaged for several months in a fight to improve some of their intolerable conditions of work and pay. The university has attempted to answer every demand of the employes for improved wages and working conditions by evasion or intimidation. . . .

Last week the Washington, D. C. Trade Council for Negro Rights voted complete support to the Howard members of UPW.

The above is taken from a letter by Thomas Richardson, chairman Anti - Discrimination Comm., urging support of the UPW at Howard University. Write or wire to Mr. Lorimer D. Milton, chairman Howard University Board of Trustees.

TOKYO — (ATLAS) — Wives in Japan don't have much trouble with stomach cancer because they wait until their husbands have eaten before serving themselves, so claims Dr. Claude E. Welch, Harvard University Medical School instructor who is interested in diagnosis and therapy of cancer.

It all comes from the fact that hot, highly seasoned food is thought to be one of the chief causes of stomach cancer. By the time the Japanese woman gets around to eating, her food has cooled enough to make it less irritating—hence, less cancer.

HEARING ADJOURNED

After five weeks of presenting its case at the deportation hearing of Andrew Dymtryshyn, vice president of the Ukranian American Fraternal Union, IWO, the government last week rested its case. Hearing Examiner William Wyrsch adjourned the hearing for one month—until Monday, September 11 at 9:30 a.m.

Defense attorney Isidore Englander, retained by American Committee for Protection of the Foreign Born which is defending Andrew Dymtryshyn, had requested a two-month adjournment in order to allow adequate time for the preparation of the defense case.

INDIA ADVISES CAUTION ON TIBET

NEW DELHI—(ATLAS) — The Indian Government is using its "good offices" In Peiping China in a frantic effort of moderating Chinese action in Tibet, Indian High Commissioner, V. K. Krishna Menon declared.

NEGRO CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR OF N. Y. C.

NEW YORK (ATLAS)—Mayor O'Dwyer's resignation will leave the race for mayor of the largest city in the country wide open.

If a qualified Negro enters this year's campaign for Mayor of New York City, the gesture, itself, will enhance the ambition of every Negro politically. He would be more zealously concerned with the difference betwen good and bad government. His responsibility to improve the calibre of his citizenship in order to some day realize the ambition of holding public office would become commonplace.

A well qualified Negro, and there are many of them in the city of New York, should be encouraged to enter this wide open race for the election of the mayor of New York City, and assert himself as being willing to accept the challenge of responsibility of government. Win or lose, the effect would be tremendously advantageous to our free initiative system from every conceivable standpoint.

MUNDT-NIXON BY ANY OTHER NAME JUST AS BAD

The Senate Judiciary Committee last week sneaked through the McCarran bill by a vote of 9 to 3. The three courageous dissenters were Senators Langer, Kilgore and Graham. Without the usual procedure of public hearings, the nine members of the committee acted in a most undemocratic manner—the manner which could be expected of any legislator approving this monstrous legislation.

WHAT IS THE McCARRAN BILL? WHO IS McCARRAN?

The McCarran Bill wraps up six measures into one package. It contains: provisions of the Mundt-Ferguson bill, the Hobbs bill (which establishes concentration camps for aliens), drastic changes in the immigration, passport and visa laws. (None of these or similar measures was deemed necessary or advisable during World War II; there is likewise no need for such far-reaching legislation now.)

McCarran is the man who has spearheaded the drive to admit fascist Franco Spain into the United Nations; also the drive to lend that regime millions of dollars.

NEW YORK—The three-member Federal Court of Appeals, the second highest tribunal in the United States, unanimously rejected the appeal of the eleven Communist leaders from their conviction at the Foley Square trial. A fight is being planned for the next stage of the struggle—an appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court.

RECONSTRUCTION: THE NEW POLICY (NEP).

The Russia that emerged from the Intervention was incredibly poor. Eight-ninths of its territory had been in the hands of anti-Soviet forces at one time or another and had been thoroughly plundered. The Soviet ninth had been stripped to meet the needs of war. It took eight to ten days to travel the 400 miles by rail from Moscow to Kharkov. Industrial output had fallen to one-seventh of the pre-war level. The industrial workers to whom the Soviet government looked for its main support had streamed back into the countryside in search of sustenance. Among the workers who remained, discontent was widespread.

The Red Army now became another source of unrest. The demobilized soldiers were unable to find work or found themselves back in a disorganized countryside. In 1920 the total output of agriculture was at one-half the pre- war level. Crop failures complicated a situation already critical because 50,000,000 acres had not been planted. The peasantry now demanded the right to dispose of their produce as they saw fit. They were the more insistent because the government had not been able to supply them with the store goods they needed.

Kulak-led peasant revolts were widespread. The Bolshevik sailors of the Baltic Fleet had been dispersed throughout the country as Red Army shock troops. Their places were taken by recruits fresh from the farms. The Left Socialist - Revolutionaries propagandized these recruits with the slogan: "Soviets, but without the Communists!" Rebelling at the Kronstadt naval base, outside Petrograd, in March of 1921, they were defeated by forces led in person by almost the entire leadership of the Communist Party.

At the Tenth Party Congress, held at this time, the main decision was to introduce a New Economic Policy, whose central feature was the replacement of requisitioning in agriculture by a fixed agricultural tax in kind. As with any normal tax, the peasants would now know in advance the amount to be paid for the year, aand make their plans accordingly. During the first year of operation, the total quantity to be raised by this tax was fixed at only a little more than the previous year's requisitioning. The peasants retained the difference, and sought to exchange it for manufactures. They had purchased 1,400,000,000 rubles worth in 1913 and were able to find less than one-eighth that value on the market in 1920. Their demands stimulated the resumption of private industry, which the government again permitted to function. It rented some 4,000 small enterprises to private capitalists, native and foreign. However, the government continued to operate a somewhat larger number—about 4500. These were the more important, both in size and in basic industrial character. The government made steel; private enterprise made hardware. Moreover, Soviet labor law, with its short work day, paid vacations for all, paid sick and pregnancy leave, strict safety and health regulations, and compulsory collective bargaining, with the government frankly on the side of the unions, was rigidly enforced in privately run plants.

NEP (New Economic Policy) met the emergency. By 1922 there were 250,000,000 rubles worth of goods for the peasants. Industry as a whole rose to 26 per cent of the pre-war level, a marked improvement over the 1920 figure of 14 per cent. By 1922 there was a good harvest, offsetting the outright famine of 1921, which had affected 20,000,-

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Mrs. Charlotta Bass, Editor
The California Eagle
Los Angeles, Calif.
Dear Mrs. Bass,

Young men are accused of being "unambitious, irresponsible, foolish guys who should be sent off to the army to learn how to take discipline."

The foregoing baloney is, obviously, propaganda for a tremendous army, which would be no good for the country. Karl H. von Wiegandt pointed this out in the San Francisco Examiner. Mr. von Wiegandt, a well-known newspaperman, interviewed General Heinz Guderian and other experts, and reached the conclusion that America would fall into a Russian trap if it made excessive expenditures on the military program.

Even Hearst mossbacks know there is a limit to militarism, although it is far from them to show up the nonsensical stuff which some old maniacs are putting out in their garrison-state propaganda. So I will.

First this junk about "no ambition." What this really means is that it isn't our ambition to be treated like dogs. We would be crazy if we were eager beavers about working, because we won't get anywhere working our heads off. Promotions? Not hardly, if you're under 27. Layoffs? But definitely.

Next, the malarky about 'irresponsibility." What this means is that we don't want to take the blame for the mess that mossbacks make out of the country. Sometimes you are "irresponsible" because you dont think you can afford family responsibility. Which you can't, finaneially.

Or, sometimes, young drivers are "irresponsible" because they get involved in accidents on roads built to suit mossbacks and in moss-back-engineered automobiles while being pestered by mossback back-seat drivers "teenicides." Just how far can this Hitler big-lie stuff go?)

Young men have responsibilities which the mossbacks refuse to understand. Indeed, responsibilities arising out of socially irresponsible activity of the moss backs themselves, who are devoid of any integrity.

Of course the mossbacks have their contemptible propaganda about young women, as well as about young men. In realtity young women are usually industrious (often too industrious for their own good), efficient independent, spirited, and observant. Young Mexican-American women, in addition, are perennially cheerful and congenial, and have deep insight into all kinds of everyday social situations. To the mossback Yankee imperialist mentality, they are "tortillas."

Young women in general are expected to produce offspring to work and shoot for the mossbacks. Beginning at age fifteen, they get called "superficial," 'giddy," "flighty," "over ambitious," "selfish," et cetera ad infinitum, because they aren't producing little work-horses and rifle-toters.

Now, getting back to this business about "ambition." If a young person is naive enough to expect "fair" return for being industrious, he or she is 'over-ambitious." If he or she is wise to the game, the mossbacks yell —"unambitious!"

William L. Patterson
National Executive Secretary
Civil Rights Congress
New York 17, N. Y.
Dear Mr. Patterson:

Yours of Aug. 7, 1950 has been received, and I am very sorry to hear of the dangerous threat to the Civil Rights Congress.

I am deeply grateful for all that the Civil Rights Congress has done and is doing for me in the fight to save my life. I also appreciate the great work it has done in aiding many other unfortunate Negroes throughout the United States to obtain justice and equal protection of the law, when same had been denied them.

To enjoin the Civil Rights Congress, by the enactment of any bill, law or legislative act, or any bill, law, etc. ,that could be used towards that end, would be a devastating blow to the Negro in his fight for equal rights and protection of the law; and to all liberal and progressive-minded people. Therefore, were I free to do so, I would gladly work unceasingly to defeat the passage of the insidious and pernicious "Mundt-Ferguson Bill, which I am fairly well familiar with.

However, due to my unfortunate position of being confined here on "death row" at San Quentin, awaiting execution, I am unable to be of any help to you. I can only render my moral support, which I do.

The rules egoverning the prison will not allow me to sign and return the form, as requested by you, as much as I would like to do so.

However, I would like for you, acting in your capacity of Secretary of the Civil ights Congress to feel free to use my name and/or case in any way, or at any time, that will help defeat the heretofore mentioned Bill; or in any way that would be of a credit to the Civil Rights Congress and its cause.

I sincerely hope that all freedom loving people will unite, and fight day and night to defeat the Mundt-Ferguson Bill, so that all above mentioned people, and progressive organizations may enjoy at least two of the basic freedoms, i.e., freedom of speech and freedom from fear. There is much I would like to say on the subject, but to ensure this missive meeting approval for mailing, I must refrain from doing so.

With best personal regards, and wishing the Civil Rights Congress a long and successful life, I am,

Yours sincerely,
(Signed) Wesley R. Wells

P.S.: Please give my best regards to Aubrey Grossman. Thanking you kindly in advance.

August 21, 1950

Dear Editor:

No doubt the enclosed letter from Wesley Robert Wells will interest you and your readers. Mr. Wells is a Negro who lives under the shadow of a death sentence in San Quentin prison, Calif., for throwing a cuspidor at a prison guard though the guard was not killed. The Wells case has become a symbol of what happens to a Negro who with the greatest of physical courage for a number of years stands up and defies prison jim-crow. Out of the Wells case developed the lawsuit which is now pending, filed by the Civil Rights Congress challenging segregation in California prisons.

Yours very truly,

The California Un-American Activities Committee, headed by Jack Tenney, must stand trial for damages because of the alleged violation of the civil rights of a U.S. citizen.

A Mr. Brandhove circulated a petition among members of the State Legislature, asking that no more appropriations be granted the Tenney Committee. He was called before the committee, charged with a misdemeanor, but later the charges were dismissed by the court. Brandhove then sued the committee for damages for violation of his civil rights.

KINLOCH'S LETTERS

OUR FOREIGN POLICY MUST EMPHASIZE GOOD NEIGHBOR RELATIONS WITH MEXICO

By Rev. John H. Owens

The machinery of the United Nations was hailed by a war-weary world as a realistic approach to the problem of maintaining peace among the nations. The subscribing governments desired some type of international tribunal in which the maximum confidence of each nation might be imposed, for the impartial adjudication of potential conflicts between nations. Good neighbor relations between the United States and her Latin neighbor, just south of the Rio Grande, are keystones in the structure for a successfully functioning United Nations. Any rupture of these good neighbor relations might strain the peace-making facilities of the United Nations for reasons which shall appear hereafter in this article.

Citizens of the United States are more conscious of Mexico than any of the other Latin Nations of the Western Hemisphere. There are many reasons for this: The proximity of Mexico to the United States, and its accessibility for travel, trade and intercourse between the citizens of the United States and Mexico, has mutually acquainted the citizens of these nations with each other. Many former citizens of Mexico now live permanently within our borders, and large numbers of Mexicans are used annually to harvest the crops of the ranches of the Southwest. And finally, much of the southwest area of the United States was once a part of Mexico and in acquiring the territory, we also acquired the social traditions, many of the customs, much of the art and architecture and some of the language of Mexico.

Although Mexico is neither the largest in territorial area nor in population of the Latin Nations of the Western Hemisphere, its identity of interests with the United States causes Mexico to bulk large in any and all Pan-American affairs. None of the Latin Nations look with favor upon intervention in their internal affairs by their larger, English-speaking brother north of the Rio Grande, even though he may be benevolently disposed. They are not all in favor of the application of the Monroe Doctrine. Perhaps the history of our foreign relations in the past with our Latin neighbors may furnish the clue for a solution to this attitude.

U. S. Seizures

Aside from the controversial aspects of the case which are too voluminous for this discussion, the Spanish-speaking nations have not forgotten that much of the Southwestern area of the United States was acquired from in the War of 1848. Many Latins regard this as nothing more nor less than a land grab on the part of a larger and aggressor nation against a smaller and weaker nation. At the time of its acquisition, many prominent citizens of the United States regarded this as acquisition of territory through conquest. The martyred President, Abraham Lincoln, then a Representative in the National Congress from the State of Illinois, denounced the War of 1848 and the acquisition of this territory from Mexico on the floor of Congress.

The Latins still remember and it is common knowledge of students of international affairs within the United States, that only acts of shoddy foreign diplomacy secured to the United States the right to construct the Panama Canal through manipulations which made Panama independent of the State of Colombia. Many of our Senators and Representatives denounced this act on the part of the United States as unethical and incompatible with the respect which sovereign nations mutually owe to each other. And finally, President Woodrow Wilson's unprovoked shelling of Vera Cruz about 1912 or thereabouts is still painfully fresh in the memory of many Latins

With this background in mind, any rupture of the good neighbor relations between Mexico and the United States, however much it might be predicated upon reasonable ractors, would strain the facilities of the United Nations for peaceful adjudication. We must recall that with the exception of the country of Brazil, in which Portguese is spoken, all of the sovereign nations south of the Rio Grande speak Spanish. This is a mutual bond within itself. Hence any rupture of the friendly relations between Mexico and the United States, despite affirmations of neutrality on the part of the respective governments of the other Latin nations, would leave the motives of this nation open to suspicion and distrust on the part of citizens of these Latin nations.

U. S. Prestige?

It is the consensus of enlightened opinion that the United States, in co-operation with Birtain to the extent that she may cooperate, is attempting to influence the political thought of much of Europe and the Western Hemisphere to the extent that they will be in general opposition to certain political philosophies with which the United States is not in accord. To do this we must build up sufficient prestige in the sphere of political morality to the extent that we may win the allegiance of these nations. Allegiance must be won; it can be bribed or coerced only to a very limited and unreliable extent.

Hence, we must prove to our Latin neighbors that we are worthy of leadership by superior diplomacy based upon equity and mutuality of respect for sovereign nations, and a willingness to negotiate with weaker nations, bi-lateral and multilateral treaties rather than uniateral treaties which Anglo-Saxon nations have in the past become notoriously for infamously enforcing the latter upon many of the non-Anglo-Saxon nations. This hegemony of the nations of the Western Hemisphere by the United States will be predicated upon its ability to free itself from the untold horrors, savageries, absurdities and infamies of inferior and superior races. And only if its citizens can become accustomed to rules of decent, social living and accustomed to observing them without a maximum of force and compulsion.

It is then and only then when the denunciation of the morality of any political philosophy on the part of the United States will appear other than rank hypocrisy to many nations of the world. These substantial and comprehensive rights of decent social living must become more than pious aspirations to be given effect only when circumstances conveniently permit. And the society or nation which possesses them, has laid the firm foundations for a really healthy and fully equalitarian democracy, worthy of emulation by any nation. Upon the basis of such a sound democracy, it is possible to win the allegiance of the nations south of the Rio Grande to the extent that, without the practice of questionable diplomacy, we may be looked up to as the logical leader of the democracies of the world. This is a preferential method to corruption, bribery or coercion. Then will the superiority of our social order become clearly more desirable to that which may originate in some parts of Asia or Europe, and our hegemony of the democratic way of life may be assured.

The Big Story

This is the story.

It is a real story, exciting, gripping. It is the best, perhaps, because you have the biggest role to play in it.

The story begins on a street car, and you are seated on it on your way to your job in the shipyards or the aircraft plants. Or maybe you are riding in a motor car, and you are one of the pick-ups.

At any rate, he is sitting next to you.

Who is he?

He is the new fellow from Texas or Oklahoma or Mississippi or Georgia or Alabama who has come to Los Angeles in search for "a job in the defense." And he's found it.

You sit next to him and you think how green he is. You wish he wouldn't wear a loud suit with the hanging coat-tail. Maybe you sit there and think "Texas! Humph!" or "Mississippi! Humph!" or whatever the state may be.

If you do this, you are wrong, for you are missing th story. The great story. The epic story.

He has a story, this man who sits next to you in the loud suit.

It has great stark outlines. They are:

Poverty.

Hunger.

Terror.

Disease.

That is the story of Texas, Oklahoma, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia. Maybe not the story of the talented tenth or the upper crust. But it is the real story.

It is the story of desperate yearning for small things: new pants, once a year; turkey, once a year, maybe; freedom, never.

Yes, that is his story, this neighbor of yours, with loud clothes and konked hair.

Can you imagine what this means to him? This fifty dollars a week? This going to the big shows and eating in the big restaurants and being dressed to Kill?

Do you know how Free he feels?

Do you know that this is all he wants? To feel this freedom, to drink it up, to let it sing out of him, to dance with it, and laugh loud with it, and exploit it, and wring it dry?

But you know things that he doesn't know. You've had the breaks. You were raised here. This freedom does not intoxicate you. It is a flat drink in your mouth, for you know it is yet a weak drink, not nearly strong enough to satisfy real thirst.

More than this. You know that things change, and always in one direction or another toward better or worse.

And you can see the change about you . . . changes pointing to worse . . . worse . . . worse.

Here are the dance halls formerly open to all who would come. Closed To Colored Patronage.

Here is the union, trying to set itself in two boats, one for black, one for white.

Here is the plant, with no upgrading for skilled black hands.

Here is the house we live in, falling to pieces. And five blocks away there is a fine house for rent, but we couldn't move, even if the people would sell to us. Deed restrictions.

The unions . . . the brave, new unions where Okies are learning what was true at home is a lie here. That men are equal.

Here is the working together of Jew, Gentile, black man, white man.

Here is the war which takes all our sons and binds them together, black and white, and gives us the same thing to hate, and the same thing to love.

You know there are two programs struggling. One, the big program:

Isolate 'em!

Terrorize 'em!

The other, the people's program: Unity: A man's a man—what the hell's the difference? Organization . . . together . . . together . . . together.

Victory!

And here's your big job: you've got to make that guy next to you see it. That freedom's not something you Get, but something you Fight For.

And he's not so backward as you think.

He went to the meeting Sunday and heard Rev. Russell and Tom Griffith and Slim Connelley . . . and he felt the magic of a people mad because their rights were wronged. And he felt a great good feeling grow inside of him when the big man said:

"We've got to lick Hitler together . . . or else we'll all be slaves together!"

The Case of John Zion

Take the case of John Zion.

Here's a guy coming out of the show about 2 a.m. on a lovely spring morning, and of a sudden somebody belts him one in the teeth and another mobster lays him low with several well-aimed kicks to the midriff.

Two cops stand by and look.

John goes to the police station and makes inquiries as to where in hell are his rights as a citizen and a defense worker.

And the officer in charge observes that John had better quit expecting special privileges because he's a defense worker.

This is no invention.

It happened last week during the disturbances here between servicemen and what the Herald calls "zoot suit hoodlums."

Only John wasn't wearing a zoot suit.

If he were, he would still have had the right to walk the streets of Los Angeles unmolested.

All this goes to show that we young 'uns had better hoist off our you-know-whats and get some elemental things straightened out around here.

HOW DID IT START?

Well, let's begin on common ground.

There was some rioting in Los Angeles last week.

Now, the question: who started it and why?

And the answer: The Los Angeles metropolitan press started it.

Yeah.

Well, who says so?

The committee that Gov. Warren appointed to investigate the riot says so, for one. You can throw in the NAACP Council, the Seniors, the Negro Victory Committee, and the state CIO.

You will admit these are sources which generally have their wits about 'em.

HOW'S IT DONE?

How do newspapers start a riot?

The first thing to remember is that nothing, so help me, Nothing on a newspaper happens by acident except upside down lines and then somebody accidentally gets fired.

There are guys in the United States of America who own whole fleets of newspapers. Most of them come under the heading of BIG BUSINESS magnates.

Generally speaking, they are stinkers.

Two very important ones are William Randolph Hearst and Roy Howard, and between 'em this deuce of jerks dominate a good proportion of U. S. newsprint.

Hearst owns the Los Angeles Examiner and the Los Angeles Herald-Express.

Accustomed as I am to public speaking, may I herewith state that Hearst is a Fascist.

He is a pillar of the American Fifth Column and he operates hand in glove with the Berlin propaganda machine.

Impossible?

So was Quisling impossible . . . and Laval and Benedict Arnold. And so were the Russian Trotskyites (see MISSION TO MOSCOW) who, until duly shot, all but crumbed the Russian deal.

THE PARTY LINE

The Nazi Party line has one basic idea: to divide and conquer.

When Mr. Hearst's Herald and Examiner start shouting about what little hoodlums the Mexican kids are, brother, that's the party line in action!

We produce planes in Los Angeles . . . planes and ships . . . A nice riot in the shipyards . . . or a free-for-all at Douglas . . . What a triumph for Hitler!

But aren't the pachucos a life and death menace to the city?

What does the Governor's investigating committee say?

I quote:

"All juvenile delinquency has increased recently in Los Angeles. This includes crimes committed by youths of Mexican origin. But the fact is that the increase of delinquency in the case of youths of Mexican families has been less than in the case of other national or racial groups and less than the average increase for the community."

In other words, Mexican "zoot suit hoodlums" are behaving, on the whole, better than the average kids throughout the city. The newspapers were lying.

Wanna back up and hit that again?

The papers were lying.

That is how you start mob hysteria against a minority. You lie, like Hitler says, over and over, until people believe it, and forget that Mexicans, Negroes, and whites alike are dying this minute on a lot of battlefields so that guys JUST LIKE HEARST will never get to rule the whole world.

As for the zoot suit—it was

(See story.)

Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorors Entertain for Dr. Ferebee

The members of Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority entertained Dr. Dorothy Boulding Ferebee at an elaborate dinner party at the Carolina Pines on Monday evening, August 14. Aside from being president of the National Council of Negro Women, Dr. Ferebee's achievements are many. Among them are:

Many Achievements

Clinical instructor in Obstetrics at Howard University, Washington, founder of the Southeast Settlement House; member of the Medico-Chirugical Society of the District of Columbia medical director of the AKA Mississippi Health Project for seven years and former Supreme Basileus of the sorority.

Participating on the program for this memorable occasion were: Sorors Sue Bowdan; Audrey B. Jones, regional director of AKA sorority, who served as mistress of ceremonies; Jacqueline Freeze, instrumental solo, "The Second Arabesque," by Debussey; Benzelle Graham, whistling solo, "Carmena," by H. Lane Wilson; Mildred Knox, accompanist for Miss Graham, Naida McCullough, instrumental solo, "Jeux d' Eau" by Maurice Ravel.

After Dr. Ferebee's inspiring and challenging message, she was presented with a gold compact by Soror Helen Maupin as a gift from the sorority. Remarks were given by Soror Zenobia Allen, basileus of the local Alpha Gamma Omega chapter. Soror Ruth Johnson was chairman of the hospitality committee for this affair.

SOCIALITING WITH....

Vivian D. Johnson

"O work and love and love and laughter; Happy, happy crowds; Lights and colours; Movements —beauty—joy."

Earth, by Frank Townsend.

Yes, with a week past that has been crammed full of activity and enjoyment for the women of Delta Sigma Theta sorority, and such a week coming up for the men of Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity, we can easily repeat over and over in our minds the above mentioned quotation of Frank Townsend.

Convention Activities

AN "AFTER THE CONVENTION" SESSION for the women of Delta Sigma Theta sorority held sway in our town for the first three days of this week. Among the many activities which were features of the post convention, the most inspiring and soul-stirring public meeting held at the Second Baptist Church on Tuesday evening was most worthwhile.

On the program such speakers at Atty. Sadie M. Alexander, national honorary president of the sorority; Atty. Belford Lawson, national president of Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity; and Norman Corwin, of radio and international importance, were featured in a symposium entitled: "Human Rights — From Charter to Practice."

National Officials

The audience was a very receptive one which included many of the national officers of the sorority, as well as visiting sorors and local Greek representatives. The undergraduate women made a picture of loveliness as they cordially greeted and seated the many guests in attendance. Pastel evening attire was the mode of fashion which was very colorful.

Must mention that the men of A Phi A really turned out to pay respect to their national president as one of the featured speakers. Such actives as Rudy Henderson, vice-president of the Far Western Region; Dewey D. Davidson, attorney; Edward Maddox, attorney, and Herbert Simmons were in evidence, to name a few.

Following the meeting the undergraduates of Delta and the Alpha men spent the latter part of the evening socialiting at the home of Pauline James. Seen here and there, "tripping the light fantastic," was Harriet Flowers, Clayton Moore, Virginia Pillow, Percy Laws, Frances Tabor, Wilford Stewart, Janez Lawson, Nonie Moore, Charles Brussard, Alma Torrence, Morgan Moten, Lois Banks, Adolph Curry, Eleanor Finlayson, Zerlease Campbell, Roxie Machabie, several Alpha men from Michigan University, and so many more that space will not permit.

TO CONTINUE THE DISCUSSION of Delta activity, on Wednesday past, a sorority garden party was held at the home of Soror Eloise Davis. The beautifully landscaped garden and patio was the afternoon setting. Grand and elegant was the attire of many of the female following. At an appropriate part of the afternoon was chosen for a program presentation, but "meeting the new and greeting

VIVIAN D. JOHNSON

Enjoying a very pleasant vacation in Los Angeles is Mrs. Cora Jordan of Fort Worth, Texas. She is the house guest of sister and brother-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Hubbard Dunn of 214½ E. 43rd street. While in the city she has received many social courtesies accompanied by a round of sight-seeing tours.

Mrs. Louis Yound (nee Constance Kennedy) and her husband arrived in Los Angeles shortly after their marriage June 17 ,to make this their home. Mr. Yound, having accepted a position in Aeronautical Engineering at Lockheed in Burbank. He is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Mrs. Yound has her master's degree in social work from Simmons in Massachusetts and is presently considering entering some phase of social service work here in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Lucille Norman returned to her home in St. Albans, N. Y., after a month's vacation in the west which covered a tour of the Badlands of South Dakota, the Rushmore Memorial, Yellowstone National Park, parts of Mexico and a three weeks' visit in Los Angeles with her mother, Mrs. J. Lillian Chambers, 1766 W. 37th drive, the widow of the late Charles S. Chambers.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Mashack, their three sons and a group of neighborhood boys spent their vacation visiting points of interest and educational value in Los Angeles and neighboring towns. Los Angeles yielded interesting tour of the Griffith Park Zoo, Huntington Memorial Library, visits to the Coliseum, Museum, and the Observatory.

Mrs. Mashack is active in Parent-Teacher and community work, serving as program and community chairman of the Wadsworth Parent-Teacher Association. Mr. Mashack has served as male membership chairman for two years in the Wadsworth PTA, also canvassing for Community Chest with Mrs. Mashack and their two boys.

Pauline James was entertained recently at a surprise birthday party given by Audrey Burell. Many of the young socialites about town were in evidence.

The many friends of Marilyn McNeil are glad to see that she is back in circulation after a very successful operation on her ear. Mrs. McNeil is a faithful community worker and director of the choir at the Morning Star Baptist Church.

The third annual Far Western Regional Convention of Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity will find popular Clayton Moore running for a regional office. It will be that of lay member to the executive council. Good luck.

MEMBERS AND FRIENDS WHO NUMBERED OVER 500 are still highly elated over the Bon Voyage party Rev. J. Raymond Henderson tndered his wife last Monday evening with Mrs. Margaret Moore, chairman of the Committee. Little ships were seen in the decorations, and the cake resembled the blue and white waves of the ocean. The elaborate service was buffet style. Felicitations were numerous, coming from many of the local ministers and their wives and the Auxiliaries of Second Baptist Church and friends all wishing Mrs. Velva Henderson a successful and beneficial trip to Paris, where she will put a finishing touch to her advanced millinery work. She is adding to her course a phase of personal counselling for each individual type person. Paris will make of Velva Lorrett, the "Emily Post" of fashion. Pictured above, is a bevy of Second Baptist ladies, with the popular milliner and her husband. Each lady is wearing a Velva Original. Publicity committee members include, Arnetta Brown, Retha Beck and Vassie Wright.

Mrs. Cora Rollins Entertains Visiting School Teacher

Mrs. Cora E. Rollins of 232 N. Lafayette Park Pl. entertained visiting teachers and friends on Tuesday morning.

Among them were: Mr. and Mrs. Echol McClain of Indianapolis, Mrs. Helen Glover of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. H. Young of St. Louis, Mrs. Myra Vivent of Brooklyn, N. Y., Mrs. Alice Calhoun of New York City, Mrs. B. Howard of Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Flade of Paris, France, Mrs. Ethel Wyett of Washington, D.C., Mrs. George Dixon, Richmond; Mrs. J. B. Bratton, Mrs. Pearl Smith, of Los Angeles, Mrs. Spencer, Mrs. Crozie, Mrs. Jacob, members of the Hollywood social register, and Mrs. Laynora Rowell. Mrs. Maurolyene Carpenter assisted Mrs. Rollins.

Miss Flora Tryon Exchanges Vows With Milford G. James

Miss Flora Tyron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tyron, became the bride of Milford G. James, at rites performed in the beautiful chapel of Second Baptist Church, Sunday, August 20, 1950.

The Rev. J. Raymond, performed the service in the presence of family members and a few intimate friends.

The bride's gown was made of white silk marquisette with a sweetheart affect front and back, anklet length, a tight bodice and cap sleeves. A tiny ruffled cap of the same material completed the ensemble, she wore short mitts of silk marquisette, and carried a bouquet of white gardenias.

Following their marriage was the reception, held at the home of the groom's father, Mr. Jimmie A. James, 4114 Wall St. The hostesses for the afternoon were as follows: Misses Pauline James, groom's sister; Audrey Burrell, Cynthia Goodson, La Verne Grace, Gloria Person and Ruth Thompson.

Mrs. James, is a former resident of Phoenix, Ariz., and a graduate of Jordan High School, Los Angeles, and at present is a county employe.

The benedict, son of Mr. Jimmie A. James and the late Mrs. Attealia James, is a graduate of Thomas Jefferson high school and L. A. State College, majoring in Education, where he is a member of the Spinx pledge club of Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity, and served with the U. S. army during the last war.

Following their honeymoon at an undisclosed destination, the newlyweds will be at home to their many friends at their residence 4114½ Wall Street.

War Mothers Chapter Fetes 98-Year-Old Spanish War Vet

Friendship Chapter 57, American War Mothers, with Mrs. Laura Forester, president, entertained at a birthday party for Mr. Samuel Bush, 98-year-old veteran of the Spanish war. Miss Ella Maxwell, 86 years old, was also a guest of honor.

The celebration took place Saturday, August 12. Frank Barrett, a friend of the family, furnished transportation for Mr. Bush from Sawtelle Hospital.

Others present were: Mrs. Elenora Herrell, past president of Foreign Wars and charter meember of Capt. E. L. Baker auxiliary of Spanish-American War Veterans; Mrs. Thenia Levelle, past president chapter E. L. Baker auxiliary; Christin Felder, Mrs. Dorothy Saunders, both hostesses at Sawtelle; Mrs. Charlotte Simpson, Red Cross Gray Lady.

Mrs. Owens

Mrs. Christeale L. Owens, past chapter president, Friendship Chapter 57, American War Mothers, and Mrs. Laura Newman, Benjamin J. Bowie post auxiliary of American Legion. It was at the latter's home the party was held. Mrs. Newman has taken girls to Brentwood to dance with the soldiers for several years. The patients there are most appreciative of this work.

Five Hundred Deltas Visit Los Angeles for Post-Session

Five hundred Deltas, including national officers, delegates and visitors to the 21st national convention, held in Berkeley during the past week, descended upon Los Angeles Sunday night and Monday morning for a three-day round of post-convention activity.

The Los Angeles Pan-Hellenic Council, of which Mrs. Gaynelle Miles is chairman, began the entertainment of the visitors on Monday evening at their annual Greek reunion in Elysian Park.

On Tuesday evening, a large public meeting was held at Second Baptist Church, principal feature of the program being a symposium on the subject, "Human Rights — From Charter to Practice."

Discussing the subject were Atty. Sadie M. Alexander of Philadelphia, member of President Truman's Civil Rights Committee; Atty. Belford Lawson of Washington, D. C., national president of Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity; Norman Corwin, famous radio analyst; Dorothy Height of New York City, national president of Delta Sigma Theta sorority and an executive of the national YWCA, made a few remarks. Mary Lou Roberson, president of Nu Sigma chapter, presided.

At a beautiful garden tea on Wednesday afternon at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Walter Davis, the people of the city were given a chance to meet the distinguished visitors.

On Campus

The post-convention in Los Angeles was the aftermath of the most successful national convention in Delta history. All of the business sessions and most of the social affairs took place on the campus of the University of California at Berkeley. Outstanding affair of the convention was the public meeting held in Trinity Methodist Church of Berkeley at which Admiral Chester W. Nimitz participated in the discussion on human rights.

Dr. Ferebee

Others on the panel were Dr. Dorothy Ferebee, president of the National Council of Negro Women, Atty. Sadie Alexander, and Atty. Belford Lawson.

In the course of his remarks, Admiral Nimitz said that the Korean problem was a "one world" problem and, in answer to a question about segregation, put to him by someone from the audiencee, he said that he was not aware of any segregation being practiced by thee Army in Korea, and that he was certain the Navy did not practice it.

Before leaving the city, the sorors were taken on sight-seeing trips and many were given private parties by their friends.

Next activity of local Deltas will be the presentation of Dorothy Maynor at Philharmonic Auditorium on Dec. 3.

Satchel McVea Entertains Pioneers

Mr. Satchel McVea, as is his custom each year, entertained the Pioneers on his birthday, Tuesday evening, August 15, at the Sojourner Truth Home. The Home was filled to capacity.

Music was furnished by the Honday orchestra. The party really began when they started the "Peck-o-Wood" song, and several other melodies sung by Jimmy Young. The grand march was held in repairing to the table, beautifully decorated and loaded with delicious refreshments. There was a beautiful birthday for Mr. McVea. He was also remembered with lovely cards and gifts.

Mr. McVea's son, Jack McVea, who wrote the popular song, "Open the Door, Richard," remembered his father with a new suit, a shirt and tie.

Happy Birthdays are extended to Mr. McVea, and also to Cora Buck, whose birthday came the next day.

Mrs. Mande Batson thanks, on behalf of the Pioneers, Mrs. Sadie Davis, sister-in-law; June McVea, daughter-in-law; Robert and Jacqueline McVea, the two grandchildren, for the enjoyable evening.

The annual picnic of the Pioneers will be held on Labor Day at the beautiful home of Mrs. Ida Stephens, 1371 East Washington Blvd. with a pot-luck dinner. Mannie Smith, president; Camilla Leftridge, reporter.

28th Street YM Heartened Over Guest Increase

The Board of Managers of 28th Street YMCA was encouraged at last Monday night's special meeting by the report of the residence committee, headed by Hally Harding and including Dr. P. Price Cobbs, Prof. Loyd V. Prante, Samuel H. Wilson and Alvin L. Brownlee.

According to the committee occupancy of the "Y" residence is increasing steadily and the increased income resulting would soon enable the committee to recommend some needed improvements in the equipment of the rooms.

Visitors

Last week the "Y" residents welcomed the following visitors: Reuben Thompkins of Fort Ord, Marion Wright of Columbus, Ga., Joseph G. Moore of Riverside, C. Harreld Rose of Rochester, N. Y., Charles D. Brown of Victorville, Clarence V. Broome of Birmingham, Ala., Hohn D. Thompson, James H. Johnson, Hubert J. Cox of New York City, Huston Talbert of Omaha, Neb., Lawrence Key of Chicago, J. E. Rhone of Dallas, Texas, Jack Davis of Chicago and Alvin L. Francis of Sacramento, Calif.

Pepsi-Cola Employs 9 Negro Salesmen in Campaign in LA Area

During the past week and for the next five weeks residents of the Los Angeles Area will have an opportunity to witness a national firm, Pepsi-Cola, carry on an intensive merchandising and sales program using nine Negro national sales representatives.

Pepsi-Cola, "the more bounce to the ounce drink," was one of the first of American big businesses to show an awareness to the 10 billion dollar "color market" and in all of its varied activities has endeavored to make sure that the benefits were shared in by all segments of the American society.

The parent company of Pepsi-Cola located in New York City has integrated Negro personnel in many executive positions throughout its national operation. Mr. Edward F. Boyd, native of Riverside, California, and of the University of California and with extensive experience in the industrial relations division of the Urban League, is the Assistant Sales Manager of the Pepsi-Cola Company and is supervising the sales operations in this franchise of the Pepsi-Cola Company.

Scope of Operation

In this particular campaign, as in others, Mr. Boyd points out that the function of the national sales representatives is basically a sales job. The men are calling upon sales outlets throughout this area acquainting both merchants and consumers with the quality of their product. In addition many organizations, church, civic, fraternal and social are being paid friendly calls to express appreciation for patronage and to mention something of Pepsi-Cola's general operations.

The public is being informed of the earlier widespread Pepsi-Cola Scholarship Program which has enabled a large number of youths of all races, creeds and colors to obtain ducation in schools of their choice at the expense of the Pepsi-Cola Company. Many of these students would not have been able to attend college without such support. Several of the recipients of these scholarships hail from the Los Angeles Area. The public is being told of the extent of the Pepsi-Cola Servicemen's Centers during the last war and the recent Youth Canteen program which was geared to curtail juvenile delinquency.

Most Worshipful Prince Hall Commandry In Grand Session

On August 31, and September 1, 1950, at 1050 E. 50th St., the Most Worshipful Prince Hall Grand Commandry, Knights Templar, The Grand Guild Heroines of Templar Crusade, and the Grand Royal Arch Chapter will meet in Grand session.

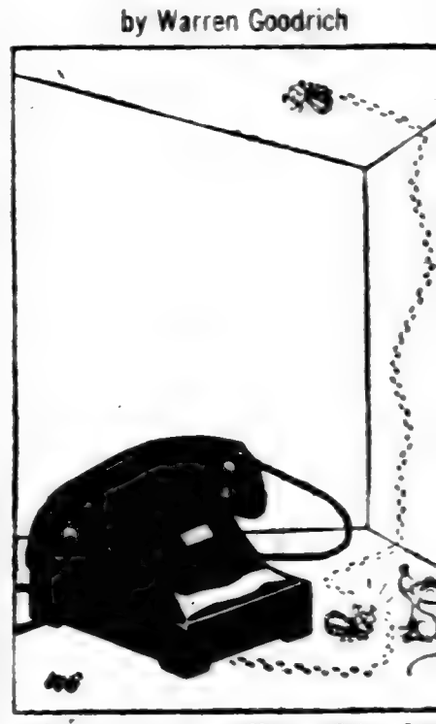
These Prince Hall bodies are taking an active part in the general community and at this Grand session, along with their regular business, will discuss means of broadening the field of activity by doing all that is possible to make our community one that is outstanding.

Through the Royal Arch and the Knights Templar have passed some of Los Angeles' most prominent citizens, on their way to Shrinedom, making these bodies a most vital part of Masonry.

Under the capable leadership of the present Grand Commander of the Knights Templar, Sir Bernard Dillingham; The Grand Princess Captain of the Heroines of Templars Crusade, Princess Maggie Fields; and the Grand High Priest of the Royal Arch, Paul C. Redd, these bodies have grown in leaps and bounds to take their rightful place in the Masonic world.

Grand Ball

Friday night, September 1, 1950, at 1050 E. 50th Street, there will be held the first Knights Templar and Heroines of Templar Crusade Black and White Ball, preceded by a Band Concert by the Los Angeles Community Band under the capable direction of its conductor, A. Hamer, from 8 p.m. until 10 p.m. The Grand Ball will start promptly at 10 p.m. with admittance by invitation only. Mus will be furnished by Jake Smit and The Barons.



This Grand session has pron ises of being one of the bigge and the best to be brought Los Angeles, and only throug the cooperation of all the Co manderies and the Guilds h this been possible.

The hard work and untirin efforts of B. L. Dillingham, Si ters La Guila Shaw, Bess Mays, Helen Love, the Prince Captains, Commanders of t Commanderies and Guild a the general chairman, Ellswor C. Harris, have been a promine factor in assuring the success this Grand session ad its fi Grand Ball.

Local Legionnaires attendi the American Legion's 32nd a nual Convention in Los Angel October 9 through 12 will ha more than 30 major even scheduled for their entertai ment.

"No Way Out" Presents New Startling Approach To Racial Problem

(By GERTRUDE GIPSON)

In writing this review of 20th Century Fox's long awaited Zanuck production of the highly controversial film "NO WAY OUT," I wish to emphasize to my reading public, that the opinion and stand I have taken in this method of critique, is sincere and honest in regards to racialism as well as the over-all picture of casting and dramatic appeal.

At the invitation of the studio, along with prominent members of the Medical Association as my guests who were both Negro and White, I had an opportunity to study and analyze this picture under an atmosphere a little different than sitting in a neighborhood movie house. "NO WAY OUT" is extremely different from the many racial pictures that have preceded it, in that it presents the Negro as a typical citizen in an average city. The synopsis of the screen story is stark and real drama of a Negro caught in the whirlpool of the white man's everyday world, it illustrates to a startling point the hate, bigotry and selfishness the Negro is up against in his everyday life, which has been termed as Negro hating. The story involves the development which starts when a white patient in a county hospital accidentally dies under the treatment of a Negro Interne. The victim's hoodlum, Negro-hating brother (Richard Widmark), not content with inspiring a race riot in reprisal, seeks vengeance which two people seek to avert: a white physician (Stephen McNally) who is shocked out of his passive, non-racial torpor; and a derelict white girl (Linda Darnell) who first aids, finally manages to thwart the vengeance seeker.

I am proud to say the work by the Negro members of the cast, stand out for the fine and finished presentation combined with dignity. I could not write any further in this review without citing the splendid and breath-taking dramatic work of Sidney Poitier for his portrayal of the Negro Physician, Dr. Brooks, in which this dignified young thespian gives a standout Hollywood debut perform-

Alpha's Salute Stars Of Stage Screen And Radio

SAVANNAH CHURCHILL . . . Saluted for her charm, dignity and her contribution made musically. Recently on a national tour, Miss Churchill will remain in the city for a few weeks.

LOUISE BEAVERS . . . To be saluted for her many years in motion pictures and the recent "Jackie Robinson Story."

BOB DAVIS . . . Stands out for his role in "Knock On Any Door" and his recent work in "No Way Out" plus his present work in Orchid Gables production of "River Boy."

River Boy Proves Good Theatre

Had the wonderful opportunity of seeing the premiere of Orchid Gables showing of "River Boy" with two separate casts working, one is able to compare emotions, reactions, etc.

A folk drama written by Grant Marshall, playwriting instructor at the Pasadena Playhouse, the drama was written about people who lived in the Willow Patch near his home town of Burlington, Iowa. It stresses the eternal optimism of the human race and the characters in the play are in a great many cases, character studies of people with whom he was brought up. The guest cast was directed by Ted R. Samuel and the resident cast directed by Tom Purcell.

Orchid Gables is a resident repertory group operating non-commercially as a free theater to enable more people to see classic and new plays.

The two casts of "River Boy" have had entirely different direction, the script is cut differently but the characters are the same with the same plot.

Bob Davis (Jer) plays the role in the guest cast, Maidie Norman (Bess), May Will Hill, (Amy), Laverne Cryor (Ma), Bernard Hamilton (Mat).

With the two productions the main purpose is to stress the universal truth that all peoples react the same way to given circumstances according to their individual characteristics.

The week of the 24th the Guest cast will play all 4 nights, following that, the guest cast will play Thursday and Sunday evenings and the resident cast will play Friday and Saturday.

NEW RECORD . . . Dinah Washington, Queen of the juke boxes, comes out with her version of "I'll Never Be Free" backed with "Big Deal" . . . and when Dinah makes a record need we say more?

Big Jay At Elks Sun. Nite

After two consecutive weeks of blues, the pattern changes at the Elks on Sunday with the introduction of Big Jay McNeely to the regular dance patrons of the Central avenue dance palace. The accent will be on "hop."

Creator of such outstanding record hits as "Deacon's Hop," "Benson's Hop," "Artie's Jump" and "Blow Big Jay Blow," this young outstanding tenor brings his musical aggregation to "the home of happy feet," the Elks Hall. Already rated among the best of its kind, this group should be welcomed by all the "hop fans" who have been indulging with the lovers of the blues for the past two weeks.

This atmosphere will continue for the next 50 weeks, and that should be good news to everyone who likes good dance music, the kind you really can enjoy.

Watch for the announcements about next week's attraction. There is a great surprise in store for you, one you'll not want to miss.

DOROTHY DONEGAN . . . has been chosen for her unusual treatment of the classic and outstanding artistry.

Alphas Salute Stage, Sreen And Radio Personalities

The forthcoming Western States Regional of Alpha Phi Alpha, which sway in the midst of weekend activities will establish a precedent unheard of in Western Frat circles, by giving a salute to outstanding personalities of stage, screen and radio at a cocktail soiree Saturday eveneing, prior to the closed invitational formal at the Royal Palms Hotel.

The Pacific Coast with its academic leadership and the motion picture industry with its world-wide fame, it is notewrothy that the regional conference of this outstanding organization has set aside a portion of heavy schedule to honor and give recognition to personalities who play a great part in the advancement of culture through the various mediums of the entertainment world. Among the notables to be honored will be Louise Beavers for her work in this year's highly exploited screen play, "The Jackie Robinson Story," as well as the many years this talented artist has been associated with the motion picture industry. In the field of night clubs, Dorothy Dandridge stands out for her dignity and poise as an entertainer and singer in the top exclusive club rooms of America and Europe. In the field of jazz, another stellar name, Dorothy Donnegan, whose unusual treatment of the classics has caused music critics to write countless words in praise of this artist's fine and finished technique, employing the old school feeling of interpretation enhanced with the jazz idiom of expression. It is hoped that the famous Lillian Randolph, better known as "Birdie" on the Gildersleeve network show will return to the city in time for this outstanding event. Hadda Brooks, noted for her piano and unusual voice quality

Amos Milburn At Avodon Friday, Aug. 25th

Amos Milburn brings his sensational aggregation to the Avadon Ballroom on Friday, August 25. Amos has been missing from this town for too long a time and the occasion is a welcome home affair.

Creator of such famous records as "Bewildered" Chicken Shack Boogie" and "Blues at Sundown" Amos was once a pass word in this town and his many many fans will all be on hand for this great occasion.

Sensational as a 23-year old pianist and vocalist, Milburn's records can be found on Juke boxes everywhere. His light appealing voice brings raves from his fans and critics alike. In plain words, he is box office. Since this group was organized back in 1946, it has been demanded by promoters throughout the country and with the type of records this young man puts out, it is hard to guess just where he will stop.

"No Way Out"

ance. Richard Widmark, who plays the role of a Negro hater, makes this statement about Poitier's work: "That Poitier puts so much feeling into his intonation and expression that I'm just going to look like a ranting idiot!" Willowy and lovely Mildred Joanne Smith who plays Poitier's screen wife, gives a true and wonderful performance.

Other featured Negro players in the Zanuck film are Dots Johnson, Amanda Randolph, Bill Walker, Ruby Dee and Ossie Davis and Maude Simmones. Like Poitier, these artists are all products of Broadway via the American Negro Theater.

This picture is a must to see. Here are quotes from several physicians who were my guest at the studio preview:

Dr. Lowell S. Goin, nationally known Roentgenalogest and Pres. of California Physicians Service, 65h South Western Avenue: "I enjoyed the picture very much and I am deeply sympathetic toward the objectives which it is hoped will be achieved."

Dr. Tenero D. Caruso, outstanding surgeon of the city, 1930 Wilshire Boulevard: "Thank you for giving me the opportunity of previewing the film "NO WAY OUT." I believe this motion picture delivers a poignant message manner to an intolerant, con- in a simple, direct, and startling fused mankind.

Dr. Louis Boddie: Gyneologist and obstetrician, "One of the most frank presentations of the racial issue to date, portrayed by excellent actors. 20th Century is to be commended for this picture."

Dr. Wells Forde, outstanding surgeon: "NO WAY OUT" is dramatic, to the point and grips you throughout with its stirring scenes."

Dr. J. Phyrown Taylor, one of the foremost practitioners in the city: "The most terrific interracial pictures I have had the pleasure of seeing. I sincerely recommend this picture."

To my many readers, "NO WAY OUT" should provide the greatest step forward in the fight against racial prejudice.

I quote, Frederick O'Neal distinguished head of the American Negro Theater: "This picture is not just a Negro-versus White story. It is a real exploration into the destructive effects of blind and unreasoning hatred. Since no other single medium of entertainment or education reaches the vast audience that a motion picture does, 'No Way Out' should provide the greatest step forward in the fight against racial prejudices since the Civil War.

Television Challenged By Elington

NEW YORK, (CNS)—Duke Ellington, in a history-making challenge, reveals this week that TV offers an artist "no freedom which is his due" and "this freedom cannot exist where imagination is lacking."

In an interview with Television Editor Ben Gross, the renowned composer, who once was a young man with a "gig" party band on the beat in the nation's capital, reevaled that he intended to stay away from TV because of its "imagination" (or lack of same).

Said the Duke: "The light entertainment programs, without exception, are content to slip into the variety show format. There are too many limitations of space; the cameras and the lighting are as yet not flexible enough." Mr. Ellington had reported that he had turned down two TV offers (one for a musical and the other for an all-Negro revue) because he would not have "independence" and "freedom from censorship."

At press time it was announced that he has signed for a 13-week TV series, starring Sarah Vaughn.

Bull Moose Jackson And Pearl Bailey At Apollo Theatre

NEW YORK CITY — Beginning on Aug. 24, the marquee of the Apollo Theatre will be enblazoned with the names of Bull Moose Jackson and Pearl Bailey —a mixture that is bound to spell box office dynamite for the Apollo Theatre.

In keeping with his policy of bringing bigger and better shows to the newly decorated Apollo Theatre, manager Frank Schiffman chose Bull Moose Jackson and his orchestra and Pearl Bailey as his Labor Day Weekend show.

Bull Moose Jackson has long been a Harlem favorite. Since his meteoric rise to show business stardom in 1948, the sax playing, song stylist, and his Buffalo Bearcats have won countless popularity polls conducted by the magazine and trade papers of the country.

Pearl Bailey, long America's favorite song comedienne, comes to the Apollo Theatre fresh from her triumphs as the star of the hit musical show "Arms and the Girl," which recently closed a vary successful run on the main stem.

and top motion picture artist, whose recent picture has as yet not had its local release, will receive the Alpha Salute.

Among some of the other top names who are expetced to make an appearance during the evening are Bob Davis of "Knock on Any Door" fame and now currently appearing as a guest artist in "River Boy," Count Basie, king of the eighty-eights, who is now appearing at one of the leading downtown motion picture houses, and others. Credit and praise are tendered to Gertrude Gipson, theatrical editor of the California Eagle in helping coordinate this affair and doing the contact work with the studios.

Loyalty Check Opponent Fired From Gov't Fruit Fly Project

Tom Lawrence of the Committee Against Loyalty Checks, Los Angeles group which fights city, county, and national efforts to force confessions of belief or affiliation from public employees and which helps witch-hunt victims gain reinstatement, has now himself been dismissed from federal service.

Took Passport

Mr. Lawrence was separated from the service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture after slightly over seven months' work for the department in Hawaii and India. According to a letter from the director of his section, the reason for this action by the government was that Lawrence's refusal to answer questions as to what organizations he had belonged to, and FBI reports led to revocation of his passport by the State Department.

A letter from the chief of the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine makes no charge of disloyalty in explaining his dismissal but states that without a passport Lawrence could not serve in India and that there is no position available for him at present in the United States.

"Seems to me there are still a few bugs here we could do without," dryly commented Lawrence on this statement of the bureau head.

Fruit Fly Expert

Lawrence was a member of an expedition to India to study and collect the Oriental fruit fly, its relatives, and the natural enemies of these flies. Since the Oriental fly is a serious pest of growing fruits in Hawaii, there is fear of its being imported into the great fruit-growing regions of the West and causing tremendous destruction of fruits there.

Army Service

In a letter to his chief Lawrence explained that he refused to answer questions as to his associations in order to hold a position because to do so was destructive of the Civil Service system, supported a rule of fear that weakens American and world science, and would be contrary to the real oaths of loyalty to the United States and its Constitution which he made during six 6½ years in the Army.

"I, for one, have only been made more determined to work for the interests of the majority of our people, for peace, security, ever-improving conditions, equality of opportunity for all, regardless of sex or ancestry, the things which these laws against liberty are actually designed to suppress," continued the scientist.

To questions about India Lawrence replied that there was much dissatisfaction there as a result of Nehru's Congress Party's failure to keep its promises to the people. The masses starve, the sanitary conditions are shocking, the common laborer's wages per month for nine to over thirteen hours a day, six or even seven days a week, are less than low-paid American workers get in a day; in fact there has been practically no improvement since the British administration ended.

The government jails people for circulating union literature and shoots them for their policies, instead of changing the material conditions at the root of the unrest in the country.

"The idea of Asiatic self-rule has taken hold," the scientist added, "and there is considerable resentment of attempts to extend foreign domination, for example that by France in Inro-China, by Britain in Malaya, and by the U. S. in Indo-China, China, and Korea. The fact that all foreign white military units in Asiatic countries belong to the anti-Soviet alliance has caused a swing of public opinion against the Atlantic-Pact powers."

Earl Bostic To Serenade Dinah

PHILADELPHIA — One of the grandest gestures ever made by one artist to another will be on tap here the night of Tuesday, August 29, when Earl Bostic and his band will furnish the music for the birthday party being thrown by Dinah Washington for herself.

Immediately the great alto sax ace heard of the plans for the big blowout, he immediately offered his services and that of his band in a magnificent gesture of mutual appreciation on the part of one artist to another.

Cash Donations Urgent Need Of L. A. Orphanage

Although contribution pledges to the Los Angeles Orphanage Building Campaign fund appeal have been generous, cash donations urgently are needed now, Campaign Treasurer Victor H. Rosetti disclosed this week.

He declared that at least one-half of the $750,000 needed to replace the present structure which soon will be untenable, must be raised immediately to commence building of the new quarters at once.

"Unless construction is begun in the near future, orphanage operations may have to be curtailed drastically and the institution's 175 children be made virtually homeless," Rosetti said.

Contributions may be mailed to the Los Angeles Orphanage Building Campaign, Terminal Annex Box 2882, Los Angeles 54.

NNBL Observes Golden Anniv. Tuesday

When Horace Sudduth, eighth president of the National Negro Business League, officially opens the fiftieth annual meeting of the league on Tuesday, August 29, on the historic campus of Tuskegee Institute, he will have on the rostrum with him four past presidents, son of the third president, daughter-in-law of the founder and first president of the league, and two charter members.

They will be C. W. Gillam, of Okalona, Miss., who brought the first exhibit to the league and who says he will bring part of that same exhibit with him on Tuesday; R. R. Moton, son of R. R. Moten, the third president of the league; Edith Merriweather Washington, widow of the second son of the founder of the league—Booker T. Washington.

C. C. Spaulding, of North Carolina, fourth president of the league; J. E. Walker, fifth president; Roscoe Dungee, sixth president, editor of the Black Dispatch, Oklahoma City; and A. G. Gaston, of Birmingham, Ala.

The keynote address for the golden anniversary will be delivered by Emmett J. Scott, who gave the Founder's Day address at Tuskegee in 1936. He was associated with Booker T. Washington first as private secretary and later as secretary of the corporation.

MCS Condemns National CIO For Meddling; Continues In WFTU

SAN FRANCISCO—The members of the National Union of Marine Cooks & Stewards General Council returned to their home ports last Wednesday to bring before the membership action taken against the blacklisting of MCS members by the Coast Guard, condemnation of the National CIO for involving itself in the internal affairs of the MCS, and steps to protect the security of the Union, including its continued affiliation with the Maritime and Port Workers Trade Union International (WFTU).

The General Council meeting in San Francisco had also registered protests against the transfer and sailing of American ships under foreign flags and the operation of commercial ships by the MSTS.

The Council recommended supporting labor candidates wherever they are running for office and worked out ways and means to improve conditions aboard ships.

The General Council demanded that persons involved be notified in advance so they can appeal and that they be given a bill of particulars and "a democratic hearing procedure at which the accused will be confronted with his accuser and be given an opportunity to cross-examine, testify in his own behalf and furnish his own witnesses in order to answer specific charges."

The Council condemned the present suggested procedure under which the Coast Guard acts as "prosecutor, jury, judge and the appellate court."

The Council charged that the National CIO is calling a board meeting August 29 for the express purpose of kicking MCS out of the CIO.

"We declare that the membership must tighten its ranks and unite more solidly than ever in favor of the MCS, the union that has achieved the highest wages, best hours and conditions of any in America for the type of work we perform."

In recommending continued affiliation with the Maritime & Port Workers Trade Union International (WFTU) the General Council pointed out that this organization at its June 28, 29 meeting in Paris pledged not to work any MCS contract ship in any port in the world if the ship had a fink or non-union scab aboard.

The Council noted that "The Maritime & Port Workers Trade Union International is democratic. It does not force each affiliate to "comply or get out." There may be various phases of the program that we in MCS disagree with. Whenever that happens we have the democratic autonomous right to say so and to disregard their recommendations and still remain in the organization. This is contrary to CIO practice and policy and that is why they're so determined to boycott the WFTU and its various trade departments."

Dr. Thornton Will Lecture At Brandeis

The appointment of Robert A. Thornton, noted physicist and former Associate Professor of Physical Sciences at the University of Chicago, as Lecturer in Physics at Brandeis University in Waltham, Massachusetts was announced today by Dr. Abram L. Sachar, University president. Dr. Thorton's appointment brings to 19 the number of educators who will assume new teaching posts at the two-year-old University this fall.

A graduate of Howard University, Mr. Thornton received his doctorate in physics at the University of Minnesota and is the author of two physics textbooks, one of which is now in use at the University of Chicago. Last summer the noted physicist participated in President Conant's Seminar on Teaching Science at Harvard University, and has been invited by the American Academy of Arts and Sciences to serve as a collaborator in the preparation of a bibliography of general education.

Other institutions of higher learning at which Dr. Thornton, has taught are the University of Puerto Rico, the University of Alabama, Talladega College, Kitrell College, and Shaw University.

State Tailors Give Best Quality For The Least Money

State Tailors located at 908½ West 7th Street is a nationally-known business that was started in St. Louis, Mo., in 1903 by Benjamin Miles Savitt.

Savitt, who built a reputation for excellence of workmanship and quality of materials during the 39 years he tailored in Minneapolis, has enjoyed a heavy Negro clientele for more than 40 years.

He employs Negro tailors and solicitors, and invites persons in the Negro community who desire to purchase high quality-tailored garments at reasonable prices to visit his store on West 7th Street.

Mr. Savitt has two sons. Dr. Dermatology whose offices are Demitology whose offices are on Wilshire Boulevard and in Westwood, Col. Earl M. Savitt of the Army Reserve, who is in the Textile Goods business at 950 S. Broadway.

The appointment of Dr. Albert R. Agmar of San Francisco, physician and leader in California veterans' circles, as a member of the professional advisory board which assists the State Department of Mental Hygiene was announced this week by Dr. Frank F. Tallman, director of the department.

Towler Tallies Twice As Rams Defeat Cards

Dan Towler, Los Angeles Rams Negro fullback, scored two touchdowns Wednesday night to ably assist the local team in gaining a 34-31 victory over the Chicago Cardinals in an exhibition pro football game at the Coliseum before a small crowd of 16,919.

Tank Younger, Negro fullback, also of the Rams, and Elmer Angsman, left half of the Cards, were banished from the game when they lost their tempers.

Other Ram Negro players to see action were Woodley Lewis, right half; Bob Boyd, right end; Harry Thompson, right guard, and Art Fletcher, left end.

Local No. 300 To Hold Picnic On Labor Day

Labor Day, Sept. 4, will find the Laborers' Local No. 300 holding its annual picnic at Montebello Stadium, 1350 West Washington Blvd., from 10 a. m. until 6 p. m.

Union members and friends will indulge in dancing to two bands and be entertained. There will be refreshments, including beer, hot dogs, potato salad, ice cream, pop, etc.

Last year the affair was a major success and this Labor Day's fete is slated to be even greater.

Grambling Tigers In 11-Game Grid Slate

GRAMBLING La.—(Special)—Coach Eddie Robinson announced Wednesday that the Grambling college Tigers will play an 11-game football schedule this fall.

The ballyhoo which usually follows the schedule release was hastily shushed by the coaching staff. Backfield Coach Lee Flentroy said the suicide schedule is likely to send the team reeling to its lowest production peak in quality since the war.

Two independent elevens and nine teams from four different conferences make up the opposition. Conferences represented are the Midwest Conference, Southwest Conference, South Central Conference and the South Eastern Conference.

Tennessee State, Paul Quin college and Mississippi Industrial college are the newcomers.

Battles Basora in Scranton

NEW YORK—(CNS)—The mechanical boxer, "Sugar" Ray Robinson, fresh from giving a master boxing lesson to a very interested pupil, Charles Fusari, is ready for his fight tonight (Friday) at Scranton, Pa., with Joso Basora.

Since the impasse between Jake LaMotta and Laurent Dauthille for the middleweight title, at Detroit, Andy Niederiter, Jersey City promoter (who put on the Damon Runyon fight for Ray), is reported to have offered Rocky Graziano a flat $75,000 to meet Robinson. Niedereiter had told the press that he had Robinson under contract for one fight in September at Roosevelt Stadium, Jersey City. LaMotta had been given an option of $75,000 or 40 per cent of the gate to defend his middleweight crown against Ray, but has run out of that possibility with the IBC contract for the go with the Frenchman. It is said that the IBC wanted the same fight but only wanted to give Ray 15 per cent. Ray rejected that.

As a result of Ray giving $45,995.52 to the Runyon Fund, the possibilities of Robinson and Graziano drawing a record money crowd is the Jacobs Beach rumor. It would be the most colorful fight in the Manhattan area since Al Singer fought Kid Chocolate or Henry Armstrong tied gloves with Lou Ambers. It would equal, in fisticuffs, the Harry Greb-Tiger Flowers melee.

Robinson is expected to have an easy time with Basora, who has no impressive record and is even fortunate that he gets a shot at Ray. Ray's camp is anxiously awaiting the reaction of the LaMotta - Dauthille mixup from the offices of Abe Greene, NBA president.

Manuel Madrid Set to Battle Jackie Weber in Legion Main

Manuel Madrid, young Mexican lightweight who has been making rapid progress in recent months, gets his first main event call at Hollywood Legion Stadium, where he meets newcomer Jackie Weber, from Rhode Island, in Friday's 10-round feature go.

The classy Latin larruper has been winning most of his main bouts in other California clubs, having headlined a number of times at Ocean Park and San Jose. In his latest effort he dropped a close 10-rounder to Emil Barao, sensational Portuguese puncher from San Francisco. That bout took place at the Olympic, where Madrid first broke in as a main eventer about a year ago.

Weber, a stablemate of Willie Pep, will be making his first appearnce in a California ring. Hailing from Pawtucket, home of another featherweight titleholder, Joey Archibald, Weber first made a name for himself by remaining undefeated in his first 26 professional matches. He then took on rougher competition, clashing with the likes of Paddy de Marco, Maxie Docusen and Beau Jack. He met Beau Jack twice, losing on both occasions.

In recent matches, Jackie has come through with good wins over Gene Le Blanc and Dom Saia, a pair of Eastern clubfighters.

Madrid has drawn considerable attention in each of his recent showings. Under the guid-

LOS ANGELES COUNTY FAIR TO HAVE 17 DAYS OF RACING

Thoroughbred, harness and quarter horse racing will share the limelight during the 17 days of Los Angeles County Fair at Pomona Sept. 15 through Oct. 1. With the exception of Sundays, when there will be harness racing only, the programs will be made up of a combination of three different divisions with pari-mutuels for each.

Brooklyn Has $500,000 Price On Newcombe

NEW YORK—Before he had thrown a ball in a big-league game, and while Barney Shotton was saying that he was not only lazy, but also tmpermental, Branch Rickey hung a cool $500,000 price tag on him. Don Newcombe, the Brooklyn Dodger pitching ace tells, in the current issue of Sport Magazine, how it almost didn't happen at all.

In the Spring of '47, the year they brought Jackie Robinson up, Don was sent back home after the training session to gain some weight. He had already had one year in the Brooklyn organization with Nashua in the New England League, where he had won 14 and lost four. Don owed the club a few hundred dollars that he had borrowed from them and he went to see Branch Rickey to let him know that he was worrying about paying it back.

Before Newcombe got much of a chance to say anything, Rickey accused him of not wanting to go back to Nashua, and told Don he could pick up his release right then. Taken back, Don said he'd do anything Branch Rickey wanted him to do. Rickey replied, "Go ahead." Don almost went, too, but at the last moment he decided to make sure that Branch had really understood what he was trying to say.

When Rickey did realize that Newcombe wasn't complaining, but merely trying to keep th record straight, he sat down with Don and talked things over. They had no trouble reaching an understanding, and it was shortly thereafter, Sport reports, that Rickey put the whopping big price tag on Don Newcombe, million-dollar Dodger who almost left the organization because he was trying to pay back a couple of hundred.

COWBOY FIESTA

The Shirts and Skirts Square Dancing Club staged a big invitational dance August 19 at Plummer's Park, to which over 150 were invited. The affair was invitational.

The dance featured live Western music and dancers wore cowboy and gingham costumes. Plummer's Park is located at 7377 Santa Monica boulevard.

For use in salads or other uncooked foods, green pppers may be frozen without preheating, the specialists say. They are crisper that way.

Lightweights Fight For California Title

Training hard in Oakland, John L. Davis, aggressive Northern California lightweight star, announced that he will be fit and ready when he steps into the ring here at the Olympic Tuesday night, Aug. 29, against Carlos Chavez in their 12-round bout for the lightweight championship of California.

Enrique Bolanos held the title until last November, when he lost an unpopular decision to Maxie Docusen. Maxie shoved off for New Orleans after winning the crown, and stayed there for more than eight months. There's a Commission ruling that state champions must defend their titles every six months if suitable contenders are available.

In the lightweight class, there are oodles of suitable contenders, and since Maxie was absent, the State Athletic Commission declared the title vacant.

Certainly no one can criticize the right of either Chavez or John L. to fight for the state crown. Both have repeatedly proved their class, quality and caliber.

When Chavez defeated Aragon last June, it was his fifth straight win this year; his most important victory prior to that, scored in February, was a nine-round TKO over Jess Flores of Stockton. He had also beaten Emil Barao, the Hayward Hammer.

John L. Davis is perhaps the most underestimated lightweight on the Coast. Back in '48, he defeated Art Aragon; then he lost deviisons to Aragon, Enrique Bolanos, Maxie Docusen, Bernard Docusen, and Tommy Campbell. But every one was a "tightfit"; every one could have gone to Davis, and there would have been no great to-do about it.

Moreover, John L. had Bolanos on the floor in his first meeting with Enrique; he newspapers denounced the mpbell decision over Davis at ollywood as a bare-faced robb ry.

John keeps improving with every fight. He's a real club-fighter, loves to get in close and whale away with both fists.

Certainly the winner of the Chavez-Davis fight would be a worthy opponent for Ike Williams.

Matchmaker Babe McCoy has announced that he has a brace of excellent preliminaries preceding the main event.

Pepperdine Now Training for Football Year

First Southland college football squad to start practice, Pepperdine gridders reported Thursday morning (24th) to Head Coach Ray Richards.

Until this year the Waves played independent ball but observed the Pacific Coast Conference September 1 date for opening practice. The 1950 season, fifth in Pepperdine history, finds the Waves in the California Collegiate Athletic Association, which permitted the earlier opening date.

Even with the early start Ray Richards' squad will have only 16 practice days before it opens the season with a conference game against Cal Poly at San Luis Obispo on September 16. The following week-end the Waves will meet Loyola at Gilmore Stadium, which also will be the scene of four other Pepperdine home games this season.

On The Turf

By GEORGE A. RAMSEY

DEL MAR (Where the Surf Meets the Turf)—Del Mar moved into nine races a day for the rest of the season, when the California Racing Board granted the seaside course its request over night. It also came as a surprise to the lovers of the sport of kings as well as the horsemen. The reason given for the extra race a day was to permit more two-year-old competition. Del Mar is the only track in California that runs six days a week. Altho the County Fair at Pomona is also a six-day per week track it is not considered on big time. Apprentice Ray York loses his bug this week, which means that the five-pound allowance that an apprentice has for one year after he rides his first winner is cancelled.

The crowd for the first 23 days of racing was 199.172. The same period last year the total was 222.000. The mutuel handle for the same period is $12.036.820. The handle for the same time last last year was $13.154.767. Both handle and attendance is slightly off. The feature attraction for the weekend will be the La Jolla Handicap for three-year-olds and upwards at one mile with an added value of $10.000. The fourth Charity Day of the season was held on Monday.

CALIENTE, OLD MEXICO—Wee Willie Shoemaker, one of America's leading jockey's came back to where he started and booted his first mount of the day to victory. It was the odds on favorite, Pam's Regards, a maiden two-year-old, who scored by three lngths paying in the mutuels $3.00. He accepted three mounts for the day but the other two failed to get in the money.

The up - and - coming Apprentice C. R. Webb made over 7.000 lovers of the sport of kings take notice as he racked up five victories. Best exhibition was on Cool Breeze in the 11th race and Countess Sal in the last. In these two races he rode like an Earl Sande or a Snapper Garrison gaining the victory by the shortest of noses. His other wins were Ahorita in the fourth, who paid $16.40. Rala in the fifth paying $8.00 and Malte Se Flag in the ninth paying $6.80. Cool Breeze backers received $10.60 and Countess Sal paid $5.60.

The daily-double combination of Other Route, winner of the second race, and Soonuseeme, victor of the third, paid $90.60. While the Quniela holders of Countess Sal and Precipitous, who finished in that order received $50.20.

The stewards suspended Apprentice A. L. Anderson for ten days when they charged that Anderson failed to keep his mount, Native Bar, running straight soon after the start of last Sunday's 10th race.

This Sunday General Manager Walter C. Marty announced that "The Mexico" will be the feature attraction at six furlongs and carries an added value of $1.200. The nightcap will honor Tijuana, the race being named for the city. Plans are being made to take care of the largest crowd ever to visit the famous Caliente race track on Sunday, September 3rd.

Fifteen races will be held, three in the morning, starting at 11 a. m. and twelve in the afternoon, starting at 12:45. Also $1,-000 cash door prizes will be given away. This will be one of the gala days in Old Mexico. At 7:45 dog racing will begin and ten races will be run. Those attending the horse racing will be admitted to the dog races free. Ovr $100.000 is being spent by Asst. Manager John Alessio in making the Caliente course one of the best in the country.

WITH THE GREYHOUNDS at Caliente—The champion K. C. Stoss was badly beaten in the $5,000 stake last Friday night. A new champion was crowned by the name of Tex's Bomb. He scored a decisive victory. The Bomber made it a wire to wire win and paid $50.60. K. C. Stoss finished third.

The main event coming is the big $10,000 handicap when K. C. Stoss will seek revenge.

Altho Sure Profit and his luck will be pitching for the Pot of Gold. General Manager William (Bill) Collier is arranging a $10,-000 match race between K. C. Stoss and Real Huntsman, the champion of the East for late this summer.

Special events nights for Negro organizations is making a big hit with the fans. It is held every Wednesday night. Negro press night was the feature last Wednesday night.

Lake Shore Beach at Elsinore Ready for Labor Day Crowds

With the glorious Labor Day Holiday in the offing it was announced this week the greatest roundup in square dancing ever to be held will be staged at Lake Shore Beach, one mile from the city of Elsinore, Saturday, Sept. 2, and Monday, Sept. 4, (Labor Day).

Attorney Charles Darden, who manages the only property for Negroes on Lake Elsinore beach, made the announcement this week. He said that there would be a matinee dinner square dance from 2 to 5 p. m. Saturday, with juke box time falling in between 5 p. m. and 8:30 p. m. Saturday night with the dancers fully warmed up W. L. Hutcherson, one of the top callers in Southern California, will again do his stuff from 8:30 p.m. until the wee hours.

There'll be real western music for the square dances and during the day dinner will be served. Monday night the big dance will start at 1 p. m. and wind up at 4 p. m. sharp allowing persons attending from Los Angeles and other towns plenty time to get home before midnight.

Fans Rush for Tickets to Pep, Saddler Battle

NEW YORK.—(CNS) — Fans, whether pro-Pep or pro-Saddler began the "gold rush" on fight ducats as the IBC Tuesday placed the pasteboards for the third meeting of the two toughest featherweights in history, on sale.

The Sept. 6 duel, with Saddler asking 15 per cent and Pep hooking 45 per cent, is expected to jam Yankee Stadium and total a gross of better than $300,000. Ringside seats are going for $20 and since an appropriate sum has not been offered for TV rights, fight bugs were gobbling up available seats immediately.

Pep, training hard in Hartford Conn., seems to have forgotten that he once set the then—impossible price of $100 grand guarantee for a return fight, and is evidently taking advantage of this opportunity to "make" the gate while the chance is goo

Saddler, mindful of the championship in the blood round battle of February 1 1949, is keyed to tight-rope eff ciency for this one and he ma repeat the October, 1948 fou stanza kayo of Pep's (the fir knockout in Willie's career).

The bout marks Pep's thi teenth defense of the crow since he annexed it from Chalk Wright on Nov. 20, 1942.

The Rubdown

By BILLY YOUNG

NEW YORK — (CNS) — With apologies to ALVIN MOSES (ANP) for whom I had intended dedicating this column and for the understanding I know he will have when the matter is known!

SOMEBODY should get hold of ANDY SEMINICK (Phillies) and tell him that he is neither NERO nor HANNIBAL (can't fiddle and couldn't cross the Alps with a team of St. Bernards); that although people accepted some of the things the Phillies (and Mr. Sawyer) were doing to Jackie Robinson, the evample of how vicious things may become by his (SEMNICK'S) display against "HANK" THOMPSON (Giants) and Bill Rigney (Giants) is a damn bad barometer!

SINCE A columnist, perforce, may sometimes consider license, we seldom wish to, but will say, here and now, and the PHILLIES can take it or leave it: The kind of stuff that SEMINICK pulled is not right; is not okay (as some people would have you think); does not help baseball and in addition will do a bang up job of making some fans a lot hotter under the collar than they already are. BELIEVE THAT!

MR. JACKIE ROBINSON (and I MR. without provisions) is a gentleman. I know of few men who would or could have taken the abuse—for, remember, the whole story never did get out—and if you heard it you would be angrier than a cat scratching on a cement basement and warmer than a Youngstown coke oven. However, SEMINICK nor the Phillies need get the idea that Negroes are in baseball to help inflate the biased balloon of dislike and contempt. Baseball is no school for mannerisms nor social decorum. We that. But, baseball, which a ways preaches that will or won happen and what should should not be done, is just a responsible for trying to sho players like SEMINICK that pe ple are people, as it is just fiably (?) trying to attempt t show that the Negro in baseba must be careful! Well, you ma take that belief with a grain c salt!

Hawaiian Music In Exposition Park Sunday

An all-Hawaiian program will be featured at Expositon Park's Community Sing this Sunday (Aug. 27) from 3 to 5 p.m. The Sing, to be directed by Winn Haslett, with Constance Johnson accompanying, will be given at the bandstand located on the North Drive, between the Coliseum and County Museum in Exposition Park.

The program, produced by Oneil Plasse of Santa Monica, will feature dancing, music by the "Pacific Serenaders" and the Williams Trio, and various novelty acts in keeping with the Hawaiian atmosphere.

The Exposition Park Community Sing is open to the public without charge as part of the city Bureau of Music's "More Music for More People" project.

Miriam Molin Young Pianist In Recital

Miriam Molin, young modern concert pianist, is one of the first features on Los Angeles' fall musical season as she prepares for an appearance at the Wilshire Ebell Theater Sept. 24. Her program will be highlighted by the introduction of Ernst Krenek's "George Washington Variations," written for and dedicated to Miss Molin by the composer early this year.

Miss Molin gave successful recitals in many California cities before leaving for New York for additional studies at the Juilliard School of Music in New York City. While there, she was the only student tutored by Walter Hendl, formerly associate conductor of the New York Philharmonic-Symphony and now permanent conductor of the Dallas, Texas, Symphony.

Reher Ensemble Concert Sunday

Music by Paul Hindemith and Mario Castelnuovo-Tedesco will be performed by the Reher Ensemble at the Los Angeles County Museum in Exposition Park on Sunday afternoon, August 27, at 3 o'clock.

Feature of the concert, in the current Contemporary American series, will be the Sonata for Viola and Cello in C Minor, Op. 144 (1950), by Mario Castelnuovo-Tedesco. The remainder of the program will include the following works by Paul Hindemith: Sonata for Viola and Piano, Op. 11, No. 4; Sonata for Cello solo, Op. 25, No. 3; and Die Serenaden, Op. 35.

Members of the Reher Ensemble are: Sven Reher, viola; Kurt Reher, cello; Gordon Pope, oboe; Anne Sullivan Reher, piano; Marni Nixon, soprano.

These weekly Sunday concerts are presented in the museum's second floor concert hall and begin promptly at 3 p.m.

Admission is free.

Fraymart Gallery

The Fraymart Gallery, 430 N. La Brea avenue, announces the opening of an exhibit of paintings, drawings, and etchings by Ynez Johnston, on Friday, September 1.

There will be a preview and reception on Thursday, August 31, at 8 p.m.

Miss Johnston, a native Californian, has taught at the University of California, Berkeley, for the past two years, and is presently studying and painting in Paris. She has been the recipient of many state and national awards and scholarships, and is scheduled to show her work at the Museum of Modern Art's periodical "New Talent" show in October, at the personal invitation of Dr. Andrew Ritchie, the museum's director of sculpture and painting. She is locally represented in the collections of Dr. William R. Valentiner, Dr. Leslie M. Maitland and among many others.

Free Film Tour Of National Parks Friday

A tour of the Western National Parks of the Continental Divide will be presented at the Los Angeles County Museum in Exposition Park, Friday evening, August 25, at 8 o'clock.

Two films, "Yellowstone and the Grand Tetons" and "Glacier Park and the Canadian Rockies," show the various aspects of those national parks. The last two films will be "Return of the Pronghorn" and "Three Little Bruins in the Woods" since the national parks are the refuge and home of our wildlife. These films show the necessity for the care and perpetuation of this wildlife.

The films are shown in the museum's second floor lecture hall. Admission is free.

Piano Concerto For Four Hands Waxed By Duo

Pianists Arthur Gold and Robert Fizdale make their Columbia Masterworks debut with their recording of the Paul Bowles Concerto for Two Pianos, Winds and Percussion, which was written especially for them.

Bowles, composer, music critic, short story writer and novelist, was commissioned to write the Concerto in 1947. The composer has scored his Concerto for such unusual percussion instruments as a milk bottle and a cigar box!

Featured oboist in the ensemble, incidentally, is Columbia's versatile Mitch Miller.

Way Out West

By THE WESTERNER

Our train was held at a little town in northern California and stood besides a long freight train on another track. This is the fruit and vegetable gathering season and there were an assortment of men and boys, whites, Negroes, Mexicans sitting in the empty box cars as guests of the railroads. Tramps or hoboes we used to call them, but now they are classed as itinerant workers.

We used to ease up somewhat on the immigration law so thousands of them could come over to supply the great need for help but it was a big job to get them to return to their homes below the border and it was feared that they would become a relief burden as work began to get slack. We began then to call them tramps and undesirables who were apt to cause trouble.

Like the South

California is no different from the South in this respect. Some sections forbid Negroes from living anywheer near and visitors passing through were often the victims of humiliating treatment, but when the cotton needed chopping and with the coming of the cotton picking season, they were sought after and the more liberal towns were flooded with agents and those offering good times and wages in these places where they were considered unwelcome, where while they were in demand, they were given the run of the town, so to speak.

Among these men in the box cars was a Negro boy, a teenager sitting off to himself while he plunked away on his ukelele. I decided to speak to him. He was very polite and pleasant and told me his home was in Laredo, way down on the Texas border. It is not far from Cipa Diaz in Old Mexico where we used to go on Sunday with other thousands to see fake bull fights.

The boy said he was headed for the big produce country around Fresno wheer he had heard there was big money. I asked if he attended school but he had graduated this spring and finding nothing in South Texas to do, came west. He added that his mother did not know wheer he was and when he did write her it would be when he had some money to send for he believes she could recover from an illness if she could get the right kind of doctor.

Like too many kids, his home life wasn't much and his father amounted to less, having left when he found out he had "married a walking drug store" as he put it. This may or not be a sad story. This was not a "bad boy." He was just looking around for food, shelter and a better chance just as you have done.

Have you not read numerous times of boys who left home early and after knocking around here and there finally becoming great or wealthy? History is full of stories of immigrant boys who rode freight trains or hid as stowaways in the holds of cattle ships sailing away from the impoverished countries of Europe and have become leaders in finance in America. So, we may hear from this boy again.

ASP Protest Franco Group In H'wood Bowl

On August 24, at the Hollywood Bowl, a group of 60 singers and dancers from Madrid, called Cora Y Danyas, made their appearance under the leadership of Jose Iturbi.

This group composed of emissaries of Franco, is now touring the Americas with the blessing of Spain's oppressor. The appearances have led to hot demonstrations in Latin American countries. The visit of this "cultural group" has evidently been carefully timed to coincide with the current drive to float a loan in order to bolster Franco's tottering regime and also to have Fascist Spain admitted a member of the United Nations.

Lovers of Democracy, people in all walks of life, ought to recognize these machinations for what they are and protest against them in the strongest possible terms, says the Arts, Sciences and Professions Council. Write or telephone the Hollywood Bowl Association and voice your indignation. Make your protest count.

the old" was the main highlight.

NEWLY FORMED PAN-HELLENIC COUNCIL entertained all Greeks in grand style on oMnday of this week, at spacious Elysian Park picnic grounds and recreation lodge. The occasion was to honor visitors of A Phi A frat and Delta sorority as part of the social activity to be included in their respective convention programs. The affair was a real success, western style, with square dancing as a real "fun" part of the evening.

Jester Harrison led community singing and acted as master of ceremonies for part of the program on which each of the sororities and fraternities of the city gave a number. Big wheels of A Phi A and DST were introduced and praised for their fine contributions of service to their respective organizations. There really should be more get-togethers like this one where all "Greeks greet each other."

AN INVITATION IS EXTENDED to the public to attend the garden reception which is to be given by A Phi A fraternity, honoring their guests and delegates for their third far western regional convention on Sunday, August 27. The lovely Country Club drive residence of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey D. Davidson will be the setting for this affair. Other social activities include the third annual far western regional formal dance to be held at the Royal Palms Hotel on Saturday (tomorrow). A brunch to be given by the local Alpha wives for visiting Alpha wives will be held the earlier part of the day at the home of Georgia Payton. Here's wishing a successful regional meet to an organization that is very near tops in popularity.

And Happy, Happy Crowds

A VERY POPULAR social club around town, uniquely called the "Merry-Go-Rounders" held a beach outing about two weeks past at beautiful Playa Del Rey. The members and their company were present and enjoyed a wonderful evening, with food, drink and sand as feature attractions.

PATIO PARTIES AND OUTDOOR ENTERTAINMENTS seem to be ever popular this season. Dancing under the stars, and lounging in comfortable patio furniture is really relaxing activity.

Sunday, August 20, found gracious Thomasina Ayres entertaining in royal fashion with the type of activity just mentioned. The affair was a successful endeavor on the part of the hostess to bring together her many friends for an evening's entertainment. The lovely patio and gardens of the hostess' god-parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Joshua was the setting. A tasty repast was served.

The guests in attendance were many which included such personalities as William Kay, Duncan Osborne, Elvira Redd, Louise and Corny Anderson, Mrs. Lulu Evans, Atty. Leo Vranton, Percy Laws, Merle Ross of Topeka, Kans., Atty. Edward Maddox, Ethelene Smith.

Dr. and Mrs. Oliver Odum, Becky and William Farrington, Dorothy Fitzgerald and Ralph Wright, Milton Smith and Joyce Robinson, Atty. Thomas Newsome, Bob Irvin, Betty Thompson, Shirley Spencer and Hayworth Bracey, Nellie Becker, Yvonne Cole and Howell Triplett, Phil Carter, artist, Calvin Bailey, Craig and Dorothy Lasha, Mattie Eakers, Lenecia Boggs, and Johnny Weems, Morrisontine and Lewman Boykin, Theo and Beo Ammons of Santa Ana; Melvin Embree, Edgar Mitchell, Lonnie White and Doris Bates, and not to leave out yours truly.

I'M VERY SURE THAT THE happy, happy crowds will gather: At the El Sombrero Club come Thursday, August 31, when the Scrollers of Kappa frat will play hosts to their many friends at the third annual Red and White Danve. Invites are in the mail. . . . When Omega frat presents their "Wild West Dance" on Saturday (tomorrow) at Fraternal Hall, 27th and San Pedro sts. A prize will be offered for the best-dressed western attire. . . . And a happy, happy crowd did gather when Mrs. Lloyd G. White (Lorre) of 3817 Ferndale, played hostess Wednesday to a group of friends at an informal tea in honor of Mr. Louis Young of Springfield, Mass. Mrs. White and Mrs. Young were classmates at Howard University and were initiated into Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority around the same time while attending the university.

Personalities in the News

WELL, HERE IT IS, the whats, whys and whails of people and such, their sayings and doings of the past weeks . . . .

Dell Green, USC student, tells that he's dividing his time between working for the Central Branch of Western Auto and being a week-end beachcomber beyond the border, (i.e. Ensenada and other points south) . . . . About one of the nicest people I know is Dorothy Jenkins; hadn't seen Dorothy for a month of Sundays until Monday at the Pan-Hell outing when I looked up and saw her flashing her charming smile.

Glad to see her back on the scenes. . . . . Maethilde Kenner, Crop and Tail member, was also on the scene. . . . Irving Smith, popular photographer around town and wife Doris entertained Sunday past in grand style with barbecue and all the trimmings. The guest—Wardell Gray, of musical fame, and model Dorothy Duvall. . . . Speaking of Wardell, he appeared on the Gene Norman radio show Tuesday night, 'round about 11 p.m.

A very entertaining interview, for Gene is really one of Wardell's most enthusiastic fans.... Incidentally, Count Basie and his sextet opened at the Orpheum Theatre for one week's engagement Thursday. . . . Understand that Marion and Levert Patterson took a Catalina trip Sunday, and spent a very enjoyable day. . . . A most hilarious threesome was Petey Bradford, Marilyn McNeil, and yours truly, when winding through the Elysian Park hills t'other Monday night trying to locate the Pan-Hellenic affair.

And did we get lost, as did many others. . . . Seen departing from the swank Milomo one night was Lonnie White and Doris Bates. . . . Received a post card from Danny Mabry, who spent the past week-end in Lake Elsinore. With the last line, making deadline, may I say remember my number for your social news, AD. 1-6215. . . . Jacksonville, Fla., Folk Visiting in Los Angeles

Mrs. Rosa Pleasant, outstanding civic worker and society figure of Jacksonville, Fla., her daughter, Mrs. Hazel Lillienthal, and granddaughter Rosemary are the guests of Mrs. Genie Robinson and Mrs. Lillian Branham of E. 50th place, prominent members of the Neighborhood Community Church.

Incidentally, Dr. H. Mansfield Collins, the minister of Neighborhood church, was a close friend of the Pleasant family during his pastorate of the historic Mt. Zion A. M. E. Church of Jacksonville: Accompanying Mrs. Pleasant, her daughter, Mrs. Lillienthal and Rosemary is Mrs. Anna McQueen, also of Jacksonville, and a popular matron of that city.

The party, after leaving the deep south, spent a brief period at Salt Lake City, Utah, where they viewed the sights and were lavishly entertained by friends after which they journeyed to Denver, Colo., to attend the Grand Encampment of the American Woodmen, to which Mrs. Lillienthal was the official delegate representing the Woodmen of her home city. They will remain in Los Angeles until Saturday and then proceed to San Francisco, Chicago, New York City and thence to Jacksonville.

Monday night the visitors were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Satchell Morris II, and the Rev. Thomas P. Moss, youthful pastor of the Nev Zion Baptist Church, on a motor trip through Beverly Hills and Hollywood. Dr. Morris formerly was the pastor of the Bethel Baptist Institutional Church of Jacksonville, and during their residence in that city he and Mrs. Morris were frequent guests in the Pleasants' home.

Wednesday he and Mrs. Morris and the Rev. Moss were hosts at dinner at the Farmers Market and motored their friends to Santa Monica and other nearby points of interest. Sharing the spotlight during the week were Bishop and Mrs. Carey A. Gibbs of the A. M. E. Church. He and Dr. Morris were fellow pastors in Jacksonville while his relationship to the Pleasant family has extended over the years. Numerous other courtesies were extended the Florida visitors.

Eastern Visitors Leave For Home

Dr. and Mrs. C. S. Long, Jr., of Jacksonville, Fla., and Cincinnati, Ohio, have concluded a gala vacation with their mother and aunt, Mrs. Genio Robinson, and Mrs. L. C. Branner, 1668 East 50th Place.

Friends who made their stay pleasant were: Mr. and Mrs. Roland Powell, Mr. and Mrs. S. Featherstone, Sgt. and Mrs. S. G. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. St. Elmo Bowles, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Jones, Mrs. Ella Browning, and Mr. J. C. Cheeseborough.

Places of interest they visited were: Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Knott's Berry Farm, Tia Juana, Mexico; Pasadena, and Catalina Island. En route home stops will be made in San Francisco, Salt Lake City, and Chicago.

Dr. Long is principal of the South Woodlawn School, Cincinnati, and a member of Delta Gamma Lambda Chapter, Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity. Mrs. Long is a teacher in the College Park School, and a member of Iota Sigma Chapter, Delta Sigma Theta sorority. Both are members of the A. M. E. Church.

In The Good Old Summertime

By BETTY BARCLAY

Summertime is the time for careful selection of food and drink. Too heavy food should be avoided in hot weather. But there are many wholesome, appetite - appealing foods to tempt the palate. Not the least of these is the long list of ready-to-eat cereals on the market.

For at least one of your meals each day sit down to a bowlful of crisp, crunchy cereal. (There is a brand-new one which has special appeal. It is puffed wheat coated with sugar and honey.) Add to this one of the luscious fresh fruits which are flooding the market. Pour on a generous amount of milk and there you have it — plenty of vitamins and not many calories!

Here is a tempting hot weather menu, designed to make you feel refreshed despite the heat. Try it and see for yourself!

Hot Day Menu
(Breakfast, Lunch, or Supper!)
Iced Fruit Juice
Candy-coated Puffed Wheat with Fresh Raspberries
Milk or Light Cream
Raisin Bran Muffins* — Marmalade
Hot or Iced Coffee
(Milk for the Children)

Raisin Bran Muffins*

- 1 cup sifted flour
- 3 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- ⅓ cup shortening
- 1 egg, well beaten
- ¾ cup milk
- 1¼ cups raisin bran

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, sugar, salt, and sift again. Cut in shortening. Combine egg and milk and add all at once to flour mixture. To mix, draw spoon from side of bowl toward center (15 times), turning bowl gradually. Chop spoon through batter (10 times). Add raisin bran and mix (about 5 strokes). Turn into greased muffin pans, filling each about ⅔ full. Bake in hot oven (400° F.) 20 minutes, or until done. Makes 8 to 10 muffins.

VIRGO
August 21—September 20

If you were born under this sign, the sixth sign of the zodiac, you are rather quiet and retiring in manner. You often fret about your health and try out various systems and ways of keeping fit even though you have no need of so doing. It is your nature to be seeking imperfections in yourself, just the same as you do in others, and to set about applying corrective measures.

The Virgo individuals are not very emotional nor sentimental but are very discriminative and fastidious in the choice of a loved one. In their love life, they may be considered rather cold but the feelings are pure in nature, and among those born in this sign are to be found many who are averse to marriage, preferring platonic love.

Virgo people nearly always enjoy good health, but they frequently imagine themselves ill or about to become ill, so they keep their medicine cabinet well stocked in case of need.

For more information regarding your Horoscope, why not write Prof. Herman today?

W. D. Dear Prof. Herman: I am facing a very serious problem at this time and I would like your advice. Will I be able to retain possession of my home?

ANSWER: A careful analysis of your problem indicates to me that you have been undergoing a very serious financial strain and are heavily in debt. However, an improvement is indicated in your general financial condition. If you budget your income and are willing to make necessary sacrifices, I feel that you may be able to meet the payments on your home.

N. A. Will I have to move? Where would I go? Do you think that I would be accepted in the housing projects?

ANSWER: Due to the limited amount of space, I am only permitted to answer one question in the column. If you will send your full name, birthdate and address to me in care of this paper, I will be more than happy to help you. Three questions are answered for 25c, six for 50c, etc.

CHESS CORNER

Cosmo, a public interracial club, meets Wednesdays 7:30 p.m. at 2180 W. Adams.

White Mates in Two

Here's a neat invention by Oosterholt. White: B-QB2; Q-KR; K-QR3. Black: P-QB3; N-KR6; B-KN8; K-QR8.

Last week's solution (correction: Black, Ps-K3 and 4): 1 N-N4, P-K5; 2 B-R6, and if P-K6; 3 B-Q3; or if 2 . . . P-K4; 3-B-B8.

USCF Investigating Discriminating Case

Latest development in the national fight led by Cosmo against Jim Crow in southern chess is a definitive statement against discrimination in an air mail letter to this columnist from Paul G. Giers, president of the United States Chess Federation. Giers wrote:

"I was greatly surprised to hear that a colored player apparently was barred from the recent Southern Chess Association. Never before, to my knowledge, has there been discrimination against any chess player because of race, creed or color.

"I am now endeavoring to ascertain the complete facts in this matter. When the facts have been obtained, our Federation will take whatever action is in order. . . .

No Discrimination

"Of course there can be, and must be, no discrimination in chess. Such practice would be wholly inconsistent with the spirit of our game, which has always been synonymous with equality and good sportsmanship. This spirit of equality has always prevailed in all tournaments and activities of the USCF, and we will exert our influence to prevent discrimination of any sort."

The SCA is not affiliated with the USCF, which consequently had no jurisdiction over the Jim Crow tourney. But the USCF will control the zonal qualifying tournaments for the U. S. Championship next year, one of which will be held in the south in the SCA's area, and we can now insist it be open to colored players.

Black Plague of Chess

England's great player of a century ago, named Blackburne and nicknamed "the Black Death," here trounced the World Champion.

Teen-Town Sees "No Way Out"

NEW YORK CITY—On Wednesday, August 16th members of Teen-Town and a Scout Group from Texas were greeted by Star Linda Darnell at the Premiere of 20th Century Fox' stirring drama "No Way Out", when they attended the first showing at the Broadway Rivoli. The Teen-Towners and the 46 members of the Scout Troop of Explorers Post No. 222 of San Benito, Texas were accompanied by Chaplain Nathaniel Harrington, who is in charge of Teen-Town Trips and their Scout Leaders Jack Prentiss, Jimmy Taylor and Howard Caswell.

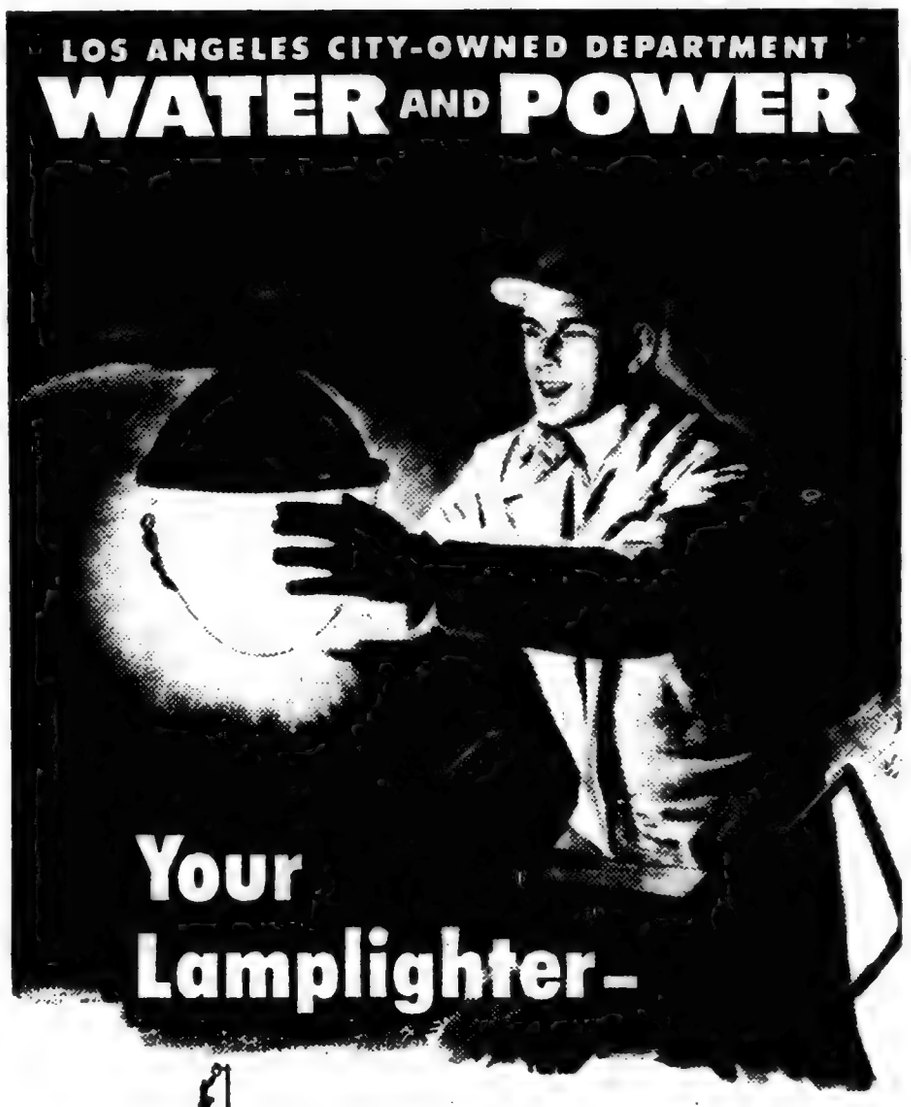
Special courtesies to the Group were extended through the Manager of the Rivoli Theatre, David Golding of 20th Century Fox' Publicity Department, Billy Rowe of the Pittsburgh Courier and Lou Swartz, Director of Teen-Town. After the Theater Party the Group enjoyed the RCA Reunion before going to the Polo Grounds where it saw the Dodgers and the Giants in action.

Boy Scouts Camp

Twenty-eight Boy Scouts and Explorers (senior Scouts) of Los Angeles and surrounding communities left Los Angeles last Friday for the annual KFI High Sierra Patrol Hike during which the Scouts and their leaders will pack into the Mt. Whitney area for 10 days of hiking and camping.

First stop was Archie Dean's camp in Onion Valley, where the hikers loaded their pack burros and embarked on the trail which will take them to Bullfrog Lake, Kearsarge Pass, and Forester's Pass (altitude 13,000 feet and highest point a pack animal can reach) and other spots. Along the way the patrol will stop to swim and fish for the famous golden trout of the region and there was some discussion of scaling Mt. Whitney. The trip is sponsored by Earl C. Anthony, Inc.

The Los Angeles Harbor Commission will be host to 150 Southern California financial and industrial leaders when they tour the city's 100-million-dollar port on Tuesday, August 29, 1950, John B. Chadwick, President of the Los Angeles Harbor Commission, announced this week.



Boy Scouts Get Rams Football Game Admission

Boy Scouts of greater Los Angeles will again this year be guests of the Los Angeles Rams Football Club for the Rams home games, Edward Mills, Los Angeles Area Boy Scout Council activities chairman, announced this week and invitations to all units in the city and surrounding communities have been issued by the host (Los Angeles) Council.

Special tickets which will admit one adult and eight Scouts for the price of one general admission have been printed by the football club and will be issued through the Los Angeles Scout office, Mr. Mills said.

LOS ANGELES CITY-OWNED DEPARTMENT
WATER AND POWER

Your Lamplighter—

1950 STYLE

Every evening after dark the Street Lighting Patrol of your City-Owned Department of Water and Power swings into action. Driving trucks equipped with special hydraulic-lift platforms, these two-man crews fan out into all sections of Los Angeles, checking street lamps and bulbs. These modern lamplighters work seven nights a week, all year around, helping to brighten your city and make streets safer to drive on. Last year your Department's Street Lighting Patrol made more than 100,000 replacements of street lamps.

Good lighting in your city also helps prevent crime. Police records indicate that many crimes of the more common type occur less often in well-lighted areas than in poorly lighted streets.

Your lamplighters—1950 style—are doing an important job for you and your city. They are part of your Department's huge family of employees whose sole aim is to provide Los Angeles with the best possible electrical service, 'round the clock and throughout the year.

Lover Man

Frank Kent will always be all the little sweet girls' lover man. Why, with his personality and good looks he can't help but be. This little suguh!! is 5 ft. 8, 17 years old, and weighs about 124 lbs. Goes to Jeff Hi, and is in the market for a gal friend. Phone number is AD 1-2779.

There's quite a unique party being given by the Athenians on the 25th of this month. Here's how the invitation reads.

The Athenians Social Club cordially invites you to attend their Waistline Dance at the Phyllis Wheatly Home, 8:00 until Friday, Aug. 25. Donation. . . . Two cents an inch. So ya see, if you're real fat, ya got to pay more.

Nat Brown make up your mind. Don't take all the gals. Take one and be satisfied. . . . Selvia Norman and Jody Clark are said to be crazy about each other. They would like to become one as soon as possible. . . . So Selvin says.

All you-all had better hop on over to that fine little party to be given by the C.H.J.M.'s. Look here, they have a good-lookin invitation also.

The Aloha C.H.J.M.'s Social Club invites you to attend their tropical party (South Pacific), Sat., Aug. 26, 1950. 866 E. 53rd St., 8:00 until. Donation 50c, stag and 75c couple.

Peace has cometh at last. My little brother is gonna go with the National Guard folk. Don't ya wish ya could have the same luck.

Little Miss Shirley Matthews gave me a ring and asked me to reveal the following. Take a long breath cause it's quite lengthy.

Say!! guys and gals, there are hot doins down at the Central Play ground. For example last Sunday a successful swim meet was held. Star attraction was Claudine Stasher, queen, and also a Dixiet on T.V. every Monday nite.

Comin real soon is a gigantic Dip n' Dance something you must attend or regret. The exact date will be given later. Everyday that dressy guy, Dick Folder, acts as lifeguard. Let's go Drownin, huh!! . . . Girlee!! lookin for a ???. Well, keep an eye peeled for both Roger Menefield and Jimmy Backstrom. What's that ya say? Yes, boys we have somethin for you too. Their names are: Mary Hall, Gloria Williams and Ethel Gilham.

The most exciting hours at the playground: 1:00 - 3:00 and 3:00 to 5:00 (thanks a lot Shirley, and don't be greedy, give me more).

Surprise! Miss Mary Alice Walton is gonna write my column next week. Sooo put on your specs and give it a peek.

Child Labor on Farms

The amendments to the child labor provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act (Federal wage and hour law) prohibit the employment of children under 16 years old on certain types of farms during school hours.

This ban applies to migratory children as well as to local resident children, it was pointed out by Charles H. Elrey, investigation supervisor for the Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions, U. S. Department of Labor, in Arizona and Southern California.

"The farmer himself is responsible for compliance with this revised child labor provision. He is responsible for finding out the correct age of the young worker, whether hired by him, by labor contractors, processors, or others. The provision applies to children hired individually or as part of a family group.

Arabic Benefit For Girls Town

Stars of the world will appear at the Arabic Benefit at the Hotel Alexandria ballroom, Fifth and Spring streets, Sunday afternoon and evening for the benefit of Girls Town, formerly the California Prep School for Boys.

Featured among the foreign stars Sheik Mar-Elia and his beautiful wife, Arabian dancers, and Ashad, the world-renowned Oud player, intricate Arabic musical instrument. Others will be tom-tom player Sliman, Mae Skaff, singer, Wedad Skaff, dancer, and Louis Shelaby, violinist.

The benefit is sponsored by the Lebanese, Syrians, Palestinians and other Arabic-speaking people of Greater Los Angeles. The public is invited. Monty Hale, western motion picture star, will introduce Patty Moore and Ben Lessy. Principal speaker will be Hugh E. Macbeth, general counsel for Girls Town.

YWCA Day Camp

The YWCA Day Camp was very successful this summer. Those girls attending were: Patsy Montgomery, Lela Jones, Annie Jones, Edna Young, Mozelle Sherman, Johnnie Allen, Maple Jackson, Dessie Zeater, Jean Bishop, Bette Wesson, Virginia Miles, Mary Gean Walker, Gloria Matthews, Patsy Ann Smith, Thelma Wallace, Bette Dues, Doris Warren, Genese Jones, Jo Ann Milton, Juanita Caldwell, Wilma Pugh, Albertina Warren, Dorethea Weatherspoon, Sharon Allen, and Claudia McGrew.

Day Camp was held every Wednesday and Friday, July 19 through Aug. 11. Each Wednesday the camp was held at Will Rogers Park where tennis classes were taught by Mr. MacDonald. Folk dancing was also featured.

The Friday activities consisted of two trips to Griffith Park, a trip to Seal Beach and the final trip was to Knott's Berry Farm. Here the girls went sight seeing in Ghost Town and at lunch by the lake.

Day Camp was conducted by Mrs. Pearl W. Bryant with the assistance of Rosetta Price and Jackie Rambo who served as Program Aides for one day and Helen Green who served as full time Program Aide. Mesdames Addie L. Patterson, Gladys Knight and Christeen Lunderman as adult aides. Mrs. Knight provided transportation for the Knott's Berry Farm trip.

To all of these people we give a sincere thank-you for making our 1950 Day Camp such a tremendous success.

By the middle of August summer has been with us a long time and what is popularly known as the "dog days" have set in. Many people are home from vacation trips, but not as yet ready to face the challenge of autumn. It is a time for shady gardens, cool drinks, and books that are entertaining but not too important. In keeping with the time of year your public library offers a list of books that are guaranteed to hold your attention on the hottest of hot days and at the same time not to uplift you unduly, help you to be anything other than your everyday self, or solve a single problem of any sort.

MINK ON WEEKDAYS, by Felicia Lamport.

Life in a fabulously wealthy New York family is depicted by the pleasantly acid pen of the younger of two sisters who were brought up in a series of rather weird educational experiments extending all over the world, depending on the moods of a delightfully changeable mother. The girls were surrounded by an odd assortment of attendants, including a French nurse, a German governess, a Japanese butler named Joe, and numerous maids, all size 16 (to fit available uniforms). Luckily the father was as level-headed as he was patient, and he intervened whenever things became too hectic. The famous author F. Scott Fitzgerald once described the very rich as being different from the rest of us; but this family you will find warm and human in every respect.

PROTOCOL AND THE PEABODIES, by Harriet P. Micocci.

A young couple, both employed in the State Department, found Washington life so complex that they bought a very run down farm 30 miles away and tried to run it on weekends. Beginning with chickens, they eventually added a cat, a dog, several goats, and a cow. Their various misadventures are humorously told and anyone who plans eventually to move out of the city to more rural surroundings will especially enjoy their experiences.

SLIGHTLY COOLER IN THE SUBURBS, by C. B. Palmer.

The author pokes mild fun at his ups and downs as a typical suburbanite, his attempts at being handy around the house, his annual struggle with the garden, the Saturday shopping routine, and all the other everyday adventures that are familiar to most of us. A nice light touch is preserved throughout.

A LETTER TO YOU FROM MRS. WILLIE McGEE

Dear Friends:

For five years I have been doing all I can to save my husband. And all that time, the Civil Rights Congress has been doing everything they can, too, day and night, to help me.

Like my husband said, "Only God knows my heart how thankful I am to be alive." Well, that's how I feel about Civil Rights Congress.

So much money has been spent the last five years fighting for my husband, you can't imagine how much it is. Mr. Patterson always tells me money will never stand in the way, Rosalee. People in America and all over the world made up their mind Willie McGee must not die.

Now, we got till October when Willie's case comes to the court. Civil Rights Congress must have money for all the lawyers, and especially investigators.

If all the fine people all over who sent telegrams and letters to the Governor would make a contribution of just a few dollars for my husband's life, it'll be fine. There was 15,334 telegrams and letters, Governor Wright himself said. Then Civil Rights Congress could open up that jail and make McGee a free man. The children miss him so much.

It's the life of one man. But it's the fight for all. Thanks to the whole world for what you did for me so far.

ROSALEE McGEE.

P.S.: Send your contribution to Mrs. Rosalee McGee, Civil Rights Congress, 23 W. 26th Street, New York 10, N. Y. Thanks to all again.

Mrs. Rosalee McGee
Civil Rights Congress
23 W. 26th St.
New York 10, N. Y.
Dear Mrs. McGee:

I want to help you and the Civil Rights Congress save your husband from a "legal lynching."

I am enclosing a contribution of $———— to help with legal fees and investigation costs.

000 people, and in which American relief supplies played a commendable role.

With industry shared between private and Socialist forms of production, and the private-holding form of agriculture scarcely touched, Soviet economy showed a diversity of economic systems. Lenin described Russia as having no less than five. First there was socialism, in heavy industry and transport. Then there was state capitalism (concessions rented to foreign concerns). Private capitalism also existed. So did small commodity production (production for the market without the employment of paid laborers). Finally, there was subsistence farming. But plans went ahead for the expansion of socialism to include society as a whole.

The first of the famous Soviet plans was adopted as far back as 1920 under most dramatic and disheartening circumstances. The Eighth Congress of Soviets had convened in Moscow, the delegates sitting in their boots and overcoats, as there was not enough fuel in the capital to heat a hall for the meeting of th highest body of government! Before them hung a huge map of Russia. Gleaming electric lights indicated where thirty power stations were to be built over a ten-year period. Lenin said: "Communism is Soviet government plus electrification of the whole country."

Not even Lenin foresaw that in the ten years he had indicated this plan would be overshadowed by the amount of industrial construction actually carried through. The first power plant to go into operation began to supply current to Moscow in 1922. In that year also, the first Soviet airplane was built and the first automobile assembled out of imported parts. Cost accounting began to be introduced in industry. Farming began to progress from the ancient three-field system, under which fully half the available land was left fallow, to a modern crop rotation system.

The bulk of the rise in employment and output after the first year of the New Economic Policy was accounted by governmen owned plants. They were centrally directed through a Supreme Council of National Economy set up in December of 1917. After 1921, they were centrally planned by the State Planning Commission. They were thus able to make more efficient and economical use of materials, fuel and labor. Thus, private enterprise became a less important factor in the economy even before the government, confident that the working class had mastered Socialist operation of industry, began closing down the NEP men, as the new entrepreneurs were called.

In foreign affairs, 1922 saw the breaking of the diplomatic isolation of the Soviet Republic, with the signing of the Treaty of Rapallo establishing relations with Germany. In the East the Soviets had abrogated all special rights in China and other weak countries such as Iran. However, it treaty with Iran provided that no third power be granted the economic concessions relinquished by Russia, and that Soviet troops could be brought in if there were a danger of Iran being used as a base of military attack against the Soviet state.

Duarte Veteran Dies; Military Services, Portland

The community of Duarte mourn the passing of one of its leading citizens, Chester Ingersol Dixon.

Mr. Dixon resided at 1551 E. Central avenue. He was a veteran of three wars, Spanish American, World War I, and World War II. He first saw service as an apprentice seaman by enlisting in 1899. He was discharged in San Francisco in 1904 and reinlisted in 1908. He served from that time until 1924, rising to the rank of Chief Torpedo Man.

In 1925 Chief Dixon was transferred to the Naval Torpedo Station, Keyport, Washington. Here he conducted classes in deepsea diving in conjunction with his torpedo work. When war was declared in 1941, he was recalled to active duty, serving until 1945, at which time he was retired from active service.

He leaves his wife, Clifford F. Dixon; and two sisters, Theresa Dixon Irving and Mable C. Dixon, and a host of relatives and friends. The family unit will take the remains to Porland, Oregon, where funeral services will be conducted with high military honors.

Carnival! Clowns! St. Paul Baptist

World Council of Churches Calls for Settlement in Korea

A statement supporting the call of the World Council of Churches for "a just settlement by negotiation and conciliation" of the hostilities in Korea was issued this week over the signatures of 496 churchmen, representing 27 denominations.

The statement originating with THE WITNESS, national weekly of the Episcopal Church, invited others to endorse it ,and calls for the seating of the representative of the Chinese Peoples Republic in the United Natons, as proposed by Premier Nehru, and "other steps necessary to restore the United Nations as an effective agency of mediation."

The moral atmosphere in our land today is dangerously pessimistic and war-like, continues the statement. A positive effort by the American people on behalf of reconciliation among the nations is needed to create a climate which will constrain our government to give fuller support to attempts at peaceful settlement in Korea.

The United Nations is our great modern act of faith that conflicts like that in Korea can be settled by means other than war. If we do not will the means, we do not will the end. As men and women of the church, we pledge our active support to the World Council's call for negotiation through the United Nations to bring peace to Korea .

Baha'i World Faith

"World Religion" is the subject of the lecture which Mr. Willard P. Hatch will deliver at the public meeting of Baha'i World Faith to be held at their Los Angeles headquarters, 331 South New Hampshire Ayenue, on Sunday afternoon, August 27, at 3:30 o'clock.

The Baha'i Faith is a world religion. Its teachings define the nature of world order. Its spiritual power is so great that already, within a century, it has spread to ninety countries. World unity, as expressed in the Baha'i teachings, is first of all a reunion of man with God; then a spiritual unity among men; and by that spiritual unity the necessary institutions of world order are evolved.

'Christ Jesus' Sunday Christian Science Topic

"Christ Jesus" will be the Sunday Bible Lesson subject in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. The Golden Text is from Jeremiah: "Behold, the days come, saith the Lord, that I will raise unto David a righteous Branch, and a King shall reign and prosper, and shall execute judgment and justice in the earth. . . . And this is his name whereby he shall be called, THE LORD OUR RIGHTEOUSNESS."

Luke's Gospel relates that following the resurrection, as two of the disciples walked to Emmaus, "Jesus himself drew near, and went with them. But their eyes were holden that they should not know him. . . . And beginning at Moses and all the prophets, he expounded unto them in all the scriptures the things concerning himself."

Mary Baker Eddy writes in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures:" "In the walk to Emmaus, Jesus was known to his friends by the words, which made their hearts burn within them, and by the breaking of bread. The divine Spirit, which identified Jesus thus centuries ago, has spoken through the inspired Word and will speak through it in every age and clime. It is revealed to the receptive heart, and is again seen casting out evil and healing the sick."

Gospel Service At Canaan Baptist Sunday

Sunday, Aug. 27, will be a big day at Canaan Baptist Church, 1182 E. 35th Street. A powerful gospel sermon will be delivered by Pastor F. K. Leath at the 11 a.m. services.

Pastor Leath is considered one of the best preachers on the Coast.

At 8 p.m. the Humming Five Gospel Singers, Rev. R. C. Castle, manager, will render one of their inspiring song services. It is said that few musical groups appearing in our city equals these singers.

Rev. Peters in Good Shepherd Pulpit Sunday

Rev. Arthur A. Peters will be the guest speaker at the Good Sherpherd Baptist church Friday night, 8:00 p.m., August 25th, temporary location, 55th and Central Ave., upstairs. Rev. Peters will bring the message and his choir will be singing. If you don't want to miss a soul stirring service ,come out and hear this great man of God.

L.A. Federation Of Church Choirs

The Los Angeles Federation of Church Choirs will be greeted in their regular monthly song service, Sunday, August 27, by the host choir, Macedonia Baptist Church Choir at Grants Chapel, 108th St. and Compton Ave., at 3:30 p.m.

The choirs rehearse every Monday night at the Faithful Central Baptist Church, 40th Place and Paloma Ave.

Mr. Clyde North, president; Mrs. Hazel Jordon, secretary; and Mrs. Mary L. Parker, reporter.

Rev. Rakestraw to Address NAACP

The regular monthly meeting of the Los Angeles Branch, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will be held at the Wesley Methodist Church, 112 West 52nd Street, Sunday, August 27, at 3:30 p.m. Rev. E. W. Rakestraw, pastor of the host church, will be the principal speaker with the Wesley Choir furnishing music under the able direction of Mrs. Lucille Hughley. Dr. H. Claude Hudson, vice president of the Branch, will preside. All members and friends are urged to attend this meeting.

People never improve unless they look to some standard or example higher and better than themselves.

VICTORY CHILD CARE CENTER OPENING—The public is cordially invited to attend a "Home State" Garden Party, Sunday, Aug. 27, celebrating the opening of the Victory Child Care Center, from 3 to 6 p.m. at 1001 E. 49th street. Rev. A. A. Peters is pastor of Victory Baptist Church, 4802 McKinley avenue, of which the new center is a new addition. Top photo shows the building on the grounds which measures 100x300. The building contains 26 rooms. Center photo shows a group of children in the play room. Adult attendants from left to right are: Miss Dorothy Gaines, teacher; Mrs. Hazel Floyd, Dietician; Miss Shirley Osborne; Mrs. Mrytle Chatman, chairman of Decorations; Mrs. A. A. Peters, wife of the pastor and a registered nurse; and Mrs. Princetta Williams. Bottom photo shows the large parking lot. (See story.)

Victory Baptist Child Center Opening With Garden Party

A significant step forward in the church and civic life of the community will occur Sunday afternoon, August 27, when a "Home State" Garden Party from 3 to 6 p.m. will officially open the Victory Child Care Center at 1001 E. 49th Street ,it was announced by Rev. A. A. Peters, pastor of Victory Baptist church, 4802 McKinley avenue .

The public is cordially invited to participate in Sunday's celebration which will include a colorful parade, an interesting program featuring prominent speakers, gospel music, the opportunity to meet frinds from your "Home State," beautiful booths and free refreshments.

Rev. Peters has been outstanding in his devotion to the children of his own large congregation and the children of the entire community. The new child care center will be an extension of the work which has ben carried on in smaller quarters. The new center measures 100 x 300 feet, has a large parking lot for the convenience of church members and persons visiting the center, and a 2½ story building. There are 26 rooms in the building, a play room for the children inside, also dining rooms and kitchens, sleeping accomodations, and a play yard with recreational facilities.

At the new child center working mothers can leave their children with the assurance that they will receive excellent care and be served meals under an expert dietician. As was the rule at the previous day nursery, special care will be exercised in keeping the children physically fit. Mrs. A. A. Peters, wife of the pastor, who is a registered nurse, and a staff of competent doctors will attend to this needed factor in the administration of the nursery and child care center.

Sunday's program will include as speakers: Dr. J. Raymond Henderson, newly elected president of the Western Baptist Association and pastor of Second Baptist Church; Rev. Clayton Russell, pastor of the Independent Church of Christ; Rev. E. A. Anderson of McCoy Baptist Church; Rev. Earl Pleasant of Mt. Moriah Church and Rev. E. D. Smallwood of Opportunity Baptist Church. The above named pastors will deliver greetings with Rev. Henderson as principal speaker. Rev. A. A. Peters will respond in behalf of Victory Baptist Church and the Victory Child Care Center. Also scheduled to bring greeting are Rev. Lawrence Felix, executive secretary of the Western Baptist State Convention and Kenneth Hahn, councilman of the district.

Sponsor of Sunday's program is Mozelle Te Outley, ably assisted by R. J. Wallace, chairman of the Deacon Board and Joe Westbrooks, chairman of the Trustees and Building Committee.

The public is especially invited to hear the wonderful singing which will form a large part of the program featuring the radio choir, 100 voice Victory chorus; the Inspirational Gospel Chorus of Victory Baptist church and the Victory Baptist Trio. Also the Smith Jubilee Singer and the Lofton Melody waves.

A sum of over $20,000 is being expended upon the Victory Baptist Child Care Center and the public is urged to participate in the celebration of an aim that has been accomplished for the betterment of the entire community.

What we truly and earnestly aspire to be, that in some sense we are. —Anna Jameson

Charlites Club

The Charlites Social Club held its regular business meeting, August 8, at th home of Mrs. Sara Stewart.

Still remaining on the sick list are Ruth Balton and Louise Reese. The members extend their deepest sympathy to Louise Reese and family.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Erma Watson.

Gems of Thought

EXALTATION

There never was found, in any age of the world, either religion or law that did so highly exalt the public good as the Bible.

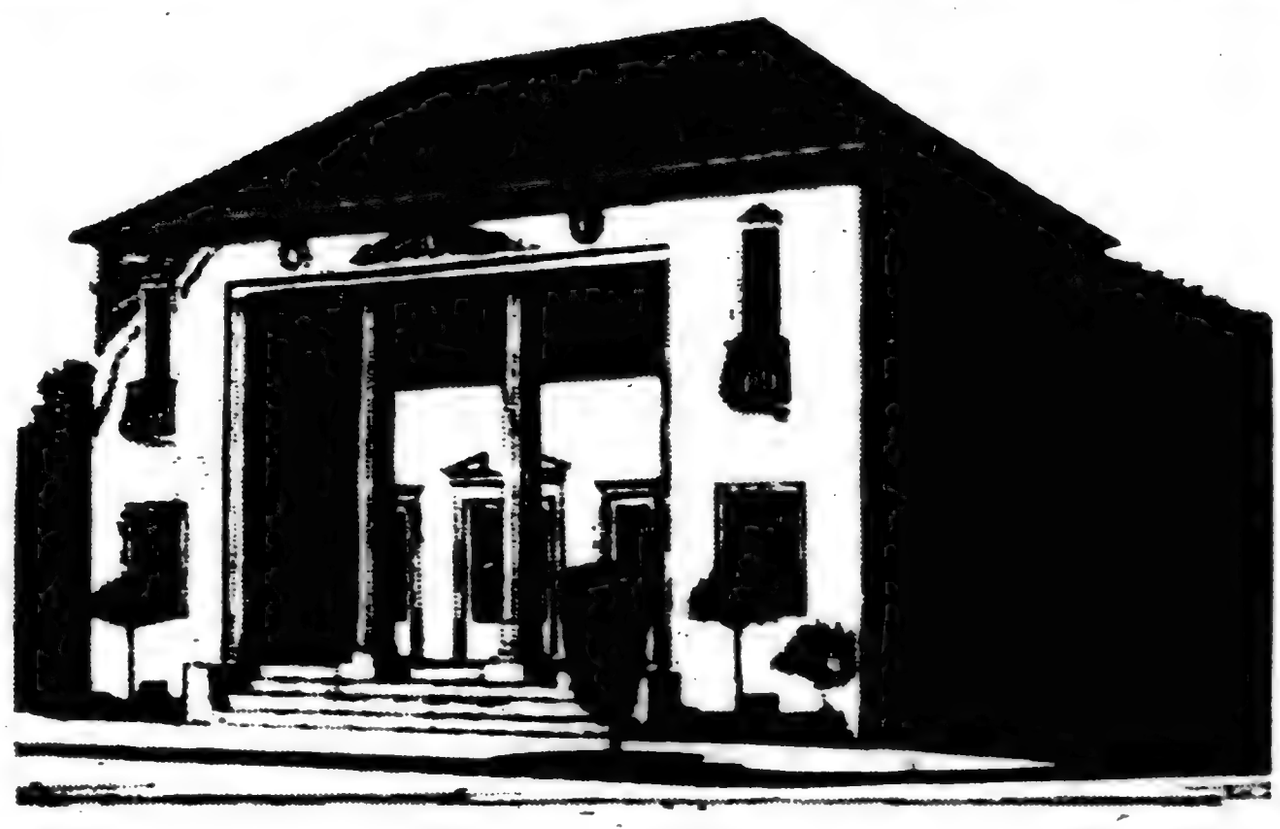
—Bacon

Humility is the steppingsone to a higher recognition of Deity. The mounting sense gathers fresh forms and strange fire from the ashes of dissolving self, and drops the world.

—Mary Baker Eddy

A solemn and religious regard to spiritual and eternal things is an indispensable element of all true greatness.

Bridge Club Mourns Passing Of Late Member



(The following announcement is made by the Golden West Duplicate Bridge Club):

It is with great sorrow that we announce the passing of one of our most esteemed friends and members, Mr. Gene Robinson.

He was a pioneer and chartered member and teacher, having been with the group who founded the old Contract Bridge Club, which later became the Golden West Bridge Club. He will be missed from among us because he was so very attentive and active, serving for many years as Sergeant-at-Arms and custodian, never absent and never failing at his post.

With pleasant memories of him, he leaves his dear wife, Mrs. Capitola Robinson, who is our club Mother and sweetheart.

Funeral services were held from Angelus Funeral Home, Tuesday, August 22.

"Unsurpassed Service Through The Years"

HUNDREDS HAVE SAID, as time has passed, that the ceremony we conducted was one of correct appointment, and that our personal assistance was with a spirit of sincere helpfulness.

SUCH PUBLIC CONFIDENCE is not won by words. Actions are the only reliable symptoms of sympathetic sincerity. And that is what you get in a CONNER-JOHNSON service, whether it is one of utmost simplicity, or the most elaborate.

Consult us about our recommended pre-payment plan of funeral expenses, with no obligation. It costs only a few cents a day.

CONVENTION BOUND. Rev. and Mrs. Grant Harris are shown as they prepared to embark for Philadelphia to attend the National Baptist Convention and to enjoy a well-earned vacation. Rev. Harris who is nationally known for his sincere spiritual leadership is the pastor of the Good Shepherd Baptist Church.

Rev. And Mrs. Grant Harris On Trip To Baptist Convention

Well known on both the Eastern and Western coast for outstanding leadership, the Rev. Grant Harris joins the many vacationist and delegates who are headed toward the great metropolitan city of brotherly love, Philadelphia, where the National Baptist Convention, Inc., will convene in their 1950 Annual session.

This intelligent, sympathetic, kind, tolerant and energetic minister is being accompanied by his beloved wife who has been his faithful companion for many years.

The Good Shepherd Baptist Church under the leadership of this able minister knew no better way of expressing their love and complete commitment to his competent leadership than by sending both Rev. and Mrs. Harris on an important errand across the country to represent them and also to take as much time as needed for their really earned rest and vacation. This church membership si glad to be able to do this for this worthy fouple even while in the midst of a special building fund campaign.

A great trojan in the warfare of life, Rev. Harris stands out to his followers and many friends as a living example portraying the Master's way of life in our midst. He is known as an organizer, Pastor, counselor and friend to many from coast to coast.

Showers of blessings from their members and friends follow them as they visit the many places of interest along the way to Philadelphia and an ocean of love awaits their return.

Trinity Street PTA Goes to School

Executive board members of the Trinity St. P.T.A. will soon attend school before their children.

That is a School of Information conducted by 10th district to inform the newly appointed officers and chairmen as to their duties. Mmes. Ann Porter, Raymond Siegel, Robert Dykes, Standiford Myles, Lambert Walker, Thouston Whiteside and Lawrence Tharp, plan to attend conference Tuesday, September 5 in Belmont High School.

Rev. Owens Gives to "Marches de France"

Rev. John Henry Owens, of 1478 W. 37th St., who has contributed poetry and articles of social criticism to various periodicals published in the United States, Canada, Argentina and England has been commissioned by the "Marches De France," an international literary journal which features the regional writings of the various nations, to contribute to several forthcoming issues.

Rev. Owens has been askd to contribute some of his poetry and also some of his black and white ink line illustrations. The editor may translate some of his work into the French. The work of Rev. Owens will be featured in Vol. No. 10, the Autumn number, and in Vol. No. 11, the Winter number. The journal "Marches De France" is published in Belgium. The editor is Monsieur Gaston-Henry AuFrere.

"You have the genuine inspiration," wrote Monsieur AuFrere. "A wide and human inspiration—as wide as the nature of which you sing. Your sweep of the vast wild and the spaces portray graphic and vivid pictures of depth and beauty. This is true poetry."

NOTICE OF STREET LIGHTING MAINTENANCE

Notice is hereby given that on August 8, 1950, the Council of the City of Los Angeles duly passed Ordinance No. 96,891 declaring its intention to order the necessary LIGHTING POSTS and appliances to be MAINTAINED and ELECTRIC CURRENT to be FURNISHED for lighting said posts for the period of one year beginning July 1, 1951, for the lighting of that certain district designated as Central Avenue between Florence Avenue and Manchester Avenue, on, over and along those certain public streets of the City of Los Angeles as follows: CENTRAL AVENUE between Manchester Avenue and 150 feet south of Manchester Avenue, and CENTRAL AVENUE (West Side) between Florence Avenue and Manchester Avenue.

Reference is hereby made to the report of the Board of Public Works in connection therewith, on file in the office of the City Clerk; to said Ordinance of Intention; and to Ordinance No. 75,000, as amended, for further particulars.

That October 2, 1950, at the hour of 10 o'clock A.M. of said day, in the Council Chamber in the City Hall of said city, has been designated as the time and place for the hearing of protests relative to the proposed improvement. Any person objecting to the said improvement or to the extent of the assessment district, or to any assessment therefor, may file a written protest with the City Clerk at any time PRIOR to the day set for the hearing of such protests, specifying the ground or grounds upon which such protest is based. Such protests must contain a description of the property in which each signer thereof is interested, sufficient to identify the same and be delivered to the City Clrk, and no othr protests than those presented in the form and within the time specified will be considered.

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS of the City of Los Angeles.

Note: This improvement proposes only the operation and maintenance of the existing lighting system.

Wadsworth PTA Discussion On Child Welfare

Programs of community value and interest were the topics of discussion at a recent committee meeting of the Wadsworth Parent-Teacher Association held at the home of the program chairman, Mrs. H. P. Mashack.

Plans to present programs of interest built around the needs of the parents and children of the Wadsworth School district were discussed by the committee composed of Mesdames Alfred Ligon, president; H. L. Austin, parliamentarian; C. E. Johnson, hospitality chairman; H. P. Mashack, program chairman.

Mrs. Andrew Delaney, 1st vice president and child welfare chairman and Mrs. Theodore McDonald, 2nd vice-president and faculty member, were absent.

Among plans completed were forums on health problems of the school youngster and parent education discussion of better home-school-community relations.

Based on records of rural fires in Iowa from 1930 to 1947, the investigators point out that the chances of lightning causing a fire are only 1 to 12 for buildings protected with lightning rods as compared with unrodded buildings.

LA Labor Youth Condemns Registration Bills

The Los Angeles Labor Youth League has issued a biting criticism of the Los Angeles Board of Supervisors in adopting their so-called "Communist Registration Bills."

Their statement, in part, follows:

It will not be possible, if these laws remain in force, to learn, and live by the Bill of Rights, the Declaration of Independence, or the speeches of Jefferson and Lincoln.

Any question or thought which deals with social progress will be ordered forbidden from the minds, the lips, and actions of the youth of our city.

Thoughts or expressions which advocate the possibilty of peace, which speak against greed, which denounce Jim-Crow and race hatred, will make young people subect to registration as "communist sympathizers."

These laws open so wide a dragnet that they would force young people to register (under penalty of 6 months of imprisonment, and $500 fine for each day of failure todo so) who engage in class room discussion on the subject of Socialism, or who protest speed-up, low wages, Jim-Crow, and boss-profiteering in the shops.

This is the same bloody sheep-run which Hitler designed for the youth of Germany, down which they were driven to the brutal excesses of race hatred and suicidal war.

The young people of Los Angeles will never accept the destruction of the freedom heritage which is theirs, their right to speak, to write, to meet freely to express their condemination of the evils which the old men of greed refuse to change.

Green Bar Moot Training Camp For Jr. Leaders

Second annual Green Bar Moot for training junior leaders of Boy Scout Troops throughout the area is set for August 26 and 27 at Camp Rio Hondo in Bell, according to Proctor Weir, chairman of the training committee of the Los Angeles Area Boy Scout Council.

Around 1,000 Scouts and Scoutmasters are expected to attend the training camp, which will teach methods of Patrol operation and responsibilities to Patrol Leaders and other boy-officers of Troops. Last year approximately 1,500 junior and senior leaders attended the Council's first Green Bar Moot which was held at Camp Pendleton, Marine Corps installation at Oceanside.

Judge For A While

JEDSEY CITY, (ATLAS)—Louis Sanders, assistant corporation counsel of Jersey City, this week was sworn in for a two-week term as acting magistrate during the vacation of Magistrate Edward Zampella.

Mr. Sanders is believed to be the first Negro ever to serve as Magistrate in the state of New Jersey.

GEORGE MCLAIN

George McLain, chairman of the California Institute of Social Welfare, hailed the decision of the Third District Court of Appeal, Sacramento, in issuing a writ preventing his scheduled trial on bribery charges in the Sacramento Superior Court.

"Decisions like this are positive proof that our American way of life is the best way. The importance of checks and balances in our American form of government was proved by the ruling in my favor," McLain commented.

Courageous Wives of Political Prisoners at Labor Day Meeting

Mrs. Peggy Dennis, wife of Eugene Dennis, currently in jail because of his political views, Mrs. Nancy Bridges, wife of Harry Bridges, ILWU leader who is jailed and denied bail pending appeal of his recent stool-pigeon rigged perjury vonviction and Mrs. Helen Bessey, wife of Alvah Bessy, one of the Hollywood Ten, will be presented at a Labor Day Celebration to be held at Embassy Auditorium Sunday, Sept. 10.

As "Courageous Wives of Today's Heroes," the three women will emphasize there is still time to fight back against the march of fascism.

They will point out that in spite of the infringements on civil liberties, and the intimidations, the American people can continue to contend for peace and freedom of speech.

The Civil Rights Congress will sponsor the celebration.

"There is no reason for a deer refuge on the western side of the Sierras."—N. M. Hughes, chairman, big animal committee, Organized Sportsmen of California.

NORFOLK SCHOOL BAND PLAYS

BOSTON, Mass—The thousands who attended the Shriners Convention here last week got the treat of their lives when the Booker T. Washington High School Band of Norfolk, Virginia gave out in a most entertaining way under the direction of Jas. A. Clark, noted director-teacher and a member of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity.

The band group of 94 students made the trip with several adults assisting in supervision.

Water Tax Cut

While federal, state and municipal taxing bodies generally are increasing tax levies, the tax rate of the Metropolitan Water District has been reduced for the year 1950-51 by order of the District's Board of Directors.

Six In Family Get 3 Years For Income Tax Refund Fraud

An alleged income tax fraud, perpetrated against the government, and operating in Los Angeles and New Orleans, La., was climaxed earlier this week when a 53 year old mother, her two daughters, her son and two nephews were sentenced to three years each in federal prison.

Jailed are: Mrs. Aline Lee of 3602 S. Main Street, her daughters, Dorothy, 26, and Celeste, 24, her son, August Fleming, 28, and two nephews, Harold Washington, 28, and Theodore Lang Jr., 26.

U. S. Judge Ben Harrison sentenced the six when they were found guilty of operating an income tax fraud, which consisted of filing false returns on which they collected refunds estimated in excess of $11,000.

The fraud was committed, according to Assistant U. S. Attorney William L. Baugh in 1949.

POLICE BRUTALITY VICTIM FILES SUIT

THEIR HOME WAS BURNED by race-hating hoodlums less than three hours after they moved into it last Friday, but Mr. and Mrs. James West and their six children know that there are many Americans, Negro and white who will defend the right of a citizen to live where he pleases. Members of the church, Prince Hall Masons and Progressive organizations came to the assistance of the Wests when violence threatened. (See story).

A jury in the court of Judge Louis V. Call took just 15 minutes to exonerate George Hunter, of 12203 S. Compton, of a charge of drunkenness, preferred against him by two officers who had beaten him brutally for four hours, in a secret room of the Pacific Electric station.

The unprovoked assault and false arrest occurred on Aug. 6, when the victim was awaiting a car to his home in Watts. Hunter's counsel plans to file several

Pythians Fight White Clause

NEW YORK—(CNS)—The 80,000 member New York State Grand Lodge of the Knights of Pythias, world famous fraternal order, through its Civil Rights Committee, whose chairman is Attorney Nicholas Atlas, overwhelmingly voted to demand elimination of the "white male" admission clause in the order's Constitution when the Supreme Lodge holds its National Convention at Grand Rapids, Michigan, soon.

Approving of the Atlas report announcing the action was Grand Chancellor Leonard M. Eisenberg and Grand Secretary Sidney G. Harnett. The repudiation was voiced at the Saratoga Springs annual State Convention, recently. The resentment against the Supreme lodge in retaining

Hung Jury Seen In 'Smiling Jack' Case in Pasadena

PASADENA—The jury deliberating the fate of Mrs. Vivenne Miles in court here, was locked up for the night shortly after 5:15 p.m. Thursday when they failed to reach a verdict.

They had received the case early Thursday afternoon and shortly before 5 o'clock filed back into the court room for a rereading of the testimony. Indications were at press time that a hung jury would result.

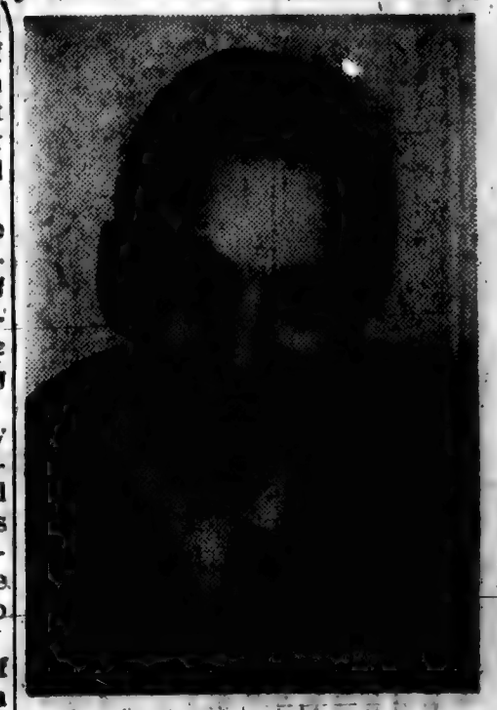
Torch Club Owners Settle Race Discrimination Suit

Last Thursday, Sam Posen and Bernice Samarjian, owners of Bea's Torch Club, 3331 S. Main street, paid $200 in settlement of a race discrimination suit filed by William J. Roberts and Richard W. Petherbridge.

Posen and Mrs. Samarjian also signed a contract not to discriminate in the future. In case of proven discrimination in the future, Roberts and Petherbridge can reopen their suit, according to the terms of the contract.

The discrimination charged by Roberts and Petherbridge occurred on July 25, July 27 and Auugst 2, 1950. The charges were that Roberts and Petherbridge were refused service once and were overcharged on two other occasions.



The complaint, filed on behalf of Roberts and Petherbridge on August 14 by Atty. Herbert W. Simmons, Jr., demanded damages and an injunction to restrain further discrimination in

NOTICE OF CHANGE IN PUBLICATION DAY

Last June, The California Eagle changed its publication date to Friday of each week—in response to the wishes of many readers who wanted The Eagle to come out closer to the weekend.

Three months experience with this, however, has convinced our readers, advertisers and news-agents that it is

West went back to their former home to pack the remainder of their furniture and belongings for moving the next day. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nash, who had helped the Wests move went to their home. Mrs. West and the six children went to bed.

Shortly before midnight, Mr. and Mrs. Nash felt uneasy about the West family. They had noticed the unfriendly behaviour of the white neighbors who watched sullenly as the Wests moved in. They returned to the West home. As they drove up, they said they noticed a half dozen people standing across from the West home.

Saw Blaze

As he pulled to the curb, Charles Nash said he noticed a blaze licking against the side of the West home. He parked hurriedly and went to investigate. A large piece of kerosene-soaked canvas had been stuffed in a vent under the house within inches of the gas main. Nash pulled the burning canvas out of the vent and tossed it into the street. He aroused the West family and drove them to a gas station where a call was put in for police.

Mrs. West said she placed her first call about midnight. At 1:15 no law enforcement officers had responded to her call. She placed another call which she says was answered at 2:15. Deputies from the Firestone Sheriff's sub-station and an arson squad deputy responded.

Rifle Shots

Saturday afternoon, a reporter from the California Eagle was notified of the arson attempt. He went immediately to the West home. Mr. and Mrs. West, their six children and a neighbor who owns 237-239 E. 121st Street were in the house. The Wests told the reporter about the arson attempt and they showed him several windows in the rear and on the east side of the house that had been peppered with buck-shot. The Wests were plainly frightened. They said no one from the Firestone Sheriff's sub-station had come to see or question them, and they feared the arsonists would make another attempt to burn their home.

Mrs. West pointed out that the gas had not yet been turned on, and she believed this saved their lives, since the fire would have otherwise caused an explosion.

The next door neighbor of the Wests told the Eagle reporter she too was frightened because she had her home up for sale, and the neighbors had made it known they did not like it because she had employed a Negro real estate broker. She hinted that one of the neighbors was going from house to house organizing action against the Wests. While talking the reporter noticed neighbors gathering on the sidewalk, and he went to the Firestone Sheriff's sub-station to ask for protection for the Wests.

Acting Sgt. Leland Thorne told the reporter coldly: "We can't keep a patrol out there twenty-four hours. Two Colored boys are riding a car out there and we told them to drive through once in a while."

Midnight Call

About midnight Mrs. West called the Eagle reporter at his home. She was nervous and distraught. She said several persons were prowling in her back yard, and others were gathering in cars in the street. She asked the reporter to return to her home and bring some people to help her. All six of her children were crying, she said, and the Firestone Sheriff's sub-station had told her that they could not send a patrol car since it was busy elsewhere. The reporter was told the same thing when he called the sub-station.

LaRue McCormick of the Florence Avenue IPP, Ray Cox, Oneal Cannon, Fred Cannon, Charles Mosely and several carloads of Negroes and white persons went to the West home to sit with the West family and reassure the crying children. They pledged themselves to stay with the family until their right to live in the home they purchased was securely established.

Church Members

Sunday, Rev. Ross, pastor of the West family informed his congregation of the arson attempt. He advised members of the congregation to visit the Wests and to stay with them as long as possible.

A delegation of members from Mr. Wests Masonic Lodge, Garrison Lodge No. 45, also visited the home and went to the Firestone sub-station to request a twenty-four hour guard at the West home. This was refused.

Monday, Lt. Pasco of the Sheriff's subversive detail talked with the California Eagle, and he promised to send a man to the West home immediately and keep him there around the clock as long as it was necessary. Lt. Pasco kept his word, and reportedly is continuing investigation of the arson attempt.

Both Mr. and Mrs. West expressed deep appreciation for the Negro and white Americans who stood with them when their "lives and home were in danger."

Radio Program

An emergency mass rally to keep Averill Berman on the air is set for Sunday evening, Sept. 10, at the Embassy Auditorium, 9th and Grand. Sidney Roger, progressive San Francisco commentator recently knocked off the air by cancellation of his contract with Station KGO, will be the principal guest speaker.

Averill Berman, now the only liberal news commentator on the air daily in the United States, has been broadcasting since 1947 under the sponsorship of the Los Angeles Radio Committee, a non-profit group. He broadcasts Monday through Friday, 8:15 p.m., on Station KGFJ.

Chairman of the mass rally will be William Esterman, prominent attorney and IPP leader in Los Angeles County.

Berman will speak on "Radio —a potential weapon in the fight for the Four Freedoms."

The Field Theater of the A.S.P. Council will present a dramatic spot featuring Hollywood screen and radio personalities. The Fraternal Songsters will be heard in "Songs to Keep America Free."

Admission to the Sept. 10 mass rally at the Embassy will be 60 cents including tax. There are no reserved seats.

Leon Heflin Jr., will undergo clinical treatments with a competent psychiatrist.

Leon Heflin Sr., widely known musical attractions promotor, father of the youth, and his mother, are reported to have agreed to leave their son to take such treatments.

The charges made by a hysterical young white girl, when officers apprehended her in a compromising position with young Heflin, that the latter had "raped" her, were hastily dropped last Friday morning when detectives from the West Los Angeles police division tried in vain to get a complaint issued on the flimsy charge, by the District Attorneys office.

Heflin was taken into custody early Thursday morning by police when found in an automobile in the company of 18-year-old Joan Sloan near the girl's beach city home was held on suspicion charges of rape. Neighbors who saw the two together called police. The officers state they found the pair in an automobile in a compromising position.

It developed, that after questioning by the officers, the frightened girl was a sweetheart of the Heflin youth.

Robeson Offered Passport in Exchange for Silence Abroad

NEW YORK.—Representatives of the Passport Division of the State Department have told Paul Robeson, whose passport was revoked August 4 on the eve of his departure for meetings and concerts abroad, that Mr. Robeson's condemnation of the treatment of American Negroes should be confined to the American scene as this was a "family affair" and should not be aired abroad.

This was one of the highlights of the 2-hour discussion which took place in Washington at the Passport Division office on August 23 at a conference held at the request of Mr. Robeson's counsel to find out the basis for the State Department's arbitrary action.

Participating in the conference with Paul Robeson were his attorney, Nathan Witt, Judge James A. Cobb, formerly on the Municipal Court bench of Washington, D. C., Dean George Parker of the Terrell Law School, Attorney George Hayes, member of Washington, D. C. School Board, and William L. Patterson, Executive Secretary of the Civil Rights Congress. Representing the Passport Division were H. A. Nicholas and Willis H. Young.

Nathan Witt accused the Department of arbitrarily violating the privileges, immunities, and rights of Paul Robeson in the revocation of his passport. He asked the Department for a definitive statement of the reasons for its action, which it had based simply on the assertion that Robeson's travel abroad would be "detrimental to the interests of the United States Government."

The State Department spokesman intimated that unless Robeson would agree to refrain from criticizing the treatment of Negro Americans and the American government's foreign policy during his travels abroad, the State Department would stand pat on its cancellation of his passport. Mr. Nicholas asked for a statement that Mr. Robeson would not speak if he went abroad.

No Retreat

Paul Robeson expressed his deep and abiding loyalty to America, his country, and also his intention to continue to criticize those acts emanating from foreign and domestic policy which in any way curtailed the constitutional rights of the American people generally, or specifically violated the constitutional liberties and human rights of the Negro people. He contended that this was in keeping with his duty as a loyal American citizen and consistent with his constitutional rights.

He was supported in this stand by Judge Cobb, who said that the curtailment of freedom of travel was an arbitrary exercise of power by the State Department in violation of the fifth Amendment protecting property rights.

Attorney Hayes added that he regarded this matter as further attack upon the rights and privileges of 15 million Negroes who were already denied their citizenship rights without any effort on the part of the Government to protect their rights.

The conference ended with the State Department refusing to reconsider its action unless Mr. Robeson would sign a statement that he would not speak if he went abroad. The attorneys present with Mr. Robeson in the conference unanimously declared that this matter was of such fundamental character that it must be taken immediately to the U. S. Supreme Court.

The Council on African Affairs, of which Mr. Robeson is Chairman, has reportedly received copies of numerous letters and cables from individuals and organizations in the U. S. and abroad to Secretary of State Dean Acheson protesting cancellation of Robeson's passport.

Superior court, presided over by Judge J. P. Moroney.

The long drawn-out court battle began last January with a so-called "rump session" electing a slate of officers, after Dr. H. Claude Hudson, president of the body, attempted to prevent the election by declaring the meeting closed.

Later, when the matter was presented to the court, an order was made directing the organization to hold another election under strict rules of procedure laid down by that court. The election was held last February 24 in the Golden State Mutual Insurance Company building with Dr. Hudson presiding.

Brought Suit

It was because of the conduct of this later election that two candidates, Dr. Howard A. Allen and Allan C. Woodward III, brought suit contesting the validity of its results.

Charges were made that Dr. Hudson, the president, himself a candidate, the organiaztion counsel, Atty. Thomas L. Griffith, its secretary Zella M. Taylor, Dr. J. P. Taylor and Mrs. Flora Grant, had ignored the court's order.

The trial may end during the week of September 5 with thousands of stockholders and proxy holders throughout the nation awaiting the results.

The SIDEWALK

By C.A.B.

I've been in Prague, Czechoslovakia! As a delegate from the United States of America to the most wonderful conference I have ever attended!

This will be my first report on the meeting, but others will follow later. I could not send anything out at Prague, and I'm sending this from Paris, to which I've returned from that inspiring conference.

Prague is wonderful. I only wish all of you could have been with me.

The official report on the meeting of the World Committee of the Defenders of Peace held at Prague, August 16-18, is generally considered the greatest effort projected by any similar group to quell the war hysteria and bring about peace.

Entering the conference room in the romantic city of Prague, where some fifty or more very serious delegates and observers had assembled, with F. Joliet-Curie in the center, one was reminded of the scene of Jesus and His twelve disciples at that last supper.

Seated around the tables were some of the world's greatest scientists—men who have contributed much to human happiness and to healthier generations through their scientific discoveries; Catholic priests and ministers of orthodox churches, university professors, authors, teachers, hard-headed businessmen and poets.

From the opening session to the very last meeting of the conference there was no rancorous demonstration. Delegates disagreed on some points at issue, in the great effort to discover a panacea for a war-torn world, and to establish a peace that will endure.

The immediate goal of the Committee was to reach a working basis for securing signatures for the Stockholm Peace Appeal.

The statistics on the number of signatures secured to date in the family of nations are as follows:

Union of South Africa, population 11,500,000—200,000 signatures; United States of America, population 150,520,198—1,450,000 signatures; Turkey, population 14,890,000—report on signatures delayed; Tunisia, population 2,600,000 — 50,000 signatures; Trieste, population 400,000—50,000 signatures; Syria, population 2,901,300 — 40,000 sibnatures; Switzerland, population 29,200,000—150,000 signatures; Sweden, population 6,763,000—100,000 signatures; Saar, population 880,000 —2,600 signatures; Rumonia, population 15,872,000—10,068,670 signatures;

Reunion Island, population 242,243—26,000 signatures; Porto Rico, population 1,869,000—9,000 signatures; Poland, population 24,000,000—18,000,000 signatures; —50,000 signatures; Peru, population 6,207,000—report not yet in; Panama, population 633,000 —10,000 signatures. (In Panama the campaign for securing signatures opened May 28. The Stockholm Appeal was supported by the Trade Union Federation and the Students Federation.)

Pakistan, population 70,120,000—Adopted Stockholm Appeal. Report for number of signatures not yet in.) Norway, population 3,100,000—50,000 signatures; New Zealand, population 1,800,000—Not yet reported; French Morocco, population 9,000,000—18,968 signatures; Mongolia, population 900,000—686,782 signatures; Mexico, not reported; Luxembourg, population 280,000—6,500 signatures; Lebanon, population 1,047,745—52,000 signatures; Korea, population 28,000,000—5,680,000 signatures; Japan, population 78,000,000—1,345,000 signatures;

Italy, population 45,000,000—14,533,000 signatures; Israel, population 1,200,000—261,750 signatures; Iran, population 4,800,000 —Report not in; Indonesia, population 60,727,000—Report not in; Iceland, population 134,000—6,000 signatures; Hungary, population 9,201,158—7,500,000 signatures; Holland, population 10,000,000—229,000 signatures; Great Britain, population 49,000,000—790,277 signatures; Western Germany, population 44,000,000—2,000,000 signatures; German Democratic Republic, population 22,000,000—1,704,000 signatures; France, population 42,000,000—12,000,000 signatures; Finland, population 4,000,000—616,000 signatures; Ecuador, population 3,200,000—20,000 signatures; Eire, population 3,000,000—10,000 signatures; Egypt, population 20,000,000—12,000 signatures; Denmark, population 4,146,000—100,000 signatures; Czechoslovakia, population 12,000,000 — 9,500,000 signatures; Cyprus, population 450,000—signatures not in;

Cuba, population, 4,780,000—400,000 signatures; Costa Rica, population 1,000,000—4,000 signatures; Columbia, population 10,500,000 — 50,000 signatures; Chile, population 5,000,000—30,000 signatures; Ceylon, population 6,700,000—signatures not reported; Canada, population 12,500,000—300,000 signatures; Burma, population 17,000,000—1,000,000 signatures; Bulgaria, population 1,022,000—5,801,346 signatures; Brazil, population 46,200,000—600,000 signatures; Bolivia, population 3,787,800—20,000 signatures; Belgium, population 8,300,000—153,060 signatures; Austria, population 6,818,000—600,000 signatures; Australia, population 7,780,000—45,000 signatures;

Argentina, population 16,000,000 — 1,000,000 signatures; Algeria, population 8,000,000—266,000 signatures; Albania, population 1,200,000—200,000 signatures.

These figures represent a partial report of signatures for the Stockholm proposal. They were sent in around July 1.

Nofice how those countries said to be "Communist controlled" are overwhelmingly for peace? The USSR which has a population of about 185,000,000 is said to have practically every adult on the dotted line. Reports vary, but the most conservative was 115,000,000. (That was the report sent in, but that number has increased since then.)

It is expected now that the Prague World Committee is over, plans are being made for the second World Congress to be held in Great Britain, November 13-19, 1950. Representatives of at least a million men and women will attend the Congress.

The workingman knows that neither his job, his security—not even his life — is protected against atom bomb destruction, unless he bestirs himself in righteous indignation and protests the fervish preparation that is in the making for a third world war by the selfish interests in all parts of the world.

SEIC Asks for More Negro Teachers in LA

A delegation from the Southeast Interracial Council called upon Dr. Stoddard, Superintendent of the Los Angeles City Schools, last week to urge the hiring of more Negro teachers.

Mrs. Cora Johnson, the spokesman for the delegation asked the Superintendent why so few Negroes pass the examination which is required before hiring.

Dr Stoddard replied, "Nothing shows the examiners in the candidate's folder that he is a Negro. Of course, the oral rating is subjective. It has to be—it cannot be otherwise. But there is no prejudice, I assure you."

Dr. Stoddard said further, "I'm not using the school system to remedy the problems of the Negro race. There is a problem and I am doing all I can to help solve the problem." In closing, he asked for suggestions and said he would attempt to act upon them.

The Council plans to carry the fight further for the hiring of Negro teachers. It intends to present Dr. Stoddard with specific cases in which discrimination may have been responsible for a person's not being hired.

The Southeast Inter-Racial Council is anxious for all prospective Negro and other minority group teachers who have California credentials to contact them. They will welcome suggestions and cooperation from all people interested in this campaign to end discrimination in the teaching profession.

For further information, contact Mrs. Cora Johnson, 1356 E. 110th St., L. A., or call LO. 61772.

L. A. Orphanage Needs More Funds

More than 5,000 local citizens already have contributed to the Los Angeles Orphanage fund appeal but returns still are far from sufficient to begin construction on new quarters for the historic institution, it was announced last week.

The orphanage is in the fourth week of a drive for $750,000 to replace the present, 60-year-old structure which has housed more than 9,000 little girls through the years. The building is becoming untenable and must be razed.

Citizens who wish to see the humanitarian and vital work continued, orphanage officials said, may send contributions to Terminal Annex Box 2882, Los Angeles 54.

suits for damages. He is James N. Reese.

Long Beating

Both Pacific Electric detectives Sutherland, and officer Palace of the uniformed Los Angeles police, who subjected Hunter to torture from 3 a.m. until 7:30 a.m. that morning, attempted to deny striking their victim. Bluet under severe cross-examination by Reese, this was disproved. They did not offer proof that he was drunk, or had resisted their slugging.

Heavy Damages

Heavy damages will be asked from the P. E. Railway for their responsibility in their employe, and the police department of Los Angeles will be expected to pay heavily for the still more brutal part played by their uniformed officer.

The same charges are also to be filed personally against each officer, and also damages for false arrest against them, the city, and the transportation company.

Rev. Morford Surrenders

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The Rev. Richard Morford, Executive Director of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, surrendered to the federal District Court in Washington this week to begin serving a three-months' sentence for contempt of Congress, arising out of his refusal several years ago to submit the records of his organization to the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Reverend Morford appeared with his attorney, David Rein, upon the expiration of a stay of sentence when Chief Justice Fred Vinson turned down request for bail pending appeal of the case to the U. S. Supreme Court. He was remanded to the Washington District Jail. Notwithstanding the fact that Reverend Morford has begun to serve a three-months' sentence, the appeal of his case to the U. S. Supreme Court is being fought out. Petition for a writ of certiorari was filed in that Court last Friday.

the future. A hearing was set in Department 34 of Superior Court for August 23 on the petition of Roberts and Petherbridge for a preliminary injunction pending the full trial of the matter.

The use of the injunction in discrimination suits is a new technique that has until now been very little used.

Roberts is an employee of the City of Los Angeles. Petherbridge is an attorney and is associated in the practice of law with Herbert W. Simmons, Jr.

Public Workers Seek City And County Raises

United Public Workers of America, Local 246, representing over 4000 city and county employees, today demanded from the City and County of Los Angeles that employees wages be immediately increased by approximately 10%.

This is in line with recommendations made by the City's Bureau of Budget and Efficiency last March, the union said.

In letters to both bodies, the union charged violation of their respective charters which provide for the payment of prevailing rates.

Violation

The City Council is also accused of violation of an ordinance which it passed early this year and which provided "that on or before the first day of May of each year, the Council shall adopt a salary ordinance for the next ensuing fiscal year. Said salary ordinance shall contain the salary schedules applicable to all classes of positions in city service, and shall be made effective on July 1st of each year."

The City Council has failed to adopt a salary ordinance for the present fiscal year which began July 1st, 1950, which is a repetition of the Council's inaction for the previous fiscal year.

Davenport Little Mundt Bill May Hit Council Floor Today

The "Little Mundt" bill, fathered by Councilman Ed Davenport may be brought back to the City Council for action today. Scheduled for passage following a public hearing Tuesday, the ordinance was sent back for consideration by the Police Commission following a 7-7 tie vote which precluded consideration of the measure under a suspension of the rules.

In a hearing marked by charges levelled against Councilman Moore and other colleagues by Davenport ,the Council did a three-tier job on the highly-controversial ordinance, dubbed a "catch-all police-state law by leading labor civic and progressive leaders.

First: It considered an amendment offered by Councilman Moore, seeking information from the agencies charged with enforcement of the prposed ordinance as to estimated cost. (Davenport called this a red-herring and a delaying attempt).

Secondly: The Council voted unanimously to instruct the City Attorney to prepare an ordinance which would make it necessary for Communists and practically every outspoken organization to register with the police as "subversive."

Thirdly: The Council rejected the ordinance when it was presented with a 7-7 tie vote on the question of suspension of the rules. The suspension was necessary because of the time element between the preparation of the ordinance and its consideration by the Council.

Tenny on Spot

The hearing was attended by close to a thousand persons who overflowed the chamber into the hall. Supporters of the ordinance ranged from American Legion leaders to Assemblyman Jack Tenny. Tenny was put on the defensive by Dorothy Ray Healy, Communists party leader who revealed the Senator had met with a high Communist official several years ago.

Tenny admitted the meeting which he said took place in the home of Congressional candidate Sam Yorty, presently, an Assemblyman seeking the Congressional seat from the 14th district. Tenny said he was "tricked" into the meeting.

Dorothy Healy asserted the Communists party is an American political party, and it is not dedicated to overthrow the government by force and violence.

Reuben Borough, State chairman of the IPP called the proposed ordinance an "essentially fascist piece of legislation." He said the Communist party was termed subversive . . . "not by judicial proceeding and in violation of the constitution."

Waste Time

Albert T. Lunceford, secretary-treasurer of the CIO, told the Council the proposed ordinance is legislation "to attack liberal groups and organized labor." He urged the Council not to waste time on "unenforceable and unworkable legislation for the sake of headlines." He suggested that Mayor Bowron be asked to set up a committee on security and civil rights.

Irene Friedman of the Southland Jewish Organizations called the proposed law: A violation of civil rights."

Paul Major, chairman of the So. California Legislative Conference, implored the Council: "Do not destroy democratic institutions in the name of saving democracy."

Eleanor Raymond, executive secretary of the So. California Legislative Conference presented Rev. A. A. Heist, director of the Civil Liberties Union. Calling the proposed ordinance, "a copy of the Mundt-Nixon bill," Rev. Heist asked, "Must we lose our civil liberties in the name of security?"

Vic Shapiro, a past commander of the American Legion charged that, "Trade unions and Jews are the focus of the attack."

Bill Esterman, an official of the National Lawyers Guild charged the ordinance, "violates the right of non-self-incrimination."

Charles Mosely of the Young Progressives made a fervent plea for more civil liberty not a denial of that we have.

The People

Calling for emergency legislation for rent control, price control and peace, Dorothy Healy told the Council: "No matter what happens here, the people will defend the United States against fascism."

Peace in Korea, Plea to Truman

President Truman has been urged "to leave no avenue of possible peaceful settlement of the Korean conflict unexplored," in a Statemetn signed by thirty-nine members of the University of Chicago faculty and released here this week.

The signers supported the proposals recently advanced by Prime Minister Nehru of India as a basis for settlement of the conflict, saying they believed "the Nehru proposals can be honorably accepted by the Uited States without in any way adversely affecting the basic interests of the American people."

These proposals aimed, in Nehru's words, "to localize the conflict and to facilitate an early peaceful settlement by breaking the present deadlock in the Security Council."

To this end, he called for the seating in the Security Council of the representatives of the People's Government of China, to be followed by joint efforts of the United States, the Soviet Union, and the new Chinese government "with the help and cooperation of other peace-loving nations" to "find a basis for terminating the conflict and for a permanent solution of the Korean problem."

Atomic Fear

The signers, having in mind "the interests not only of the American people, but all humanity, who live in fear of an atomic world war," also stated:

"The American nation must show to the peoples of the world that we will talk and work for the realization of peace, so long as there remains any chance to avoid the terrible waste and human destruction of another world war."

other two took to flight. Young, after being wounded, had evidently crawled to the hotel about 30 feet away, where he died.

The investigating officers also found out that Young was a native of Philadelphia, Pa. He had been living at 528 South Wall street. He was a World War II veteran. A brother, Robert Young, of Philadelphia, when notified of his brothers death authorized the coroner to send the body to Philadelphia for burial in a government cemetery.

The two men evidently responsible for the murder were believed to be Mexicans. They fought with bottles and fists, but they seemingly used some other weapon also because of the nature of the wound which Young received during the fray.

To Sue City For Police Beating In PE Station

Police brutality against colored citizens, had another instance added to the huge toll last week, that is expected to bring on a heavy damage suit against the Los Angeles Police Department.

The latest victim is George Hunter, 23, of 12203, S. Compton Avenue. Representing him, Jas. N. Reese, capable young Los Angeles attorney, will file a complaint, the hearing of which in the near future will expose the race hatred, and the Gestapo-like methods, frequently indulged in, against colored citizens.

According to Hunter's sworn statement, he was waiting for the last Watts car, in the Pacific Electric station at 2:00 a.m. on the night of Aug. 6, when a detective Aug. 6, when a detective accosted him, demanding his reasons for being in the station, and accusing him of being drunk. Hunter denied the accusation, and explained that he was waiting for a car home.

But before train time the detective returned with a Los Angeles uniformed police, and upon his repeating his denial of drunkenness, and a citizen's right to wait in the station, he was shoved by the two men into a small room. There from 3:00 until 7:30 a.m. he was beaten and slugged unmercifully about the head, face and body. Repeatedly the officer blurted iut, "I know you people. Shut up, and I'll teach you, whenever you address an officer to say Sir."

This treatment accompanied by cursings and vile beratings was inflicted upon Hunter from about 3:00 a.m. until 7:30 that morning, when he was hauled out to Lincoln Heights jail, booked on a charge of drunkenness, and locked up.

During this time he had been given no sobriety test, and his continued assertions that he had not touched any alcoholic beverages was ignored. In fact as Atty. Reese, intends to prove during the trial, Hunter is not a user of liquor or strong drink in any form. Because continued protests by Negro citizens, complaints, declarations, and resolutions by interracial groups seem to be deliberately ignored by police, the outcome of this case is being closely watched by all.

Deny African Affairs Council Use of Madison Square Garden

NEW YORK—Arrangements to lease Madison Square Garden to the Council on African Affairs for a rally and concert were suddenly canceled yesterday by Ned Irish, a Garden official, who said that "in the opinion of the Attorney-General's office, a bill now before Congress would make it illegal to rent you this building," the Council announced last Monday night.

The rally-concert had been called for September 14. One of its main purposes was to protest State Department action denying Paul Robeson the right to travel abroad. It was also scheduled to demonstrate American and world-wide support for the stand taken by Mr. Robeson and Dr. W. E. B. Du Bois, Chairman and Vice Chairman, respectively, for peace and freedom for all colored peoples.

Council officials have wired the Attorney-General's office in Washington asking confirmation or denial of the opinion attributed to the Justice Department by Mr. Irish.

No Writing

The statement regarding the Attorney-General's opinion was first made by Mr. Irish to Dr. Alphaeus Hunton, Executive Secretary of the Council, by telephone. Following Mr. Irish's refusal to put it in writing, he was visited by a delegation which included C. B. Baldwin, Progressive Party Executive Secretary; Nat Ross of the New York Civil Rights Congress, Henry Foner of the Furriers Union, Esther Letz of the United Labor Committee, Abraham Unger, attorney, and Louise T. Patterson and Dr. Hunton of the Council on African Affairs. Mr. Irish repeated the statement to the members of the delegation.

The delegation informed Mr. Irish that nothing in the Mundt Bill could be construed in the way he had indicated and challenged his action in closing the doors of Madison Square Garden to progressive organizations.

The Council has called on Negro, labor, and other organizations to join in protesting this denial of the right of freedom of assembly and speech, following so closely on the heels of cancellation of Mr. Robeson's passport and the attack on the Peace Information Center which is headed by Dr. Du Bois.

Protest

The Council requested that protests be sent both to Mr. Ned Irish at Madison Square Garden and to Attorney-General J. Howard McGrath in Washington, D. C.

Schools Re-Open Monday, Sept. 11

There will be minimum sessions in all elementary and secondary schools on the opening day, Monday, September 11, 1950. Schools will be open at 8:00 a. m. and close at 12:20 p. m. Children who will be six years old on or before March 1, 1951, may register for First Grade on the first day of school.

Kindergarten: There will be no faiting lines for kindergarten children this year. Schools will be open for Kindergarten registration from Tuesday, September 5 through Friday, September 8, from 8:30 a. m. to 12:00 m. and from 1:00 p. m. to 3:30 p. m., for all pupils who will reach their fifth birthday on or before March 1, 1951. For both kindergarten or first grade beginners adequate proof of age must be presented at the time of enrollment.

Children must be present in person and accompanied by parent, guardian or other responsible adult. Pupils who attended kindergarten last semester but are not eligible for placement in the first grade are automatically re-enrolled in kindergarten.

Regardless of any prior registration, all children must appear at school on Monday, September 11, between 8:00 a. m. and 3 p. m.

East Los Angeles Junior College: East Los Angeles Junior College is expecting a record enrollment of over 2,000. Complete junior college curricula will be available. Specialty courses in the fields of merchandising, accounting, public service, nurses' training, commercial art, and many others, will be open to persons seeking vocational training in these fields. The regular lower division, two years' university work, will also be given. Applications should be filed in person at the office of the Registrar, 5357 East Brooklyn Avenue, Los Angeles. Evening classes will also be offered on the campus and at branch locations.

Polish Groups Add Support To Martinsville 7

A total of 1044 Polish organizations and groups, ranging from trade unions to summer camp colonies, have cabled and mailed resolutions of protest against the frame-up of the Martinsville Seven to Governor John Battle of Virginia, the Civil Rights Congress has announced.

In addition, seventy thousand Polish youth have signed petitions against the death sentences faced by the seven Virginia Negroes—one a father of five children, the others averaging 20 years of age—the Civil Rights Congress reported.

Mass meetings, organized by the All-Polish League for Struggle Against Racism, were held in all parts of the country, CRC added. All these actions, which have now extended over a three-month period, have been reported in Polish newspapers, magazines and over the nation's radio stations.

The Union of Polish Teachers, the Union of Polish Lawyers and the Union of Fighters for Freedom are also participating in the nation-wide protest action.

Negro $100,000 Farm; Conservation Champ

NEWTON, Ga.—Ten years ago, eight Negro families sharecropping on a ramshackle South Georgia farmsite knew nothing but poverty, gang crops and back-breaking work from dawn to dusk.

Today, these same eight families have turned that same farmsite into a prosperous, thriving plantation, according to a story in September Ebony, and each family now lives in a $5,000 home, works only 53½ hours per week with liberal salaries and rations.

New owner of the plantation near Newton, Georgia, Chicago ad-man Hill Blackett, taught his Negro share croppers modern methods of machinery farming despite the protests of neighboring white farmers, the Ebony story says. Blackett also promoted deserving workers to important jobs on an equal basis with white sharecroppers. Today the plantation re-christened 'Wallington' produces $10,000 in cash returns monthly.

LOG CABIN, Ga.—A. C. Johnson, farmer who has increased his income from $600 to $14,000 a year by carrying out better land-use practices, has been named the No. 1 Negro soil conservationist of the South for 1950.

An award of $150 was presented to him last week at the Southside Soil Conservation Jamboree by William N. Downs, assistant vice president of the First National Bank and Trust Company of Macon, Ga. He made the presentation for the State Bankers Association of Georgia.

State low-interest financing assisted 782 veterans to acquire or start construction of homes during July and helped seven more to obtain farms, it was reported by State Director of Veterans Affairs D. J. Callaghan, Jr.

Work for Civic Freedom; Use Atom for Peace - Theme of Rally

"We have gone backwards since the Civil War."

So declared Mrs. Alia Washington, Independent Progressive Party candidate for controller in California, at a mass rally staged in the Embassy auditorium under the auspices of the IPP last Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Washington was referring specifically to the progress toward civic freedom in the United States. She mentioned in detail some of the freedoms enjoyed by Negroes immediately after the war, such as the right to vote, to hold office, etac.

"These freedoms have been taken from us, one by one," she said. "And now today I, a Negro, cannot stay in Burbank. I cannot buy a home in a housing project. Through all these years the American Negro people have lived under the oppression of what may come to everyone under the Mundt-Nixon bill. We must all unite to defeat this measure. We must all unite in a common effort for peace and freedom. It is not treason, nor is it Communism to fight for the right to live."

Dr. Philip Morrison, principal speaker for the rally, who assisted in assembling the first atom bomb is at present professor of physics at Cornell University, stressed the utter futility of depending upon the atom bomb to win any war.

"It will not end war," he said. "Neither will it shorten any war. It will only make war more horrible."

"Our only security against total war," he declared, "is the determination of all people to live together in peace. It is not true that war is inevitable. We must stop this headlong drive towards war. We must have meetings, rallies, we must talk to the people. If this thing were left to the people, we would be building plants that would use the immense energy of the atom for peaceful purposes, for lighting cities and turning wheels, instead of destroying life."

Dr. Morrison called upon the Democratic Party to repudiate Secretary Francis Matthews who had suggested the use of war to force the unity for peace, and to insist that he be expelled from the President's cabinet. "As Henry Wallace was when he spoke for peace, seemingly against President Truman's wishes. We won't win peace the Matthews way nor the MacArthur way. We can win it the Ralph Bunche way, and he should be substituted for MacArthur."

Reuben W. Borough, IPP candidate for treasurer of California, and Jack Berman, executive secretary of the IPP, Los Angeles branch, told briefly of the fight in the City Council to prevent the adoption of an ordinance to force the registration of all Communists. They warned that, although the liberal forces won on Tuesday, that meant only redoubled effort to win the final victory.

Virginia Ruiz, national secretary Mexican-American National Association, was chairman for the evening.

Urban League Speakers at NAT Confab

For the first time in its 22 year history, the Annual Convention of the National Technical Association wil present a symposium of speakers from the Urban League, industry and commerce on its opening day schedule. The Association meeting closes tomorrow, at Tennessee State Agricultural and Mechanical College, Nashville, Tenn. The NTA is an organization of civil, electrical, chemical, and mechanical engineers and engineering educators.

Passing for White

It would be amusing to listen to some of our community spokesmen as they try to apologize for the United States' racial policies and practices . . . if it were not tragic

These latter-day Uncle Toms, who have replaced the old cotton handkerchief with an atomic bandanna, are advising, "just sit tight, and do right, and everything will come out alright."

They admit Negroes are lynched, brutalized, deprived of their civil rights and treated like inferior beings, but they ask . . . "where else can Negroes enjoy democracy such as this?"

We must confess, we don't know, and probably most of you who read this won't know . . . . and what's more, you shouldn't give a damn. The United States of America is our country, and we refuse to stipulate that because we are Negroes we must walk on our knees forever.

Nobody's doing the Negro people a favor when they extend to them the full rights and privileges of American citizenship. On the contrary, every instance of democracy extended to the Negro people wil add greater strength to democracy for all.

Crawling, snivelling Negroes who are afraid to offend the white man by seeking what is their right, are not only enemies of their own people . . . they are traitors to the cause of freedom and human dignity everywhere.

Of course those Negro leaders who get educated and don't want the rest of the race to catch up with them, are always going to try to keep the Negro in his place. That's their job, to keep the heat off the white folks, but they ought to know by now the heat is on!

Negro troops fighting the Colored people of Korea is no accident. The alignment of the colored millions in China, India and Africa against the white supremacy philosophy of the United States is no accident. It came about because the white supremacists of the United States brought it about. Negroes who say otherwise are passing for white . . . mentally.

Buy Boom

There is to be a buying boom of homes, if the Korean war continues.

So predict the many realtors of Los Angeles, and of the country. Those who are buying remember, no doubt, the extreme housing shortage following World War II, when our GIs came home and found no homes to go to. Some of them then were forced to live in converted chicken coops. Many were glad for garages, without windows, without floors. Others doubled up with other families, and lived, cooked, ate and slept—a dozen or more in a room.

And the GIs of today don't want a repetition of conditions such as followed World War II.

This buying boom is helping all real estate business, of course.

But there is also a flurry of good business in other directions, as well as in the real estate business. Everyone who has anything to sell, to rent, to produce for money, is on his toes, ready and willing to take advantage of the present situation, and extract all the money he can possibly get out of his customer. Or victim.

As a consequence hundreds of people are making money out of the war. Big money. But the thousands who are on the other end of the line, are anxiously watching the prices of everything go up and up and up. This includes food and doctor's bills and clothing as well as homes to build or rent.

Nobody wants war! We've heard that again and again.

And we've also heard, but not so loud and strong, "Take the profits out of war, and there'll be no war."

Decide for yourself who's right.

Dangerous Journalism

The profession of Journalism, rugged realistic and robust though it may be, is yet one of the more respected of the enterprises men and women undertake for a livlihood and for service to their community and their fellows. There is a stern code of ethics which governs the craft of observing and informing.

Men and women who enter the journalistic profession take on a responsibility that is a grave one, and it is best expressed in the admonition, "Check Your Facts." It is a simple rule, but it is the one most frequently disregarded.

The pride of a journalist is to begin and end his career as a good reporter. Good reporters make good newspapers, and a good newspaper is one that exposes the wrong and defends the right.

Because we recognize that our contemporaries in the community newspaper field are as partial as we are to the highest standards of journalism, we hope they will share our concern aroused by a headline which appeared recently on the front page of one of the weeklies which appears on Thursday. It referred to the victim of a thoughtless and unnecessary police killing as a "Gunman."

The young victim was well known in the community. He was a graduate of Jefferson High School. His life and conduct were known to the people of the community, and some facets of them may have been less brilliant, less desirable than others . . . but he was not a gunman.

He, mistakenly perhaps, emerged from his home to rout a prowler with an almost useless, war souvenir gun in his hand. He was shot by a vice squad officer who admitted he had been snooping around the victim's bed room window. This newspaper has called for an investigation into the circumstances and facts of the case.

We feel that the public interest can be best be served by having the full light of a complete and unbiased investigation focused on the slaying. The death of Randolph Williams Jr. can not be dismissed by inaccurately representing him to the world as a "gunman." There are other factors beyond the unforunate choice of a word by an eager headline writer who thinks only of sensationalism. There will be other tragedies like this unless our newspapers deal more with truth and less with sensation.

Jim Crow Fights In Korea

We were accustomed to receive nice, friendly letters from the Eighth Army in Japan, telling of some of the Los Angeles members of that army and what a delightful time they were having in the land of cherry blossoms, while serving Uncle Sam.

But today we are receiving letters from that army in Korea, telling of the bravery of the "all-Negro" troop units, a part of the Eighth Army. Headlines tell how bridgeheads are held, or are wiped out by Negro troops. And some Negro newspapers laud in glowing terms the work done by the "all-Negro" units.

The Negro soldier deserves every bit of praise accorded him. But the mere fact that there are "all-Negro units" proves to the world that the Negro soldier, no matter how great his courage, is fighting in Korea under the fearful handicap of "Jim Crow." He is fighting colored troops in Korea who would also be subjected to the indignities of Jimcrowism were they here in America.

The "all-Negro troop units" are proof positive that the new "racial policy" of the Army, announced some six months ago, was only a policy on paper. The Army stated then there would be no segregation anywhere in any unit that came under its jurisdiction.

But there is. Yechon, captured after a 16-hour battle, was the first hard-fought victory won by the American forces. It was won by the U. S. Twenty-fourth Infantry Regiment, one of the oldest "all-Negro" units. The reporters who praised these troops, evidently did not notice that the regiment was deliberately disobeying the "new racial policy" stated by the Army six months before.

But there are discriminations also in camp, in Tokyo, where the troops are taken for hospitalization and rest. The NAACP received a letter from several of the men stationed there, saying that discrimination in Tokyo is "as flagrant as it is in Georgia." The letter said Gen. Walter Leo Weible, in command at Tokyo, had issued an order restricting Negro personnel to one particular swimming pool, although there were four at the disposal of the occupation forces.

The NAACP asked for an investigation. But even if this type of discrimination is corrected, there remains the still more flagrant form of segregating the fighting men in Korea, of having "all-Negro" troop regiments or companies. It will not do away with Jim Crow among the fighting men in Korea.

"To establish our right to lead a United Nations force," says the New Republic in a recent issue, "it is more important than ever to abolish race discrimination in our own country. Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson should immediately appoint a board to see that Jim Crow is driven out of the Army once and for all."

Bits of Info

The municipal power system of Los Angeles has kept ahead of demands for low-cost power, and since the end of World War II has added 290,½000 kilowatts of steam plant electric generation to the city's previous power facilities. Construction now under way on new hydroelectric plants in the Owens River Gorge will provide another 112,500 kilowatts of energy next year.

SACRAMENTO — Employment in California climbed to a new monthly peak for the fourth successive month when an estimated 4,156,000 persons were at work in the state during July, the State Department of Employment reported last week.

RAPHAEL KONIGSBERG

The Minorities And The Majority

It must be one of the major ironies of history that in the U. S A., the democratic nation in which the minorities have always been considered "inferior" by the majority, it is the members of the embattled minorities who are the most active fighters for democracy.

It is the Americans of Negro, Jewish, Mexican, Slav, Irish parentage—and all such—who will save democracy. For the members of the "superior" white majority seem to have given up the fight with little struggle, and are accomodating themselves to creeping fascism.

It is the Americans whom bigoted neighbors have for generations subjected to violent discrimination, prevented from living full lives in dignity, and to whom they have brutally denied the opportunity of contributing their utmost to our nation's growth—who are now safeguarding that nation and who will, in the process, save the lives of many of their presecutors.

This, of course, has been true in a measure since America was founded—from the day of Crispus Attucks to Harriet Tubman to Paul Robeson. It is symbolized in the lives of a Justice Brandies and a Congressman Marcantonio. It is dramatized by the lives of the nameless millions who thru the years have cleared our forests, built our industries, created our culture, and fought our wars.

We're For Peace

What brings this forcibly to our attention now is the participation of our minority Americans in the fight for peace. In Los Angeles, for example, wherever you go, it is we of the minorities who are in the forefront circulating the petitions and speaking up for peace. It is in the the minority neighborhoods that the men and women, young and old, are readiest to sign the petitions. They are not afraid. But in the "superior" white neighborhoods too many of the people shy away from the peace campaign as from the plague.

In every sector of the home front's struggle—be it a battle for FEPC or the life of Willie McGee, a fight against the Mundt-Nixon bills or for democratic trade unionism and a people's political party—it is the belittled citizens who are the better citizens. We of the minorities are the first and boldest fighters for the welfare of our nation.

And bravest of the brave are our women. Victims of the threefold curse—exploited in this society as women, as workers, as minority people—they are the outstanding leaders, the tireless soldiers in the ranks, the wisest counsellors in our democratic people's army. The role of their women in the Negroes' never-ending fight for liberation is a prime illustration of this. It is to our women that we and the world will owe our victory.

We'll Save The Peace

Yes, to us of the minorities has fallen the task again of defending and strengthening the democratic foundations of our land. That is the fact—the reasons for it can be discussed another time.

The term 'minority' in this situation is really inaccurate. For the 'superior' whites (compared with the total in our minorities) are no more the true majority in the U.S. than they are in the U.N.—where, it is pertinent to note, a majority of votes in the Security Council "legalized" the intervention in Korea.

The vote of the Norwegian representative (of only three million Norwegians) who favors bloody intervention is considered equal to that of the Soviet delegate (representing 212 million people) who opposes the intervention. The USSR, India and China, comprising half the population of the world, have less than 10 per cent of the votes in the U.N. That is why the U.N., formed to speak for and defend all nations, could be turned into a weapon for global white supremacy.

Yes, all over the world we are setting an example to the "upper" classes in all the elements of decency, honor, wisdom and courage Everywhere we are exposing the hollowness of white "superiority"—the centuries-old lie in the domination of the white "majority."

The inescapable outcome, of course, is that we of the minorities are becoming the majority in fact, the majority in power—, as we have been the majority in numbers. We will inherit the great world we have built.

LABOR ON THE MARCH

What Is This Madness?

Two officials of the CIO, Albelt T. Lunceford and John Despol, open and avowed enemies of Communists, found themselves speaking in opposition to the "Little Mundt" bill proposed before the City Council early this week. Having wielded the brush and the club against progressive union leaders themselves, they well knew what a catch-all the word Communist could be.

JOHN M. LEE

Working, as they do, with certain renegade Communists who will lie on anyone else so long as it keeps the truth about themselves from becoming known, they recognized the danger of police state legislation which depends upon informers for the accusation and the conviction.

Having been a part of the autocratic CIO machine that accused, tried and expelled on hear-say evidence, volunteered by steel-pigeons and redeemed patriots, they wanted no such official set-up to be used against them when the fascists decided to move against organized labor.

Yet they must have recognized that much of the chest-beating, hysterical and oppressive legislation being hastily prepared throughout the nation is due to the self-weakened position of the CIO. A united CIO, strong in leadership, would have forestalled much of the police state legislation now under consideration.

And there is the matter of contradictions. Both Despol and Lunceford argued for civil liberties on a civic level, even as they were engaged in denying democratic rights within their own organization. Having capitulated to the enemies of freedom, they were compelled to ask the City Council not to do likewise.

Perhaps it sobered them to realize that the oppression they invented for a nice little family party was on the way to become part of the law under which they would henceforth have to live.

But, at least Lunceford and Despol were there to be counted among those who would speak out for freedom when the chips are down. Not so the NAACP. There was no communication, no representative of that organization to oppose a measure that is directed against it as much as it is against the Communists.

Frightened into a chilled silence by the red hysteria, the NAACP has failed to speak out on numerous occasions. Failure to oppose the City Council's Communist Registration Bill is an example of gross inconsistency on the part of the NAACP, since the City Council measure is a take-off on the infamous Mundt-Ferguson bill, and the NAACP is on record as opposing that measure.

It might well be that the NAACP has already been immobilized by the FBI informants and police state agents who are in a position to direct its policy. If that be the case, then the membership dues can serve no other purpose than to pay rent and to maintain an office from which it will be possible to watch as the civil liberties of the Negro people ebb away.

There is a strange kind of madness abroad. A new kind of insanity that makes people believe they are fighting best by not fighting at all. They hope that in time all of the assaults against their liberties will cease, and everything will be as it was before.

They do not consider that what it was before, is just what it is today . . . to a lesser degree perhaps, but just as clearly defined. There has never been a period in the history of this country when the civil liberties of the Negro people . . . or any other people for that matter, could be taken for granted.

There were always those who acted as though they alone had the correct formula for democracy and they sought to impose their will upon the nation. They are the real enemy, those undemocratic democrats who sowed the seed of American disunity by barring the Negro people and other minorities from the mainstream of American life.

If this were not true, then there would not have been a need for the NAACP and the CIO. Both of these organizations belong to the great masses of common American people who really believe in the destiny of America. They are opposed to oppression, and they have enough faith in their country to believe it can stand big and grow bigger, without putting men's minds and bodies in chains.

every phase of banking, insurance, real estate, and investment securities is planned for this fall by the Women's Division of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

The series, open to men and women alike, will be conducted under the auspices of Los Angeles Center for Adult Education at Los Angeles High School, 4600 W. Olympic boulevard, and the Los Angeles Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK — The National Committee to Free the Ingram Family will hold a conference in New York City on Sunday, Sept. 10.

Mrs. Rosa Lee Ingram, an innocent Negro mother and her two sons are still in jail. Mrs. Ingram was sent there because she defended her honor against a white neighbor's attacks. Her two sons are with her because they came to the assistance of their mother.

The Committee has sent out an appeal for aid.

CARE FOR OLD PEOPLE

The care of senile persons will be the subject of a statewide conference in Sacramento on Thursday, September 14, according to Governor Warren.

Invitations to participate in the conference have been sent by the Governor to nearly 100 leaders in various fields, including judges, psychiatrists and psychologists, educators, county supervisors, and others concerned with the problem.

The meeting is expected to result in recommendations for improved methods of care of old people who require special attention because they are forgetful, confused and somewhat unpredictable.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

SACRAMENTO — Seven hundred persons were convicted by California courts of violtating the state unemployment insurance act during the first six months of 1950, James G. Bryant, director of the Department of Employment, announced this week.

The bulk of those prosecuted and convicted were guilty of attempting to draw unemployment insurance while working, Bryant said.

CONDEMNS McCARRAN BILL

The new McCarran Omnibus Bill, which combines the provisions of the Hobbs Concentration Camp Bill and the Mundt-Nixon Bill, approved on August 17 by the Senate Judiciary Committee, was condemned this week as "a vicious fascist measure aimed at the destruction of the constitutional rights of all Americans, native as well as foreign born," in a statement issued by Abner Green, executive secretary of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born.

"We appeal to all organizations and individuals to protest immediately by writing or wiring to the two United States Senators from their state," said Mr. Green.

CALIFORNIA TAXES

SACRAMENTO — Californians, in the last fiscal year, paid taxes on 3,342,257,219 gallons of gasoline, butane and propane—enough fuel for three coast-to-coast round trips by each of California's three and a half million passenger cars—William G. Bonelli, Fourth District Member of the State Board of Equalization, announced last week.

Alcoholic beverage excise taxes collected in July on June wholesale trade totaled $1,515,296—up 13 percent over collections a year ago.

FIGHT AGAINST PROPOSITION 10

Calling attention to the announced opposition of both Governor Warren and James Roosevelt to Proposition 10 on the November ballot, Senator Chris N. Jespersen of Atascadero last week accepted chairmanship of the newly-formed Committee for Representative Government, to fight this misleading proposal on a statewide basis.

PAT BROWN WORKSHOP

Central Los Angeles County campaign headquarters for Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, Democratic nominee for Attorney General, were opened last week at 918 South Flower Street.

William V. O'Connor, Executive Director of the Southern Californit Committee to Elect Brown, said the new officers, which will be called the Pat Brown Workshop, will handle the entire Countywide program in behalf of Brown's candidacy.

O'Connor extended a cordial invitation to all volunteer workers interested in supporting Brown to visit the new Workshop.

TROTSKY

The strains of civil war and economic crises were reflected in the Communist Party. (This was the official name now adopted by the Bolsheviks.) Leon Trotsky declined in its councils. Earlier actions of his, counter to Lenin's policy, had not gone unnoticed. Just prior to the November Revolution, for example, Trotsky had been so over confident as to reveal in public the date set. As a result the date had to be advanced, thereby reducing the chances of success. As head of the Soviet peace delegation at Brest-Litovak he had disobeyed instructions to accept the Germans' first offer, which would have deprived Russia of far less territory than it finally had to surrender. As a result he was ousted as Commissar of Foreign Affairs. During the Civil War, as Defense Commissar, Trotsky acquired considerable popularity, but among the new officers rising from the ranks he had a reputation for impracticability and instability in critical situations. They showed more confidence in Stalin, whom Lenin had been ordering from front to front as a one-man shock troop. Walter Duranty writes:

"Stalin and Voroshilov conducted a brilliant defense of the key city of Tsaritin (now Stalingrad) against a White army which had advanced from the Don region with the aim of joining the Whites from Siberia and making a single front from the Urals to the Black Sea. In the course of the Tsaritsin battle Stalin found it necessary to dismiss an untrustworthy former Tsarist officers appointed by Trotsky."

Again, just prior to the introduction of the New Economic Policy, when the bulk of the party leadership was convinced that the country needed a relaxation of stringent wartime regulations, Trotsky urged dictorial measures against labor and the peasantry, proposing that the trade unions be run in military fashion and that the government stabilize its economic position at the expense of the peasantry, buying their products at the lowest possible prices while selling them manufactured goods at the highest. Trotsky also held that Russia was too backward to establish socialism, and that therefore the government's main concern should be fostering revolutions elsewhere.

Trotsky's downfall began early in 1922 when, on Lenin's nomination, Joseph Stalin was elected General Secretary of the Communist Party. The following year, when Lenin entered his final illness, Trotsky launched a campaign in the party for his own policies. However, they were rejected, and Trotsky turned toward conspiratorial activities which led to his ultimate expulsion from the party and exile from the country. See Sayers and Kahn, The Great Conspiracy.

The Formation of the U.S.S.R.; Lenin's Death

Stalin's activities during the years 1922-1924 were largely directed toward the unification of the hitherto independent Russian, Ukrainian, Belorussian and Trans-Caucasian Soviet republics into a single multi-national state. A Treaty of Union was signed on December 30, 1922. The first Constitution of the Union of Soviet Sovialist Republics was ratified on January 31, 1924. Lenin had passed away ten days earlier.

The new Constitution granted the franchise to persons over 18, regardless of sex, religious belief, race, nationality, or length of residence. Employers of labor, tradesmen, ministers of religion, and former Tsarist police and gendarmes, totaling altogether ten per cent of the adult population, were disfranchised.

The strains of civil war and economic crises were refletced in the Communist Party. (This was the official name now adopted by the Bolsheviks.) Leon Trotsky declined in its councils. LETTERS to the EDITOR

(Copy of letter urging peace sent to Mayors of 192 American cities).

August 25, 1950

Dear Mr. Mayor:

The future of America and the survival of our form of government depend upon the ability of this nation to prove to others that Americans practice the democratic principles they preach.

The safeguarding of the Constitution is in practice the safeguarding of the freedom of speech and opinion of all citizens by those entrusted with enforcing our laws. The defense of these rights is particularly urgent today when all sane and humane men throughout the world are desperately searching the means and ways to peace not only for its own sake but also because an atom war could mean, in the words of the International Red Cross, "extermination pure and simple."

It is inevitable that under circumstances where men's searchings are so fundamental, solutions proposed will be extremely diverse, controversial and heated. Mankind's future is at stake. Yet we learn that in a number of cities in the United States, citizens who assert their inalienable right to speak for peace according to their own insights are persecuted, arrested by officers of the law and evenimpugned as disloyal to the American people and our form of government.

The American definition of patriotism is loyalty to one's fellow-countrymen, a definition developed in contradiction to the old pre-American concept of fealty to a king or to a government. The U. S. Constitution guarantees an american's right and freedom to place country above government; to criticize and even turn out of office and power one government in favor of another in the interests of the country as o whole as each man sees it. We who issue this appeal are American citizens who differ on many issues and in our solutions to the problem of world survival presented by the threat of atom-war. But we believe that we would be disloyal to all that the founders of this country held sacred if we were to condone for one moment the subversion of American democracy manifested in these assaults and arrests of workers for peace.

We therefore urge you, as sworn defenders of the U. S. Constitution, for the sake of our country's good name, to act at once against those who seek to interfere with the rights of those who petition, speak or act for peace, in your city.

Sincerely yours,
Robert Morss Lovett
Dean John B. Thompson

An Open Letter to the Hollywood Ten:

We, the victims of the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors and the City Council, salute the Hollywood Ten!

Since 1947 when "loyalty" oaths were imposed on County and City workers, requiring that employees state their political and organizational affiliations, we were inspired by the courageous action of the Hollywood Ten to carry out our own convictions of true American democracy. It was you, the Hollywood Ten, who defined the meaning of this democracy with such brilliance and clarity.

We, also, have carried on the fight by great personal sacrifice. Many of us have suffered the loss of our jobs and many more jobs are in jeopardy. However, this loss is small indeed compared to your imprisonment.

Although the fight is becoming more difficult each day and your efforts are greatly misseed, we pledge to you that we will continue to fight against "loyalty" checks and all other attempts to deprive us of our civil rights.

Fraternally yours,
COMMITTEE AGAINST "LOYALTY" CHECKS,
By Ray Garner, chairman.

World Call For Peace

The following militant call for a second World Congress of the World Defenders of Peace was issued at Prague, Czechoslovakia, at a meting of the Bureau of the Defenders of Peace, which Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor and publisher of The California Eagle, attended as a delegate from the United States of America.

Representatives of all nations, all religious organizations, labor unions, youth and women's organizations, are urged to send representatives. It is estimated that at least 1,000,000 people interested in peace will be represented.

The appeal was adopted by the Bureau of the World Committee of the Defenders of Peace at Prague, August 18, 1950, by F. Joliot-Curie.

Hundreds of millions of men and women have rallied, and are continuing to rally to the Stockholm Peace Appeal. In the name of these millions of men and women, the Bureau of the World Committee summons the II World Congress of the Defenders of Peace to take place November 13-19, 1950, in Great Britain.

The recent worsening of the international situation directly endangering the peace of the world, imposes new and more urgent responsibilities upon all peace-loving people.

The Defenders of Peace are resolved to pursue their campaign for the banning of atomic weapons and they declare once more their support for general reduction, under control, of every form of armament, the increase in which is rendering the war danger more acute and burdening the peoples with heavy sacrifices.

The Defenders of Peace declare themselves against agression wherever it may occur, they condemn foreign intervention by force of arms in the internal affairs of any people. They call for the ending of such intervention wherever it has taken place.

The Defenders of Peace welcome and support all peaceful moves already undertaken to stop the war in Korea, the most dangerous area of a possible general conflict. They vigorously denounce the mass bombardments that have made victims of civil populations.

The Defenders of Peace demand that the Security Council shall deal with the question of a settlement by peaceful means at the earliest possible moment and in doing so shall include properly qualified representatives of the five great powers and give a hearing to both parties concerned.

The Defenders of Peace demand the banning of all propaganda in favor of war, in any form and in any every country.

We call upon all peace-loving people throughout the world to engage in public discussion of these proposals and to elect representatives to voice their opinions at the II World Congress.

We urge all political, cultural, social and religious groups, trade unions, women's organizations, youth organizations, every man and woman eager to preserve the peace of the world, to share in carryiny out these tasks, whatever may be their political, philosophical or religious convictions.

We are aware of the giant strength that the great gathering rallied around the Stockholm Appeal represents, a gathering that must be made yet wider and more numerous. We have been able to measure the effectiveness

TO NEGRO MOTHERS

By Horace Alexander,
Chairman Young Progressive of America, Southern California Region

I won't give excuses for not writing. I'll just say I've been awfully busy these past months. But you'll ask, how can children become so busy that they can't write to their own mother? Well, Mom, it's kinda hard to explain, you get so mixed up in the day to day struggle to make a living and keep your family going, till it just makes you forget. It's not that I don't think about you, and home, and all the things you did to see us grow up. But every day one grows older, life presents a new set of problems, and it keeps you busy trying to solve them.

But though I may forget to write sometimes, Mom, there are some things never to be forgotten. I will never forget the struggle that you and I, Sam, John, Mac and Charles have put up throughout the years. I will never forget the prayers and pain, sleepless nights, and hunger, and heartaches. I will never forget the endless years that you have worked your hand to the bone so that my sisters and brothers and I could eat.

And I ask myself, Mom, what kind of world is it that lets its good people like you, find yourself after more than fifty years, in a state of bad health, with no one to look to. Is it God's fault? Where is God? Anyone who has toiled like you have. Mom, should not be made to suffer in old age. Is it mans' fault? Must good people like you be held responsible for others' evils? I don't think that it's possible and fair that you should be held accountable for what others do. I think that if the Lord causes poor people like us to suffer all the time, it's wrong.

And it looks as though we should have a chance sometime. But I don't think it's the Lord that keeps us poor folks down. It is the devils right here on earth. It's the devils who got all the money. It's the devils who cause us poor folks to have to work our backbones out all our lives, just to get a little bite to eat. It's the white devils that rule our country and maks us black folks suffer. They keep us so poor that a son can't get enough ahead to save and to send to his mother. They keep us black folk so poor we can't even quit work when we get old. We have to go on until we're dying.

If we live a hundred years, we look back and what did we live for, but to work our fingers to the bone for the white folks. But there are some good white folks. The good white folks are those who are poor like us. The bad white folks are those who own all the money. They keep us down so we'll have to work for them; and they keep the poor whites down also. You've heard them say, Mom, "poor white trash." You've also heard them "easy the n———s."

So you see, Mom, the ones with the money hate all poor people. They will tell a colored man "that the poor white trash," and they will say to a poor white man: that "dirty n———." So you see, Mom, they keep the Negro hating the poor white and the poor white hating the Negro. Most of the time neither of them know why. But the rich know why, Mom.

They know that as long as the rich man can keep the poor man, black and white, hating each other, and fighting each other, the rich man can get richer and the poor fools who fight each other, get poorer. But the poor people must get together, Mom. They must get together in brotherly love. It is the only way they will have peace and security and freedom from want. Remember, Mom, the Bible said, "the first will be last and the last will be first." The time is coming when the last will be first. The time is coming when the poor people will inherit the earth. The poor people are beginning to inherit the earth in many parts of the world today, Mom.

That is what this war in Korea is all about; the poor Korean people, North and South, are fighting for food, equality, and freedom. The American white rulers are trying to stop them from having freedom. The radio and newspapers say we are fighting a holy war to save the world from Communism. But how can we save the world from so-called evil, when first right here in our own country, the colored people are suffering day in and day out? How can we fight for democracy, freedom and equality?

They say we are lazy, inferior, no good; and also they say we have it better than anywhere else in the world. But that's untrue, Mom; they just tell u that to keep us in the dark. I know; I found out in the army and also when I went to college. They tell us all these lies to keep us from wanting anything better right here on earth NOW! The colored soldiers are being made to go over there and kill other colored peoples. I tell you, Mom, this war is useless, crazy and no good. I have not desire to kill more men, women and children. I only want to love everyone. But the rich rulers want to kill and make more money. They want us poor folks to do the shooting while they stay at home and get rich.

But I tell you, Mom, the poor people are getting mighty tired. They are tired of work with little pay. They are tired of being lynched, tired of having their future denied. The poor people want to live happy too. With plenty of food, nice homes, ac ar, and some time to rest and enjoy life in happiness and friendship. And yes, Mom, for those of us who are young, we are tired of seeing our mothers grow old and still have to slave. We are tired of not being able to help uor mothers because we, too, are poor. Yes, Mom, I'm tired too; at the age of 26. But I'm angry too, Mom.

I'm angry because the rulers of our country are so mean and evil to us colored people. I'm angry because they keep us fighting among ourselves. I know what you'll say, Mom, "pray and the Lord will provide." But the Lord helps those who help themselves. I intend, Mom, to help myself. I intend, Mom, to fight until the last breath, to see that all Negroes get recognition, equality, and freedom. I intend to fight, Mom, until all good mothers like you are able to sit down and rest and live decent, instead of like animals.

Incidentally, Mom, as you know, to fight for friendship and goodness, and happiness, and an end to bloody wars, is today considered to be bad. The rich fellows say we common folks are getting out of our places when we talk like this. You know, Mom, like they always say about us Negroes when we hold our heads up. But I intend to hold my head up, Mom. And I intend to go on fighting for what is right. So if I'm a little long writing, Mom, just say he's somewhere fighting for what is right.

NEGOTIATE PEACE: SAVE THE UN

The UN was established for peace—not for war,
To hear all sides mediate,
discuss—that's what it's for;
Not to rush headlong into battle and strife
Showing no regard for human life.

To cry: "They wouldn't stop as we told them to do . . .
So we had to rush in and use force, too . . ."
Is to adopt the "MIGHT IS RIGHT" theory as a UN move,
Yet this very theory the UN
was established to disprove.

Known wider and felt deeper than any amout of words
Are the deeds of death and destruction by giant American "birds"
Diving down on helpless people like hawks on baby chicks,
Stealing away the spotlight from the Austins, Jobbs and Maliks.

History shows that every nation justifies its acts
Each side gives reasons backed up with facts.
To call war "police action"
makes it no push-button magic Mothers' tears and mass graves are just as real and tragic.

Let us stop the slaughter! Mop up the blood!
Build back the huts with the blood-stained mud.
Cease fire! Restore sanity!
There's so much to do . . .
Can't you see this orgy kills the UN too?

A Poem to my Chum, Martin
By John Kinloch
Dear Martin

I have an idea
You are sitting
On some stump or other,
And thinking
What the hell
Are you fighting for anyway.

Fort Van Dorn
Had its riot.
And I guess
You know more about that
Than I do.

Hell, L. A.
Had its, too.
And Detroit
And a burg in Texas
Named Beaumont.

And all over
The bloomin' country
Guys are whackin'
The stew
Out of us.

It is a logical
Thing to wonder
Where the war is
And why we are Fighting and What for

And that ain't
Such a bad idea
Because a lot of
Other guys are
In this war
Because they Were drafted.
Period.

And when a people
Are in the crack
As we are,
Explanations have got to be
A damn sight better
Than just A-1.
And they have got To add up to
A whole lot more
Than a brass band.

And, Martin, my chum,
In dashing off
This little note
Because I believe
If we got this mess
Wiped out
Both ways
From the middle.

To Wit
There are guys
In Germany
And Italy
And the honorable
Japanese Empire
Who think
That God made them
To make us
Their slaves.

And there are jerks
In Mississippi
And Alabama and unpleasant
Plants like that,
Who've got the same
Down bee
Buzzin' in their Thinkin'.

Hell, it is a natural Thing
That all these eggs
Get together
To figure how
They can scratch
Each others backs.

And one way,
Sad and true,
Is to kid us
That our war
Ain't against them.
At All.
But only against
Those of them
Not in the same country.

And that
The fascists
Of Alabama
Will try to make Us fight them.

There
While Hitler,
Has a ball
Somewhere else.

And they will Tell us
That other poor
Crackers
Are our real Enemies.

I hope to God
Some of our time
That we spend
Whaling hell
Out of these other Guys
Who ought to be
On our side
Of the continent.

Of Europe
Where the Fascist World
Has staked
All its chips
And where
In the end
We sink
Or swim.

So, dear Martin
Please rise
Off your seat
And start Practicing
How to shoot Nazis
Where they won't
Sit down
No more.

Sincerely,
John.

Southland Society Enjoys Gala Evening at Alpha Phi House; Ends at Royal Palms

By WENDELL JAMES FRANKLIN

As twilight set in and the shades of evening began to fall on Los Angeles last Saturday evening, society leaders started out on an evening that will be unforgettable in the annals of Southland social activities. Fashionable homes of blue-bookers were the scene for early cocktail gatherings. Then on to the Alpha house atop famed Sugar Hill, to meet outstanding personalities of radio, stage and screen and then on to the exclusive Royal Palms Hotel. Concluding with an early morning breakfast.

Pre Ball Gathering

The pre-ball gathering at the newly purchased Alpha house, was alive with the excitement. The club rooms downstairs bar and playroom were filled to capacity. As the hands of the clock rolled around for the guest to leave for the dance, a salute of commendation was given to stars representing the entertainment world by the Western States Regional Conference and hosting chapters of Alpha Phi Alpha. Famed actress, Louise Beavers now currently appearing in the "Jackie Robinson Story" and who has been a part of the motion picture industry for many years, along with Benny Carter, the top man of music. Eunice Wilson, star of the International stage. Bob Davis of "Knock on any Door" fame. Madie Norman, now appearing in "River Boy" and Gertrude Gipson outstanding Theatrical Editor were presented to the capacity crowd to receive plaudits for their contribution in the entertainment world. The entire proceedings were transcribed for radio's popular "Sweet and Low" show by top disc jockey Jack Low with yours truly at the microphone. (This will be broadcast at a later date).

Royal Palms Hotel

The Royal Palms Hotel was the setting for the Western Regional Ball. The lobby and ballroom proved to be a complimentary background to the smartly dressed feminine set, wearing gowns of many hues and suave gentlemen bedecked in dinner jackets of white, created a rainbow of color and a gay carnival for dancing. Renewing old acquaintances and shaking hands of the many out-of-towners was quite the scheme of things.

Every phase of business and professional life was represented. The Music of Sammy Franklin and his orchestra, wove various moods of enjoyable dance music that brought applause from the dancing audience. As the hours of early morning set in, the brothers of Alpha gathered in a large circle and joined hands, lifting their lusty voices in singing their fraternity hymn, that brought nostalgic memories to the hundreds of guest, of former school days. From a point of coordinating, this affair and the entire weekend of social activities should set the pattern for the rest of the summer season and fall as well as winter dates on the social calendar. Congratulations for a job well done to Beta Psi Lambda, graduate chapter and the two undergraduate chapters Gamma XI and Alpha Delta.

And so we find the Angel City populace making successful attempts to live up to the lines as stated above . . . To say that it is an enjoyable experience to be part of the whirlpool of continual social activity is truly not an understatement. . . .

Mid-Week Highlights

COLOR, FASHION, AND BEAUTY spiced the afternoon of Wednesday, August 23 when the women of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority greeted friends and fellow Sorors at their Post Convention Garden Party. The setting was the spacious and lovely gardens of the Davis residence on South Arlington Avenue. The late afternoon hours were well filled by attendance of many local women and visiting Sorors.

A receiving line comprised of National officers included Dorothy I. Height, Grand President, of New York; Oralee B. Mitchell, Vice-President, of New Orleans, Louisiana; Reber S. Conn, Secretary, of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Other notables included were Atty. Sadie Alexander, Honorary National President, Samantha Lee, Far-Western Regional Director, and local chapter presidents Mary Lou Roberson, Nu Sigma, Shirley Williams, Ppsilon, and Harriet Flowers, Pi.

The beautifully decorated table was a main feature which included twin punch bowls set in ice molds surrounded by fresh gardenias — really a picture of artistic beauty.

Hostesses

The Pyramids (pledges) of the sorority were excellent as working hostesses. All were in uniformity with red shirts and white blouses. The assistance of the Anchorettes Teenagers club also gave quite a helping hand.

AND FOLLOWING this occasion, the Undergrads took over to entertain their visiting sisters. The Phyllis Wheatley Home on South Hobart Blvd. opened its doors to receive the group. Local Frats were guests along with the visitors. (See story).

Week-End Happenings

REAL HOSPITALITY was exhibited on Friday night, August 25 when June Williams entertained at the South Arlington residence of her mother Mrs. Lillian G. Orange. The honored guests were Fisk classmates of the hostess. Local guests were Charles Lindsay and wife Marie, Dorothy Duvall and Wardell Gray, Marie Flennoy, and Rena Nelson, to name a few. . . .

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES of the Alpha Phi Alpha Regional Confab was highlighted by the Formal Dance Saturday past held in the main ballroom of the Royal Palms Hotel. Colorful crepe paper decorations gave an overhead effect in the dance area. Many a guest found the spacious and comfortable outer lobby and cocktail lounge ideal for "meeting and greeting."

Feminine attire fashionably accentuated the short formal and attractive open sandal. Noticed that not too many corsages were worn. This could be a new fashion trend, and possibly one that will last . . . During the course of the evening saw many familiar faces. . . . Lucille and Wilbur Ashford, handsome couple, Mignon Jefferson, Betty Wallace, Atty. and Mrs. Edward Maddox, Dr. Bert L. Boswell, and daughter-in-law Mrs. Everette (Clara) Boswell, Milton Smith and Joyce Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Robinson, Lionel Cade, Clayton Moore, Miss Dorothy Height, Walace Pride, Irving and Doris Smith, Cave Arbor and wife, Jimmy Robinson, Mary Lou Roberson, Clora Lee Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey D. Davidson, Joan and Earl Pierson, Charles Brussard, Connie and Hubert Duke, Rudy Henderson, Earline and Benny Shaw . . . and these, just a small few, for the ballroom was filed to capacity. . . .

THE GARDEN RECEPTION honoring Alpha dignitaries, was at the home of Dewey D. Davidson on Sunday, August 27. This was the last affair of the full active program of the conference. Many of the guests present were

ANGELENOS ENTERTAIN AT GAY COCKTAIL PARTY

"Soiree" Tops Social Events Of Season

By Gertrude Gipson

As even tide cast its shadows last Sunday afternoon, social, civic and business leaders were entertained lavishly at the exclusive Country Club home of Mrs. Edith Jones when her son-in-law, Mr. Edward F. Boyd, assistant sales manager of the Pepsi-Cola Company, hosted a cocktail Soiree honoring the eight National Sales Representatives of the company and at the same time getting better acquainted with Angelenos.

Upon arriving the ladies were presented with beautiful orchids taken from a huge orchid plant of exotic beauty in the main drawing room.

The occasion was typical of a Hollywood party, with strolling serenaders, champagne, martinis and manhattans. The buffet tables were abundant with food of variety and richness to delight a gourmet.

Much praise was heard for Mr. Edward Boyd for the charming gesture in presenting good will from one of the country's major businesses.

A great deal of credit was also given Mr. Paul Davis, sales representative, for his work in handling public relations.

ENJOYING the pleasant atmosphere and gaiety of the Cocktail Soiree, guests shown seated from left to right: Mrs. R. J. Boyd of Riverside, California and the mother of Edward F. Boyd, assistant sales manager of Pepsi-Cola Company; Dr. Alma T. Watkins, Tennessee State College, Nashville, Tenn.; Mrs. William A. Beck, Mrs. Merda Molette. Standing: Mr. Elledge Penland and Gertrude Gipson, EAGLE Theatrical Editor.

INFORMAL SHOT catches the host, Mr. Edward F. Boyd, Mrs. Loren Miller, H. Floyd Britton of Pepsi-Cola, Mrs. Mae Turner Myers, Harvey C. Russell of Pepsi-Cola, Mrs. Eddie Atkinson and Attorney Loren Miller.

EAT DRINK AND BE MERRY ... And that seems to be the order of things here as guests partake of the delicious delights. Shown from left to right: Joseph Makel, National Sales representative of the Calvert Distilleries, of New York City; Mrs. Cortez Strange; Mrs. James H. Diggs of Chicago, Ill.; Mrs. Gerald Barner, Mrs. Malvin Webb, and Attorney Hugh Goodwin of Los Angeles.

HOSTESSES . . . Appropriately dressed in gay and colorful cocktail dresses, this lovely group was on hand to see the guests wanted for nothing. With Corrine Kemp and Edith Simmons, sisters-in-law of the host, Edward F. Boyd in charge, assisted by Joyce Maynard, Donzella Coulter, Loretta Pruitt, Geraldine Barnum, Jean Blanchett, Gloria Crouch and Joan Moore.

MRS. ANNA LUCILLE WASHINGTON SPICER, lone candidate for the master's degree upon whom the rank was conferred at the annual summer school commencement convocation at Lincoln university (Mo.) Aug. 3. Mrs. Spicer is an alumni of Lincoln, having received the bachelor of science degree in commerce, August, 1945.

Bealys Hosts to Indian Club

At historic Cabrillo Beach Sunday, August 27th, where many southlanders find a pleasant mecca, Vera and Otis Bealy "Black Hawk", were hosts to the Indian Club, the Chieftains and Braves, the Super Chiefs.

Robert "Running Water" Brown furnished music by the sea. Games and ball were played. Those leading in sports were charming Mary Stewart, "Tallfeather" popular prexy of the Indian Squaws, and Arthur Phillips, "Supreme Chief" Straight Arrow of the Men's club.

Shortly after high noon a huge Bar-b-qued pork and ham platter decorated the picnic table, accompanied by potato salad and all the trimmings.

Among the many guests were: Clarence Glover, Sam and Edna Harris, Margaritte Philips, Sidney Curtis, Dora Swan, Lillie Smith, Felix and Zenobia Corbin, Harry and Margaretta Taylor, U. S. and Daisy Cherry, Zoenese and Curtis Cassidy, Evie and Robert Brown, Jewel Smith and Geo. Greer, Cornelia and Willis Rogers, Mary and Sam Stewart, Mary Louise and Arthur Phillips and Elsie and Jimmie Miller.

The Girl's Barbeque Dinner Sept. 17th promises to be a gala event.

Mrs. Willimena Narcises and her niece, little Cookie, are visiting her sister, Mrs. Jo Donaldson. Mrs. Narcises loves sunny California, but is very anxious to return to the big city. She is an ardent fan of the Brooklyn Dodgers. Mrs. Narcises will leave by American air line next week.

MISS DOROTHY HEIGHT of New York, national president of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority and a member of the executive staff of the national YWCA, introduces the speakers on the Symposium on Human Rights held at Second Baptist Church Tuesday evening as part of the program of the Post-Session of the 21st National Convention of Delta. Delta Undergrads Entertain Visiting Sorors at Party

Pi and Upsilon chapters of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority entertained visiting Undergrad sorors at an informal dancing party on Wednesday, August 23, at the Phyllis Wheatley Home. Local fraternities were also guests, and each showed excellent cooperative spirit by having representatives on the scene. To name the frats, Omega, Kappa and Alpha were very much in evidence.

Menu for the evening included the very tasty dish of Spaghetti and a Toss Salad.

Names of frat guests included Frank Raspbury, Charles Lindsay, Chuck Jones, Milton Smith, Floyd Wilson, John Herod, Gordon Turner, Wallace Pride, Morgan Moten, Morgan Maxwell, Orville Diggs, Otis Greene and many others. Delta guests, to name a few, were Clarrissa Little of Chicago, Peggy Webb, Howard University, Mae Childress, Pat Roberts, Doris Davis of Detroit, Mich., and Eva McCall of Montgomery, Alabama.

The 'party after the party' held sway at the home of Leola Beavers which lasted until the wee, wee hours.

Zionist Group Buys Tractor To Aid Israel

City Terrace Zionist district this week turned over a check to Moris Friedman, chairman of the "Tractors for Israel" campaign to become the first group in Southern California to meet its drive quota.

In brief ceremonies on the City Hall steps where the drive was launched officially, Ben Diamond, chairman of the Eastside Zionist organization, handed Friedman a $3,000 check.

Meanwhile, some 120 Zionist leaders at another meeting pledged $20,00 in the drive to aid Israeli farmers after hearing Mortimer May, Zionist national vice-president, underscore the need.

The campaign, sponsored by Southern Pacific region of Zionist Organization of America, will run through Sept. 30. Goal is $105.00.

MCS Wins on SS Pres. Wilson; Condemns Nat'l CIO

SAN FRANCISCO—Hugh Bryson, national president of the Maine Cooks and Stewards stated last week:

"The 203 MCS members aboard the luxury liner S.S. President Wilson voted unanimously to sign on the vessel for the next voyage, after hearing a full report from the Union on the status of the disputes that have been pending aboard the vessel."

The Union had been attempting the company to take steps to make better working conditions in the laundry aboard the Wilson for some time, and one of the demands was that the intolerable high temperature of 130 degrees during certain legs of the voyage be remedied. Another suction fan was installed, and the out-take and intake mechanism to cool the laundry were improved.

Another dispute ended was the lopping by the company off the manning scale of three waiters, which they agreed to reinstate, this voyage.

Another significant motion adopted unanimously was condemnation of the National CIO in denying MCS members their democratic autonomous rights and their setting up of a dual and hostile union. O. A. Knight, chairman of the "trial" committee that heard the charges of "Communist domination" against MCS announced last week in his Oil-Workers Long Beach convention that MCS and ILWU would be expelled.

American Woodmen's New Office Building Cornerstone Laid

The twelfth Supreme Camp Session of the American Woodmen that was held in Denver, Colo., and the laying of the Corner Stone of the New Home Office Building, was witnessed by many Angelenos, along with 900 delegates from 23 states and the District of Columbia.

The meeting was presided over by Lawrence H. Lightner, Supreme Commander, who has given 39 years of unstinted service to the American Woodmen, bringing it from 2000 members and $9000 to 60,000 members and 6½ million dollars.

Those attending from Los Angeles included Mrs. O. M. Rhodes, Supervisor of the Los Angeles District and officers, Opal Moore, Rosa Hill, Esther Cormia, Frank E. James, Ophelia Smith, Bernice Holmes, Mary E. Jenkins, Lucy Ross, Minnie Daniels, Cora Cormea, Clarence D. Hargrave, Nellie Webb, Maxine Kennedy, Ellen T. Richardson, Henry T. Elmore, Linzel Johnson, Tyra Richardson and Jessie L. Elmore.

Arthur Stewart Homicide Trial Delayed Again

Medical authorities at General Hospital this week again refused to permit Arthur Stewart to be taken to court to stand trial for the recent murder of his sweetheart, Ruby Compton.

When Stewart's attorney, Curtis C. Taylor, appeared for him in Compton Municipal Court last Monday, and reported the statement of the physicians, the judge set the sensational case back to Sept. 11, to allow more time for convalescence.

Attendants at the hospital, and doctors who have been treating Stewart, explain that but for Stewart's nervous hurry, he might have succeeded in killing himself as he had tried.

The steel-jacketed bullet entered his side, and ranged downward into his leg, instead of plowing straight through his chest and vital organs.

Stewart, young GI, madly in love with Miss Compton, had become distraught when she refused to marry him. Hiding in the shrubbery he had shot her while she was shutting off the yard sprinkler, killing her instantly. Moments later he had attempted suicide.

An Ancient Art

An exhibition of civilization's most consistently widespread popular game since the Middle Ages—cards—has been placed on exhibit at the Los Angeles County Museum for one month.

A collection of four centuries of playing cards dating from the 17th century to the era of World War II, and including Oriental decks as well as those of Russia, Europe and America, will be on view here for the first showing on the West Coast as a loan from Dr. and Mrs. William A. Nitze. The exhibition will close Sept. 24.

Longshoremen 'Better Off Out of CIO'

SAN FRANCISCO — Officers of the International Longshoremen's & Warehousemen's Union today greeted the news of the organization's ouster from CIO with this comment: "We are better off out than in."

Further commenting, the officers referred to ILWU President Harry Bridges' speech before the last convention of CIO in which he stated that National CIO had become a racketeering organization, far departed from its founding principles.

"National CIO," the ILWU officers stated, "is now a political dictatorship run solely for the benefit of its national officers and their payrollers who draw fabulous sums in salaries and expenses, and deny the rank and file workers any say over their political and economic destiny.

"It is now strictly a union-busting and strike-breaking agency which has the declared intent to raid or wreck any union refusing to conform to its policies.

"All this is done, of course, under cover of the usual smokescreen of fighting communism."

Real Estate Suit May Settle Dispute Over Broker's Ethics

Mr. Cicil Murrell, well known and popular real estate broker lost the first round in municipal court recently, in what is expected to be an interesting and informative case before Superior court, involving a question of ethics and fair dealing between broker and cooperating broker, in the matter of division of commission in a sale of real property.

The alleged facts are that Mr. Murrell was engaged by his client Mr. Cleveland to find some income property as reinvestment of some $33,000 this sum being the proceeds of a sale of property belonging to Mr. Cleveland in which Murrell had acted as broker.

Thereafter Murrell contacted another broker, Mr. Hansen who later sold Murrell's client a four family flat for $11,500 in which he divided one-half of the commission with Murrell.

Some time later Mr. Hansen contacted Mr. Murrell's client directly and succeeded in selling him an eight family flat for $26,000, at Murrell's advice, but this time the broker, Mr. Hansen failed to include Mr. Murrell in on the commission, which Murrell contends was the cooperating agreement.

Admission

Hansen denied that he had agreed to share the commission with Murrell in the second deal, however Hansen admitted that he knew Cleveland was Murrell's client and had promised to deal with him only through Murrell.

It is believed that the higher court's decision will indicate whether or not a breach of ethics or good faith, if such a breach be found in this case, it will constitute a cause of action. It is also expected that the decision will reveal the necessary precautions a cooperating broker may take in protecting his interest, in similar cases, when dealing with a fellow broker.

Candidate for State Senator in Alameda Co. Scores Eviction from Fed. Housing Project

Herbert T. Johnson, prominent East Bay architect and chairman of the Fauntleroy for State Senator in Alameda County Campaign Committee, this week issued the following statement on behalf of Rev. G. Linwood Fauntleroy and the committee:

"The discriminatory eviction of Mr. and Mrs. James Scales and their four small children from their apartment in Codornices Village has awakened the righteous indignation of every decent person who is aware of the true facts.

"The management has sadly miscalculated in assuming that this sort of high-handedness would pass unprotested by the citizens of Alameda oCunty. Reverend Fauntleroy recognizes that the Scales case is a threat to both Negro and white tenants and therefore offers his wholehearted support and that of his campaign committee to any joint action undertaken to correct the injustice done. The only moral course open to the management of the Codornices project is to reinstate the Scales family immediately.

"It is an outrage when Federal authorities, without provocation, send sheriff's deputies and the police to put parents and their four tiny children (age 3 months to 4 years) out on the street. The outrage is worsened by management's deceit in trying to evict the family less than one day after promising that they would not be evicted.

"The pretense for the eviction was non-payment of the current month's rent, although the Scales had tried to pay the rent. The Federal authorities managing the Codornices project refused to accept the payment because the Scales would not pay a "fine" for allegedly failing "to take care of the courtyard." These fines are not part of the tenants' lease and amount to an illegal rent increase.

"During the course of his campaign, Rev. Fauntleroy has had many complaints from the residents, especially the Negro residents of the Codornices project, regarding the manner in which they are treated by the management. Many complained particularly about administration of the so-called court-yard program. Iit is a forthright refusal to be bullied into paying the 'court-yard' 'fine' which is the basis for the calloused action taken against this Negro family."

GERTRUDE GIPSON

The old lid is doffed this week to Edward F. Boyd, assistant sales manager of the Pepsi-Cola Company, for the fine way in which he and the other sales representatives demonstrated their hospitality at their very lavish cocktail party given Sunday afternoon. . . . Can ya imagine an orchid for every lady with food and drinks galore. . . . We can easily understand why Pepsi-Cola would secure the capable services of Mr. Boyd . . . (and a little off the record) his dynamic personality and fighting spirit show up first in his "hazel brown eyes." . . . Nat and Maria Cole entertaining in a cozy fashion in their "Rumpus Room" just before TWA-ing to England.

Charolette Charity, sis of Maria Cole, who will remain at the Cole abode during their stay abroad looking so charming as she flashed her dimpled smile to friends at the going-away party for her sis and brother-in-law. . . . Of course we expected it all the time . . . that "Jazz on Sunset" would be one of those sell-out things. Congrats to Roy Loggins Jr. and Lin Hilburn for recapturing that certain something that everybody wants.

Lil Randolph due in town today after a personal appearance tour and a nitery engagement in Walla Walla. . . . Arthur Lee Simpkins getting all sorta raves appearing on the CBS broadcast as vocalist with Dave Rose. . . . Charles Penland says "Leaving for Korea is baaaaaad enough without the added sorrow of leaving behind cute Carrie Weems." . . . We'd better make it known that there is nothing "sick" about "Lustrasilk" as the printer put it, and especially the ones that Gladys Moundy gives. . . . Billy Muse, ex-spouse of Clarence Muse, "called in Cupid and tied that knot again."

Dottie Dandridge looking sooooo much prettier these days and causing those second looks. . . . Millie Bruce has the kinda smile that's as heartwarming as a baby's hug. . . . Speaking of Millie . . . she received a long-distance call from sis Maime now in New York with Rochester . . . raving about the trip abroad. . . . Amos Milburn really "singing the blues this week" when local union attached his money made on his recent dance and above all this included his new pretty Cad.

Ebony comes out soon with their new magazine, "Tan Confession," on the "True Story" idea. . . . Arthur Hill (wearer of sooo many service ribbons) was denied service in one of the downtown bars the other evening. The saying, then, that "all men are created equal" is only grammatically correct! . . . but of course you realize that this is no news. . . . Wendell Franklin and Eunice Wilson getting the spotlight with their terrific Charleston at the Alpha Formal.

NOTES, NEWS AND NONSENSE:

Irving Berman from "Berman's House of Style" is really his best advertisement. The fella really wears his clothes well, but then of course he's got that relaxed look that goes with the stuff . . . the kinda look that only money can bring. . . . Ray Robinson the talk in Harlem as he cruises in his flamingo-pink Cadillac. . . . Downbeat closes its doors to early nitelifers and converts into an after-hour spot beginning in a couple of weeks. . . . The band of Gerald Wilson now dishing out the entertainment with his combo nitely at the club. . . . There's something about the way Calvert's, Joe Makel says "Makel" that makes you feel the importance of his position.

Deep River Boys currently in the midst of their second annual tour of the British Empire were recently awarded a citation by the U. S. Air Forces in England in recognition of their having been chosen the most popular act to entertain the U. S. Air Forces at Burtonwood. . . . Mildred Blount opens her own exclusive hat shop on La Cienega. . . . Mantan Moreland is having his share of troubles too. His pay check was recently held up by AGVA because of his road show that he headed last winter.

Astor Boute being referred to as the city's most eligible bachelor. . . . George Shearing holding down piano lovers with his artistry at the Oasis. . . . Sportsman Dilliam Corneyy says "he has the kinda pain that a pill won't reach." In short, the fella's in love. . . . Phil Moore doing a wonderful job out at the Snader Telescriptions Corporation. . . . Jack Low to do a rebroadcast of the Alpha cocktail party on his new air show. . . . Paul Davis to be commended for his wonderful manner of handling public relations with Pepsi-Cola.

SUDDEN THAWT: Doc David Daniels and his wife Hannah, two real great people, would like for us to casually say "Pleeeeeze no more visitors for a while, huh?" . . . How About This Dept.: "Traveling Shoes Man," the name made famous for himself by the Rev. C. C. Chapman of Detroit, now out on a $5,000 bail, is said to have annointed and massaged the nude body of a 16-year-old girl, while treating her, through faith healing, for a nervous ailment.

And to test her faith the minister is said to have cautioned the girl that if she told anybody what had happened to her during the course of treatments, she would lose her mind. As a result, "Traveling Shoes" was charged with statutory rape . . . but the good Rev still has a full house. . . . Comes now that time again, which reminds us to leave you with something like this: "Let's spell it (taxxes) to keep mindful of doublecrossing."

OOOOH SO LOVELY! Pretty Dorothy Dandridge, now being considered for a top role in "The Well," will soon leave for the east for various exclusive engagements. Dottie has the kinda profile that's pretty "all the way down."

Drop Ban of 'No Way Out'

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—The banning of the Twentieth Century-Fox film, "No Way Out," by Chicago police censors, was vehemently protested this week by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The Chicago censors have claimed that the film is dangerous and may incite violence.

In a telegram to Mayor Martin D. Kennelly, NAACP Executive Secretary Walter White strongly urged that the ban be "reconsidered and rescinded."

"This picture," Mr. White stated, "is the most forthright and courageous picturization of the evil race prejudice which has yet been made. The Korean war has revealed distrust of the United States in Asia and other parts of the world, particularly among dark-skinned persons, because of continued existence of racial prejudice in the United States.

Broadway To See Cavalcade Of Jazz

NEW YORK — Earl Bostic, whose band made such a solid hit in a seven-day appearance at Bop City, Broadway jazz headquarters, has been tapped for an earlier return than he had expected when optioned for a reappearance on the bop palace's stage. He has drawn the feature spot in the all music extravaganza, which opens September 14th.

Bostic not alone has been inked for a minimum four weeks stay on this return date, but has been forced to consent to an additional set of options.

'Flying Leathernecks' Filmed at RKO

"Flying Leathernecks" will be the first Hollywood feature to use actual scenes of the present Korean conflict, it was revealed today when Producer Edmund Grainger dispatched Film Editor Robert Belcher to Washington, D. C., to review several thousand feet of film shot by cameramen with the U. S. Marine Corps Air Wing during the current fighting.

Although the RKO Radio film deals with a hitherto unpublicized phase of World War II, the producer had added a sequence which brings the action up to the present moment.

Sassy in Philly

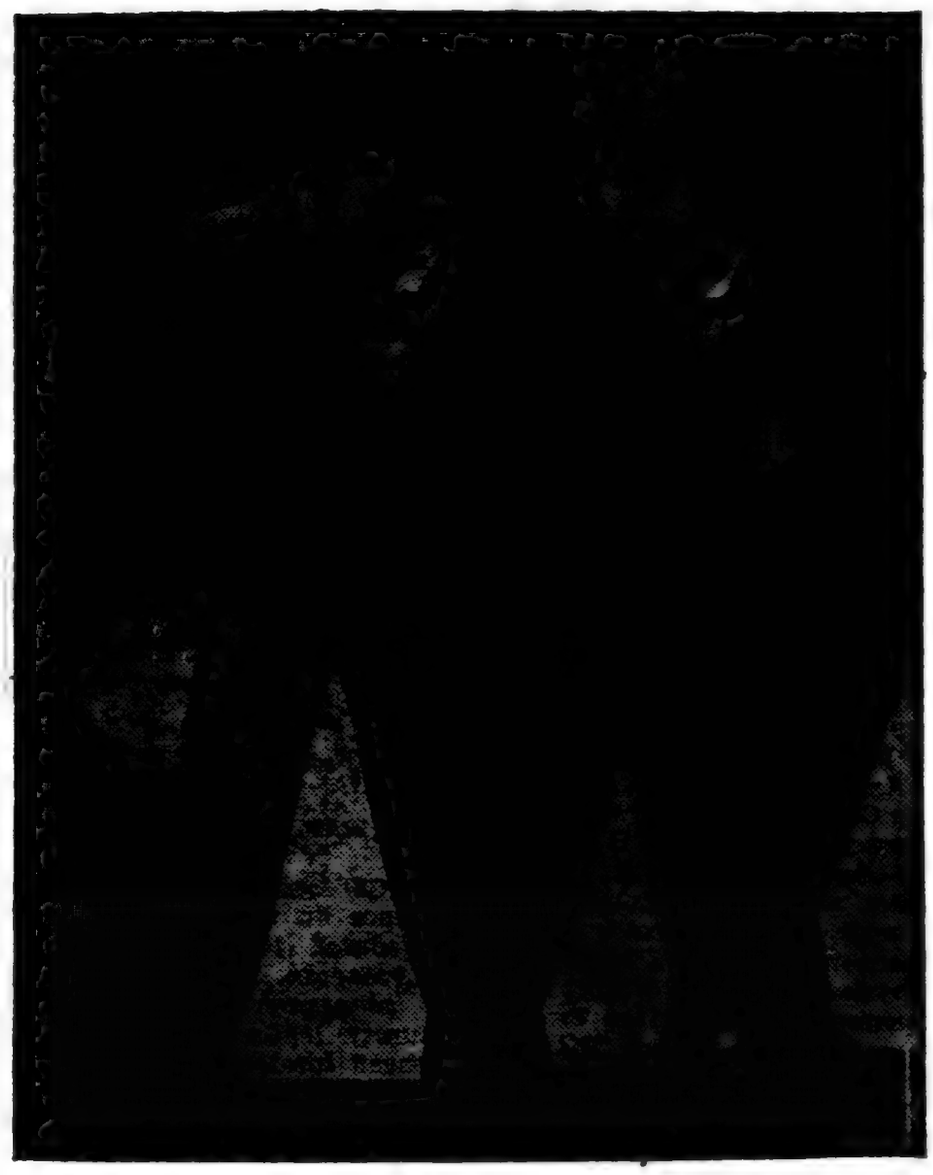
PHILADELPHIA, Pa. — Sarah Vaughan, the magic-voiced song stylist, will make a triumphant return to the Quaker City for a week's engagement on stage of the Earle Theater, opening Friday, September 1, direct from a record-shattering stint at the Apollo Theater in New York.

The incomparable singing star, winner of every major popularity poll as the nation's No. 1 girl vocalist, last played the Earle stage exactly a year ago and at that time she and Illinois Jacquet racked up the year's top attendance mark. On this appearance she'll be backed by Louis Armstrong and his All Stars.

DRAMATIC SWITCH

HOLLYWOOD — Mark Stevens has completed his comedy role with Ann Blyth in "Katie" and has been signed for the lead role in "Prisoner of War." The young actor is now under contract to Universal-International.

SAILS THE SEA



HOLLYWOOD — Carl Esmond has been signed by Universal-International for an important supporting role in Universal-International's "Mystery Submarine," starring Macdonald Carey and Marta Toren.

Louie Jordan Sings About Girl With Chartreuse Hair

NEW YORK CITY — (CNS) — Ever heard of a girl with chartreuse hair? Well, the 10th floor studio A in Decca's 57th Street building this week was romping to the rhythm of a new novelty being recorded by none other than Decca's million-mark star, Louis Jordan. He was singing all about a snub-nosed girl who used to have black hair when she lived on Chestnut Street, but who thought it cute to dye her hair (of all colors)—chartreuse.

"I guarantee that one's different," piped up Chris Columbus, Louise's expert drummer after their second try. But Louie, wearing his new 'sophisticated' glasses (he finally stayed in New York long enough to have them made up), insists on perfection. He must've made the record five or six times before he was satisfied.

Milt Gabler, the recording chief for Decca, came out of his glass booth to give even the great Jordan a pointer. And Louie listened patiently to his suggestion. Gabler wanted him to yell "chartreuse" at the end as if he were calling a girl (perhaps like Caldonia.) So Louie tried it, and they both agreed it was better the other way. Then Louie announced "This is it" and the last 'take' was started. The yellow "Ready" sign lit up over the booth and on the red "quiet," Louie began the rhythm. On the green "begin" they all rared off.

Thrifty Again Offers Cutrate Coupon Books

One of the country's most unusual sales will be repeated again this year.

It is Thrifty Cut Rate Drug Stores annual $2,000,000 Coupon Book Sale which started August 31. In addition to offering $2,000,000 worth of merchandise at big savings, the sale offers the unique opportunity of getting over 70 cents worth of merchandise free with the purchase of a coupon book which costs only 10 cents.

Here's how it works. The coupon book is sold for 10 cents. Each book contains nine coupons which can be exchanged for over 70 cents worth of free nationally-advertised merchandise as specified on each coupon.

In addition to the free merchandise all of the other 23 pages of coupons entitle customers to savings on specific items. The total amount of savings, including the free merchandise, in each coupon book totals over $27.

Obviously the total number of books is limited. It's first come, first served, starting tomorrow.

West Temple Girl Injured In San Pedro

A sixten year old girl, member of a respected West Temple district family, is in General Hospital suffering from severe cuts inflicted when she fell through a glass door in a San Pedro Hotel last Friday.

According to the story told the police, the girl was taken to San Pedro by Louis Brown Jr., 1143½ E. 21st St. for the purposes of working a racket with an immoral lure on men in San Pedro.

Brown alledgedly secured a prospect and brought him to the hotel room where reportedly the man was deprived of his money. Frightened when the victim grew angry the girl hurried from the room and fell through a glass door. Brown drove her to Los Angeles, where friends summoned police.

Brown is being held for contributing to the delinquency of a minor and robbery. The girl, whose name is withheld out of consideration for her age and her family, is improving in the hospital.

Texas Steers Loaded

TYLER, Texas—The Texas College Steers have landed some of the prize freshman gridders in the Southwest for the coming football season and Coaches Fred Long, Giles Wright and the newly acquired Leroy Hawthorne are beaming with joy over their new additions. More than thirty freshmen, who the local coaches are expecting to replace the thirteen letter men lost through graduation, reported for the opening practice here this week.

Local Boys and Girls Win Honors in U. S. A.

Local boys fighting in Korea are among the first who have been cited for meritorious service. They were formerly stationed with the Eighth Army in Japan. Today they are with the 25th Infantry Division in Korea.

Among those cited are: Cpl. Reuben E. Tillman, Jr., of Los Angeles; Pfc. Julius J. Gaines, Pasadena; and Pfc. Willie O. Hamilton, Fresno.

These young men have been awarded the Army Combat Infantry Badge for meritorious service while serving with the 24th Infantry "Blockhouse" Regiment. The "Blockhousers" are part of the famous 25th Infantry Division "Tropic Lightning" who are serving under the command of Maj. Gen. William B. Kean.

And from the Kitzinger Training Center in Germany comes the news that Pfc. Betty D. Wyckoff, 966 South Catalina St., Los Angeles, was named "Soldier of the Week" in the weekly contest sponsored by the KTC Training Division. Miss Wyckoff is a member of the 7871st Training and Education Group WAC Detachment. She was selected as best because of her exemplary performance of duty, her discipline, and her neat appearance.

Private First Class Wyckoff, a graduate of Polytechnic High School, entered the Army in February, 1949. Upon completion of basic training at Camp Lee, Va., she was stationed at Fort Dix, N. J., where she remained until her assignment in Germany this year. She arrived at the Training Center in June.

Presently she works as clerk in the Special Services office, in which position she is in charge of all administrative correspondence.

As award for her finue performance of duty, Pfc. Wyckoff was presented a letter of commendation signed by the Commanding Officer KTC, Colonel Maurice C. Bigelow and a three-day free trip to Garmisch, one of the most beautiful recreation centers in Germany.

Mid-Century Conf.

SACRAMENTO—Governor Earl Warren is mailing invitations to the California Mid-Century Conference on Children and Youth, scheduled to be conducted in Sacramento September 18 and 19, to approximately 4,500 community leaders who have evidenced interest in the problems of the state's young persons.

Purpose of the California conference is to plan this state's participation in the Mid-Century White House Conference on Children and Youth which will take place in the national capital in December. Conference findings and recommendations also will be used in developing future youth programs in California.

Red Cross Sends Blood to Korea

Los Angeles Regional Red Cross Blood Service Center this week turned to the people to "put across" its biggest job since the windup of World War II—the supplying of a minimum of 1000 pints of whole blood and its derivatives monthly for transfusion use on South Korea battlefront. The initial shipment date was made last Sunday, August 27.

"Red Cross will provide the doctors, nurses, laboratory technicians and technical know-how in this accelerated project, but the general public controls the source of the blood vitally needed in Korea," Bowen McCoy, Los Angeles Chapter manager, stressed.

Expansion of the Blood Donor Center at 925 S. Western Avenue and the increase in scheduled bloodmobile unit visitations will bring a financial problem to the Los Angeles Chapter which will have to be met by "deficit financing," it is believed. Locally, the Red Cross has failed to attain its fund campaign goals for the past three years.

League Places Workmen

In view of the present national labor situation, Wesley R. Brazier, acting executive director of the Los Angeles Urban League, has stated that the local Urban League is gearing its activities to the national program and has begun intensive conferences and interviews with the various departments of government and industries.

Recent figures show that there are serious shortages in the following trades: Aircraft and engine mechanic, boilermaker, bricklayer, refractory, glass blower, laboratory apparatus, instrument repairmen, loftsmen, machinists, maintenance mechanic, millwright, model maker, molder and core maker, patternmaker, precision lens grinder, ship rigger and tool ad die maker.

Brazier urged that persons having skills in these particular trades, register immediately with the League so that placements may be expedited when openings occur.

DuBois Says Justice Department Demand Is Fantastic Absurdity

NEW YORK—When reached by trans-Atlantic telephone in Paris last Thursday, and informed of the Justice Department's demand that the Peace Information Center register under the provisions of the Foreign Agents Act, Dr. W.E.B. DuBois, noted Negro anthropologist and historian, who is chairman of the Peace Information Center, issued a statement, part of which follows:

"As chairman of the Peace Information Center since its inception in April of this year, I can state categorically that there is no basis, in fancy or in fact, for the charge that the Peace Information Center is a representative in any way of a 'foreign principal.'

The Peace Information Center is an entirely American organization whose sole objective is to secure peace to prevent a third World War. The fantastic absurdity of the Justice Department even to indicate on whose behalf we are supposed to be acting.

"Since there is clearly no justification in fact for this demand by the Department of Justice, I must assume that the Department's action, which comes suddenly after several months of normal activity by our organization, is a further move by the Administration to frighten into silence the voices of peace in America.

Jeff Hi Special For New Students

Because of the heavy influx of newcomers to our community with a corresponding increase in school enrollment Jefferson High will hold a special programming period for all new students in this high school district. It is important that all new students report to the school before the opening of the fall semester so that their classes may be scheduled properly. Otherwise, the new student may be "lost" in the rush of the first day classes.

The entire guidance staff at Jefferson will be on hand from 9:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m. on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, September 6th, 7th, and 8th. Parents and students are cordially invited to consult the guidance staff concerning this semesters academic program. For further details please call the school at ADams 1?9144 and ask for Mr. Cosgrove.

Jefforson High School is located at 1319 East 41st Street. It may be reached via public transportation on the Coliseum bus which goes directly by the school, or the Central Avenue trackless trolley which crosses 41st Street two blocks west of the school.

"The little staff of 71 Federal agents, with the excellent cooperation of State wardens, cannot be expected to police 2,000,000 waterfowl hunters. It is largely up to the individual."—Albert S. Day, director, U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

The 39 hunters and trappers assigned by the Division of Fish and Game to control California's predatory wildlife reported that hunting was good during the month of July.

Prison Term Expected for Joseph Earl

Joseph N. Earl faces a possible one to ten years in prison for parole violation as the outgrowth of complaints filed against him by two women. Judge Stanley Barnes of the Superior Court ruled this week that Earl had violated his parole and left it to the Adult Authority to decide how long the term will be.

Earl has been frequently in the news over his involvement with women. He at one time was reportedly engaged to Edythe K. Ownes, socially prominent local businesswoman.

Principle is one of the words most often found in the book.

Pope Named to Staff Position

Henry W. Pope has been appointed Field Secretary of the National Urban League's Industrial Relations Department, according to Lester B. Granger, executive director. As field secretary, Mr. Pope will serve primarily as staff secretary of the League's Commerce and Industry Council under the leadership of its chairman, Winthrop Rockefeller.

This is an advisory council of top management representatives of a score of well-known commercial and industrial enterprises. Dedicated to the improvement of the economic well-being of the nation's Negro population, the Council serves to strengthen and expand the League's industrial relations and vocational guidance program.

INSULATED AFRICAN ROYAL LINEAGE

By Nwoye B. Dibiaezue

Since the African got in contact with the West, especially Britain, he has learned to respect the British culture, his deep seated patriotism and his spirit of enthusiasm and enterprise. He has been all the time hosiptable to his uninvited guest and has accepted him. He has done all these, and in recompense, the British have always insulted, deprived and banished the royal African lineage.

It was not long ago that an African king designate, studying in England got married to a white girl of his choice, and this inter racial marriage though set a fire in the Facist Daniel Regime of South Africa, gave the British an opportunity to repeat their usual insults on the African royal lineage. If it was not for a habit usual of the British government in Africa to disrespect, insult, deprive and banish African Royalties, undoubtedly, the might of England would not have waned before the race-bait Daniel Regime.

Those of us from the British Empire still remember what importance the British attach to their vaunted Justice and Equity. This is so when the incident concerns the freedom of an English man. As long as it is the African, then Justice is trampled and Equity convicted. The notorious experts of the British diplomatic services may deny this fact, but take a look at one instance such as the following and judge ye yourself if that justice has been maintained.

In 1939 King and Prince Edward VIII of England violated the British monarchial tradition by marrying an American girl. He was forced to relinquish the throne, but was not denied his citizenship. He was not banished, though of his own accord he left the Kingdom. Thirteen years latter, 1949 an African prince, Seretse Khama violated the Bamamgwato monarchial tradition and got married to a white girl, Ruth. He was tricked to England where he was told that "peace" must be maintained and that he has been banished from his native land. What justice existed is a philanthropist's question. Are the two princes, one Britain and the other of African not identical cultural and traditional delinquents? Why should one be allowed the privilege of citizenship and the other denied that privilege? Is this Equity?

It is not an isolate incidence when African royal lineage were insulted, the ancestors of whom were the contemporary of Queen Victoria of Britain. It only reminds us the bitter incident of the banning of King Eyamba of Calabar, King Jaja of Opobo, King Pepple of Bonny, King Overrami of Benin, all these of the protectorate of Nigeria, and the Nana of Ashanti, Gold Coast.

It further furnishes the Africans with information how much confidence to rely on the British Government whether Labor, Communist, Conservative or Liebral. It shows us that the African must of needs take his independence and not wait for it to be given. It shows that the British man is always the same as regards the African no matter what his political ideology, and those who have trusted that a change in ideology in England will affect the destiny of Africa will have learned a hard fact, and then face reality. They shall have learned that their faith was a vain faith and courage vain, a mirage.

PE Plans Improvements

Expenditure of $5,200,000 to modernize Pacific Electric Railway Company's rail and bus passenger transportation system was outlined this week by O. A. Smith, president.

Major outlays are for 132 new motor coaches, construction of a rail connection between Azusa and Baldwin Park, removal and salvage of rails, repaving of streets, conversion of 115 rail cars for one-man operation, new and enlarged motor coach terminal and garage facilities at Sixth and Main, Los Angeles.

Ground-breaking at Glendora for the Reliance Rock Spur extension, connecting Azusa with Baldwin Park, is tentatively scheduled early in October, pending Interstate Commerce Commerce Commission approval.

Cost of removing 51 roadway miles of track and repaving streets is set at $798,069. Still in operation by Pacific Electric will be 536 miles of rails.

SPORTS

JEFFERSON HIGH SPORTS

Coaches Dick (Sugar) Ragus and Mike (The Madman) Marienthal have issued the call to all Jefferson footballers to report for fall practice starting Monday, September 4.

Expected to troop in are 60-70 candidates for the varsity and junior varsity and a smaller number to respond to a similar call sent out by the Bee team mastermind, Bert (Beefin') Watson. Contrary to all prognostications made in past years, Ragus is holding back no punches.

The big item on the agenda is to BEAT FREMONT. And to that end all efforts are to be directed. No one else in the Southern League plays as hard a ball game as do the Jumpin' Jeffs—any Fremont footballer will tell you that.

Tough Game

Despite last year's 20-0 score, several Fremont players have commented that the Jeff game was the toughest of them all on the schedule. This year's Fremont-Jeff tussle will be under the lights at Wrigley and will be the first league game of the season. If Jeff can take that one, the Democrats will be hard to stop.

This year's schedule has a tentative arrangement for four arc light games and several practice games with new opponents. A complete schedule will be issued next week including the practice games. This year, also, Jeff has a long distance junket . . . a trip to Bakersfield for a scrap with the Bakersfield gridmen. Check with this column for a rundown on the talent available for this season's campaign.

Here and there in the Jeff sports whirl. Summer was no obstacle to Jeff basketballers who kept in trim by playing for the Webb Pharmacy Phantoms. They really played some swell basketball. One local sports official saw the Demos play the Pepperdine Frosh and commented that he thought that this was the best high school aggregation he had seen in years. There will be an All-City basketball playoff this year. Jeff is really out to win it this time!

Mal Whitfield

Mal Whitfield continues to bring fame to Jeff, his Alma Mater . . . his 1:49.2 was sensational. The half mile adways brings up the name of Lang Stanley. . . . We are all waiting to see if he makes Look's All-American High School Track Team . . . the issue should be out any day now.

Larry Green, Jeff tennis ace, recently made the quarter finals of the Santa Monica Tourney before bowing out.

Harry Johnson, Jeff's original earthquake, will be playing rugged football this fall with the St. Mary's Frosh team.

OUT ON THE LIMB DEPARTMENT: World Series—Broooklyn vs .Cleveland. Rose Bowl—Stanford vs. Minnesota; Sugar Bowl—Tulane vs. Tennessee; Orange Bowl—Georgia vs. Santa Clara; Cotton Bowl—Rice vs. Texas; World's Pro Football Title—Eagles vs. Redskins.

End Harold Hatfield, University of Southern California, played offensive fullback ahead of Bill Martin, last year's all-coast plunger, while a member of the 1946 freshman team.

THE WESTERN SKEET AND TRAPSHOOTING ASSOCIATION of America recently held a tournament in Toledo, O., under the sponsorship of the Pioneer Rod and Gun Club of this city and the Century Rod and Gun Club of Detroit. Of the 36 shooters competing, 29 received a portion of the $906 prize money, the 10 trophies, and 15 medals. Shown above are the officials of the gun clubs represented. First row, left to right: Frank Meickle, a member of the recreation department in Toledo; J. A. Bibb, president of the Pioneer Gun Club, Toledo; Dr. S. L. Willie Bean Given Even Chance To Lick Frank Buford Tonight

Despite the fact that he lost to Frank Buford in a sizzling 10-round bout at Hollywood Legion Stadium last May, Willie Bean is now no worse than even money to turn back the roly-poly Oakland battler in their rematch scheduled for tonight at Hollywood. They're down for 10 rounds or less, topping a card of 34 rounds concocted by Matchmaker Cal Working.

Buford is the 21-year-old sensation who just took over as Heavyweight Champion of California by trimming Clarence Henry. Prior to that and after beating Bean at the Legion, Frank took the measure of Abel Cestac and Turkey Thompson. He is a willing mixer who bends and bows to rally both to the head and body.

He is the latest "find" in California fistic scenes, having come to the front from the prelim ranks in scarcely more than four months.

J. J. Cracknell and Clifton Lester promise to stage a thriller in the six round semi-final billed for Friday. They are two of the better class 152-pounders in local semi-windups ranks.

Chicago Giants Close Season Against Barons

CHICAGO, Ill.—The Chicago American Giants will close their home season next Sunday against the Birmingham Black Barons here in Comiskey Park, with the home club out to improve a record of six victories in 15 games.

Birmingham, making its first appearance in Chicago this season, is a long-time favorite with Chicago fans.

Last Sunday the Memphis Red Sox defeated the Chicago American Giants, 13-2, behind the three-hit pitching of Osiah Harris.

Champ Training In Ellenville For Louis Bout

NEW YORK CITY—It isn't that the champ is choosy, but Ezzard Charles just isn't taking any chances in training to meet the Joe Louis comeback September 27. He's gone and set up an out-of-the-way training camp at the Nemerson Hotel in Ellenville, N. Y. And he's coming to New York City this weekend to shop for equipment.

Indeed ,the champion isn't sparing anything in his effort to win the official title from New York State, which, until he fights Louis, won't recognize him as the champion.

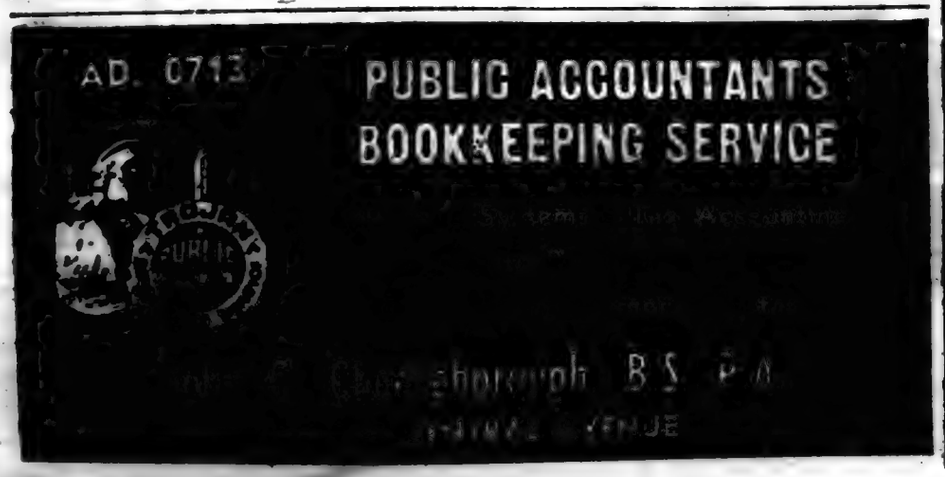
HAMPTON, Va.—Some 60 or 65 candidates will greet Hampton Institute's football coaches for the beginning of practice this Friday, September 1—and Pirate hopes are high for a climb into the first division of the CIAA. Hampton hasn't achieved such heights since Tom Casey, Corky Payton and Co. were on the heels of Shaw's champs in the wild 1947 race.



Captain Jim Dillard, who will make a real bid for all-CIAA honors at fullback; Al Brown, a tailback who averaged 6.63 yards per run last year from scrimmage; Alphonso King, a capable blocking back; and other returnees will combine with some expected freshman talent to make the backfield situation look promising.

Predict Tough Battle in Pep Rematch

NEW YORK — (CNS) — Willie (he might be superstitious in this 13th defense of his crown) Pep, training at Hartford, Conn., is in for the surprise of his life when he tangles with Sandy Saddler, the tawny, brown leopard of the featherweight division, Sept. 8, at Yankee Stadium.

Saddler is on record as being dedicated to trying to massacre Pep. Lou Viscusi, Pep's manager, not long ago, at the IBC, stated, with a smirk: "We don't have to fight Saddler." Since that was a gross misstatement (the match is inked) it simply is a barometer of the feeling in the two camps. Saddler well remembers the last title fight and the confidence of the fans, as a whole, that Pep was "given" the decision. He also recalls that he kayoed Pep in four stanzas. This time it might not take too long. Along beak busters row, in Gotham, Pep is entirely too cocky and maintains an aloofness seldom found among fighters. His disregard for fighters of color has never been a secret. Pep's crown is at stake and Saddler intends to knock it right off his cocky shoulders.

Chess in Prison

Men suffering incarceration have always inevitably turned to chess to beguile their long, empty hours, and in particular to sharpen their minds and satisfy their craving for beauty in an atmosphere of eternal dullness.

I once met a man who had enlisted in the Abraham Lincoln Brigade, was captured by Franco's armies, and was taught chess by his Spanish fellow prisoners. They molded pieces of bread into chess pieces and drew their board on the cell floor. Stefen Zweig wrote a fine novelette, "The Royal Game," (Woman's Home Companion, March, 1944), about a prisoner put in solitary confinement by the Gestapo, who did the same.

Famous in chess literature is the blindfold game between two world-renowned masters, played in prison after the disruption of the Mannheim Congress in 1914 (see "Golden Treasury of Chess," page 192).

Inmates of Rhode Island's state prison are among the many chess players who have answered Cosmo's call to join in the national protest against Jim Crow in southern chess. One of them sent us this exceptionally fine game he won in correspondence chess.

DEL MAR (WHERE THE SURF MEETS THE TURF)—The renewal of the Del Mar Derby will be the feature attraction this Saturday at the seaside course. Blue Reading, and the Yolo Stable's Great Circle, will be the public choices, although their rivals will include War Poppy, Akimbo, Bolingcall, Moderator and Sun State.

The distance for the derby will be one mile and one-eighth, and carries an added value of $15,000. The fifth and final day for charity was held Monday and charity organizations will share in the proceeds for the five days held during the meeting.

(CALIENTE, OLD MEXICO)—Paisanne, the fleet-footed daughter of Dogaway-Rural Queen, scored an easy victory in the "Miss California" handicap. As third choice in the betting the fast breaking mare made it a wire to wire win. At the finish she was eight lengths in front, paying in the mutuels $8.40.

The Tijuana Chamber of Commerce special event was won by Maltese Flag, who also made it a wire-to-wire win. Overlooked in the betting, the son of Outis-Pondosa paid $12.80. The daily-double combination of Dark Mystery, a long shot winner of the second race, and Double Regret, victor of the third, paid $145.40, while the Quniela holder of Connie Haines and Aunt Ida, who finished in that order, received $16.

Apprentice R. J. Smith, who was dislodged from Maltese Rosa suffered only slight bruises. Poco is the former handicap star who made a good comeback at the Caliente track, broke down again during the running of the tenth race.

This Sunday will be gala day at the border course. Fifteen races will be run, the first starting at 11 a.m., and then twelve in the afternoon. General Manager Walter Marty's feature will be the Labor Day Handicap at six furlongs, with an added value of $1500. Also another feature will be the $1000 lucky program prizes. Special Mexican entertainment has been arranged for the lovers of the sport of kings.

At 7:30 in the evening the popular dog races begin. With ten thrilling and exciting races. Some of the best dogs at the course will compete. Executive general manager William Collier also has made special arrangements to take care of the largest crowd of the night season. The Tijuana $10,000 Greyhound Derby, which will be run later, is now an open event.

Pheasants Bring Jail

FIREBAUGH — Daniel Salters, tractor driver of Firebaugh, has been sentenced to spend the next six months in jail for possessing pheasants during the closed season.

The penalty was imposed by Judge Albert L. Myer after Salter's arrest by State Fish and Game Wardens H. E. Black and Emil D. Becas.

Quail Refuge Eliminated By Commission

FRESNO—The California Fish and Game Commission has agreed to eliminate the Kettleman Hills quail refuge in Kings and Fresno counties.

No objections to the action weer heard during the Commission's July meeting in San Diego. The move was urged by representatives of local sportsmen's groups and the Division of Fish and Game after the refuge was termed "no longer useful."

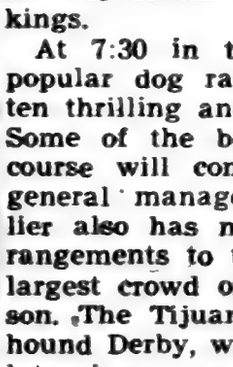
The West Out-Plays The East In 18th Annual All-Star Game

CHICAGO, Ill.—(Special)—An assist must be given the sun for helpingg the West defeat the East, 5-3, in the 18th annual Negro Baseball Classic here last Sunday at Comiskey Park before a crowd of 24,614 chilled spectators.

The game, as past affairs, was a close battle with the score being 2-2 and the West coming to bat in the last half of the fifth inning. And this is where the sun came to bat for the West.

With two out and runners on first and second Art ("Superman") Pennington of the Chicago American Giants came to bat and lifted t towering fly ball towards right.



Ben Littles of the Philadelphia Stars set himself for the catch, but just before the ball was about three feet from his glove he was blinded by the sun's rays. As he covered his eyes to shield himself, the ball dropped safely for a hit, two runners scurrying across the Penhington reached third with a triple to his credit. A moment later Pennington was sent home on a single to right by Ed Steele of the Birmingham Black Barons. And the damage was done.

Slow Start

The East couldn't get its offensive started to tally anymore than one run, this in the seventh, and, even though they had runners on second and third in the upper half of the ninth as a result of the West's loose fielding in that session and looked like they might pull the game out of the fire.

But the best that catcher Louis Louden of the New York Cubans could do was to lift a high fly to Pennington who easily made the catch to end the game.

In all, the West clubbed four pitchers for 11 safeties, three of them by Chicago's Jesse Douglas, all singles.

Musicians Convention In Baltimore

Baltimore, Mr. marked the place for the 27th annual convention of the National Associatipn of Negro Musicians from August 20, thru the 26th. 174 delegates from the entire United States convened to hold tlheir Annua Election.

Progress reports from various regions proved that local branches had made great steps since the 1949 convention.

Scholarships were presented to worthy young people in voice and instrument.

The 1949 scholarships were cleared up and the official delegate Foustine Johnson brought back checks to the winners of last year.

Despite predictions Clarence H. Wilson is going into his 10th year as National president.

The new executive secretary is Orin Southern of Lincoln University replacing J. Wesley Jones after thirty-one year regime.

First Vice President is Dr. Roscoe Polland of Indiana, 2nd Vice President, Kathleen Lorbes, Baltimore; Secretary, Ruth Founches, Chicago; Assistant Secretary, Albert McNut, California and Treasurer, J. Russell Johnson, New York.

Faustina Johnson, elected Board of Directors for three years, Regional Director brought back to Los Angeles an entire reort of all sessions of the convention. Jeanne Jackson, represented Los Angeles musically at the convention on National Branch night. Alberta Joyce was the alternate delegate. The convention will be held in Washington, D. C. next year.

"The Medium"

While in New York this writer was privileged to see Zelma Watson George, formerly of L. A. in "The Medium" a drama in two acts.

As an actress, Mrs. George is fast becoming the realm of amateurs and will soon be one of America's top actresses regardles of race.

In this play there is both acting and singing, making the role perfect for Mrs. George . Supporting her was a fine cast including Derna Delys as Mirrica, Doria Auila as Toby the Mute and mezzo soprano Dorothy Staiger as Mrs. Nolan.

The Arena Theater in the Hotel Edison was the stage for this fine drama. The companion play was "The Telephone", also written by Gian—Carlo Menatles.

YVONNE De CARLO highlights her colorful role in Universal-International's Technicolor "The Desert Hawk" with exotic song and dance numbers. Filmland's Technicolor Queen is starred with Richard Greene in the new film.

Look Out Dixie Here Comes Tiny Bradshaw

GREENSBORO, N. C.—All Dixie is agog and with good reason! Tiny Bradshaw and his rhythm laden caravan of musicacl dynamite is headed this way for what promises to be one of the most spectacular series of personal triumphs ever registered by a personality artist and his band.

The sensational success of the explosive recording of "Well Oh Well" has the South, as well as the rest of the nation, on a rock and bounce binge. To paraphase a line from an old song favorite "Everybody's hummin' it".

The racy beat of the tune, written by Tiny, with an assist from his cute daughter Patricia, has caught the nation's fancy.

CALLING ALL STARS

HOLLYWOOD—Cast principals in Universal-International's Technicolor "The Desert Hawk" traveled a total of 22,007 miles to assemble for the first day's shooting. Yvonne De Carlo flew to Hollywood from Iran, Richard Greene reported in from London and Lois Andrews came from Berlin where she had been making personal appearances with the "Francis" junket.

National A. A. U. Swimming Meet To Be Held In Olympic Pool

The nation's top young splashers and the Southland's best adult exponents of aquatic speed and skill will be seen in action on September 9 and 10 when the 1950 Junior National A.A.U. and the Senior Outdoor Southern Pacific A.A.U. Swimmingg and Diving Championships are held jointly in the big Los Angeles Swimming Stadium Olympic pool according to the City Recreation and Park Department, sponsor of the event.

Entries for the meet must be filed before Friday, September 1, at 4 p.m. with Fred Beitz, SPAAU Swimming Chairman, 6133 Tipton Way, Los Angeles 42, it was announced.

Stars slated to seek 1950 Southern Pacific A.A.U. crowns include Pat Keller McCormick, holder of all three national women's diving titles; Tom Hairabedian, Pacific Coast Conference and Canadian platform diving king; and sprint stars Peter Cole and Bob Hughes.

Chest X-Ray Survey

Aid was solicited last week from 175 voluntary agencies and public departments, member groups of the Welfare Council of Metropolitan Los Angeles, in the county's current all-out fight against tuberculosis.

Citing that all member agencies are in a strategic position to contribute to the community's health because they can reach so many people, C. W. Pfeiffer, executive secretary of the council, said:

"Agencies are requested to stimulate cooperation among all their members by urging them to get a free chest x-ray.

X-ray machines are now placed in various sectians of the county, with permanent units being maintained at Pershing Square (Hill St. side); Sears, Roebuck & Co., Olympic Blvd. and Soto St.; Hollywood Blvd. and Vine St.; Broadway-Spring Arcade, 542 S. Broadway; P. E. Terminal, 423 S. Hill St.; L. A. City Hall.

Eventually the entire county, which has been divided into 16 regions, will be covered with portable and mobile x-ray machines. Goal is to x-ray three million people in oLs Angeles County 15 years of age and over by the end of the year.

"Deer management sounds simple, and would be simple, but the hunters of most states where deer are overly abundant will not agree to permit the conservation departments to manage the herds scientifically and sensibly in many cases."—Colodaro conservation Comments.

The modern process of distilling whiskey has become a distinct aid to cattle, swine and poultry. These farm animals benefit by gaining better health which in turn produce more beef, larger amounts of milk, spurs hog production and increases the size of chickens.

CLS Of FS Celebrates Labor Day

The California Labor School of San Francisco will celebrate Labor Day, Monday, with a program from one to twelve midnight, including pictures of the San Francisco '34 strike, movies for children, and Labor films for unity and peace.

There'll be a family party for supper, and in the evening at 8 o'clock there will be a meeting, "Labor's Hour of Decision," at which Vincent Hallinan, Bridges' leading defense attorney, will speak. Hugh Bryson, president Marine Cooks and Stewards, will speak on "World Labor Fights for Peace." There will be songs of American labor and freedom by the California Labor School Chorus, directed by Leo E. Christiansen. And following the meeting there will be dancing until midnight.

Donation: children's movies, free; adult movies, 25c; evening, 50c.

A second Asian institute with the theme, "China Pivot of Peace," will be held Friday evening and Saturday afternoon and evening, September 22 and 23, under the auspices of the Labor School.

Among the speakers will be: Maud Russell, who was for 26 years YWCA secretary in China; David Sarvis, who will speak on "Korea-Decision in Asia"; and William Kerner, "China-Lifeline of the UN."

There will be a Chinese dinner on Saturday at 6 p.m. Miss Russell will speak Friday evenig at 8 o'clock on "Formosa—Touchstone of US Policy in Asia," and on Saturday evening on "China—Bulwark of People's Forces Today."

The Labor School Chorus under the direction of Leo E. Christiensen, will sing.

William Millarc Paintings Hung

Twenty-five oil paintings by William Millarc will be exhibited September 8 to 28 at the Forsyte Gallery, 8220 Beverly Blvd. The public is invited to the preview at 8:00 p. m. Thursday, Sept. 7.

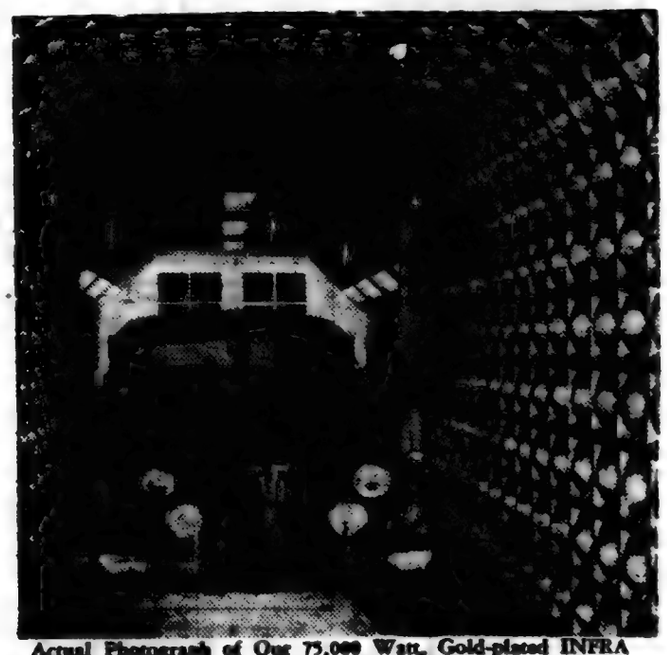
Millarc has lived a city life in Los Angeles and San Francisco. At 14 he began drawing, sketching portraits of people as they relaxed in cafes.

Damage Suit Against LB Bowling Alley

Jimcrow bowling, one of the last strongholds of racial prejudice now that it is ousted from baseball, is in for another weakening blast when James N. Reese, brilliant young Los Angeles attorney, presents a heavy damage suit against the Virginia Bowling Center, 25 Chestnut St., Long Beach.

He is counsel for Mr. and Mrs. Marion W. Smith, of 2401 N. Gaffey, San Pedro. They complain that not only did the establishment violate the California law, which forbids refusal of service in a public business place, because of nationality, but that they also suffered great humiliation and injury to their feelings. Certain victory for them is being predicted by legal figures.

JUST WON'T SET UP FOR NEGROES



The Smiths told Reese, who incidentally has won a number of discrimination cases, that while on the Pike, August 12, this year, they had, like the patrons of other nationalities, requested to play. An attendant, C. H. Perry, assigned them to an unoccupied alley, shoes were rented them, and Mrs. Smith, starting the game, shot the first ball.

But when hers were not returned, although there was a pin boy on duty at their alley, the Smiths asked why. Perry went down the alley to the barricade, talked with the boy, and returning said. "He just won't set them up for you." "Why?" asked the colored players. "Because you're colored, he says he just won't set up for colored people," replied the attendant. "But doesn't he work for you?" asked Smith. "Yes," he replied, "but he just won't set up for colored, and there is nothing we can do about it."

Neither Roy Bade, the manager, nor a Mr. Rally, the owner, were present, but witnesses to the incident were Mr. and Mrs. Warren Tucker, also of 2401 N. Gaffey street.

Symphonies Under the Stars End in Bowl Tuesday Night

Hollywood Bowl's 29th season of Symphonies under the Stars will end with a performance of the majestic and joyful Symphony No. 9 in D minor by Ludvig van Beethoven on Tuesday, September 5, under the baton of the renowned Serge Koussevitsky.

In commemoration of the 200th anniversary of the death of Johann Sebastian Bach, the Hollywood Bowl Orchestra, under Koussevitsky's direction, will open the program with two Bach Cantatas for chorus and orchestra.

Soloists Marina Koshetz, soprano; Janice Moudry, contralto; David Lloyd, tenor and James Pease, bass; and the Los Angeles Opera and Concert Chorus combined with the Greater Los Angeles Chorus, Hugo Strelitzer, director, will be heard in the symphony.

Heifetz

In the Bowl on Saturday night, September 2, Jascha Heifetz, one of the world's foremost violinists, will play the D major concerto on a program devoted to the music of Beethoven. Serge Koussevitsky will conduct the Symphony No. 3 (The "Eroica") on the program which features Heifetz as soloist.

During the 1950 Bowl season, the events included 32 nights of grand opera, light opera, ballet and symphony concerts with celebrated vocal and instrumental soloists.

Music Guild Again Offers Student Rates

Despite even lower general Subscription Rates than during previous season, the MUSIC GUILD this year will again make special concessions to students. By subscribing to the entire series of ten concerts, they will pay only $1.20 for the regular $3.60 seats, and $1.00 for the $3.00 seats, making the total cost for Season Tickets $12.00 and $10.00 respectively, tax included.

Reservations must be made in person at the Music Guild office, 3089 Wilshire Boulevard.

The season opens October 11, in Wilshire-Ebell Theatre where all succeeding concerts will be presented.

Artists to appear include Andres Segovia, guitar; Vronsky and Babin, duo-pianists; Louis Kaufman, violin; Alice Ehlers, harpsichord; Fritz Zweig, conducting the Music Guild Chamber Ensemble; Jesus Maria Sanroma, pianist; the Paganini Quartet, the Fine Arts Quartet and the Hungarian Quartet, who will perform the entire cycle of Beethoven's String Quartets.

In the name of humanity, decency and common sense, drive carefully during the Labor Day week-end, is the California Highway Patrol appeal.

Andre Green's Cantata at 2nd Baptist Sep. 17

The Los Angeles Bishop College Club, Inc., will present Andre Green's Cantata, the Regeneration of Saul, in three parts, at the Second Baptist Church, 24th and Griffith, September 17, at 3:30 p.m.

The brilliant artist is well known in the music circles of Los Angeles and nearby cities. He was one of the piano soloists with the all-Negro Symphonic band directed by Percy McDavid at the Shrine Auditorium.

Mr. Green was given the opportunity to write background music to the stage play, "River Boy," at the Orchard Gables Reportory Theatre in Hollywood, and he is at present one of the staff directors of the Los Angeles Bureau of Music.

He is a product of Bishop College and the University of Southern California. The contata, composed and directed by Mr. Green and word text by James Smalley will be sung by a chorus of fifty-trained inter-racial voices.

Noted Artist's Wife Lectures On His Works

A lecture on the art of the late Laszlo Moholy-Nagy will be presented in the main foyer of the Los Angeles County Museum, in Exposition Park, Sunday, September 10, at 3 p.m., by the artist's widow, Mrs. Sibyl Moholy-Nagy, in conjunction with the current exhibition of his works, James H. Breasted, Jr., director, announced this week.

Mrs. Moholy-Nagy will deal with the widespread influence of her husband's work on many phases of modern, industrial and experimental art.

The current exhibition of works by Moholy-Nagy at the County Museum is the most extensive ever presented in Los Angeles and is one of the rare opportunities to see a representation of this artist's work. Admission to the exhibition and the lecture is free.

Outdoor Art Show

At a meeting of representatives of major art organizations in Los Angeles early this week the Department of Municipal Art announced that eight outdoor art exhibits and artist demonstrations at eight municipal lpaygrounds will be held simultaneously with the opening of the sixth annual All-City Art Show at the Greek Theatre October 13.

The show at the Greek Theatre will continue through October 29 while the outdoor shows will be held October 13 through 15 only.

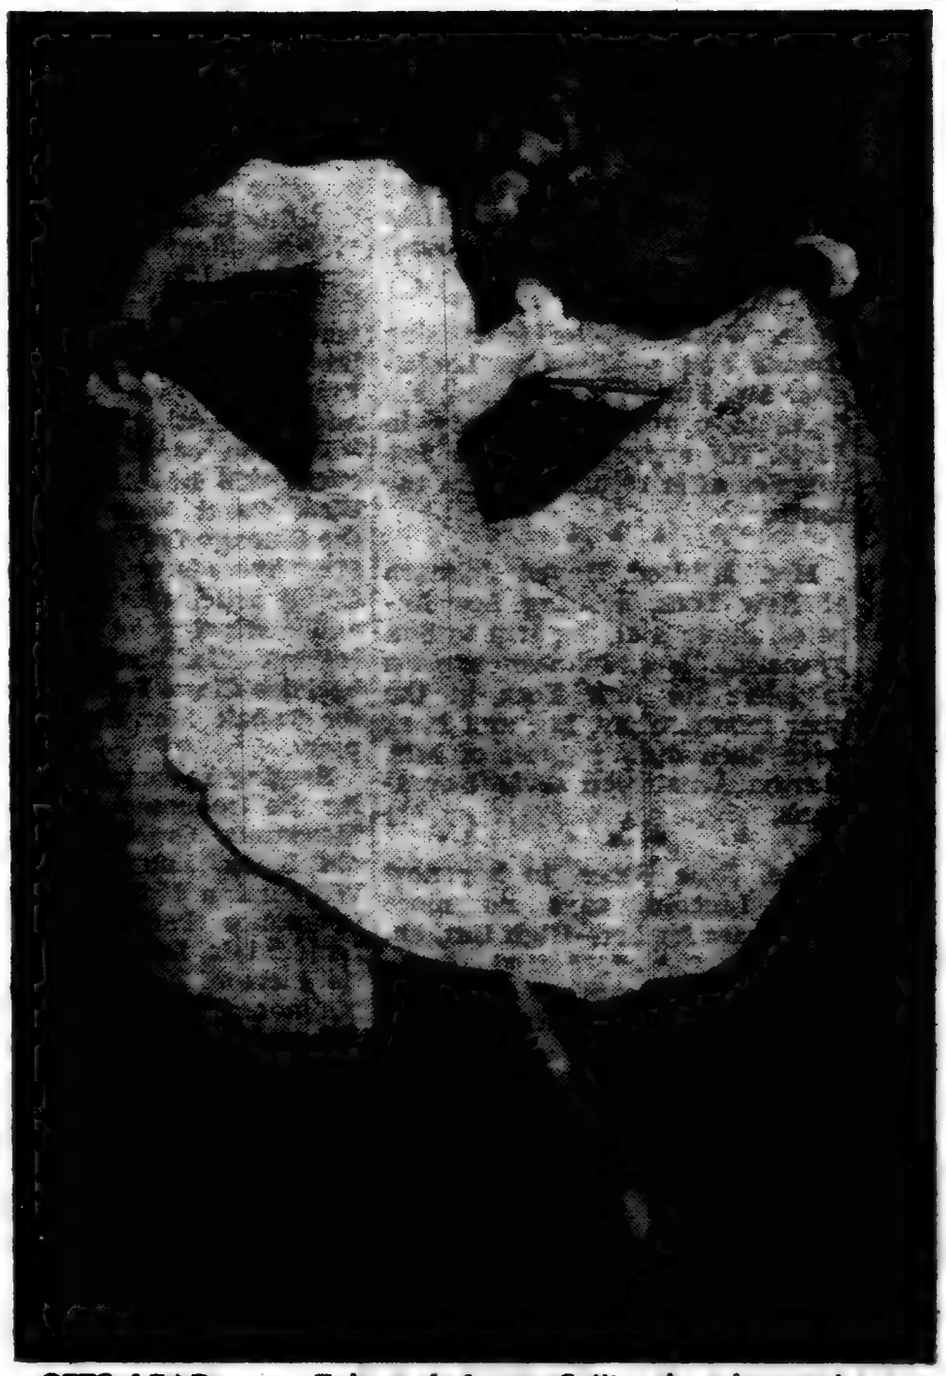
Community Sing, Exposition Park

Neil MacFarland's "Hilarious Revusical" will be featured entertainment at Sunday's Exposition Park Community Sing, to be given from 3 to 5 p. m. at the bandstand on the North Drive, between the Coliseum and County Museum.

The eight-act variety show, featuring youthful talent from Long Beach, El Monte and Huntington Park, stars Madge and Jerry, professional adagio team and vocal duo known as the "Sweethearts of Television."

Winn Haslett, accompanied by Constance Johnson at the piano, will lead the community singing which opens the program. There is no admission fee for the event, which is presented by the city's Bureau of Music as part of its summertime schedule of sings and band concerts in various Los Angeles parks.

Mozart Sunday On Museum Piano Concert



Music by Mozart, Stravinsky and Schoenberg will be performed by Natalie Limonick and Leonard Stein, pianists, at the Los Angeles County Museum in Exposition Park on Sunday afternoon, September 3, at 3 o'clock.

Feature of the concert, in the current Contemporary American series, will be the Chamber Symphony No. 2, Version for Two pianos, Op. 38B (1941) by Schoenberg and the Concerto for Two Pianos (1935) by Stravinsky. The Sonata in D Major for Two Pianos, K. 448 by Mozart will complete the program.

These weekly Sunday concerts are presented in the museum's concert hall on the second floor and begin promptly at 3 p.m.

Admission is free.

Reports of the conventions and visitors bureau of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, which books meetings for Los Angeles, show that at the end of July 108 conventions had been held here and 65 were scheduled for the remainder of the year.

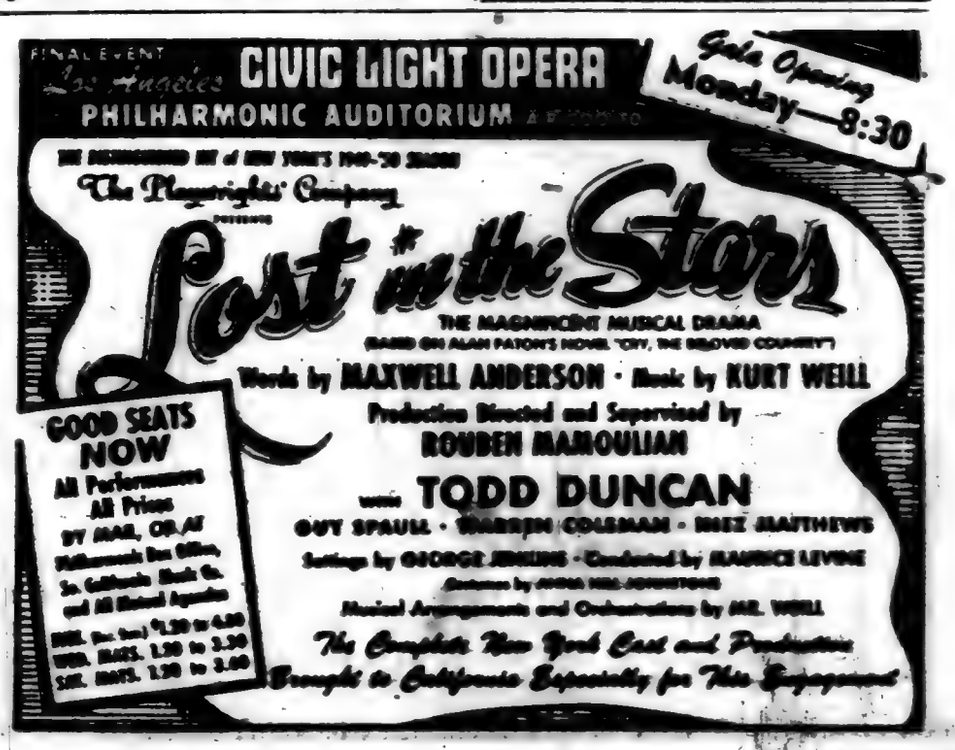
GETS LEAD . . . Talented Janet Collins has been chosen for a lead in "Out of This World", a musical comedy which will premiere November 30 at the Century Theatre in New York. Janet and Ray Harrison are the only two dancers that are definitely set in the production.

World-Famous Guest Artists On Fall Telephone Programs

The Telephone Hour opens the new fall-winter season with the appearance of four world-famous guest artists on the September broadcasts, it was announced today by Earl S. Ricker, manager of The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company. The program is heard each Monday evening at 9 p.m. over NBC stations.

The guests are John Charles Thomas, Bidu Sayao, Lily Pons and Zino Francescatti. Donald Voorhees and the 57-piece Bell Telephone Orchestra will provide special music and accompaniment for the artists.

On September 4, Thomas, famous baritone, will sing the popular Scotch ballad, "Flow Gently, Sweet Afton" as one of his selections. Miss Cayao, the Brazilian soprano, has chosen to sing Selve opaca from "William Tell" as the concluding number on the September 11 broadcast.



Miss Pons, world-renowned coloratura soprano, will open the September 18 program with "Tales from the Vienna Woods" by Strauss. Her concluding number will be an aria from "Mignon."

On September 25, Francescatti well-known violinist, will play the popular Meditation from "Thais" by Massenet.

According to the manager, all programs are subject to change.

Dr. R. P. Daniel, president of Virginia State College, will be inaugurated October 14, as 5th president of the 68-year-old State supported institution.

on the scene of the Formal Dance, of whom we may call staunch Alpha supporters. Noted that many of the Alpha men were on every scene of events. Frat wheels, now proud fathers, found this setting the perfect opportunity to introduce their offspring. Very noticeable were Ed Maddox, accompanied by daughter Michele Patrice, and young son Edward Jr., and Morris Hampton all smiles as he introduced his son to his frat brothers. Expected to see LeVert and Marion Patterson out with their son Edward, but unexpected circumstances intervened . . . All in all, was really a nice affair.

Coming Events

SCROLLERS OF KAPPA ALPHA PSI wil welcome their invited guests at their Third Annual Red and White Dance on Thursday, August 31, at the El Sombrero. This notation, being before dance time, because of press deadline indicates that no full report can be given on real particulars . . . Next week for sure . . . Nevertheless, this is a "much looked forward" affair by the collegiate set, and in all probability it is surely to be one of the season's best in entertainment. All of the replies to the much asked question, "Going to the Scrollers Dance?" is "Will be there, see you, I know." So yours truly will surely say the same. . . . The Tasmqurettes, all girls club, will present a "Fashion Tea" Sunday, Sept. 3 at all Peoples Church. . . . The hours, tea-time of course, from 4:00 to 7:00 p.m. at All Peoples Church, 820 E. 20th St. . . . This is one of the first in the line of presenting fall fashions in review, so it should really be a successful. . . . Understand that the Q-ETTES, Omega Frat wives, are planning a Benefit Dance come September 9, the theme "Hoboes". . . .

People and News

Saw Jules Haywood Jackson not too long ago and had quite a friendly conversation. Jules has just recently returned from abroad where he spent some time exploring the educational offerings of Foreign Music Schools. Alpha Phi Alpha Frat plans to present him in concert in the near future. Joan Pierson showed her Western hospitality by acting as guide for three charming eastern Deltas visiting our city as she showed them the exciting sights of Hollywood at Night. Accompanying the group was Ethelene Smith and your truly . . . Wardell Gray, currently with Count Basie Sextet, leaves for Chicago where the Basie group will play a 5 wk. engagement at Chi's "Brass Rail." Here's wishing bon volage to a fine fellow.

Ralph Wright bids our city farewell on Saturday when he departs for his hometown in Florida, U. S. A. His trip will include a stop over in the Windy City, Chicago, of course. . . . Congratulations are in order for Clayton Moore, Alpha wheel, who landed a regional office at the last conference. It is Lay-Member to the Executive Council . . . To many of the theatrical minded socialites; in my estimation, the coming event of Todd Duncan in the musical "Lost in The Stars" which opens in the Philharmonic Audiotrium on Sept. 4 should be excellent entertainment. . . . Well, here's nine . . . Till next time. . . .

School Days Fashions to Be Shown

Mammoth plans were completed last week at the lovely home of Mrs. Henry Pierson for the first annual "Back to School" fashion show to be held at 49th Street School. Locale for the unique show, which will feature adult apparel too, will be the school's auditorium located at the corner of 50th Street and McKinley avenue. The date has been set for this Friday, September 1.

The show, sponsored by the executive board of the school's diligent PTA, will start promptly at 7 p.m., and a donation from parents and friends in attendance will benefit the organization's general fund, according to Mrs. Roy E. Ayers Sr., president; and Mrs. Louise Maynor, general chairman.

Mistress of ceremonies for the occasion will be Mrs. William Gattlin, noted civic leader and vice-president of the PTA. A varied and interesting program has been gathered which will feature children from the school proper as well as those from visiting PTA's who are assisting and cooperating.

Fashion commentator for the event will be Miss Tomi Ayers, West Coast Women's editor of the Chicago Defender newspaper. Miss Ayers is well known for her timely articles on fashion, charm, and general good looks. Assisting in the fashion production will be Miss Clara Fentress, designer for Tabak Manufacturing Company.

Serving as committee chairmen for the tremendous venture are: Mesdames Grace Graham, Harold Black, Lou Edna Dodson, Wilhelmina Monroe, Ella Green, Constance Parhms, Lula Belle Lauderdale, Louella Ewing, Mattie Pierson, Mae Horace, Louise Maynor, Retha Spears, Victoria Spears, Ruch Yelder, Wilhelmina Lewis, Louise Wilson, Leola Hubbard, Willie B. Smith, Geraldine Thompson, Pauline Morris, Paccola Mitchell, Mary Kennard, Ellen Merle Gross, Mildred Caldwell, Ada Barnes and Helen Bailey.

Parents interested in having their children placed in the show are urged to contact Mrs. Mary Kennard, membership chairman, at ADams 5843. Any child in the community is eligible to participate. The public is invited to attend.

Why Not Get This Off Your Chest?

THE POWER OF PRAYER

Prayer is needed now more than ever! For through prayer we can reach a certain satisfaction and peace of mind. Prayer in the time of trouble brings comfort, spiritual assistance, hope, and faith. It may not entirely remove the trouble, but it enables the individual the better to bear it.

Prayer carries with it assurance and if we have faith, there is no obstacle too great . . . no problem too big . . . for us to handle successfully.

Prof. Herman teaches the great need of prayer and suggests that we recognize God and all of His Holy providences at all times.

J. B. Dear Prof. Herman: I read your column constantly and enjoy it very much. I would like your advice on my problem. I have three children and my husband wants a divorce. Do you think it wise to give him one?

ANS. After giving your problem considerable thought, I find that you are facing a very grave situation at this time. I suggest that you and your husband talk over your problems with a Family Counsellor. For the sake of the children, every possible effort should be made to save your marriage.

C. O. I have heard a great deal about your wonderful book, "With God All Things Are Possible." Just how would I go about securing a copy of that book?

ANS. The price of the book is only $2 and I feel that you may receive peace and contentment by reading it. Send the money to Prof. Herman in care of this paper along with your complete name, address and birthdate. Three questions are also answered for 25c.

H. M. Will my son find work? He has been unemployed for the past six months.

ANS. I am of the opinion that business trends are improving and your son should be able to find something even though it may not be the type of work he desires. It is hard to find the kind of work he likes as the field is very crowded.

F. G. What instrument records earthquake shocks?

ANS. The study of earthquakes is known as seismology, the instrument that records them is called a seismograph ,and the record written by the stylus of such a machine is a seismogram.

DIPHTHERIA IMMUNIZATION

Diphtheria immunizations were given to one out of every three pupils in Los Angeles' elementary schools last year, it was reported this week as the Board of Education and City Health Department prepared for 1950's inoculations.

Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer, said that 59,700 pupils were given "life protecting" immunizations in classrooms last year.

The opening date for this year's immunization drive has not yet been set, he said, but plans for the program are now being made.

Oil Paintings On Exhibition September 6

Mrs. Benjamin Miller, chairman of the Fine Arts Committee of the Beverly-Fairfax Jewish Community Center, announced that a 24-man show of oil paintings by many of Los Angeles' nationally and internationally known painters, will re-open the Center's Sarah Singer Memorial Art Gallery, 8008 Beverly Blvd., for the fall season beginning Wednesday, Sept. 6.

In keeping with the fine tradition of exhibitions which have drawn excellent notice from Los Angeles critics, this show will be the forerunner of a series of exhibitions which will maintain the high standard set by the Art Committee of the Center for the Gallery since its opening in 1947.

Among those participating in this opening exhibition are: Eugene Berman, Edward Biberman, Boris Deutsch, Francis de Erdely, Ted Gilien, Gregory Gluckman, Richard Haynes, Paul Julian, Geza Kende, Helen Lundeberg, Dan Lutz, Sueo Serisawa, Burr Singer, Saul Steinlauf, Loli Vann.

Langston Club Elects Slate; Hears Prexy

The Langston University Club met August 27, at Mrs. Juanita Macklin's home, 215 W. 45th St. Election of officers was held which resulted in the following:

President, Ralph Davis; vice-president, William Brown; recording secretary, Zelma Jones; corresponding secretary, Lena Trotter; treasurer, K. L. Smallwood; reporter, Grace Graham; business manager, Jean Hamilton; chaplain, Mattie Ackers; sergeant-at-arms, Harold Jones.

Dr. L. L. Harrison, president of Langston University, was guest speaker at the meeting, and presented the club a check for $100. The donation is to be used for the Student Loan Fund.

Recently the club has presented the 28th Street YMCA with a donation of $25.

Another honored visitor was Mrs. Doris Fisher (formerly Taylor) of Providence, R. I. The next meeting will be held at Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jones' home at 605 W. 42nd street.

Mrs. Graham of Mich. Returns Home Sunday

Mrs. Alberta Graham of Detroit, Mich., has spent a very enjoyable vacation with her aunts, Mrs. Bertha Williams of 9308 Hickory street and Mrs. Anna Laws of 1235 E. 92nd street.

She visited many points of interest, including the local beaches, Santa Catalina Island, Tijuana, Mexico, and made many sight-seeing tours. She has also enjoyed a round of parties and dinners given in her honor.

Mrs. Graham will leave the city for Michigan via El Capitan Sunday morning, Sept. 3.

Gala Luncheon

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Addison of 4124 W. Adams Blvd. entertained guests with a lavish luncheon Aug. 25th. The guests are still raving over the delicious food prepared by the host, Mr. Addison. The table was fit for a king, the flowers from the beautiful garden of the hostess was something to behold. Mrs. Addison is a charming socialite and this is only on of her socials. The guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Addison were Mrs. Lillian Lee, Mrs. Dora Jacobs, Mrs. Bessie Hiems, Mrs. Bertha Wimberly, Mrs. Irene Davis, honored guests from San Antonio, Texas, Mrs. Senobia Clark, Mrs. Helen Davis, Mr. Angelus Palmer, Martha Arnaud, Mrs. Maxine Wilson and Ethel Merchant.

Newlyweds At Home In Long Beach

With their honeymoon over, two happy newlyweds who were participants in one of the season's most romantic recent marriages are now living in Long Beach. They are Mr. and Mrs. Elliott McKenzie, the bride is the former Shirley Marcella Smith, daughter of the long famous movie actor, Oscar Smith, and the groom, 21, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard McKenzie, of Long Beach. They are at home to their host of friends at 1020½, in the beach city.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith had one surprise awaiting the couple when they returned from Yuma, Ariz., where the ceremony was performed, in the shape of an afternoon garden party at the family home, 1200 E. Adams boulevard. The relatives and friends of the groom had also another awaiting for them the same evening at Long Beach, so they were well celebrated. They were accompanied to Yuma by Mr. and Mrs. Bernard McKenzie Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Cotton, all of Long Beach.

The bride is an honor graduate of Jefferson High School, 1949, had a secretarial course at Metropolitan High, and a coach's course at Comstock Business College. The groom, an auto mechanic, graduated from Jordan High School.

Mrs. Horton Gives Party For Daughter

Mrs. Georgia Horton, 1536 W. 37th street, gave a birthday party for her daughter, Mrs. Louise Anthony, Saturday, August 5, in her home. Many friends brought beautiful gifts and enjoyed the delicious buffet served food. Mrs. Anthony received a 1950 Mercury car as a gift from her husband.

Angelenos Visit East

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Whiteside, popular Angelenos, are taking their vacations visiting friends and relatives in the East; visiting the bride's relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Harris. Mr. Harris is president of the N.A.A.C.P. in Moline, Illinois. They are also visiting the University where Mrs. Henrietta Whiteside graduated and received a degree in sociology. They visited in Chicago to attend the annual conference before going to N. Y. City.

Mrs. Whiteside is a popular member in the social circle of this city. She is a member of the Eastern Star Prince Oziel Chapter No. 32.

Mr. Whiteside is a prominent member of B. F. Talbot No. 8 Masonic Lodge, Prince Hall affiliation. Also a letter carrier in the U. S. Post Office in Los Angeles for 27 years, entering the service in 1923. Both are members of the First African Methodist Episcopal Church, 8th and Towne.

A host of friends will bid them farewell when they board the Southern Pacific September 2, for their belated honeymoon.

Honeymooners

Honeymooning in Los Angeles from Port Arthur, Texas, the popular couple, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Wilks are newlyweds. The y were married at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Fort Worth, Texas. The Rev. Father Flannigan performed the ceremony. They are stopping with the groom's mother, Mrs. St. Julian of 3550, So. Van Ness. Mr. Wilks is in the Merchants Marines, he will sail from New York in two weeks. He is on the S. S. Gulf Light, the couple are enjoying the sights and amusing sports in and around Los Angeles, among them the most delightful is Cliftons cafeteria, one of the most cosmopolitan of all places.

Ann Marciniack Back To Work After Illness

Miss Ann Marciniack is back at her desk in a fashionable restaurant on the Sunset Strip. Miss Marciniack spent most of her vacation dickering with herself as to whether she should purchase a new car. Well, the conservative side of Ann won out. She is still pushing the old Plymouth.

Annie girl as she is commonly called by her co-workers, is from Brooklyn, N. Y. Annie's theme song is "Take It Easy." She is also known as Philanthropic Ann.

Unique Natal Affair

The exception in birthdays was exemplified when Mr. C. L. Lindsay, and guests celebrated the birthday of Miss Louise Gillolm at a dinner held at one of the west side fashionable restaurants. Departing the finest of service ordered by Mr. Lindsay and prepared by the management for Miss Gillolm and guests. Enjoying the lavish dinner were Mrs. Gertrude Thomis, R. N.; Mrs. Myrtle Blissett, Supervisor of Cadet Teachers at Miles College, Birmingham, Ala. The menu —Assorted nuts, Dubonnett cocktails, Sherry cocktails, soup, salad, T-Bone steaks, and all the trimmings, birthday cake, sweet wine and coffee.

PEN PALS CORNER

By BARBARA ANDERZA

Guest Columnist Mary Walton

You girls think California has cute boys—you should see what Washington has to offer. Jody Clark and yours truly met out of 17,000 soldiers, two darling corporals. Cprl. Walter Kerr and Cprl. Nat Brannon. . . . It looks like Ora Williams has done it again — this time his name is Alfred Layne. I wonder who's next? . . . Alvin Dupree, if you'd pay a little attention, you'd find there's a little girl that's just craby about you . . . her initials are B.A. . . . The "Les Tres Jolies" are giving a fashion show and after dance Sunday, September 10, over at 2125 South Harvard, from 4 to 9, supposed to be pretty fine. . . . Heard Alice Estes had a dream the other night, get you know who it was about. . . . Mattie Jean Weaver took a short trip to Oakland this week, lucky girl. . . . Alma Winchester gave a beach party last Wednesday night, seems everybody had fun including Pluto R. and Elizabeth B. . . . Wonder what holds Percy Harris's interest away from home every night ? . . . Wanted: A girl friend for William Rogers, anybody interested?

Barbara

LOVER GIRL

This week's lover girl is none other than Miss Grace Jeter. She can't help from being, just listen to this: She's 5 ft. 5 inches, 115 lbs. of cuteness. She's light brown skin with beautiful black eyes. Her main interest in life is boys, of course, and she's a student at Manual Arts High School.

Pluto Russell has a new lover. Says her name is Mary Ann. You're doing O.K. Pluto. . . . What on earth is in Pasadena that seems to get most of the L. A. boys there? Probably girls. . . .Leonard W., are you sure Ruth is the only one, ha, ha.

Seems as soon as Barbara Thompson used all of her charms up on Willie Crawford, Uncle Sam sent him his gretting. What a shame, what a shame. . . . Had a hard time getting Jody Clark back to L. A. after meeting Cprl. Walter Kerr, so cute and sweet. . . . L. A. boys are saddened this week with the departure of one Mary Ann Mason who left yesterday for Chicago, specially Fred Smith.

LOVER MAN

Nat Brannon (swoon), he is 6 ft. tall, weighs about 160 lbs., teasing tan complexion, drives a 1949 Mercury. Not only has he got looks, but brains. Expecting him to pass through L. A. on his way to West Point anytime. Whatta man, uh- Hands off girls, he belongs to Mary Walton, I think. . . . Alfreda Poma was made an honorary member of the "Les Tres Polies" last week. . . . Gloria Owens, Marie Walker are giving a party Sunday over on Compton for Barbara Hobbs. . . . Barbarbara Daniels really gets around, she's throwing New York charm on all our boys, oh well. . . . Marland Brunner and Mullen G. starting all over again, sweet couple.

Daniel Beard Had Recipe for Boy Scouting

Daniel Carter Beard—Naturalist, author, and illustrator but perhaps most widely known as one of the founders of the Boy Scouts of America—once wrote a recipe for Scouting which stands as a rock for teaching Americanism in these days of the dangerous isms which storm our doors.

Said he: Take a bowl full of unbounded love for boys, one pint of absolute faith in American institutions, two tea cups of American pioneer blood, one tablespoonful of thrills, one tablespoonful of romance, two heaping tablespoons of adventure, a tea cup of chivalry of the cavaliers, a quart of the idealisum of Thoreau, John Burroughs, and Henry Van Dyke, one heaping cup of sentiment—the whole seasoned well with Patriotism and characcter and stirred up with the Golden Rule, after which sprinkle well with the Stars and Stripes and SERVE RED HOT!"

"Uncle Dan"—as he was know "Uncle Dan as he was known to millions of people throughout the world—was 91 years old when he died in 1941 and his memory of our nation's pioneering struggles was vivid.

He had talked to men who fought in the Revolutionary War and in the War of 1812. He was a lad old enough to retain lasting impressions in the Civil War. He was a personal friend of Teddy Roosevelt and knew Bill Cody and General Custer and all the others who helped build America.

Trinity PTA

Trinity St. P.T.A. president, Mrs. Lawrence Tharp and Mrs. Carl Foreman, parliamentarian for the association, plan to attend the School of Information Conference conducted by Tenth District parents and teachers for presidents and parliamentarians, Wednesday, September 6 in the auditorium of the Belmont High School.

Mrs. Lawrence Tharp, president of Trinity St. P.T.A. has as a house guest, her mother, Mrs. John S. Jones. Mrs. Jones, a resident of Baton Rouge, Louisiana, plans to visit her daughter for the next two months.

Young Progressives Condemn Supervisors' Registration Law

The Young Progressives of America today condemned the Board of Supervisors "subversive registration" law as an attempt to silence the voice of youth who have already signed up thousands for peace in Los Angeles. The Young Progressives of America say they will answer this vicious attack on all people, by intensifying their efforts to enlist thousands more of youth who have nothing to gain from the Truman-Dulles inspired Korean civil war.

The Young Progressives of America said young people reject the fascist notion that what the world needs is "new young killers." But believes instead, we need a world at peace where killers are not necessary.

Jim Crow Troops

Horace Alexander, chairman of the Southern Calif. organization, stated: Jim Crow Battalions are among the first to be shoved into the internal affairs of colored Asian people. While here at home, that conflict is being used to impose on all Americans what Negroes in the south have known for centuries."

The Y. P. A., an organization of Negro and white youth, calls on all young people who believe in friendship, peace, freedom of speech, in short, the Bill of Rights, to send post cards, letters and phone calls of protest to the Board of Supervisors.

The Y. P. A. will hold a protest rally Sept. 1, 8 p.m., 2206 S. Vermont Ave. Main speaker will be Averill Berman, noted radio commentator.

Scout Council In Weekend Camping Trip

Studying methods of Patrol operations, 1,372 junior and senior leaders of the Los Angeles Area Boy Scout Council camped over the week-end at Camp Rio Hondo, Bell, for the Council's second annual Green Bar Moot.

The two-day training session saw Scoutmasters, their assistants, and the junior officers of Boy Scout Troops throughout the area learning by actual practice the correct procedures of important camping skills. While direct lessons in constructing camp equipment and in cooking were being learned, indirectly the Green Bar Patrols were learning that teamwork and cooperation are the basis of successful Troop operation.

Thompson Benefit, Upsilon Chap. KAP

Upsilon chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity announced this week it had completed plans for a mammoth benefit for Leon Thompson, former City College Executive Councilman who had been confined to General Hospital since July 4.

The benefit will be held at the Alpha Bowling Club Labor Day night, Monday, Sept. 4th. It will begin around 9 p. m.

One of the few members of his race ever to serve on the City College Executive Council, Thompson was twice elected to to that position. He was a leader in campus politics and last semester was considered a leading candidate for student body president before it was learned that he had not been at the school long enough to run for that office.

In three semesters completed at the school, Leon compiled better than a "B" average. He had planned to enter UCLA to pursue a course in law next June.

Thompson suddenly became ill July 3rd while he was in the library studying for summer school classes. He was immediately taken to the hospital.

Leon lived with his mother, Mrs. Maud Thompson, and sister Ruth, at 4022 Trinity street. His condition is described as "much improved."

Schools Of Info, 10th District PTA

The annual Schools of Information conducted each fall by Tenth District Parents and Teachers for the 351 local associations, officers and chairmen will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, September 5 and 6, at Belmont High School.

Officers and chairmen of Fremont Council attend the following conferences Tuesday, September 5, from 9:45 to 12 noon. Organizations, Home Service, Education and Finance. Conferences to be held Wednesday, September 6 from 1 to 3 p.m. include: Presidents and Parliamentarians, Room Mothers, Ways and Means, and Historians.

Chairmen of the extension department will attend the conference in the auditorium at 451 N. Hill street, Thursday, September 14, from 9:45 a.m. to 12 noon.

Conferences to be held in the Polytechnic High School, 400 W. Washington Blvd., are for the respective chairmen of the following departments: Youth Services and Recreation, Wednesday, September 20 from 9:45 a.m. to 12 noon. Parent Education, Thursday, September 21 from 9:45 a.m. to 12 noon. Health, from 1 p.m., and Child Welfare, Tuesday, September 26 from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

The Community Chest conference will feature a very outstanding program and all chairmen are urged to attend this meeting Tuesday, October 3 from 9:45 a.m. to 12 noon in the auditorium of Belmont High School, 1575 W. Second street.

Honorary Life Membership chairmen will meet Tuesday, October 10 from 9:45 a.m. to 12 noon in the auditorium at 451 N. Hill street.

Carver PTA

Mrs. Carl Foreman and her program committee: Mrs. Paul Launderdale, Mrs. Ray Clark, and Mrs. Clarence Andrews met in her home recently to discuss the program of the year 1950-1951. They chose for their theme "Democracy — Our American Heritage.

Each month there is a topic—they are: October—"Fourth R—Responsibility; November—"Fostering Spiritual Growth"; December—"To Keep Peace on Earth"; January — "Health Everybody's Business"; February—"Looking Back-Looking Forward"; March—"Home—Creative Center of Democracy"; April—"PTA Talent in Review"; May — "Appreciation—A Large Word"; June—"Stepping Stone to Future Plans."

70 American Leaders Issue Call For Peace

Seventy leading American educators, scientists, religious leaders, writers and civic leaders scored attemps to interfere with the rights of American citizens to speak for peace as they see it, and called upon the mayors of 192 American cities and President Truman "as sworn defenders of the United States Constitution, for the sake of our country's good name to act at once against those who seek to interfere with the right to petition, speak or act for peace."

The letter's release was announced by Dr. Robert Morss Lovett, former Governor of the Virgin Islands, and Dr. John B. Thompson, Dean, Rockefeller Memorial Chapel, University of Chicago.

"The safeguarding of the Constitution is in practice the safeguarding of the freedom of speech and opinion of all citizens by those entrusted with enforcing our laws. The defense of these rights is particularly urgent today when all sane and humane men throughout the world are desperately searching the means and wayys to peace not only for its own sake but also because an atom war could mean, in the words of the International Red Cross, 'extermination pure and simple.'

We who issue this appeal are American citizens who differ on many issues and in our solutions of the problems of world survival presented byy the threat of atomic war. But we believe we would be disloyal to all the founders of this country held sacred if we were to condone for one moment the subversion of American democracy manifested in these assults and arests of workers for peace," continued the letter.

BOOKS & AUTHORS

Writers and educators are turning their attention more and more these days to the possibilities of enriching old age. Because of the triumphs of modern medicine, life expectancy in the United States is steadily rising. Here in California we have a large number of senior citizens and it is primarily for them that your Pubilc Library offers a list of readable books on the joys and rewards of later life.

THE BEST YEARS
By Walter B. Pitkin

The author of Life Begins at Forty writes briskly and encouragingly about the twenty or thirty years after fifty, which he believes can be the best years fo your entire life. How to plan for retirement and how to enjoy it after it has come are especially stressed. Leisure can really be best appreciated when a person is mature enough to value it, according to the author; and retirement can and should be your crowning achievement. To illustrate this point, Mr. Pitkin cites the records of many retired people who are distinguished and successful in their sixties and seventies.

AGING SUCCESSFULLY
By George Lawton

An excellent guide, in non-technical language, to many of the problems faced in old age, by a man of wide experience as a counselor to the elderly. Among the topics discussed are: A woman grows older; a man grows older; jobs after fifty; love at maturity; and a philosophy for maturity. The book is useful not alone for the older man and woman, but for everyone who has an older person to care for.

YOU ARE YONGER THAN YOU THINK
By Martin Gumpert

Dr. Gumpert ,who has become noted for his understanding of the physical problems involved in growing old, discusses the disease of age and other aspects of maturity. He is extremely encouragimg as to the prospects of a happy and healthy existence in the later years. He offers good advice on increasing one's life span and he shows how reasonabel care will prolong efficiency, health, and well-being.

HOW TO RETIRE— AND ENJOY IT
Zy Ray Giles

It is never too early to plan for the "golden age" of retirement and this book is intended for younger readers who are beginning to plan for the time they will say goodbye to their careers. Besides suggesting many hobbies, some for pleasure, some for profit, Mr. Giles tells how to prepare systematically for later life, both by saving for economic security, and developing leisure time interests.

YOUTH AFTER FORTY
By Ida Bailey Allen

It seems that charm and glamor have nothing to do with age, according to Ida Bailey Allen, well-known writer and radio and television commentator. She offers a program of physicial and and mental reconditioning for the mature woman, and each phase of the physical program she advises has been approved by an expert. Some of the advice given is based on actual questions asked her, such as whether a woman marrying again late in life should confide in her husband-to-be that she dyes her hair. The book is profusely illustrated.

THIS IS WAR!

By John S. Kinloch

You're a reasonable guy, see. And every time you read about Negroes getting a cold steel through their vitals for being a black, or hear a pal of yours tell how he got banged up while fighting with the armed forces down yonder, something hard and big and uncontrollable goes scrounging around inside you.

On these occasion, your language ain't often very pretty and if somebody was to rub your fur just a wee bit off the right you'd probably bang the living daylight out of him.

This is just a little notice to remind you that your disposition ain't gonna be worth a mildewed seventeen cent stamp from now on in if something isn't done and done fast!

Brothers, This Is War!

A lug by the name of Shickleberger once wrote a book in which he poined out that one and sure way of licking the stuffing out of the U.S.A. was to divide her via racial and regional minorities.

Adolph Hitler is now a desperate man because of the enterprise of the British, Russian and American armies.

He is bottled upon the continent of Europe tighter than last New Year's Eve.

He is in the same fix as William Tell's son on the occasion when Junior stood with an apple on his dome waiting for Pappa to shoot it of with a bow and arrow.

The only difference is that the Allied nations are not Hitler's Pappa and they are not aiming at any apple on his head. As a matter of fact, the greatest military concentrations in the history of the world are poised, arrow-like, to take a whack at Adolph's "Festing" rear, stretching from Norway's hunk of the Artic circl to the South of France, Italy and the Balkan countries.

Fifth Column

Hitler is just about to get drawn up for brabs and with him all hte members of his little troupe all over the world.

And hte charter members of that club in the U.S.A. are those characters who've been practicing up for fascism ever since reconstruction, throwing n e c k - t i e parties, robbing citizens of their vote and having their flowery sisters raped by hulking black brutes.

Fifth Column

All these guys know darn well that once the free people of the earth cut out the heart of fascism on the continent of Europe they will not come home to tolerate the domestic fascist type, scratching their heads and bowing, kyah-kyah, yo! sho! is a good white man! Kick me some more please suh, at convenient intervals."

Hitler's fascist Fifth Column in America, the Hearst Press, Martin Dies, Jack Tenney, Rankin, the Ku Klux Klan, are provoking riots against Negro and other minorities, distubing war production and in Congress, attempting to blitz the entire war program of Franklin Roosevelt.

What You Can Do

No matter how mad you get, nor how many dangerous juices go to squirting throughout your glandular system, there ain't a blooming thing you or I or any of us can do unless we get together in an organized fashion.

The Junior Council of the NAACP, understanding the threat of defeat for our nation in the Fifth Column conspiracy against the Negro people, has launched an all-out membership drive, so that the working people of our city can play the Organized, Militant Ante-Fascist role for which God and history has prepared them.

With a first goal of 1000 members and a program of day-to-day action against the anti-fascist Fifth Column, the Junior Council, open to all under 25 years of age, meets tomorrow at 8 o'clock at the YMCA (28th and Paloma streets.)

Be There. And remember that wherever the common people organize to smash fascism, there also is a battle-shout of freedom.

I'll look for you in full battle regalia!

POTPOURRI

for U. S. Senator by all Democrats is the aim of a new committee which is being set up by three of the leaders in the campaign of Manchester Boddy, who was her opponent in the primaries.

These three Democratic notables, who announced that their committee will be called the California Committee, Helen Gahagan Douglas for U. S. Senator, are Will Rogers, Jr., former Congressman and co-chairman of the Boddy campaign committee; Rollin L. McNitt, former chairman of the Los Angeles Democratic County Central Committee; and Mrs. Marguerite Scully, widow of the late Tom Scully, who was Southern California finance director for the Democratic National Committee.

HOUSTON, Tex.—In view of the growing needs of the business community in Texas, the Department of Business Administration of the Texas State University for Negroes is being enlarged to a Division. Beginning September 1 it will be possible for students to pursue specialized study in five separate fields—administration or management, accounting, secretarial science, marketing and business education.

1922. The first Constitution of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics was ratified on January 31, 1924. Lenin had passed away ten days earlier.

The new Constitution granted the franchise to persons over 18, regardless of sex, religious belief, race, nationality, or length of residence. Employers of labor, tradesmen, minister of religion, and former Tsarist police and gendarmes, totaling altogether ten per cent of the adult population, were disfranchised.

Lenin did not live to see socialism established in the Soviet Union, but he did see the country unified internally, its economy stabilized, and its international position relatively secure. The last interventionary forces on the Soviet mainland—the Japanese — were ousted from Vladivostok in October, 1922. Economic and diplomatic pressures by the Allies in 1922 and 1923 came to naught, and on February 2, 1924, Great Britain recognized the USSR. Many other states quickly followed suit. In 1925 the Japanese left the northern Sakhalin Island, and diplomatic relations were established. Lenin's anti-imperialist policy and Stalin's application of the principle of equality for weak nations won the approval of Dr. Sun Yat-Sen, and from 1925 to 1927 Soviet-Chinese relations were extremely cordial. In his lats public address, on November 28, 1924, Sun said:

"Russia believes in benevolence and righteousness, not in force and totalitarianism. She is an exponent of justice, and does not believe in the principle that a minority should oppress a majority. Naturally, Russia comes to link hands with the Asiatics and breaks her family ties with the West. The Europeans, fearing that the Russians may succeed in carrying out these new principles, heap condemnations upon her as a rebel against the civilized world."

Lenin's funeral became a demonstration of support for the Soviet regime. People from all parts of the country passed his bier without interruption for five days and nights after standing in line outdoors for many hours in exceptionally severe winter cold. One of the factors in Trotsky's decline was his failure to return to the capital for the funeral from a southern health resort where he was recuperating from an illness.

Another public reaction to Lenin's death was mass enrollment into the Communist Party. In three months' time, 240,000 workmen joined that organization, a 50 per cent increase. This was particularly noteworthy because of the responsibilities that membership then involved. During the wars Communist units served as shock troops had literally bought the independence of their country with their lives. Communist workmen might at any time be called upon to leave their homes and go to remote rural areas to organize the peasantry on behalf of the government's current policies, at the risk of being lynched by kulaks.

Peace Rally

This is a national call for peace to all women: Especially to Negro women who have been persecuted most, and have suffered most in all wars of our country!

Let us meet on certain days, as in days of prayer, to pray for peace! Make the strong resolve that we shall not have war! Pray, talk, think peace! Speak to your neighbors, your friends! Assemble ourselves together with the express purpose of fighting for peace! And we shall have peace!

Gems of Thought

The universal and absolute law is that natural justice which cannot be written down, but which appeals to the hearts of all.—Victor Cousin.

Five things are requisite to a good officer — a b i l i t y, clean hands, dispatch, patience, and impartiality.—Penn.

Nothing more impairs authority than a too frequent or indiscreet use of it.—Shakespeare.

Price Chapel Laymen's Group Holds Program

In collaboration with the Laymen's League of Price Chapel A.M.E. Church, founded and pastored by the Rev. J. W. Price, who, after fifty years in the ministry in the state of California as pastor and presiding-elder, in the sunset of life must have caught inspiration from the famous sermons by Dinah M. Craik on the church in which the writer declared:

"work, work, work, that is the grand pancea for sorrow, and, mercifully, there is no end of work to be done in this world, if anybody will do it."

Thus, this venerable minister of the gospel gives to African Methodism a beautiful church.

It was in that spirit that the Executive Board of the Laymen's League of the Southern California Conference joined with the league of Price Chapel to present to the church's community a health educational program featuring Dr. Wiliam A. Beck, specialist in respiratory diseases and Mrs. Helen Maupin, field representative of the Los Angeles County X-ray Survey.

Dr. Beck presented some startling statistics, pointing out that sixty thousand deaths in the nation were caused by tuberculosis in 1940, of which number fifteen thousand or 4% were Negroes.

The Laymen of the Southern California Conference of the A.M.E. Church believe the health of the community is a challenge to Christianity and are going implement their belief by making this one of their projects.

Baha'i World Faith

Retribution: Baha'i outlook in world crisis is the subject on which Mrs. Virginia Foster will address the public meeting of Baha'i World Faith to be held at Los Angeles headquarters, 331 South New Hampshire Avenue, on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 3, at 3:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Foster quotes from the works of Shoghi Effendi: "The whole of mankind is goaning, is dying to be led to unity, and to terminate its age-long martyrdom. . . . Unity of family, of tribe, of city-state, and nation have been successively attempted and fully established. World unity is the goal toward which a harassed humanity is striving. . . . The unity of the human race, as envisaged by Baha'u'llah implies the establishment of a world commonwealth in which all nations, races, creeds and classes are closely and permanently united, and in which the autonomy of its state members and the personal freedom and initiative of the individuals that compose them are definitely and completely safeguarded."

A man may have authority over others, but he can never have their heart, except by giving his own.—W. Wilson.

Vesper Service by LA Federation of Choirs

The Los Angeles Federation of Church Choirs will appear in its eighth annual vesper service, Sunday, Sept. 17 at Zion Hill Baptist Church, 51st street and McKinley avenue, at 3:30 p.m.

The songs, rendered as one unit, with the different musicians and directors in charge, will be: "Let Us Break Bread Together," "God So Loved the World," "Listen to the Lambs," "I've Been 'Buked," "The Heavens Are Telling," "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," "'Tis the Evening's Holy Hour," "Jesus Walked This Lonesome Valley," "Inflammatus," and "Hallelujah Chorus." The soloist will be Miss Avery.

The five runner-ups in the elimination contest for the scholarship award will appear on this date in the finals: Patricia Lynn, Calvary; Leatrice Franklin, Faithful Central; Ethlen Smith, People's United Church of Christ; Jacqueline Renty, New Hope; Patricia Bradshaw, Zion Hill. Flowers and gifts for these little contestants will be highly appreciated. Free admission. Clyde North, president; Mrs. Hazel Jordan, secretary, and Mrs. Mary L. Parker, reporter.

'Man' Christian Science Sunday Sermon Subject

The Golden Text of the Sunday Bible Lesson on "Man" in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, is from the Psalms: "Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful. But his delight is in the law of the Lord; and in his law doth he meditate day and night."

Luke's Gospel records that as Jesus came to the city of Nain "there was a dead man c rried out, the only son of his mother, and she was a widow: and much people of the city was with her. And when the Lord saw her, he had compassion on her, and said unto her, Weep not. And he came and touched the bier: and they that bare him stood still. And he said, Young man, I say unto thee, Arise. And he that was dead sat up, and began to speak. And he delivered him to his mother."

"Man is deathless, spiritual," declares Mary Baker Eddy in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures." She adds, "He is above sin or frailty. He does not cross the barriers of time into the past forever of Life, but he coexists with God and the universe."

Grant Chapel Hears Bishop Grant Sunday

On Sunday, September 3, at 11 a.m., worship service at Grant Chapel A. M. E. Church the guest speaker will be the Rt. Rev. D. Ormande Walker, distinguished presiding Bishop of this, the Fifth Episcopal District of the African Methodist Episcopal Church.

Bishop Walker is one of the most dynamic progressive and capable leaders in the nation.

The public is cordially invited to attend this worship service and hear this noted prelate.

When the righteous are in authority, the people rejoice: but when the wicked beareth rule, the people mourn. — Proverbs 29:2.

Rev. Marion Returns From Visit to East

Rev. S. H. Marion, Pastor First A.M.E. Zion Church, at Pico and Paloma, who has been spending six weeks in the East will return this week-end, in time to be in his pulpit Sunday, Sept. 3rd. He is kindly requesting all members and friends to be present at both services Sunday. This will be Holy Communion day, observed at both services, 11:15 and 7:45 p. m. with the sermon at both services by the Rev. Marion.

Dr. Marion visited the Bishops Council at Petersburg, Va., and the General Church School Convention at Richmond, Va. The Youth Institute at Wilberforce University, his daughter Miss Effie Le. M. Harris, in Middletown, Ohio, his sister Mrs. Margaret A. Thompson, in Asheville, N. C., his brother-in-law in Atlanta, Ga., Mr. Paul J. Anderson, and his brother and family in Columbus, Ga. He visited friends at the Old Ship Church, in Montgomery, Ala, where he served before coming to Los Angeles. Rev. Marion spent only a few hours in Knoxville, Tenn., where he pastored before going to Old Ship Church in Montgomery, Ala.

Rev. Marion is very grateful to the ministers who have served and carried on so nicely at the First Church during his absence and to the officers, membership and friends for making this trip possible.

Billy Valentine On His Own

NEW YORK—Billy Valentine, featured pianist-vocalist with the Three Blazers, has quit that group and this week announced his intentions of organizing his own combo, which will be booked by the Shaw Artists Corp. and record for the Mercury label.

Valentine, who is regarded as one of the fastest rising blues stylists and young musicians in the business, departed the Blazers at the conclusion of a southern one-niter tour. He had replaced Charles Brown with the Blazers early this year.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Marie Lewis of 1474 West 37th Place, passed away at her home August 28th, at 4:14 a.m. She was a native of Michigan. Bar, Calif.

She was born on Sept. 17, 1861, and has resided in Los Angeles for the past 63 years, she leaves to mourn her, a daughter, Mrs. Ethel Shenvair, a son Archie A. Nelson, and a grandson, Alfred Price, businessman of this city, also a great-granddaughter and two great grandchildren.

She was a member pioneer, Native California Club of her church life in Los Angeles. She was first a member of the old Azusa St. Church which later became 8th and Towne Ave. St. Church. She was one of the early members of the Peoples Independent Church of Christ, under its founder Dr. N. P. Gregg. Her membership stayed with Independent Church until her death.

Funeral services were held on August 31 at 2 p.m. from Ivory Chapel of the Peoples Funeral Home. Rev. Clayton D. Russell was in charge. Interment at the Rosedale Cemetery.

BOOKS & AUTHORS

SIDE STREET, by Nathaniel Benchley.

Two congenial couples move into adjoining brownstone houses on a New York street in this urbanely amusing novel, parts of which mave appeared in the New Yorker. The two households become involved in a series of rather fantastic events, chiefly because of the energy of the two fathers who spend their spare time on one impractical project after another, such as building a tree house which none of the children will go near. There is a pleasant small town atmosphere to the book, which shows how neighborly people can be even in the center of a great metropolis.

OUT OF THE RED, by Walter W. Smith.

A remarkable series of sports articles reprinted from the author's columns in a New York newspaper. "Red" Smith possesses the faculty of making the gaudy world of Joe Louis and Joe DiMaggio and the other folk heroes of our time come vividly to life and his interviews with these demigods are among the finest of their kind. Some of his tales have a weirdness to them that would have delighted the gusty century of Hogarth and Fielding. Theer is a quality to the author's writing which transcends mere journalism.

THE MARTIAN CHRONICLES, by Ray Bradbury.

What could be better for stagnant hot weather than space ships and the other derring do of science fantasy fiction? Here is one of the best of the new titles in this popular field. There is considerable suspense involved, because by 2000 A.D. or thereabouts the large-scale wars on earth have pretty well reduced the inhabitants of this planet to a few displaced persons who are none too sure of their reception on Mars. In spite of this unpleasant thought, the book contains a good deal of humor.

THE MATING SEASON, by P. G. Wodehouse.

This time of year is especially suited to Mr. Wodehouse's balmy humor and if the creator of Jeeves is not perhaps up to his old form, he is still very funny. In his book Jeeves is back with an uncle Charlie, a butler, who is very much on the pompous side. There are the usual Wodehousian intricacies of plot and intrigue before the various lovers can be made to live happily ever after.

HOW TO GUESS YOUR AGE, by Corey Ford.

To people who suddenly find stairways and hills steeper than they used to be and shoelaces harder to reach than in the good old days, this little book, while solving neither of these or similar problems, will offer a certain wry solace. It is recommended for everyone entering upon the age of the receding hair line and, to steal a phrase from the textbooks on logic, the ambiguous middle.

AUTHORITY

To overcome all wrong, it must become unreal to us: and it is good to know that wrong has no divine authority; therefore man is its master.—Mary Baker Eddy.

CARD OF THANKS

The wife and family of the late Mr. George W. Davis, who departed this life on August 20, 1950, wish to thank friends and neighbors for their kindness during his illness and his death. Our gratitude to Rev. William H. Wofford, assistant Pastor of St. Paul Baptist Church for his services rendered. Guerilla for 14 Years

By Anne Louise Strong

Those who attribute North Korean successors to Russian advisers betray either ignorance of North Koreans or an out-of-date contempt for Asiatic military brains. Russian advisers are doubtless useful. But the northern president, Kim Il Sung, fought the Japanese with some success for 14 years and without any Russian help.

From 1931 to 1944, when America, Russia and Chiang's China still recognized Japan's rule in Manchukuo, the Korean Kim harried the Japanese from his "autonomous Korean Republic" —five counties in Manchurian hills. His only comrade-in-arms in those days were the Manchurian Volunteers, organized by the Chinese Communists.

Some commentators have claimed that this famous Kim is dead, and the Russians have put an imposter in his place. As the only American who has interviewed him, I can state how that rumor began. Kim himself told me with a smile.

In the days when Kim Il Sung's forces were raiding Japanese garrisons in Korea's cities, the Japanese put a price of $100,000 on his head. An enterprising assassin brought in a head, claiming that it was Kim Il Sung. The Japanese paid the money but a year later the continued raids by Kim's band made the Japanese admit that "the emperor-defying bandit" was still very much alive.

"Ever since that time," said Kim to me, on the veranda of his government house in Pyongyang, "the rumor runs that I am not the original Kim." He shrugged his shoulders; it was clear that the rumor didn't matter to him, as long as he was accepted by his friends.

President Kim Il Sung is only 38, less than half the age of President Syngman Rhee of the South. He has a quick flashing smile under a mop of bushy black hair. He wore the thin white coat that is the usual Korean summer wear for everyone. For more than an hour, in his bright spacious office or on the sunny veranda, he told me the story of his life.

Kim came of a revolutionary family. His father was jailed in the 1919 uprising when young Kim was seven years old. After the father's release the family moved to Manchuria to escape Japan's control, as many Korean patriots did. Young Kim went to school in Manchuria and got into trouble for organizing Korean students against Japan's increasing might.

Kim was 19 and his father was dead when Japan invaded Manchuria in 1931. His mother buckled on him the two pistols of his dead father and Kim went into the hills to organize a "Korean Patriots' Band." He began with 80 men but he captured Japanese arms and increased until there were 10,000. They organized an "autonomous Korean government" with 300,000 inhabitants in five Manchurian counties. They raided over the Korean border destroying Japanese garrisons by surprise.

Then Kim sent agitators into Korean cities and organized the "Union for Liberation of the Motherland." They had a "10-point program" including national independence, political democracy, land reform and the eight-hour working day. At the age of 23 Kim was president of this "Union," and commander-in-chief of its armed forces.

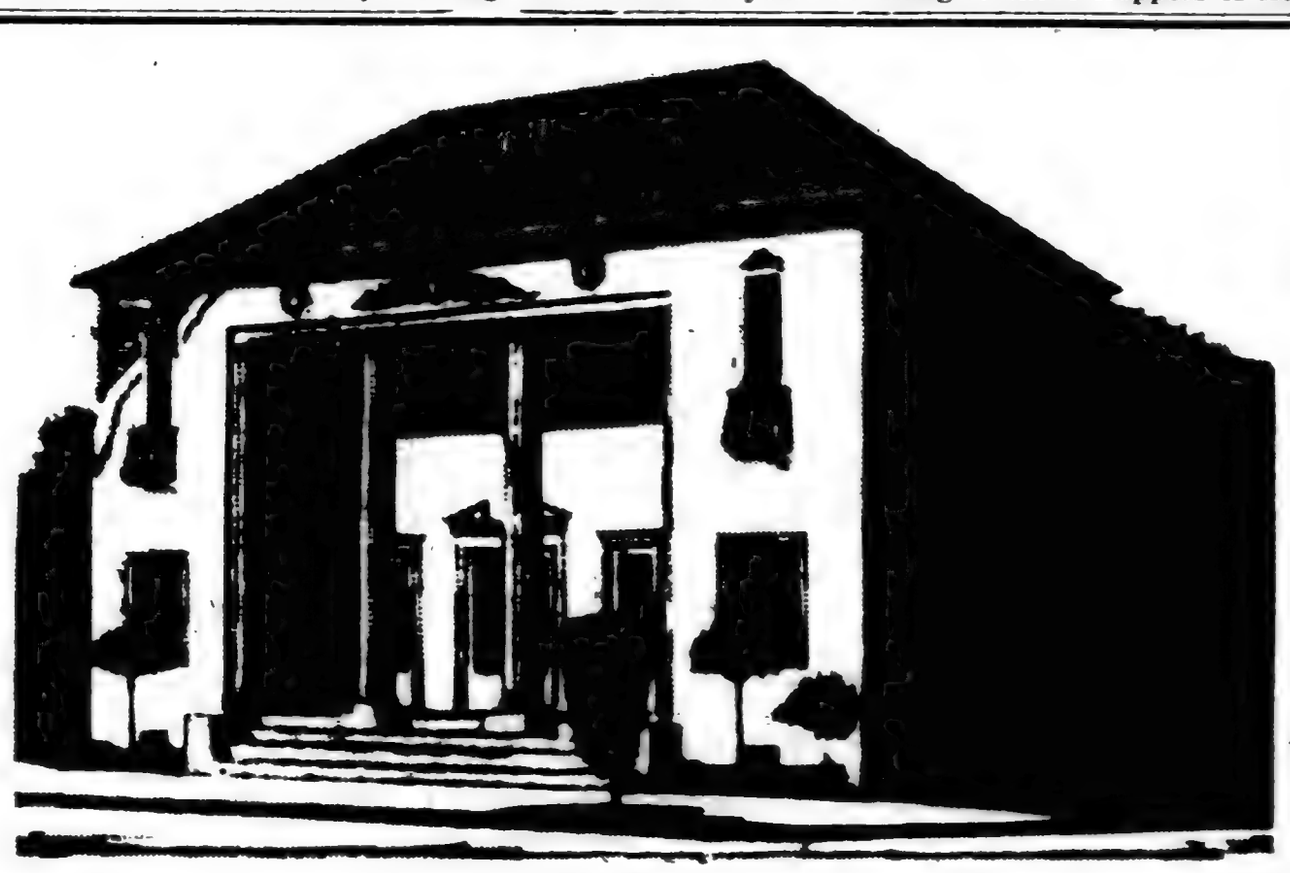
In the first weeks after Japan's surrender, Kim did not appear publicly in Korea. Many of his band returned, telling their exploits and organizing the new peasants' union and local governments. People were asking: "Where is he?" It was finally learned that Kim had been traveling about the country under an assumed name, taking part in the organization of local governments.

"I had been so long away from the daily life of my country," Kim told me, "and I wished to get acquainted with it. I felt that people would speak with me more naturally if they did not know me as Kim Il Sung."

In 1940 they let him out as a broken man, no longer a danger. His limbs were atrophied by confinement; he could not even stand but only crawl. He was dumped in his village home to save the government the cost of feeding him. After a year he was walking little. But long before he was walking he was organizing share-croppers illegally from his bed. As soon as the Russian armies liberated his village Kang formed a Peasants' Union and a Village Council.

He was elected president of the All Korean Peasants' Union at its first session. In health and education he is weak. But what Gene Debs was to American railwaymen, and Tom Mooney to San Francisco labor, that is Kang to share-croppers of Korea.

Musicians Leave for Convention



The Conductors and Organists Council is having a group of its members leaving for the National Baptist Convention, U. S. A., Inc., convening in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, from September 6 through 10. The great host of delegates will leave on special eastbound train.

As its delegate, the Council chose the president, Mrs. Anna G. Morrow. Mrs. Morrow, music director at the Second Baptist church and national officer in the music department of the convention will speak Thursday morning at the Mount Olivet Baptist Church on Wall Street.

Mrs. Morrow speaks from the subject, "Pews, Pipes, Podium, and Pulpt." These have been designated as the four "P's" together in worship.

Before returning home, Mrs. Morrow will visit friends in Chicago, Detroit, and Virginia. While in Virginia, she will stop with her sister and brother-in-law, Rev. and Mrs. H. Gould Merriweather. Rev. Merriweather is studying at the Virginia Union University, the Alma Mater of the late Dr. Thomas L. Griffith.

Most popular fresh vegetables in the springtime 68-city survey was lettuce, which three-fourths of the families used at least once in the survey week. Next in popularity came mature onions, used by two-thirds of the households.

"Unsurpassed Service Through The Years"

HUNDREDS HAVE SAID, as time has passed, that the ceremony we conducted was one of correct appointment, and that our personal assistance was with a spirit of sincere helpfulness.

SUCH PUBLIC CONFIDENCE is not won by words. Actions are the only reliable symptoms of sympathetic sincerity. And that is what you get in a CONNER-JOHNSON service, whether it is one of utmost simplicity, or the most elaborate.

Consult us about our recommended pre-payment plan of funeral expenses, with no obligation. It costs only a few cents a day.

Gives Painting To Museum

The gift of an oil painting, "Rose Tree," by William Brice, persented to the Los Angeles County Museum by department store executive Jerome Ohrbach, was announced last week by museum director James H. Breasted, Jr.

The painter, William Brice, is the son of the motion picture and radio actress, Fanny Brice. His work has been exhibited previously at the museum and has also been shown in a number of private galleries in Los Angeles and other cities.

Superior Escrow Company Constructs Own Building

Superior Escrow Company, Inc., organized less than two years ago, has outgrown its present office space at 3106 S. Western avenue, and began construction this week of its own office building at 1712 W. Jefferson boulevard, according to an announcement made by Lawrence B. (Larry) Wilson, manager.

The building, designed by Ralph Vaughn, will be a one-story stucco, glass and flagstone front, porte cochere and will provide space for four sound-proof escrow booths. There will also be an asphalt parking area in the rear of the building to accommodate brokers and clients.

Superior Escrow is the only escrow company owned and operated exclusively by Negroes in the United States. It is licensed by the State of California, bonded by Continental Casualty Company and operated by an experienced and efficient staff.

Prayer and Bible Band in Watts

A city-wide Prayer and Bible Band was organized on a recent date in the Watts area, to be known as the "United Christian Workers Prayer and Bible Band." The band will serve as a nucleus around which a fundamental Bible school will eventually be built. The purposes of the organization are to gather together Christians o fall faiths and beliefs for Prayer, and for Bible study and training! The group is strictly non-denominational in scope.

Already, much interest is being manifested in the prayer services and Bible classes being conducted twice weekly on Wednesday and Friday nights, at 8 p.m., in the chapel at 1754 East 102nd Street, near the corner of Beach. The Reverend C. F. Kyle has been elected teacher and spokesman for the newly organized group.

Prayer and Bible Bands are to be organized throughout the city and county. Some will be conducted during the day, and some at night, depending upon the desire of such persons interested in having a band organized in their home or community. Additional information can be obtained by writing or calling the Reverend C. F. Kyle, 13445 South Central Avenue. NEwmark 57784.

If a Dog Bits You

Here are a few points to remember if you are bitten or scratched by the teeth of a dog or cat, or any other warmlblooded animal.

First, make a note of what the dog looks like, or to whom it belongs. That will help authorities locate and quarantine ti.

Second, see your family doctor, or go to the receiving hospital, at once, for cauterization of the wound.

If the animal develops rabies, you will be notified immediately that you need Pasteur treatment, which will help protect you against the disease.

Mrs. Dennis Stricken On Eve Of Embassy Labor Day Mass Rally

Mrs. Peggy Dennis, wife of Eugene Dennis, a Communist leader now imprisoned for speaking out for peace, suffered a heart attack this week and will not be present at the Labor Day Mass Meeting to be held in Embassy Auditorium Monday night.

Pressure

On a national tour in behalf of all political prisoners, Mrs. Dennis has been under severe pressure for several weeks.

Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, a veteran civil rights fighter and leader of the Communist party, will fly from New York to speak instead of Mrs. Dennis.

Other prominent speakers will be: Mrs. Nancy Bridges, wife of Harry Bridges, militant Longshore leader and Mrs. Helen Bessie, wife of Alvah Bessie, one of the imprisoned Hollywood Ten and a member of the Spanish Regusee Committee.

The theme of the meeting is "Make This Labor Day Your Fight-Back Day." The Civil Rights Congress is sponsoring the mass meeting.

New Try to Jail Eleven Communists

NEW YORK.—Revocation of the bail of 11 leaders of the Communist party was ordered by a 2-1 decision of Circuit Court of Appeals this week. The decision ordered the 11 to surrender within 30 days unless they applied to a United States Supreme Court Justice for continuation of their bail pending appeal to the high court.

The 11 leaders are appealing sentences of five years in jail and $10,000 fines imposed by Judge Medina following the highly controversial Foley Square trial.

Robert C. Thompson received a three year sentence because he served with distinction in World War II. Those who are under five year sentences are: Eugene Dennis, John B. Williamson, Gus Hall, Gilbert Green, Carl Winter, Irving Potash, Henry Winston, Benjamin J. Davis Jr., John Gates and Jacob Stachel.

SC National Guard On Duty

National Guardsmen of Southern California's 40th Infantry Division went on active duty Friday, Sept. 1, for the second time in less than 10 years.

The mobilization took men from civilian pursuits in cities and towns from Santa Maria to San Diego and represented the greatest transition—in the current international crisis — for Southern Californian's of military age.

Maj. Gen. Daniel H. Hudelson, commanding general, said small advance detachments, representing all units in the Division, were en route today to Camp Cooke, near Santa Maria, where the 40th will train, to help prepare the camp for arrival of the main body of troops on Sept. 6.

Protest Deportation

The American Committee for the Protection of the Foreign born has issued a folder explaining the cases of Dr. Krishna Chandra, dentist, of Sacramento, Calif., and Andrew Dmytryshyn, of New York City, both of whom are threatened with deportation by the U. S. Justice Department because of membership in the International Workers Order, an organization which the Justice Dept. says is affiliated with the Communist Party.

Dr. Chandra, a native of India, was brought to the United States when he was five years old, in 1910. He has lived here ever since. He has a wife who is an American citizen and three American-born daughters.

Andrew Dmytryshyn was born in the Ukarine 58 years ago, and has lived in the United States continuously since 1915. He has broken no law, does not advocate the overthrow of our government by force and violence, and would be considered a good American citizen if he were not a member of the IWO.

The Committee for the protection of the Foreign Born is asking everyone to send a letter to the Commissioner of Immigration, Washington, D. C. protesting the deportation of these two men.

A national conference to defend the Bill of Rights, sponsored by the ACPFB, will be held in New York City, December 2 and 3.

Nat'l Negro Business League Observes 50th Anniv., Tuskegee

The past and present joined hands in celebration of the Golden Anniversary of the National Negro Business League, August 29th through September 1st, at Tuskegee Institute, Ala. Dr. Emmett Scott, of Washington, D. C., was one of the principal speakers. For many years Dr. Scott was a traveling companion for Booker T. Washington during the formative period of the league, and for twenty-one years served as the executive secretary of the organization.

W. H. Williams, vice-president and secretary of the Security Life Insurance Company, Jackson, Miss., represented the present generation of the young Negro business man. He gave the keynote address.

Mrs. Fannie D. Peck, of Detroit, Michigan, is founder and a past president of the National Housewives League, and serving as executive secretary of the Housewives League is Mrs. Gertrude Talbot, of Chicago.

The four living past presidents were also on hand for the three-day session. They are C. C. Spaulding, president of North Carolina Mutual life Insurance Co., Durham, N. C., Dr. J. E. Walker, president of Universal Life Insurance Co. and president of the Tri-State bank, Memphis, Tenn.; Mr. Roscoe Dunjee, editor of The Black Dispatch, Oklahoma City, Okla.; and A. G. Gaston, head of the Smith-Gaston enterprises, Birmingham, Ala.

Horace Sudduth, of Cincinnati, Ohio, is at present rounding out his second year as president of the League. The League was founded by Booker T. Washington in 1900, fifty years ago.

NAACP Acts In Williams And West Cases

The Executive Committee of the NAACP voted Monday night to take action in two important cases. On the recommendation of Edward Maddox, chairman of the legal committee, the executive board sent a letter to the Internal Affairs Department of the Police Departments asking for a full investigation into the shooting of Randolph Williams.

The Board also started an investigation into the arson attempted at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James West of 242 E. 121st Street. The Wests and their six children narrowly escaped death last Friday night whhen a kerosene-soaked piece of canvas was set afire under their house.

Coincident with the NAACP action, it was learned that a grand jury investigation will be sought in the Williams case.

far from over. According to attorneys for the Los Angeles Tenant Council, an appeal will be taken from the decision handed down by United States Judge James Kirkland Monday denying an injunction sought to prevent Housing Administrator Tighe Wood from signing an order lifting controls.

Judge Kirkland had previously issued a temporary injunction at the request of the International Association of Machinists, acting on behalf of the Tenants Council.

Ten members of the Los Angeles City Council voted for decontrol despite the overwhelming demand of eenants that controls be continued until the vacancy factor was established at a higher level.

RECALL FOR TWO

A recall movement against Councilman Davenport and Don Allen is underway in the districts represented by the two men because of their leadership in advancing decontrol to the detriment of large numbers if the people they represent.

Bryson Answers National CIO

Marine Cooks & Stewards President Hugh Bryson, upon the expulsion of the MCS from the CIO, Tuesday at a National Executive oBard meeting, made the following statement from Washington, D. C.:

"The CIO excluded MCS from affiliation because it cannot allow any opposition to its program of rubber-stamping everything the Truman Administration says and does.

"Murray and his cohorts insist on 100% combpliance with CIO policy—or that we get out. We did not get out voluntarily—we fought to stay in CIO, and we fought to return it to its founding democratic principles. We will continue this fight, in or outside CIO.

Ku Klux Klan Head Jailed in Riot Killing

CONWAY, S. C.—(ATLAS)—The Klan boss, Grand Dragon of the South Carolina was thrown in jail by Sheriff C. E. Sasser for inciting a riot that proved fatal to a robed cop.

Thomas L. Hamilton, of the KKK boss and three other men have been charged with inciting riot as the aftermath of a bloody Klan invasion of the Negro district in nearby Myrtle Beach last Saturday night.

State Policeman, James D. Johnson who fell the victim in the riot, was slain by one of the 300 shots fired in and about a dance hall, owned by Charlie Fitzgerald, a well known Negro Clubman.

Lt. Roy Williams of the State Constabulary said his investigation showed that not a Negro

Numbers Racket Figure Freed In Watts Case

Benny Jones, central figure in what appeared to be the beginning of an all out war between rival factions of digit manipulatosr operating in the Watts-South Los Angeles area, won his freedom on charges of robbery-kidnap-assault counts during his two day appearance in Department 44 of the Superior Court.

Atty Earl C. Broady, who handled Jones' defense ,from the start tore into the state's chief prosecution witnesses in an evident attempt to connect the alleged robbery, kidnapping and assault, with a series of illegal skirmishes of a racket control nature involing lottery operators and rival numbers barons.

Negro Leader Called Black S.O.B. Gets Jail Threat, No Apology

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A year's imprisonment and a $5000 fine for William L. Patterson, Executive Secretary of the Civil Rights Congress, has been recommended by the House Lobbying Committee.

Patterson was subpenaed by the Committee shortly before the victories won in the Willie McGee and the Martinsville Seven cases. Patterson and the Civil Rights Congress played a leading part in winning stays of execution.

During his appearance, Congressman Henderson Lanham (Dem.-Ga.) attempted to assault the prominent Negro leader and attorney and repeatedly called him a 'Black S.O.B.'

No Apology

A demand by Patterson, asking an apology for the insult to 15,000,000 Negro Americans, has been ignored by the Committee and the House of Representatives. Instead, the Committee recommended his citation for 'contempt' because he refused to provide names of Negro and white members and contributors of his organiation.

On learning of the committee's recommendation that he be cited,

SHOT IN THE BACK by a paroled murderer, Al Killian, formerly ace trumpeter with Duke Ellington's band, died in Georgia Street Receiving Hospital early this week. Killed also was Vivian White, a tenant in the same building where the slain man lived. (See story).

DOUBLE TRAGEDY struck in this building at 303 E. 35th Street Tuesday when an angered ex-convict shot and killed Al Killian and Vivian White. (See story).

Roybal Attacked By Davenport

The Communists registration ordinances fathered by Councilman Ed Davenport were put over for one week Wednesday when Councilman Roybal asked for more time in order that he might carefully study the proposals.

Davenport, taking exception to Roybal's request, attacked the Councilman stating: "If I wanted to be mean, I could make you go on record voting against this."

Roybal, expressing concern less the catch-all features of the proposed legislation operate to destroy civil liberties generally, said he wanted to know how organized labor felt about the ordinances.

More than 500 spectators attended the meeting with representatives of the Communist party and civic organizations opposing the ordinances.

Meanwhile, opposition to the proposals is growing. Citizens, alarmed by the plainly racial attack made on Councilman Roybal by Councilman Davenport, Wednesday, point out that the spirit of the ordinances is to attack and destroy the unity and militancy of all minority groups and organized labor.

Police Find Three Guns On San Quentin Parolee

Dynamic Al Killian, 34-year-old trumpeter, who lately returned from a world tour with Duke Ellington's band, was killed Tuesday in a double tragedy ythat also claimed the life of 27-year-old Vivian White.

Held for the double slaying is 60-year-old Roy Parker, a San Quentin parolee. Parker had served 15 years of a life term for murder when he was released about 10 years ago.

Hidden Motive

Police records indicate Killian quarreled with Parker at 303 E. 35th street where the musician resided and where Parker is the janitor. The reason for the quarrel is given in police records as a $15 debt owed Parker, but friends of the murdered man told the California Eagle they believe there are other reasons for the cold-blooded slaying.

Three Guns

Parker, who fled following the double slaying, was apprehended a short distance from the scene. He had two automatics and a revolver in his possession

Coroner's Jury Exonerates Man Held in Backyard Slaying

Jim Sheffield, who had been held by Long Beach, Calif., police for the slaying of Arthur Lee Bolden, 27, during an altercation over a debt, was exonerated here Thursday following an inquest by a Cornor's jury. The jury held that the slaying of Bolden was "justifiable," and in "self defense."

Detective Inspector H. P. Finch, who led the investigation of the death of Bolden, who resided at 1013 East 12st street, in the beach city with his wife Bessie, learned that the dead man had been the aggressor during the argument and fight that followed.

The fight took place in the yard at 1023 East 12th street.

Superior Court Judge Enjoins Foreclosure in 'Sharp' Deal

What may put an end to sharp practices by real estate loan sharks was indicated here this week when Superior Judge W. Turney Fox, granted a preliminary injunction to Tommie Miles and his wife, Maudie, restraining the sale of their home by the Gould Investment Company, 9030 Wilshire Boulevard, Beverly Hills, California.

According to the complaint, filed by Attorney Walter L. Gordon, Jr., Miles and his wife, attempted to secure a loan on their home at 9918 Hickory Street from the investment company after seeing an ad in a local paper last December 8.

No Commission

Upon contacting the company they were in formed that no commission would be charged on a loan of $2750 at 6 percent interest, the complaint alleged.

They further charged that after putting up their home as security, they got $2250 at 10 percent interest. The loan, they asserted, was made by Martha Lind, wife of Murray Goldman, owner of the investment company, and $500 was retained as a commission.

In enjoining the foreclosure sale, Judge Fox ruled that the commission and 10 percent are "out of line" and "doesn't look fair to me."

Attorney Gordon stated that the Miles couple have offered to repay the $2250 at 6 percent interest, which has been refused.

Court records revealed that two other actions are pending against the company for charging a usurious amount of interest.

Court Orders Pools Opened To Negroes

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—United States District Judge Rubey M. Hulen ordered the City of St. Louis to admit Negores to all city-owned, open-air swimming pools.

An injunction was issued by Judge Hulen in a suit brought by two Negores. They contended that the city's policy of barring Negroes from municipal swimming pools violated the 14th Amendment of the Federal Constitution.

In addition to directing that Negroes should be allowed the use of pools, the Court also ordered that "no rule or regulation shall be made applicable to members of the Negro race that is not equally applicable to members of all other races using the open-air pools."

Back to School For Adults Too On September 11

Monday, September 11, is back-to-school day for adults as well as for youngsters. The Los Angeles City Adult Schools open their year's activities on Monday, September 11. Under the direction of the Los Angeles City Board of Education, the 24 schools for adults offer a comprehensive day and evening program for men and women of the Los Angeles City School Districts.

Two new adult schools, David Starr Jordan High School, 2265 E. 103rd Street ,and James A. Garfield High School, 5101 E. 6th Street, have been added to the Adult Education program by the Los Angeles City Board of Education, thereby serving more adequately the educational needs and functions of their respective communities.

Conf. on Negro Rights Urges Miiltant Action for FEP, Peace

"Negro rights and world peace are issues that go together," declared John Forrester, circulation manager of The California Eagle, at the Bay Area Conference on Negro Rights held in Oakland, Calif., on August 26.

Mr. Forrester, who was one of the principal speakers at the conference, said that the Negro people and their friends must struggle to change the policies of that part of the Negro press which tends to whitewash the attacks of "white" people on Negroes, and that Negro people must not be fooled by the occasional appointment of a Negro as judge or some other political job.

"Such appointments are just bids for our favor," he warned. "And are intended only to throw dust in our eyes."

Mr. Forrester spoke especially of the role of The California Eagle as a militant organizer and fighter for Negro rights.

Bertram Edises, general counsel, East Bay Civil Rights Congress, made these points: Subjagation of the Nero means cheap labor and super-profits to big business. Big business and their representatives in government attempt to justify discrimination by saying it is inherent in human nature, and that by education it will "gradually" be eliminated.

"The only way to educate against discrimination," said Edises, "is by united action of the people in demanding an end to it, and the adoption of FEPC legislation."

Al Thibadeau, patrolman, Marine Cooks and Stewards, spoke of the fight for Negro rights in the labor movement. He said in the MCS these rights are written in their contracts, and that the success of the MCS was not due to leadership alone but to solidarity in the ranks.

If the Negro people are going to fight, in the opinion of Mr. Thibadeau, they should take up arms against the Ku Klux Klan rather than against the Korean people in order to bring jim-crow to that country.

The conference went on record endorsing the subscription drive of The California Eagle. It supported the Stockholm peace pledge, protested the State Department's cancellation of the passports of Paul Robeson and Albert Kahn ,and sent letters to all Bay Area Congressmen demanding that they secure a public apology from Senator Lanham, of Georgia, for his vicious attack upon CRS Executive Secretary William L. Patterson.

Concerning things at home, the conference agreed to poll all candidates for the November election as to their stand on FEPC, and make public the results. To support the organization of domestic workers for a minimum wage of $1.25 per hour; to support the campaign to end segregation in state prisons; demand legislation outlawing segregation in housing projects; press for legislation outlawing hospital segregation and discrimination; and demand that State funds be denied to colleges which maintain a quota system to bar students because of color.

Julius Keller, general counsel, San Francisco CRC, was chairman for the morning session of the conference, and Clarence Davis for the afternoon. The panel leaders for the afternoon were: Paul Chown, Roscoe Proctor, and Jerry Johnson.

The Rev. H. T. S. Johnson, secretary International Ministerial Alliance, asked the invocation at the opening of the conference.

Lay Conference on Children And Youth Set for Pepperdine

The Conference on Children and Youth to be held at Pepperdine College on Saturday, September 16, is a lay conference as is indicated by a recently issued call. As such it provides a forum for the average parent, the non-professional who is deeply interested in the welfare of children.

For example: Many parents know from their own experience that acts of discrimination in our schools and in social life generally, are commonplace, and yet officials are prone to deny the existence of discrimination.

The Pepperdine Conference aims to offer an opportunity for parents to speak up—bring the cases they know about forward, and discuss with others what can be done about this practice which warps the mental, emotional and spiritual welfare of American children.

Wide Range

The Pepperdine Conference will cover a wide range of subjects. Some of the topics around which discussions will be held are: Effect of discrimination on mental, emotional and spiritual welfare of all children, especially Negro, Mexican, Jewish and Asian children; relation of inadequate housing to juvenile delinquency; effect of atom bomb and germ warfare on mental, emotional and spiritual welfare of children; child care centers, their extension and continuance; recreation facilities for youth.

Mrs. Slyvia Miller, past president of Los Angeles chapter of Hadassah, will give the keynote speech.

Sponsors

Among the 50 sponsors of the conference are Miss Juanita Fuller, Mrs. Exie Lee Hampton, Rev. Ben N. Hill, Mrs. Faustina Johnson, Mrs. Rose Kahn, Dr. Charles Lippman, M.D., Rev. F. M. Mitchell, Rev. A. Wendell Ross, Dr. Thomas L. Perry, M.D., Miss Celestine Shambray, Mauricio Terrazas.

Sponsoring organizations include: Social Service Employees Union, Local 95 UOPWA, Serbian Progressive Club, San Pedro chapter of NAACP, Ladies' Auxiliary No. 44 of Painters Union, Ladies' Auxiliary of ILWU Local No. 8.

Special committees for stimulating participation have been set up in Venice, San Pedro, Bellflower and other outlying areas. All organizations are urged to send delegations. Observers are welcome.

SACRAMENTO—"You bet your life when you fail to slow down at sundown." the California Highway Patrol warned motorists this week.

In Our Nation's Capitol-Where Do We Eat?

Municipal Court Judge Frank J. Myers dismissed charges of discrimination in two cases brought against Thompson's Restaurant in Washington, D. C. which refused to serve Negroes.

In the first case, the Court ruled that the Organic Act of 1878 which established a permanent form of government for the District repealed by implication the restaurant anti-segregation law of 1873. Although recognizing that this poses a real problem for Negroes to find adequate eating place, Judge Myers stated that the solution does not lie in "attempted enforcement of old municipal regulations" that have been "superceded" by later legislation.

In refusing to hear the second Thompson case, Judge Myers asserted that it was similar to the first and therefore his earlier ruling is binding in both cases. Clark F. King indicated that the Assistant Corporation Counsel decision opens the way for a test-case appeal and that he will initiate one shortly.

The SIDEWALK

By C.A.B.

That much discussed question about Communism and religion has been answered most effectively so far as China is concerned by the Christians themselves, the missionaries who have been spreading and teaching the Christian religion in that over-populated country during the past century or more.

A pamphlet entitled, "The Experience of the Christian Movement in China with Communists," has been prepared for the China Committee of the Foreign Missions Conference. I want to share this with you in this week's "Sidewalk." It is based on the experience of foreign missionaries in China, and contains excerpts from letters and reports coming from active missionary and medical workers in that country.

Concerning the work among students in the various colleges and universities, the pamphlet has this to say: "The Communist victory in China is considered by most Chinese students to be in truth a 'liberation.' Under the Kuomintang, China's students felt frustrated, critical, rebellious. Spies and professional students spread mistrust and suspicion."

Students used to disappear in Kuomintang, or just disappeared and were never heard of again. "Four YMCA student secretaries," says the report, "were jailed by the Kuomintang last year. On some campuses all student organizations were forbidden, which of course virtually stopped work by the churches and the Christian associations."

But—"With the coming of the Communists the campus situation changed radically. Student organizations long suppressed were now fostered." The students themselves were in complete sympathy with the goal of the People's Army and the People's Government. At Ginling College for Women the girls during the summer "helped the country women pick weeds out of the cotton fields, revealing the typical enthusiasm of young people today for this sort of work."

The report didn't mean by "this sort of work," the back-breaking labor of picking weeds! It meant the inspirational work of uniting with others in producing cotton for clothes, food to eat, houses to dwell in, not for the profit of a few, but for the benefit of all their fellow countrymen.

According to the pamphlet, "information available supports the conclusion that responsible Communist leadership . . . has been disposed to judge the church on the basis of its performance."

That performance has not always been what it should be. Christian leaders in China admit that. "We have to admit," wrote one, "that as the Christian movement has grown in magnitude, we have allowed ourselves to be weaned away from the common man, and allied ourselves more and more closely with the bourgeoisie and vested interests."

That, unfortunately, is the story of the Christian church all over the world, ever since the Emperor Constantine in A. D. 312 adopted the Christian religion, and bent it to serve his will.

The Christians in China, however, are taking a different attitude from that of Constantine. They feel they must go back to the Common Man again. No, they must BE that Common Man again.

"The Christian Church in China must strike its own roots deeper," says one, "and, in the spirit of Christ, make its distinctive contribution toward implementing the social revolution being carried through according to the new government's policies."

"The movement which challenges us," writes another, "is fired by such fanatical zeal as has seldom been seen in the four thousand years of our history. We must therefore seek to understand the oncoming change . . . and to arouse our fellow Christians from their slumber and wishful thinking."

From their "wishful thinking" of some day, if they're good and submit patiently to all the hardships imposed upon them by their masters, they'll reap their reward in the sky.

The Christian Church in China is casting aside this "pie in the sky" attitude, and uniting with the People's Government is helping build the New World promised long since, and which we could have had centuries ago had we only worked aggressively for it. We in America must unite with China for the realization of this hope.

Pomona Fair Offer Variety In Attractions

POMONA—Never before has Los Angeles County Fair offered such an amazing variety of special attractions as those assembled from far and wide for the seventeen days opening Friday, September 15.

Well calculated to please the most varied tastes in every age group, they range from brilliant fashion shows to production line milking and from mass square dancing to a million dollar livestock parade.

Of particular interest this year are the competitive contests. Heading the long list is a national casting tournament in the beautiful new pool on September 23 and 24. Nearby is an archery range for the lovers of this outdoor sport.

The champion chrocheter of the southland will be picked in the novel "Lady Nimble Fingers" race set for 3 p.m., September 19.

The famed dairymaid contest to name the champion girl milker is cheduled for September 23. The second annual all-states majorette baton twirling competition will be the next day. It promises to be the largest ever held in California.

Volunteer Group To Aid NAACP

More than a score of Los Angeles citizens interested in the financial welfare of the NAACP have voluntarily organized themselves into a Special Activities Committee to help support the civil rights body.

The Committee is headed by Mrs. D. C. Montgomery, outstanding civic worker.

The NAACP needs an executive secretary who can give full-time to the job, according to Mrs. Montgomery, and raising funds for this purpose is one of the projects of the Special Activities Committee.

To date there are some thirty members of the group. Meetings are being held at the home of Mrs. Montgomery, the chairman, 443 East 49th Street. Other officers are Miss Louise Brandshaw, secretary; Mrs. Estelle Kemple, treasurer; Mis Mildred Sanders, public relations secretary; Mrs. Dorothea Foster, business manager.

Mr. A. C. Kitchens, chairman of the Entertainment Committee of the NAACP Board, represents this body on the Committee.

The first activity of the Committee will be a Harvest Frolic Saturday, September 23, at 443 East 49th Street, starting at 8 p.m. A Kolinsky scarf will be given away.

SCHOOL CHILDREN use sunny square in Mysore State, India, to practice health habits learned as the result of United Nations activities. Mr. Patterson declared, "It is primarily a move to destroy the Civil Rights Congress because we have become the most militant defender of the human and constitutional rights of Negro and white Americans."

"This attempt to jail me is part of a pattern of terror against Negro people and those who are leading their fight for civil and human rights."

"Congressman Lanham, who illegally holds his seat in Congress through the denial of the vote to Negro citizens in his Georgia constituency, is leading the fight to get me. His attitude to the Negro people was clearly indicated three weeks ago when he called me a 'Black S.O.B.'"

The inquest may bring out the cause of the quarrel. It was reported that young Taylor argued with his father over a matter concerning the younger man's wife. The wife, Doris Ruth, reportedly told arresting officers that her husband acted in self-defense when her father-in-law made a motion indicating he was about to draw a gun.

The dead man had left the house during the quarrel and was seeking to gain entrance when he was shot.

A demand for payment resulted in a fight between the two men. Jones was arrested for the assault, but was not held by 77th Division police at the time. Later, following a visit to a house occupied by an ex-police officer where a lottery drawing was being held, police picked him up and held him on the old charge.

KKK On The March

HARRISBURG, Pa.—(ATLAS)—A fiery cross was burned here last week in front of a new home being erected by Dr. Richard A. Brown, a physician, a staff member of the Harrisburg Hospital.

The fiery cross was extinguished by firemen. Fire Chief Earl Swartz said the cross was about four feet high and three feet across. It was of light lumber with fabric wrapped around the arms.

when arrested. The revolver was identified as the property of Mrs. Gertrude Newman, landlady of the E. 35th street building.

Miss White, who also lived at 303 E. 35th street, was killed immediately, while Killian died shortly after he was admitted to Georgia Street Receiving Hospital.

Missing is a French poodle belonging to the slain man. He had given it to a friend earlier in the week, and was to have delivered it the day he was killed. Police reportedly gave the dog to a stranger who said "His children played with him and knew him." Attempts to locate the man have been unavailing.

Killian, rated as one of the great trumpeters, was a quiet, unassuming man who was not known to drink or smoke. He made the E. 35th street address his home when he was in the city. Parker reportedly admitted to University Station police that he had "others on his list."

YOUTH ACTIVITIES

PEN PALS CORNER

By BARBARA ANDERZA

People! People guess what? I, meaning myself, have just gone through a memorable escapade, called Camp Counselor, this literally means, takin' care of babies, ages ranging from 7 to 14 years of age, a-way up high in the mountains at the Griffith Park Camp for girls. All kidden' aside it was really a wonderful trip. My favorite little campers were: Annie Arceneaux, Linda-Formay, Lillian Arceneaux, Carol Carter, Paula Hines, Dianne Shores, Lois Arceneaux, Jackie Forney, and Rochelle Vincent. Of course there were others, too numerous to mention though . . . Guys and gals, you had better build your boats, cause since Nellie Young left for Virginia, Donald "The Lover of 53rd St." McAllister, has been weepin puddles up-until the wee wee hours of morning . . . There was a surprise birthday party given Carmelita Valarde by Yvonne LaChappelle, last week. Breads and Butters present were: Alice Burgess, Joe Rouzon, Joan Southern, Noville King, Rosalind Daulphine, Allen St. Julian, Edith Lyons and Mary Anne Vandange . . . Little Miss Mary Anne Mason and her darling baby sister, Gerry, have returned to Chicago. They are said to have had a perfectly wonderful trip . . . Did ya know that Reynold Burbank and Corinne are hittin it off sweetly? Well, they are. In fact they were spotted in the theatre a couple of weeks ago. . . . Ole Mary Alice Watton has been gettin love letters almost every day from Washington. His name, by the way is, Nat Brannom . . . Got wind that Charles Macon is gonna go to E.L.A. after graduation over at Cathedral. Also found out that his brother Bobby is secretary of you know where suhh!! Cathedral . . . Kids and kiddies, Gloria Evans and her companion, Audrey Springs are coming back from New Orleans tomorrow. Real fine huh!!! . . . Certain people are quite anxious to know this—Roderick Ferguson and Sandra Muse are engaged to become one. The date is to be June, 1951 . . . 52nd mourns the loss of Marion Jones and family who are movin to 24th and Cimarron. Oh!! well, I spose, what must be, must be . . . Gosh nearly everyone was there. This was Nellie Young's birthday party, ya know. Here go more names: Jackie Garmon, Ophelia Crawford, Payne Butter, Ronnie Fleming, Carmelita Valarde, Yvonne LaChapelle, Louis Grant, and Elverette Stewart. (He moved to the westside, by the way). and oodles of others.

Lover Man

Francis Smith. Ya know something? This week's lover man was discovered on 52nd Place just a couple of days ago. Now don't all try to move on 52nd cause there just ain't enough room. Kowing that he had great possibilities the following questions were asked of him. How tall are ya, suguh? How much do ya weigh? etc., etc. O.K. readers here are the answers. 5 ft. 10, 160 lbs., dark brown eyes and hair and of all places, he was born in Arizona. All you gals who've been holding your breath may let it out slowly. He's seventeen. Excited? Well there's more. He also has a real sweet pal by the name of Augustus Short. I'm telling ya this pal, Gussie, really has some dreamy brown eyes. In case you're interested call AD. 8670. Ask for Augustus. Who knows perhaps through him you'll get Francis's number.

Almost forgot there was a party given Yvonne LaChapelle last Wednesday nite. Sugars and Spice present were: Carmelita Valarde. (She gave it for Yvonne). Rosalind Dalphine, Lucy and Lucille Anderson, Sidney Lyons, Jeanne Rouzan, Ophelia Crawford, Ronnie Fleming, Joe Rouzan, and that sweetie of sweeties, John LaChapelle . . . They say that Jody Clark and Walter Kerr are a darling couple.

P. S. Why don't Beverly Guano and Johnny Samana go back together. Both say that they're mad about each other.

Program for CYO

Plans for the fall program of the Catholic Youth Organization were announced this week by Rev. John J. Birch. A total of 207 parishes and ten settlement houses and centers will participate through parochial school, teen-age and young people clubs and athletic groups.

Features will include a drama workshop, youth forum, football and volleyball leagues, local and inter-parish jamaicas, participation in Mexican Independence Day celebrations and seasonal parties and dances.

More than 30,000 children and young people of the Los Angeles area will be active in the program, Father Birch estimated. The CYO is a Community Chest agency.

Selected as trpical of the best CYO teen-age clubs of 1950, the CYO Chi Rho Club of St. Odilia Catholic Church, 5222 Hooper Ave., received the Youth Achievement Award presented by the Downtown Business Men's Association.

Presentation of the certificate and trophy was made to Donald McAllister, president of the club, and Bill Thompson, CYO area worker, by Harry Morrison, president of the association, at the downtown group's annual "Back to School" show at the Philharmonic Auditorium last Friday.

Cp. St. Vincent Closes

With the close of the fifth summer season at Camp St. Vincent de Paul, sponsored and operated by the St. Vincent de Paul Society, a record attendance of 512 boys, or an average of 73 boys per period, was announced.

A record total of 12,485 meals was served!

The camp is supported by the St. Vincent de Paul Society Salvage Bureau, which collects old newspapers, clothes, furniture, rags, scrap metal and household goods.

Olympia Council Launches New Year

Olympic Council of Parents and Teachers launched the 1950-51 year with a potluck picnic and board meeting at Exposition Park. The 20 unit presidents met with Mrs. C. C. Wahlquist, Council president prior to the general session for a parliamentary discussion directed by Mrs. J. L. Kierstead, parliamentarian.

"Youth—His Freedom to grow" was chosen as the years' theme with monthly sub-topics to suppliment the general theme. Mrs. F. B. Walker, program chairman presented the program which was adopted with necessary changes.

Inspirational message was given by Mrs. V. C. Close followed by general introduction of al present. Committee reports were given by magazine and emblem chairman, television, clippings, and founders day chairmen.

Resignations

Resignations accepted "with regrets" included Mrs. C. S. LeCain, publicity; Mrs. Oscar Gross, music; Mrs. E. V. Hanna, founders day; and Mrs. Everett Hankins, legislation and citizenship.

A new chairmanship, "newsette," was voted into the Council with Mrs. R. W. Stadlman ratified to fill the position. Other chairmen ratified were: Mesdames George Eckfeldt, founders day; Warren Randolph, music; Marie Chapman, television; H. F. Kinnear, legislation & citizenship; Russell Jordan, community youth service; and representatives to Co-ordinating Councils Mesdames L. A. McElvey, Florence-Firestone; W. H. Lewis, Huntington Park; J. B. Harbuck, Southwest; J. E. White, South-Central; Louis Wickser, South Century; James Mendoza, Watts; and R. L. Hayes, South Gate.

Local PTA units within Olympia Council includes Carver Junior High School, and Jefferson High School.

"Don't over-ride your headlamps," the patrol urged. "Be sure you can stop within the distance you can see ahead—and that is shorter than you think."

Have You Registered?

You don't have to go to a Sheriff's sub-station or to the nearest police station to register. There are several deputies in almost every community who will take your registration on the public streets, in stores, churches and in public buildings.

Because you cannot vote unless you are registered, and because your vote will have tremendous importance in the November elections, you owe it to your country, your community and yourself to REGISTER NOW.

It should take you less than five minutes to give the information that will qualify you to have something to say about who is to represent you in local and national legislative councils.

From year to year, the failure of large numbers of our citizens to register has made it possible for incompetent representatives to spend their time hunting headlines in the wilderness of hysteria created by the clever architects of fascism.

Be registered and be prepared! It is more necessary now than ever before to elect representatives on all levels of government who are courageous enough to protect the civil liberties of the people, and move them forward where it is necessary.

There is the danger that a minority of the voting potential will run your community and your country because the majority is too lazy or too indifferent to register and vote. The City Council voted down a local Fair Employment Practices law because there were not enough citizens who needed that law, enrolled as voters.

Politicians respect numbers. They don't worry too much when the enrollment figures stay low. When the people register in increasing numbers they begin to wonder, and sometimes they begin to function properly. They won't pass laws making it mandatory for you to register. You'll have to do it voluntarily. You have no greater privilege or responsibility as an American.

About 3,000,000,000 pounds of foodstuffs were in the nation's refrigerators storage warehouses on the last day of July, 1950. Aside from frozen foods of all kinds, the warehouses hold cream and milk—evaporated and condensed—canned foods, molasses, also butter, lard, cheese and eggs—in the shell and also dried.

Marcantonio Defends Patterson, CRC Ex. Sec.

Following are excerpts from the speech delivered by Congressman Vito Marcantonio on the floor of the House of Representatives, on August 30, in opposition to the resolution citing William L. Patterson of the Civil Rights Congress for contempt. This resolution was adopted by a vote of 238 to 106.

William Patterson has been a courageous fighter for his people and the rights of his people for years. He is a Negro. The Civil Rights Congress has been listed by the Attorney General because it happens to be one of those organizations militantly fighting for civil rights and one which has exposed the hypocrisy of this Democratic administration on civil rights.

This man is not a lobbyist. He is a defender of his people. He has asked the members of the Congress to vote for the civil rights bills that have come before the Congress. Yes, there have been delegations coming down here, public, open, mass delegations of hundreds of people coming down here to ask the members of Congress to live up to the pledges on civil rights which they made at the time they sought to be elected. He was not a lobbyist for special privilege. He was not a lobbyist for the real estate crowd. He was not a lobbyist for the loan to Franco. He was not a lobbyist for the special privileges.

So what kind of deal did he get from this committee? He was twice called a liar by the acting chairman. He finally wound up before that committee by having his race insulted, andby having 15,000,000 Negro people villified when he was called "a black ———" epithet by the acting chairman. That happened before that committee. That happened to this witness, yes, this Negro victim from the alleged left. I say that somebody is in contempt. Mr. Speager, somebody is in contempt, but it is not Mr. Patterson. I tell you we in the House, all of us are in contempt when we permit that kind of language and that kind of insult to be hurled at 15,000,000 Americans and we do nothing about it.

RAPHAEL KONIGSBERG

WHO DO THEY THINK THEY ARE?

There can be no denying the fact that the United States of America is more powerful now than ever in her history—and that in certain respects she is the most powerful nation in the world. Nor can it be denied that the USA today is the most fear-ridden nation in the world. All its mighty power seems to offer little comfort. Why?

Our country emerged from the victorious war over fascism the most favored nation on earth. None of our cities had been devastated, our industries had multiplied their productive capacity, we had lost comparatively less of our manpower than any of our allies. The stage was well-set for an era of abundance and greater freedom.

Yet—five short years later this great vision is maggot-ridden, destroyed. This most powerful nation, which promised so much, is afraid of its own shadow, its honored name is blackened wherever honest men live, its great strength is being dissipated in doomed ventures over the globe, its civic and social life is poisoned by an officially-inspired inquisition ,the unity and pride of her people are being undermined—and her "leaders" are an immoral, terrified and desperate crew. Why?

Throughout the country, in our Capitol, in Michigan, in Georgia, in California, duly elected officials, sworn to uphold the Constitution and the Bill of Rights, are obscenely competing for the dishonor of betraying that Constitution and America's heritage. In Washington, Administration leaders join with outspoken enemies of democracy to secure passage of the Mundt-Ferguson-McCarran-Hobbs bills which would legally establish fascism in the land of Jefferson, Lincoln and FRD.

In L. A. County: the Board of Supervisors, elected "representatives" of the people, carry out a sneak attack on the people's rights—while contemptuously ignoring our real and urgent need for housing, adequate relief standards, fair employment practices, protection from storm-trooper police. (Which reminds us: Where was John Ford when the lights went out in L. A. County— this politician who has traded so long on his "liberal reputation"?)

In the L. A. City Council the same crimes are committed. Which proves once again, as it has been proved daily throughout the world these many years, that it is those in high places who are the quislings, betraying their trust and their nation. While it is the common people and their spokesmen—the Reuben Borroughs, the Margie Robinsons, the Paul Majors—who fight unrelentingly for the people's needs and rights.

It is true, as the treacherous press and radio and courts proclaim, that there is a subversive conspiracy in the land to destroy democracy. But it is not true that this Fifth Column works so secretly. Many of its members are conspiring out in the open, with official encouragement, in the halls of Congress, in the boardrooms of corporations, in the legislatures of the states, cities and counties.

They Fear the People

Life has taught us that the really strong man doesn't have to go around always threatening others to prove his strength. The truly wise man doesn't feel compelled to convince everyone he meets that he is wise. The truly just man doesn't find it necessary to prove a thousand times a day that he is just.

Isn't it obivious therefore that what our misleaders, power-mad military and greedy financiers, are proving by their threats and attacks is not how strong they are, but how weak they are? Are they not demonstrating that they have no faith in their own propaganda and policies—for which they are asking us to give up our liberties and lives?

Isn't it obvious that this insanity is an effort to cover up their miserable faiure to solve our nation's problems—that it is a frantic attempt to escape the peoples' wrath?

Having failed in their global gamble to "contain Communism" they are trying to contain the American people and American democracy—which, as is evident, has been their primary goal from the first. Certainly one major reason for the Korean war was to provide an excuse to speed up (expedite) their war against the people of America.

Can any intelligent person believe that—in L. A. County, for example—where there is almost official immunity guaranteed any cop who kills a Negro or Mexican, the Board of Supervisors is "defending Americanism" and serving you and me by passing laws (in secret) to prevent us from thinking and holding free elections?

Who Do They Think They Are?

Dare they tell free Americans that it is illegal to speak and write and vote freely? Do they believe that they are above criticism—that the criticism of a Jessup who urges the killing of our youth is unpatriotic? This is the disease of dictators!

Our reply is: Just as we refused to collaborate with German and Japanese and Italian fascists in the last war, we will continue to defend America by refusing to collaborate with American fascists!

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Dear Mrs. Bass:

This is just a few lines to tell you how much the Treasury Department appreciates the excellent cooperation given by your fine newspaper during the recent Independence Drive for increased sale of U. S. Savings Bonds. The type of assistance and support you are giving this vital program is responsible in no small measure for whatever success it has attained and will attain in the future.

Most sincerely,
J. B. MESSICK,
State Director.

Rev. John Henry Owens, M.B.I.,
1478 W. 37th St.,
Los Angeles, Calif.
Sir:

This is to acknowledge receipt of and thank you for your letter of 25th inst. enclosing article which appeared in the "California Eagle."

I have carefully read the article in question and I fully appreciate the sentiments of justice and sound judgment expressed therein.

Again thanking you for the vocalization of views which are inspired by a true perspective of historical interpretation, I am,

Yours very truly,
(signed) Salvador Duhart M.
Consul General of Mexico.

Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass,
Editor, California Eagle
Dear Friend:

I say "friend" with pride and affection, because you and the Eagle staff have been very active in my case and words will not express my deep appreciation for your participation. Sorry I did not contact you earlier. Perhaps you could have published an appeal for my friends to pack the courtroom.

Anyway, I have a hearing Friday, September 8. That's Friday, this week. (Today—editor.) I expect to see you and some of your staff there at Judge Carter's court, 10 a.m.

Thanking you in advance.

Sincerely yours,
Eugene Backstrom.

(Note: A representative of the California Eagle will be there. And we urge all our readers who can possibly do so, to "pack the courtroom," as Mr. Backstrom suggested.)

POTPOURRI

The Watts-Woodcrest Club of the Independent Progressive Party adopted a ringing resolution at its meeting August 28, condemning the use of terror and violence against Negro people seeking to establish homes in so-called "white" sections of the city, and the laxity and indifference of the law enforcements officers supposed to prevent this violence.

The club cited especially the case of the West family who with six children moved into their home at 242 E. 121st street, and were nearly burned out by their white neighbors.

NEW SOCIAL SECURITY FOR WORLD WAR II VETS

Widows and children of World War II servicement are given additional survivors insurance benefits by the new social security law, according to James H. Smiley, manager of the Los Angeles office of the Social Security Administration.

Servicemen who died during World War II or since, may now have their social security accounts credited with $160 per month for time spent in active military service between Sept. 16, 1940, and July 24, 1947.

CAMPAIGN FOR MESSAGES

A national campaign which is to include 50,000 messages to President Truman and Attorney General McGrath, and 100,000 petition signatures calling for the granting of bail to the 11 Communist leaders has been announced by the Civil Rights Congress. It will also seek to assure a review of the constitutionality of the Smith Act, under which the Communist leaders were convicted by the Supreme Court.

LABOR ON THE MARCH

A Couple of Artists

Apparently the CIO's position is to sell out the civil rights of everyone else in exchange for a puny promise that the CIO will escape the consequences of the growing hysteria. The great weakness of the CIO in recent years has been its seemingly studied indifference to the welfare of the community forces from whic hit drew strength.

JOHN M. LEE

There are leaders in the CIO who believe it is possible to make deals with reaction and outright fascism, and still stand forth as champions of the oppressed and the neglected. From a highly vocal position on extendede civil rights and freedom for the minorities, the CIO leadership in this community has retreated until it can no longer be considered reliable.

Both Albert T. Lunceford and John Despol must assume responsibility for the prestige loss suffered by the CIO in the past week. These two labor statesmen who came to Los Angeles with a mission to save the CIO, have given the first solid warning to the rank and file that the future does not belong to them.

Publicly orating against the proposed, unconstitutional catch-all ordinance called for by the City Council, Lunceford and Despol posed as staunch defenders of democratic freedom. But it was only a pose.

In the council chamber and before the Police Commission, in the presence of the press, they took a clear-cut position in opposition to any ordinance that had for its purpose the invasion of constitutional rights.

But behind closed doors, in the comparative privacy of a conference with the supporters of the ordinance, they reversed their field and ran with the hounds. It was the cheapest demonstration of sheer opportunism seen in these parts in a long while.

Separating themselves from large sections of the labor movement that stood consistently against the ordinance because of its far-reaching and sinister implications, Lunceford and Despol sought no allies, and offered no alliance with the Negro people and other minority groups that are the true targets of all police state laws.

There is no longer any reason for the community to support the CIO, for that organization has indicated it is an entity within itself. By trading support of an ordinance that will invade the rights of others, for a promise of special exemption, Lunceford and Despol have exposed the disorganized state of organized labor.

These gentlemen said, in effect, "We won't utter one word of protest when you hang everybody else, if you promise not to hang us. Put it in writing, and we'll help with the hanging."

But how long will the CIO be able to stand alone against the rising tide of fascism? Having long since turned its back to the struggle of the Negro people, does the CIO intend to now turn its back on the struggle for real democracy?

Today, the subversives are those who show articulate courage in the fact of continuing onslaughts against our democratic rights. The Negro people are constantly being told that they must be patient with an imperfect America that seeks to be perfect for all its citizens.

If that is so, then America must understand how necessary it is for her citizens, who have so long been denied their full rights and privileges, to protest, and protest until that perfection is reached. The ordinance, in consideration of which, Lunceford and Despol did their historic flip-flop, is a threat to the Negro's right of protest.

That right must never be lost. It must never again be entrusted, even in the slightest degree, to such manipulators as Lunceford and Despol. The Negro people, seemingly divided on the clever issue of foreign ideology dreamed up by the fascists, are closer together than most people think. Such legislation as that which Lunceford and Despol subtly supported, will ultimately create an even greater unity in the campaign against second-class citizenship.

Around the World

NEGROES SING LEADS IN NEW YORK CITY OPERA

NEW YORK — For the coming opera season the names of two Negro artists are in the forefront —Camilla Williams and Lawrence Winters. Camilla Williams will again sing the lead in "Madame Butterfly." She has made "Butterfly" a memorable operatic character. Winters will be heard in four of the season's operas: "Turandot," "The Love for Three Oranges," "Pagliacci" and "Aida."

The use of Negro singers in the NYC Opera is in direct contrast to the ironical story told about the Metropolitan Opera Company. It is said that one of the talent scouts for the "Met" sailed on the same boat for Europe with Marian Anderson!

The Metropolitan Opera Company that cries about always winding up a season in the "red" ought to save on the boat fare.

SALVATION ARMY GIVES $1800

NEW YORK — Three weeks at summer camp which amounted to $1800 in scholarships were given to 40 deserving boys and girls by the Salvation Army at its two interracial camps in New Jersey. Six other boys were given free camp scholarships to the CYO camp in Long Island.

This gift is just one of the many to be credited to the Salvation Army through its Harlem Center, the Red Shield Club, at 224 W. 124th street, where the program includes activities for all ages.

LOS ANGELES—Deadline for preferred registration for the American Legion's 32nd annual National Convention scheduled for Los Angeles this Fall has been extended until September 10. Headquarters for registration now are located at 1001 W. 7th St:, Los Angeels. The announcement was made this week by Salvatore (Cappy)) Capodice, national convention registration chairman, who urged all Legionnaires throughout the state to register immediately.

DIVISION IN KOREA, Aug. 26— Pvt. Bobby E. Graves, of Fontana, California, has been awarded the Army Combat Infantry Badge for meritorious service while serving with the 24th Infantry "Blockhouse" Regiment.

The "Blockhousers" are part of the famous 25th Infantry Division "Tropic Lightning" troops who are adding to their already enviable combat record in this theater of war under command of Maj. Gen. William B. Kean.

Political Pot-Pourri

WHERE DO THEY GET THE DOUGH?

The spectacle of 175 members of the House defending the refusal of big business lobbyists to tell a congressional committee where they get their money and what they do with it, promises to become one of the hot issues of the campaign.

The spectacle was afforded August 30 when the House voted 183 to 175 to cite for contempt Dr. Edward A. Rumely of the notorious Committee for Constitutional Government.

The Committee for Constitutional Government has been exceedingly active in a number of campaigns this year, particularly those in Florida and North Carolina where its literature was distributed by the millions.

OPPOSE "SUBVERSIVE CONTROL" BILLS

NEW YORK—A telegram sent last week by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to 35 key members of the majority and minority parties in the Senate and House of Representatives, urging them to vote against the Mundt-Ferguson-McCarran-Nixon "communist control" bills now being considered, brought responses from a number of legislators who have pledged themselves to uphold civil liberties.

ROBESON CALLS FOR DEFEAT OF POLICE-STATE BILLS

Paul Robeson, chairman of the Council on African Affairs, declared last week that the ban placed on the meeting planned by that organization on September 14 at Madison Square Garden, New York's largest meeting hall and traditional gathering place of the Council and other progressive organizations, demonstrated the necessity for an all-out fight against the Wood, Mundt, and other "police state" legislative proposals in Congress. Such measures, he said, would be used as an excuse as the Garden management has done in the present instance for "tearing up the American Bill of Rights and, specifically, the right of free assembly and free speech."

"I want to be free to attack Rankin of Mississippi, Lanham of Georgia and other such people in our government who do not represent me or the Negro people or the American people in general," he said.

Some legislators are in a tizzy because a doctor in Milwaukee has allegedly been making $1,125 a day by x-raying draftees. What do they want, "socialized" medicine?

Dress and fur designing is not an "unusual and unique skill," such as to warrant its possessor exemption from our immigration laws, President Truman told Congress in a message vetoing a private bill which would have granted that exemption to a Spanish dress designer. You just take an old potato sack, wrap it around you, and there you are.

Psychological tests given 64 union shop stewards and 256 foremen in 50 companies proves union shop stewards are smarter than foremen.

The Senate interior committee has approved a bill looking toward the end of American supervision over the Indian. We are now well able to take care of any bow and arrow attack that may be launched.

Officers' commissions used to be printed on 45 different sizes of paper or parchment, generals and admirals getting the biggest and second lieutenants and ensigns getting the smallest. Now everybody gets the smallest, which proves that a second lieutenant is just as good as a general.

A powerful bloc of Taft Republicans in the House of Representatives voted against citing Dr. Edward A. Rumely for contempt of Congress because he refused to tell the House Un-American Committee where he gets the $2,000,000 bucks each year for reactionary propaganda.

When some liberal actors and writers of Hollywood refused to answer of what political faith they were, they were sent to jail. Money talks. Or doesn't talk. As it chooses.

A Guide to the Soviet

By WILLIAM MANDELL

GUIDE TO THE SOVIET UNION

The Beginning of the Stalin Era

When the burden of Soviet leadership descended on Stalin's shoulders as a result of Lenin's fatal illness, the general economic crisis in the country was just beginning to be overcome. The Soviet currency had been undermined. There were still a million unemployed. The high price level set by NEPmen was retarding trade and causing the ruble to fall still further in value. In 1923 the scissors between the low fixed prices of farm produce and the high prices of manufactures caused a piling up of unsold goods and a shortage of cash with which to meet wage payments, and some strikes resulted.

The most important measure taken to meet the situation was a revaluation of the currency, stabilizing the ruble. Other measures included a reduction in the prices for consumers' goods and an extension of cooperatives even among the peasantry.

In the fiscal year of 1924-1925, industrial output increased by 60 per cent, and employment by 27 per cent, with a corresponding improvement in living conditions. The government was able to spend 290,000,000 rubles on tools for the poorest section of the peasantry. In 1925, 91 per cent of all wholesale trade was conducted through government and cooperative channels, the government having established a People's Commissariat of Internal Trade. Still more important, from the Soviet point of view, was the ability of cooperatives and the government to handle 58 per cent of all retail trade, despite the fact that the 20,000,000 peasant families were, or could be, engaged in some form of private trading. During the same year, 81 per cent of all industrial output came from government and cooperatively owned industry, and new factories were government operated. Industry was coming for the first time to the Caucasus and Central Asia, by moving some textile mills from European Russia to their supply of raw material—cotton and wool. This cut the price of textiles in these areas, and raised the living standard.

Industry was overwhelmingly socialist in its ownership, but it accounted for only one-third of the output of the national economy, and engaged an even smaller proportion of the population. The country was still mainly agricultural, whereas communism required an industrial development capable of bringing an economy of abundance. The problem was made more difficult by the fact that the hope of being aided by revolution in more advanced industrial countries had to be given up. The revolution in Germany was crushed. Thus the Soviet Union had no recourse but to rely on itself. Moreover, industrialization was not only necessary for the realization of communism, it was essential for the preservation of the Soviet state.

Peace Rally

This is a national call for peace to all women! Especially to Negro women who have been persecuted most, and have suffered most in all wars of our country!

Let us meet on certain days, as in days of prayer, to pray for peace! Make the strong resolve that we shall not have war! Pray, talk, think peace! Speak to your neighbors, your friends! Assemble ourselves together with the express purpose of fighting for peace! And we shall have peace!

THE EAGLE'S NEST

TO ENCOURAGE YOUNG WRITERS

Dedicated to JOHN KINLOCH who gave his life fighting for democracy.

WE BELIEVE THAT NOW MORE THAN EVER ALL YOUNG WRITERS MUST BE ENCOURAGED—AND HELP BUILD OUR PEOPLE'S CULTURE. TO ENCOURAGE THEM, WE WILL DEVOTE A FULL PAGE IN EACH ISSUE OF THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE FOR PUBLISHING THEIR WORKS.

COME YE WRITERS! SEND US YOUR ESSAYS, ARTICLES, POEMS, STORIES, SKETCHES—WHATEVER YOU FEEL YOU MUST SAY. KEEP THEM UNDER 1000 WORDS. SEND THEM TO THE EAGLE'S NEST, c/o CALIFORNIA EAGLE, 1055 EAST 41ST STREET, LOS ANGELES.

KINLOCH'S LETTERS

A guy in the armed forces has his say in another part of this page of The Eagle.

Before his copy was sent to the printers there was some re-arranging of commas and periods and capital letters. Nothing else.

I'll bet he never saw the inside of a college. Maybe not a high school. I don't know.

But that guy knows what he's saying. He's saying what a whole generation just like him wants said.

Do you feel the clean breath of freedom that flows through his 19 points?

All he's said has been stewed over every Fourth of July since 1776.

What makes his different? What makes it fit to hang around in the company of people like Jefferson and Lincoln and old Tom Paine?

First, that guy means every word.

He didn't get to those conclusions after a fast tour in third-grade civics. He didn't figure what graceful sentences he was cookin' or how he could roll the "r" in democracy and get a prize in elocution.

These things are the essence of what that soldier believes in and what he it prepared to die for and to kill for.

First, these are convictions.

Second, they are convictions which the owner will ACT UPON. They aren't beautiful, misty, unattainable goals. There's not a sigh in a bushel of soldiers like our friend. This freedom he intends to share here and now, and in nobody's never-never land.

I can imagine the earth-bound ghosts of Tom Paine and Jefferson peeking over the soldier's shoulder as he wrote. I can picture Lincoln musing in a corner of the same room, and I don't think Jesus would have felt out of place, either. Or Garibaldi . . . or Fred Douglass . . . or a man named Lenin.

Our soldier moves in a select crowd.

These are some of the men who have spoken the will of common people throughout the centuries. These are the great fighters. These are the martyrs on whose lives are built the tortuous structure of the dignity of mankind.

The soldier is one of the people for whom they lived and constructed a foundation for freedom.

He will not betray their great tradition.

And it's a responsibility for us to measure up to the soldier.

Those of us who crawl into hard shells of defeatism and bleat about our hopeless plight in a white man's world . . .

Those of us who won't join the NAACP, or the Victory Committee, and think that petitions, meetings, protests, mass marches are so much wasted time . . .

Those of us who stooge for the Jim Crow union boss . . .

How the hell could we face that soldier?

How could we?

The following statement by a Negro soldier published in The California Eagle, July 8, 1943, is the statement which John S. Kinloch commented upon in his column of the same date, and given elsewhere today in "The Nest."

Both are as starkly true today as they were seven years ago, in World War II.

WHY DO I FIGHT?
Questions and Answers

(1) Why did the provost marshall stop the sale of colored papers at . . .?

(2) What is wrong with the Pittsburgh Courier?

(3) Why can't it be sold on this post?

(4) Why can't soldiers who recently came here train with rifles?

(5) These men who have been in a combat zone for a year. Most of them having two years' service in the U. S. ARMY, one year foreign service, and was never without a rifle until they came here.

(6) Are these colored soldiers considered as a part of America's Army?

(7) I don't think the United States practices what it preaches, because the state of ——— has its own law where the colored man is concerned, even for colored soldiers. All soldiers are fighting for the same cause, are they not?

(8) I want freedom of speech. and all that goes with it. I want equality which consists of the right to vote, full manhood, full suffrage, laws enforced against rich as well as poor, against capitalist as well as laborer, against white as well as black, the right to walk, talk and be with them that wish to be with me. No man has a right to choose another man's friends and to attempt doing so is an impudent interference with the most fundamental human privilege.

(9) I want Congress to take charge of Congressional elections. I want the Fourteenth Amendment carried out to the letter and every State disfranchised in Congress which attempts to disfranchise its rightful voters.

(10) I want the Fifteenth Amendment enforced and no State allowed to base its franchise simply on color.

(11) I want my children educated. The school system in the country districts of the South is a disgrace and in few towns and cities are the Negro schools what they ought to be.

(12) I want the national government to step in and wipe out illiteracy in the South. Either the United States will destroy ignorance, or ignorance will destroy the United tSates. I want to know if a nation so great will continue to tolerate the laws of one state?

(13) What is the meaning of the word Democracy?

(14) What is the meaning of Freedom?

(15) What is the meaning of Equality?

(16) What are we Negroes fighting for?

(17) The double victory program is something great, for that's what is will take for the Negro.

(18) If the colored soldier doesn't have equality while fighting for his country, what can he expect after the war is over?

(19) We fight for the same freedom that is wanted by all men and we will fight for it against all enemies, at home and abroad, with courage and faith until we are killed in the struggle or are free men.

Mexican Consul General Likes Owens Article

That Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor of The California Eagle, is doing a good work in dedicating a page each week to the memory of her nephew, killed in the last war, John Kinloch, is evidenced by a letter received under date of August 29 by Rev. John H. Owens from the Consul-General of Mexico in Los Angeles, the Hon. Salvador Duhart M.

This page is devoted to the promotion of the writings of persons who are not professional journalists and writers and who may only write occasionally. The letter from the consul-general speaks highly of an article by Rev. John H. Owens entitled: "Why the Success of the United Nations Is Predicated Upon Good Neighbor Relations Between Mexico and the United States."

States the consul-general in his letter to Rev. Owens (who has an international reputation as a poet and writer on articles of social criticism):

"I have carefully read the article which appeared in the California Eagle and I fully appreciate the sentiments of justice and sound judgment therein expressed. Again thanking you for the vocalization of views which are inspired in a true perspective of historical interpretation, I am, yours very truly, Salvalor Duhart M., Consul-General of Mexico.

Group Plans Pre-View for New Offices

The special committee of the Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association on the preview of its new accommodations held a meeting last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Alena Dent, 1308 West 35th Street. A delicious luncheon was served by Mrs. Dent.

Mrs. M. Earl Grant, chairman of the committee, called the meeting to discuss in detail some of the arrangements to be made for the public preview of the Association's newly remodeled offices. The remodeling is being done according to plans and specifications drawn up by Paul R. Williams ,the world-famed architest and also a vice presiden of the Broadway Federal Savings. The date of the preview will be announced later.

Those attending the meeting were: Mrs. M. Earl Grant, Mrs. Paul R. Williams, Mrs. Warner Wright, Mrs. Albert Maddox, Mrs. Irene Bradford, Mrs. J. P. Taylor, Mrs. Zella M. Taylor, Mrs. Thomas L. Griffith, Jr.

ROYAL HONORS were given Edwin McLemore, 26 year old mail carrier recently when he was elected "KING FOR A DAY" on the MBS show originating in Hollywood. Jack Bailey, effervescent MC of the show, is sohwn placing the crown on McLemore's head. The bouquet of roses is part of the royal regalia.

Old Mexico Is Setting for Romantic Spanish Dance

The big night is Thursday, September 21, ten 'til two, when the Greeks, their company, and friends at large will slip away south of the border for an evening of dancing and fun in the romantic Spanish setting of El Sombrero Cafe, located at Broadway and 18th in downtown Los Angeles.

Everyone is talking about the affair and if you were in on the fun at the Greek Reunion you would know that a grand time is in store for you. Neophytes of 1950 (new Greeks) will be introduced as honored guests. Celebrities will star in the floor show and real rhumba kings and queens will lead the conga lines. You will want to be there in your lovely informal attire to join the fun that will reign.

Bids are limited, so get yours early. Bids are also being extended to many of the popular social clubs about town. Greeks contact your Pan Hellenic Council Representative or your American Council on Human Rights Representative. Socialites contact Miss Cleopatra Johnson, dance chairman, at AD. 16094.

Red and White Formal Dance Presented by The Scrollers

The El Sombrero Club was a scene of splendor and elegance on Thursday, August 31, when the Scrollers of Kappa Frat took over to entertain their many friends at their Third Annual Red and White Formal Dance. The collegiate set was very much in evidence with the turnout of many of the big-brothers in evidence. With a full dance orchestra in the upstairs ballroom, and the combo of Py Taylor featured on the lower floor, there was plenty of dancing space.

The Scroller group was presented promptly at 12:30 with Orville Diggs as master of ceremonies. After this introduction the Scroller sweetheart was crowned and her attendants named. Mis Eva Williams was selected as "Queen for a Night" with such lovely ladies as Connie McAllister, Pat Ross, Jane Miller ,and Beverly Johnson as attendants.

Under the leadership of Bob Moore, social chairman of the Scrollers, the fellows may chalk up another real success to their credit in the realm of social activities.

Many before and after parties were evident. The before-party, closed to Scrollers and company, is well worth mention. The home of George GoPaul was opened for this affair. Out-of-towners in the group were Shirley Graham, Edith Bell, of New Orleans, Jean King of Santa Monica, and Beverly Miller of Colorado.

For the year to come, the public will surely anticipate another Red and White, if for no more than to hear the fellows sing their favorite Sweetheart Song or their ever-loving "Satisfied," with chorus after chorus of clever lyrics. . . . So, til next year . . .

Comradettes Breakafts at Fern Dell

The Comradettes met last Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Frances Drye. Everyone was still happy about the wonderful breakfast enjoyed the Sunday before in beautiful Fern Dell with husbands, children and friends. At this time plans were made through December to include a new idea in socials dedicated to charities.

Miss Drye served a lovely repast after which the president, Betsy Greene, announced the next meeting to be held at Dorothy Efferson's, 1789 W. 37th St.

"Oh, it's a long, long while
From May to December
But the days grow short
When you reach September."

Yes, the month of September is upon us with its leaves of brown. A real month for planning Autumn and Winter wardrobes. Fashion teas, and indoor socials are soon to take the day. . . .

"When the Autumn weather
Turns the leaves to flame
One hasn't got time
For the waiting game."

Yes, the weather-vane turns its direction toward the season of Autumn winds, and crispy, coolness; and this being California, let's not leave out the coming rains. . . .

"Oh, the days dwindle down
To a precious few
September, November."

But don't overlook the fact that old Indian summer is at hand, which probably accounts for the hot, humid afternoons of late. Nevertheless "Fall" in its full rite will be here before you know it.

"And these few precious days,
I'll spend with you
These precious days
I'll spend with you."

"September Song" from show, "Knickerbocker Holiday." . . .

The Holiday in Retrospect

WITH SUCH A LONG AND EXCITING week-end passing in review, the activities of Angelenos were as expected, many and varied. While some chose highways toward mountain areas such as Lake Arrowhead, Elsinore, and Val Verde, others selected the beaches and city parks and playgrounds. And then there remained a few who stuck close to the city.

BREAKING THE TRADITION of mentioning the ultra-ultra highlights of the holiday, let's take a quick glance at those who spent a day of quietude. Edna and Gene Carroll found the home movies on TV, as did many other families, perfect entertainment for a holiday of relaxation. . . . Petey Bradford, Margaret and Owen Knox, Jerri and Alfred Curtis, Marilyn McNeil and Bob Douglas, Marion and LaVert Patterson, found the comforts of home excellent facilities for spending a quiet holiday. Dorothy Duvall enjoyed the hospitality of friends in glamorous Hollywood a stheir week-end houseguest.

A LITTLE MORE ON THE ACTIVE SIDE: George GoPaul and Ulysses Carter were Labor Day tennis partners, and played an exciting six-game set at the popular Griffith Park Courts. Others seen enjoying the sport, both as spectators and participants, were Louis White, Billy Benfield, Richard Wycoff, and Clifford Westfield. . . . Joan Pierson and family found the spacious Griffith Park grounds ideal for Labor Day picnicing. . . . Louise Parker spent most of the holiday bidding adieu to her many Los Angeles friends. She departed for D. C., and Howard University, on Sept. 5. . . . A sad holiday note was to hear of the recent relapse of Dr. Bert Boswell who is back in the hospital for treatment. His son and daughter-in-law, Everett and Clara, gave excelelnt assitsance and encouragement to Mrs. Boswell by remaining close at hand. . . . Dr. John F. Evans spent the early part of the week-end enjoying out-door attractions of Lake Arrowhead.

A MAJOR ATTRACTION for the collegiate set, on Labor Day night, was the benefit dancing party given for Leon Thompson. Sponsored by the UCLA undergrad chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, the proceeds are to be given as hospitalization aid for the fatally ill ex-Scroller who was suddenly stricken in July of this year. Such a worthwhile gesture on the part of the frat undergrads really deserves a word of praise. . . . Seen enjoying the festivities were Frank Raspbury, Artis Rhodes, James Braggs, Shirley Williams, Herman Reed, Pauline James, George Murray, Mr. and Mrs. Milford James, Whitney Arceneaux, Frances Tabor, Floyd Wilson, and hosts of others, enough to give the Alpha Bowling Club that "real crowded look."

Week-End Highlights

KAPPA SCROLLERS SCORE—The third Annual Red and White Formal given by the Scrollers of Kappa Frat on Thursday, Aug. 31, was really superb in beauty and entertainment. The requested attire, being red and or white for ladies, and strictly formal for gentlemen, combined to make a scene of real color and elegance. Scrollers were very handsome in their summer formals, as were the majority of other male guests. The women almost "stole the show" in various dress creations to make the average bystander take particular notice; Joyce Robison was very charming in an all white creation, ankle-length, strapless, with a very wide net skirt. Joyce Overr chose an all-red enkleneigth of net and taffeta; Zelida LeBlanc was lovely in an all-white gown featuring a hooped skirt; Jewell Carter wore a fuschia-red strapless with a satin waist and a full length net skirt; Ruby McClentock's red strapless, full-length was very attractive; Petey Bradford made a petite picture in al all-white strapless marquesette trimmed with sequined flower patterns, and a bustle skirt.

A PRE-LABOR DAY PARTY was the attraction of Sunday, September 3, as popular Mary Watson entertained with a dinner party at her swank West Adams apartment. The occasion was honoring the hostess' cousin, a visitor to our city. Reports have it that this was an affair well worth remembering. On the guest list were Jessel and Leslie King, Clarance Watson, Henry Johnson, Minnie Holmes, Howard Morehead, Marion and LeVert Patterson, Katherine Schaffer, Clyde Grimes, Leonard and Sarah Grimes, Leroy and Jessie Mae Beavers, Sam Strain and Marion DesVigne, not to omit the fact that many others filled the apartment to overflowing before the evening came to an end.

Looking Forward

LET'S NOT FORGET the Q'Ettes (Omega wives) annual Benefit Party, Saturday, Sept. 9, from 8 until . . . This week reveals that the address is 2946 West Blvd. And in case you don't know where West Blvd. is located, it is about 4 or 5 blocks west of Crenshaw Blvd. So don't get lost. . . . Dancing and refreshments are in order, and a prize will be offered for the best "Hobo Outfit." So—wear yours! Incidentally, the high cost of living prompted the girls to place the cost for the evening at twenty-five cents (25c).

INVITATIONS are now in the mail for the 13th Annual Sport Prom of the Royal Dragons Social Club on Saturday, Sept. 16, at the Elks Auditorium. This, being an established male club around town, should be quite a gay affair, celebrating 13 years of organization. That is really a record to speak of.

RECEIVED AN ANNOUNCEMENT of the coming wedding reception of Thomas and Willa Mae (O'Connor) McLurkin on this coming Sunday. This was quite a surprise match, but a little checking revealed that the marriage took place early in August, in the bride's howe town, New Orleans. Understand that it was quite a large wedding. Thomas, of Pasadena heritage, was accompanied by good friend Alton Ballard as best man, also of Pasadena.

People and Such

AS DEADLINE DRAWS NEAR might mention that it was rather sad saying adieu to Scroller Al Moore, as he departed Friday for active duty with the Army Air Force. Suspect that the girls of Club Allegretto will miss him very much, as they lose a very excellent advisor. . . . Understand that Clifford Westfield and Everett Brandon are to depart, this coming Monday, for active service in our Nation's National Guard. . . . Gerald Stevens entertained on Sunday night past as he celebrated one more bitrhday, and, incidentally, featured Jane Miller as honored guest, in lieu of himself. . . . What three Scrollers were anxiously looking for a late downtown movie to go to 'bout 11:45 t'other Sunday night. Rather a late hour to be out for that kind of entertainment, Huh!?! . . . Received an appreciable work of entcouragement from Lorre and Lloyd White through the mail not too long ago. Thanks for the boost!! Dance Soiree by 'Men of Destiny'

The Dance Soiree or Cocktail Party, as most people call them, being given by the Men of Destiny promises to be quite a gala affair, for which the Men of Destiny are famous.

This Dance Soiree has a very definite purpose, while there is not an artist among the Men of Destiny they do appreciate good art and to show their appreciation they are giving this affair for the benefit of the Eleven Associated Artists Gallery which is a non-profit organization that believes a permanent art gallery is necessary for an artist to establish himself among the world's recognized artists.

The Associated Artists plan to establish a well equipped workshop with specialized equipment and instructions for artists and worthy art students.

The Men of Destiny intend to lend their assistance, and the public can help by coming out to the Beverly Chateau at 7819 Beverly Blvd., Sunday, Sept. 17, 1950 from 4 to 8 p.m. and have a wonderful time sipping cocktails and dancing to sweet orchestra music.

Tickets can be obtained at 1046 So. Hill St., or by calling PR. 2937 for home delivery or by asking any one of the Men of Destiny.

Eagle Music Critic Returns After Extended European Tour

Albert J. McNeil, Music Critic of the California Eagle and Head of the Music Department at George Washington Carver Junior High School and the People's Independent Church, returned to Los Angeles last Saturday morning after an extensive tour of Europe.

Mr. McNeil was the recepient of the Westminister Choral Scholarship providing for three weeks of intensive study in the problems of choral music in Montreux, Switzerland. While abroad, McNeil studied with Eugene Ormandy, Hugo Futwangler, and Dr. J. Finley Williamson.

Re-elected

Returning to the United States early in August, McNeil attended the 27th Annual Conclave of the National Association of Negro Musicians, Inc., meeting in Baltimore, Maryland, and was reelected the Association's assistandt secretary and co-editor of the Quarterly Journal for the second term.

Hugh Ross of the Manhattan College of Music and director of the Choral Deparement at the Berkhire Music Center, Pittsfield, Mass., was McNeil's instructor during the week-long refresher course at the Center.

Exposition Park Concert

The city's Mexican Tipica Orchestra will return to Exposition Park this Sunday after a three months absence, playing a free concert from 3 to 5 p. m. at the bandstand on the North Drive, between the Coliseum and County Museum.

Directed by Jose Cordoba Cantu, the traditionally-garbed, 28-piece ensemble will be hear in a great number of Mexican and Latin-American pieces, many of them arrangements of folk songs and dances, made especially for the group by conductor Cantu.

Featured soloists at the free concert will include dancers Raquelito Vazquez and Carlota Bernal, and singers Alicia Marquez and Jose Gallegos.

Among the composers represented on Sunday's program are Augustin Lara, Jose Briseno, Alcala, Gutierrez, Espinoza, Gade, Perez Prado, Codina and Villanueva. The concert is jointly sponsored by the city's Bureau of Music and Local 47 of the American Federation of Musicians. Sunday, Sept. 17, Winn Haslett will again lead a community sing program at Exposition Park under Bureau of Music auspices.

A new free diet sheet published by the Los Angeles City Health Department tells what to put into the lunch box of school children, office workers, and hard-workingmen; it can be had by writing a postcard to the health department at 116 Temple Street, Los Angeles 12, or telephoning MIchigan 5211, ext. 504.

Art Quartet Plays Mozart Next Sunday

Music by Mozart, Turina, Lucas Foss and Alan Shulman will be performed by the American Art Quartet at the Los Angeles County Museum in Exposition Prak on Sunday afternoon, September 10, at 3 o'clock.

Feature of the concert, in the current contemporary American series, will be the Quartet in G Major (1947) by Lucas Foss and Threnody (1950) by Alan Shulman. The remainder of the program will include La Oracion del Torero by Joaquin Turina and Quartet in B Flat Major, K 589 by Mozart.

Members of the American Art Quartet are: Eudice Shapiro, violin; Robert Suchel, violin; Virginia Majewski, viola; Victor Gottlieb, cello.

The weekly Sunday concerts are presented in the museum's second floor concert hall and begin promptly at 3 p.m.

Admission is free.

surance Co. salesmen at 1222 S. Van Ness. The affair honored such guests as Mr. Warren Shaw and Mr. Nolan Payton, and celebrated the progress of the division as it recently moved head and shoulders above others in insurance sales.

The outdoor birthday party given by Gerald Stevens on Sunday night past was tops in merriment and fun. Guests attending, to name a few, were JoAnn Riddle, Muriel Arnaud, Thelma Cotton, George GoPaul, Helen Cotton, Arthur Whitehead, George Murray, Orville Diggs.

On Thursday night, September 21, the Pan Hellenic Council of Los Angeles will present the second in an attempt to bring all Angeleno Greeks together. The affair, to be held annually, is to be an Interfraternity Informal Dance, uniquely entitled "A Gala Evening in Old Mexico." Proceeds of the vening will help to aid the program of the American Concil on Human Rights in their efforts to further the Civil Rights Program.

Mrs. Mary E. Byars, of Dallas, Texas, houseguest of her son, Mr. Lafayette Byars, departed for home on Tuesday, Sept. 5, via the Sunset Limited, after an enjoyable stay. To highlight a last glimpse of California sights, Mrs. Byars was taken on a sight-seeing tour of intriguing Hollywood Blvd., and the fabulous Grauman's Chinese Theatre. The party visited and dined in the colorful outdoor patio. The party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rhodes, Mrs. Opal Moore, and Mr. Charles Carmaie.

Soprano Evelyn Mock Chosen For Scholarship in Italy

Miss Evelyn J. Mock, promising young dramatic soprano vocalist, has just been notified that she has been named for a five-year scholarship by the National Academy of St. Cecelia. She plans to sail from New York on October 13 on the Italian liner Vulcania for Rome.

The singer, who is a clerk in the X-ray department in the Los Angeles County General Hospital, lives with her mother, Mrs. Minnie E. Mock, and sister Winifred Mock at 98 Valley street, in Pasadena, was notified of the scholarship by her present voice teacher, Margurette Rangnoy of Compton. Miss Rangnoy is a graduate of St. Cecelia Academy.

Miss Mock began her voice training in New York under Harlem instructor Chauncy Northern. He later introduced her to Frank La Forge, one of the world's outstanding vocal teachers. She studied under La Forge. Since coming here, she has been under the tutelage of Margurette Rangnoy, who arranged for a scholarship to the Academy of Music at St. Cecelia at Rome, Italy.

The Academy of Music of St. Cecelia is rated one of the finest vocal schools in the world. Miss Mock is believed one of the first American Negro vocalists to ever win the five-year scholarship. Lawrence Tibbett was a student under Frank La Forge and the great Gigli of Metropolitan Opera fame, current star of the La Scala Milan, is on the teaching staff of St. Cecelia.

Miss Mock is a native of Steubenville, Ohio. She owes much of her early encouragement and training to James P. Johnson, noted pianist of Boston and New York. She has a GI brother, Samuel E. Mock, who is attending Western Reserve University at Cleveland, Ohio. A sister, Minifred, has just graduated from State Teachers' College in Pasadena.

GERTRUDE GIPSON

GETTING THE NEWS FORM G. G.

Phil Moore whose name will recall so many hit tunes and wonderful arrangements (as do many other great art revolutionaries) again chalks up a feather for his "almost full" cap by joining the Snader Telescriptions Corporation serving in an executive capacity. Phil is directly responsible for the hiring or rather engaging the services of the many top artists in the entertainment field for this studio . . . we don't want to discuss this at length because three times as much space must be given Phill and we will just a little later. . . . We understand that the new Apollo Theatre in New York has definately taken on the "new look" with sparkling, glittering lights and presents to Harlemites the top and big name attractions. . . . According to "across the water reports" all the kings men and gals too, are in a dither over the appearance of Lena Horne, the American beauty and songstress now appearing at London's "Palladium" only would the large audience let up after the pit band played the national anthem. . . . Earl Bostic (he's the bandleader) you're welcome mister, has one of the most palatial home in St. Albens . . . so tis reported. . . . Eleece Boone getting raves for her wonderful hair styling. . . . Ruth Epps fashionable Millinder completing her wardrobe for the big Louis fight. . . . By this time Bobbie Chasteen is becoming used to being Mrs. Clarence Garrett, wife of Ohio's Clarence Garrett. . . . Understand that there's hardly a seat to be found at the Sunday afternoon sessions of "Jazz On Sunset" being sponsored by Roy Loggins, Jr., and Lin Hilburn. . . . "SUDDEN THAWT:" Don't think that every sad-eyed woman has loved and lost; she may have got him." . . . Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong has been set by Decca for a recording session in which he will be coupled with Louis Jordan's combo for the first time. . . . Armstrong will make another waxing of a good oldie "I'll Be Glad When You're Dead." . . . "Lost In The Stars" which is reported to have done $73,000 during the first two weeks in Frisco . . . opened here in the city on Monday night with a sellout house. . . . Billy Eckstine, the guy that really "sings pretty" for the people recently awarded the annual Negro Achievement Award from the Booker T. Washington Memorial Foundation. . . Whole town's talkin' bout the new after hour spot "The Flame" that will be ready for its opening soon. . . . Sure hated hearing about the Al Killion shooting which proved fatal . . . the fella' was a swelluva fella plus a terrific trumpeter. . . .

Wardell Robinson stands as Godfather Sunday. . . . Lena Tarrence entertains the cast of "Lost In The Stars" at her very beautiful home Sunday with close friends invited in . . . and speaking of Lena, she really caused second looks when she wears that oh, soooooooo pretty velvet purple coat. . . . Vurvacious Dottie Dandridge will be accompanied by her sis Vivian when she leaves shortly for the East. . . . Just in case you've been wondering as to the whereabouts of Fletcher Henderson, he's in New York and appearing in a weekly jazz concert at the Central Plaza along with Willie Smith and Wilbur De Paris. . . . We can't understand why the figure of Hazel Lynn wasn't included in this new "Petty" picture. . . . Abie and his new spouse from Panama take the spotlight last Sunday as old friends and cronies of Abe dropped by to leave good wishes . . . party and reception was hosted by Libby Clark . . . and speaking of the Clarks Libby's Mom makes some of the most wonderful dumplings. . . . The original Calvalretts headed by Clotilde Woodson present their Caberet and Charleston Contest this Sunday afternoon out on Beverly Blvd. . . . Clarence Davis, one of the city's best tailors. . . . Attorney Rayfield Lundy making the headlines and news for his capable and noteworthy argumentations, but just for the records "Lundy's a reeel goood lawyer too". . . . J. B. Brown back again in circulation and looking better than ever. . . . FINGERSNAP . . . If Mr. Makel (Joseph that is) is really as important as he thinks he is(and as a few people say he is) the guy must be terrific. . . . Billie Hliday, the next attraction into the Oasis. . . . Lillie Armstrong donating all of her spare time and she's really working hard too, for the NAACP. . . . Charlie Parker under the auspices of Nofman Granz plays a concert here in the city shortly. . . . Little Esther, along with Mel Walker and the band of Johnny Otis broke all records in attendance at Harlems Apollo Charm Center donating facilities for meetings to all clubs etc. . . . Handsome Billy Wiggins hanging around the house of cute Ethel Learrs (and he ain't there to talk for Joe either) . . . Elaine Graham making wonderful contact here on the coast with the various Hollywood fashion designers. . . . Pretty and shapely Dorothea Towles Fearance on her way home after a lengthy stay in Paris . . .comes that time again and we're leaving you with a new definition of "Franchise" . . . What French Gals wink with.

Big John Sings Blues

PHILADELPHIA—With a shuffling beat backing him, Big John Greer chants the opinions contained in the lyrics of his latest RCA Victor waxing of "It's Better to Be Taken For Granted," penned by Big John himself and paired with a blues number titled "Cheatin'."

Big John's own composition, "It's Better to Be Taken for Granted," is sung by the big man with the big voice himself.

The beat is bouncy. Intermngled with chiming guitar strains and a strong reed section, the beat is consistent from the beginning to the end of the tune. . .

RETURNS HOME . . . Mildred Smith, lovely actress who recently completed a top role in "No Way Out," heads back to the "Gay White Way" after successfully completing an engagement in an Italian nitery where she appeared as a vocalist.

'Lost in the Stars' Stirring Musical Drama

The Civic Light Opera Association, having presented a splendid bill all season saved the best for the last. Somewhat more serious than previous Civic fare, the current offering, "Lost in the Stars" brings a message of understanding a dnforgiveness.

Based on Alan Paton's novel about South Africa, "Cry the Beloved Country," the musical drama was expertly composed by Maxwell Anderson and the late Curt Weil, depicting conflicts between South African whites and blacks, Lost in the Stars touches on a problem that concerns all sincere believers in Democracy.

Inez Matthews, whose acting ability has improved since she was last seen at the Philharmonic, sings and plays the role of Irina with rich and touching artistry. Her voice, one of the most unusual heard by this reviewer, reacts to her superb musicianship, and displays the finest talent of the adult members of the cast.

Todd Duncan, of course, is the star and plays the role of Rev. Stephen Kumalo with impressive quietude. His voice , a rich lyric tenor, is stimulating and refreshing.

Standouts in the cast that gives a good account of itself, are ten year old Herbert Coleman who plays the part of "Alex" and whose vocal ability is best displayed ih his rendition of "The

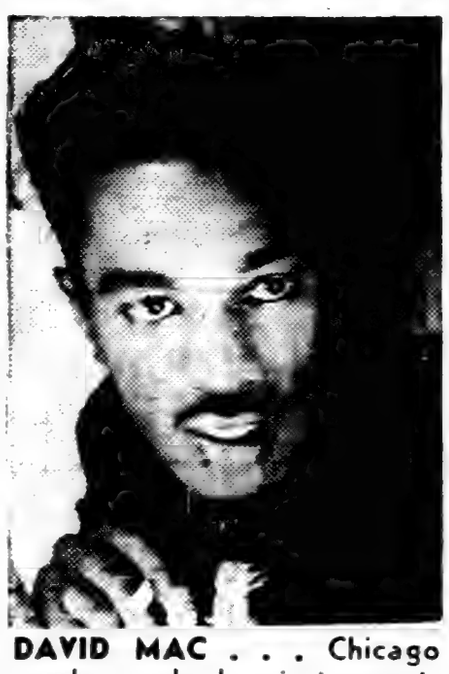
Casting For Devil's Daughter



Producer Richard Bartlett and the Universal Theatre are preparing to produce "The Devil's Daughter" a play written by David Sturges and John Colton, co-author of "Rain." The music by J. Rosmund Johnson a pioneer of spirituals.

This production will premiere at the Herbert Wall Theatre, 932 N. Western Avenue, in October.

Richard Bartlett now has running at Actors Colony Theatre, 1525 So. Robertson Blvd. "The Voice of the Turtle".

Casting is now open for the play "The Devil's Daughter," about half Negro and half white roles are needed. Casting will be done at 1525 South Robertson Blvd.

Negro artists that wish to be considered may call Mr. Richard Bartlett at CR. 59972.

DAVID MAC . . . Chicago producer who has just recently completed a Television and Radio course at the Radio Television Arts Academy is now in search of sepia talent for his first TV short subject. Persons interested may contact Mr. Mac.

RECEIVES AWARD — Billy Eckstein was recently presented the annual Negro achievement award by the Booker T. Memorial Foundation. Billy will couple with George Shearing in concert next week at the Shrine Auditorium.

Midnight Stage Show

Coming to the Lincoln Theater for one performance only, midnight Friday, September 15, is The Amazing Brandon and his "Arabian Nights Revue." The show is to be presented in the form of a horror show and ghost seance. Starred in the production is The Mummy, the Wolf Man and the Frankenstein monster. Mr. Brandon has stated that the Monsters along with one hundred ghosts, ghouls and vampires will descend upon the audience. The highlight of the show is the "Arabian Nights" scene in which Brandon's cast of beautiful girls take part against a backdrop of unusual stage properties, beautiful costumes and gorgeous electrical effects.

For this special attraction only seating capacity of the theater will be sold and the management urges everyone to purchase their tickets early in order to avoid later disappointment. Tickets are now on sale at the boxoffice of all the Central Avenue Theaters. Every ticketholder is positively guaranteed a seat. All seats, 85 cents including tax.

Charlie Parker Plays Concert At Carnegie

Charlie "The Bird" Parker, "With Strings" returns to the Birdland of Broadway, September 1st for two weeks, prior to his Jazz concert at Carnegie Hall, September 16. This will mark the 10th consecutive week at this location, with the exception of a week at the Apollo. When he first opened at the Birdland his contract called for 2 weeks, and he was held over for an additional week; then he signed for 5 weks until the Apollo date; and now he returns for the final fortnight. He opens at Chicago's Blue Note September 22.

Having just completed a highly successful engagement at the newly opened Apollo Theatre, aftter an excellent face-lifting improvement. Charlie Parker, one of America's foremost exponents of contenporary jazz is dillingently preparing the way to new laurels of stardom.

Charlie Parker, in discussing his new trend in strings said: "Any evolution of Jazz is basically the evolution of a folk idion. Restricting it to the rarified, hopeless air of purely avant-garde movement is like attempting to grow a tree on a window sil.

MAKES GOOD . . . Damita Jo, rising young vocalist, getting raves and praises for her new approach of "tonsil tickling." Damita now appearing in Las Vegas.

STAR ALSO ADVISES ON FILM

HOLLYWOOD—Dana Andrews is doubling in brass during the filming of RKO radio's "The Gaunt Woman," in which he is co-starring with Claude Rains and Carla Balenda. In addition to playing his role, he is serving as technical adviser on the sea story.

Gene Norman To Present Concert Of the Year

Devotees of both sweet and swing music will get their opportunity to see and hear two of the nation's greatest musical attractions Friday, September 15, at the Shrine Auditorium, when impresario Gene Norman presents Billy Eckstine along with George Shearing and his Quintet in concert.

Eckstine is the winner of every major musical poll for the last two years as the "Top Male Vocalist." Possessing one of the most exciting baritone voices ever heard, Eckstine's warm bibrato and engaging style thrills listeners everywhere. Although noted for his top selling ballads, his arrangement of "Laugh, Clown, Laugh" from the opera "Pagaliacci" has startled and excited many concert audiences. George Shearing, the brilliant young British blind pianist, was originally a classical musician and achieved recognition in that field before he turned to jazz. Only 29, he won London's annual jazz poll for seven straight years and since he has been in this country, he has been garnering new honors. The tasteful style of the Shearing Quintet, whether on ballad or jump numbers, is sure to please the most discriminating listener.

Mr. Blues himself, Jimmy Witherspoon will be the first Guest Star of the evening along with the tantalizing music of "Big Daddy" Crawford and his terrific band.

Arnett Cobb's Swinging Again

The long missed but well remembered tunes from the saxophone of Arnett Cobb were ringing through the nite clubs and dance halls, prior to his joining up with the sensational Univeral Attractions' package that shared the spotlight at Philadelphia's Earl Theatre, last week as the popular tenor saxman hit the comeback trail after a serious illness.

Cobb, playing with four of the five original five men with whom he skyrocketed to national fame, shared top billing with other top stars, namely; Dinah Washington, queen of the juke boxes; Eddie (Mr. Cleanhead) Vinson, and the celebrated quartet The Ravens.

It's the story of a game guy who went down fighting almost at death's door and just kept on fighting until he rase to his feeet again. And it's the story of a charming dutiful wife who stuck with the man she loves and helped him all the way.

One operation after another left him weak and as he lay there listening to the radio, he vowed that he would "stage a comeback" and that he did. Booked by Univesal Attractions Cobb worked hard to get back on top. Today he is receiving the applause of thousands who rooted for his recovery. There's nothing corny about the corn on the Cobb here.—Yates.

The program will get under way promptly at 9:00 p. m. and will be broadcast over Radio Station KWKW 1300 on your radio dial.

New Playwrights Group to Do Alice Childress Work

NEW YORK (CNS)—New Playwrights, Inc., following the presentation of "The Hammer", a new drama by Howard Fast, will present Alice Childress' most moving work, "Florence," a one-actor. Miss Childress will be remembered as a vivid part player in Anna Lucasta.

The New Playwright's Group, of which Miss Childress is a member, was born out of Herb Tank's "Longitude 49", which ran for four months in one of the Off Broadway sections of the city.

The Group belives that there is too much frustration on Broadway and that the audience of the people, who are everywhere, appreciate good plays. The agreement to use Miss Childress' work is approval of the need for more playwrights and proof that there is room for good plays.

Joe Louis Promises Rematch For Charles Should He Win

CHICAGO, Ill.—"There have been fighters who didn't quit until they were way past 30 and some of them were still going good at 40," says Joe Louis in October Ebony, "and if I win my title back from Charles, he'll be entitled to a return match if he wants it. I'll keep on fighting from there."

Louis continues in the story he wrote explaining exactly why he is fighting again, "I'm not even thinking about losing. Because frankly I think I can beat anyone around in the heavyweight division now. And if I can I'll be able to satisfy one of my biggest desires—to be the only heavyweight ever to win his title back."

The ex-champ says:

"It's not going to be easy fighting Ezzard. I've met him before and I know he's about the best heavyweight around. We fought an exhibition once out in Fort Clark, Tex., during the war and even though he was a whole lot lighter than me then, he was fast and could punch real hard. I knew then he'd go a long way as a fighter and that if the time ever came for us to put on a real fight he'd be trying hard to beat me."

And Joe adds: "Not that I'm thinking about losing. But if he beats me—well, that's something I can't even figure on."

Swimming Meet Scheduled at Exposition

The Southland's speediest mermen and mermaids are poised to assault long-standing records Saturday night and Sunday afternoon in the 1950 Southern Pacific Senior A.A.U. and Junior National Swimming and Diving Championships at the Los Angeles Swimming Stadium in Exposition Park, 3980 Menlo Avenue.

Saturday's competition will get underway at 8 p.m., with Sunday's half of the two-day swimfest slated to begin at 2:30 p.m., according to the Los Angeles City Recreation and Park Department, sponsor of the twin meets.

New Net Stars

A new crop of net stars has appeared on the Los Angeles sports scene, the City Recreation and Park Department reported this week.

They're the youngsters who fought their way through two days of rugged competition last week on the Griffith Playground courts to win city-wide titles in finals of the Rercreation and Park Department's 1950 Novice Boys' and Girls' Tennis Championships.

Predict Tough Go for Murphy In Battle With Johnny Duke

Local boxing experts are predicting that California Lightweight Champion Bob Murphy will have his hands full in doing battle with Johnny Duke, a highly-regarded young Negro boxer, in the 10-round main event at Hollywood Legion Stadium, Friday night.

AND THEY COULD BE RIGHT!

Duke, a stand-up boxing stylist who has lost.. only.. twice since.. turning.. professional.. in 1947, has found it extremely difficult to obtain ring work among the middleweights in California although he is capable of making the 160-pound limit. For that reason, he is forsaking the lighter division to campaign among the 175-pounds class, where opponents.. are.. plentiful but decidedly tougher.

Johnny is a fast-moving, sharp-punching youngster of 24 who recently took a pair of decisive wins over Milo Savage at Hollywood. Prior to that he had whipped the likes of Ray Dioses, Nap Howard and Dick Wagner. The latter became an over-night sensation in the East off his two knockout wins over Billy Fox and Artie Levine.

All-Time Great

Murphy is ranked among the all-time greats in the knockout scoring department. The San Diego youth, one of the most colorful gladiators to show in the Southland, has kayoed 41 of the 49 men to face him in the ring. In two recent thrillers at Hollywood, both against Dave Whitlock, Murphy practically practically tore the house down. He stopped Dave in the 10th round of their first match to win the California Crown, and then repeated in 11 rounds just six weeks ago.

A fine card of prelim bouts, capped by the six round semi-windup between Tony Espinosa and Gil Napier, featherweights, will complete the program.

Another good match looms in the four round special event. Oscar Reyes and Charlie Sawyer, two consistent winners, will tangle. They are welterweights.

the seaside course. Although the meeting did not come up to last year's attendance and mutuel handle and considering the people that were out of work, the track came out in the black.

Plans are being made for vast improvement for next year's meet. Jockey Johnny Longden was the star jockey of the meet, followed by Jockey W. Shoemaker with R. York in third place.

CALIENTE, Old Mexico — The largest crowd ever to visit the Caliente race course in its 21-year history was on hand last Sunday. More than 12,000 lovers of the sport of kings baked in the warm sunshine after threatening clouds of rain vanished. The large crowd made use of all the extra arranged seating and betting facilities for the gala day of 15 races which started at 11 a.m.

The feature event was won by Naishomar, who was coupled with Estaff as the G. Box entry. Made favorites by the public, the son of Naishapur-Pumpernickel II came from fourth place in the stretch to catch the flying Hi Molly and win going away by a half length. Peau de Balle was second and Hi Molly third.

The secondary event was won by the former stake mare Mince. The daughter of Hash-Supreme scored by two lengths paying in the mutuels $10.60. Paisanna, after leading, ran very wide in the stretch and finished second. She was the odds-on favorite. The daily double on the morning program resulted in a dead heat for the second half.

No Apology, winner of the first half, and Pretty Too, who deadheated with Margra's Miss in the second half, gave the lucky holders of the latter two horses a big break. Although the holders of No Apology and Pretty Too received $259.20 and No Apology to Margra's Miss $5.40. The quinela backers of Tryanpass and Love's Arrow, who finished in that order, received $19.80.

General Manager Walter Marty has arranged two big features to support the 12-race program for this Sunday. Main event, "The Pawtucket" at one mile. Secondary, "The Sacramento," six furlongs. Assistant General Manager John Alessio has many more new plans to make Caliente more beautiful than ever. A new American tote board will soon be installed.

Shaw Bears Set

The first flurry of activity in the Shaw University Bear football camp will be observed in a few days according to an announcement by Athletic Director James E. Lytle, when candidates for 1950 grid berths begin to arrive.

Coach Howard K. (Brutus) Wilson, starting his fifth year as the Bear grid kingpin, will be on hand to get the returning veterans and freshman aspirants off to a good start. The scrappy, dynamic grid mentor has an enviable record.

Quarterback Bob Kolf, University of Southern California, is back at football after a two-year layout to play basketball. Kolf played with the 1947 Trojan frosh. He is a two-year letterman guard on the basketball team.

Quarterback George Zozanic, University of Southern California, represented the state of Wyoming at the American Legion's Boys' Nation while in high school at Lander, Wyo.

USC Season Football Tickets Sell Steadily in Pre-Season

Season ticket sales are rolling along on schedule at the University of Southern California, still more than three times as active as that of any football team in the area.

John Morley's ticket department continues to sell both alumni and public season tickets until the opening game on the schedule, Friday night of Sept. 29 against Iowa in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

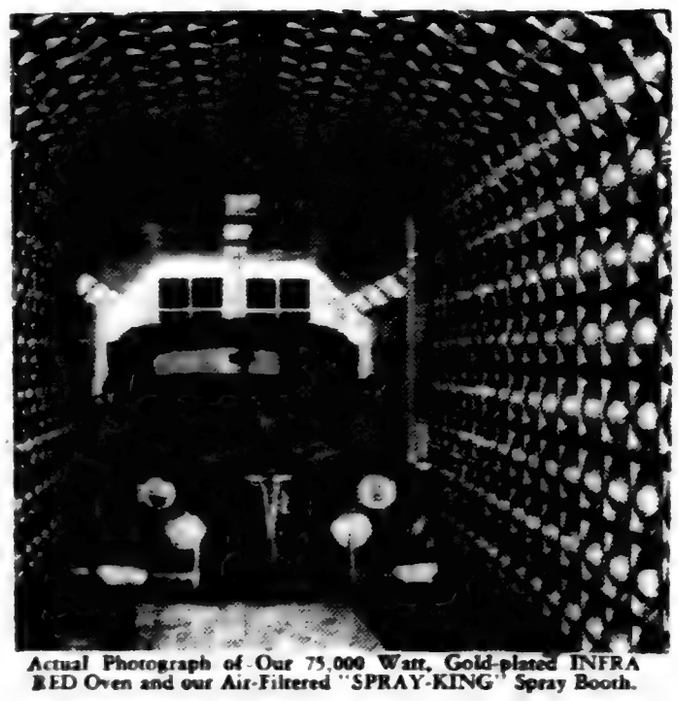
Good locations still are available for public season ticket holders, while alumi tickets have been somewhat improved by a slight decrease in the Trojan student body. Alumni season tickets sell for $17 with public season tickets prices at $19.50.

The Trojan home schedule, the strongest being encountered by a PCC team this season, includes intersectional games with Iowa and Notre Dame as well as four conference contests against Oregon, Washington, California and UCLA.

The University of Southern California can field a backfield with three quarterbacks in it in 1950, Regular QB Wilbur Robertson will be at the helm, with former quarterbacks Frank Gifford at fullback and Dean Schneider at right halfback. A fourth quarterback, George Bozanic, was formerly a left halfback.

Ed Demirjian, quarterback recruit of the University of Southern California, starred for Muir College last season, gaining all-Southern California jaysee honors. Against Glendale College, Demirjian completed five touchdown passes for a new jaysee record.

"Crazy Legs" Curtis Toronto Mainstay



TALLAHASSEE, Fla.—Ulysses "Crazy-legs" Curtis, leading scorer for Florida A and M College Rattlers in 1948 and runner-up for that honor in 1949 is proving himself a mainstay with the Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Provincial League.

Sports writer Hal Walker of the Toronto Globe-Mail recently commented—"Ulysses Curtis gave about 3000 onlookers at the Argonaut drill last night a good sample of why he was tabbed "Crazy-legs."

CORNER CHESS

BY CHARLES EDWARD GRAY
President, Cosmopolitan Chess Club

Cosmo, a public interracial club, meets Wednesdays at 7:30 p.m. at 2180 W. Adams Blvd.

WHITES MATSS IN TWO

This problem by your columnist appears in Cosmo's Sept. News Bulletin, which is distributed free at club meetings. White (6): P-K2; N-KB4; B-Q6; R-KR7; Q-KN6; K-Q2. Black (4): P-Q6; B-KB4; R-KN4; K-Q5.
t..Ad a1 ii

Last week's solution hinged on promoting all three pawns to knights: 1 P-B8(N)ch, K-K3; 2 P-Q8(N)ch, NxN; 3 PxN(N) mate.

BATTLE ON TWO FRONTS

It is a truth of life that any fight must be conducted simultaneously on two fronts—against the enemy abroad and enemies at home, against the twin dangers of policies that are too-aggressive or too-cautious, etc., whatever your concrete problem may be.

In Cosmo's up-hill struggle to establish a successful interracial club, we have always found ourselves embattled on two lasting fronts. One is the enduring effort to overcome prejudice by winning white members for our club, and free entry for Negroes into al white chess circles. In general this has not been difficult, except in rare instances such as the SCA discrimination which Cosmo is now fighting.

Our other front has been, and will continue to be, the struggle to develop Negro interest and talent in chess, to overcome apathy and lethargy within the race itself, responsible to date for the Negro's failure to win any important chess championships. Our experience has been that this is the tougher fight in chess, and the main front where our energies must be concentrated, if we are to win.

It does no good to point out that apathy and lethargy within the race are derivative, resulting from the total, appalling weight of oppression. In spite of that weight, the Negro must rise to compete against odds in chess, as he has lifted himself by his bootstraps in other fields. The stronger players Negroes become, the more white players will be drawn into Cosmo, and the more welcome will colored players be elsewhere.

Thoroughbreds

One of the Far West's most consistent stables of thoroughbreds—the six horse string owned by Mrs. H. P. Bonner of Whittier—will campaign at the upcoming Los Angeles County Fair meeting, opening in Pamona Sept. 15.

The Bonner band, trained by the veteran Lev Fanning, includes such hard-hitting runners as Dina Bam, Mr. Bam, War Bam Jr., Mrs. Bam, Bonner Reigh and Trail Me. Most of these equines are sons and daughters of the durable War Bam.

Apprentice Bob Petty, a youngster who got his start at Agua Caliente and has shown a world of promise at Del Mar, will be on deck to do the riding for the Bonner Stable.

Reinforcements for the pomona stakes colony also were assured this week with the news that Trainer Charlie Davis is planning to bring Louis Rowan's talented mare, Mrs. Rabbit, to the Fair session, and the further possibility of stablemate of Akimbo, as well.

Topflight Wrestling Program Slated for Southeast Area

Interest was mounting over prospects of witnessing a real top-flight wrestling show here in the Watts-South Los Angeles area. Women appear to be more eager than the men in the effort to spur wide community interest in the show slated the night of Thursday, September 14, in the oudoor gymnasium of St. Lawrence parish church school.

Jules Strombow, in charge of the wrestling troupe at the Olympic Auditorium, has promised to supply wrestling talent for the show, a benefit affair sponsored by the Holy Name Society, from among the best available in the city.

Baron Michele Leone, Enrique Torres, Maurice Rocco, Moto, Black Panther are a few "big names" in wrestling the program committee is seeking to head their gigantic benefit show. The card, however, will be officially announced later.

Harmony and Music Theory in Roosevelt Evening Course

Harmony and music theory is now being offered for adults at the Roosevelt Evening High School on Monday evenings.

This class is organized as a result of the many demands that have come from adults in the community who are seriously interested in the appreciation of music. This course is added to the class in concert band which has been one of the popular music courses at the evening school.

Miss Betty Robinson, alumni and Ephebian of Roosevelt High School, and graduate in music of USC, is instructor of both classes.

All adults interested in harmony or band may register any evening at the evening school office. Music theory and harmony is scheduled for Monday evenings from 7 to 9:30 and the band meets Thursday evenings from 7 to 9:30.

SHARPS & FLATS

By
ALBERT J. McNEIL
Music Critic of the California Eagle

(Columnist note: We wish to thank our girl Friday, Miss Jeanne Jackson, for making Sharps and Flats possible during our interim in Europe. Miss Jackson is to be commender for the genuine interest and enthusiasm shown.)

Koussevitzky Conducts Beethoven's Ninth

With the exciting cresendoes of the famed Ninth Symphony of Beethoven, the Hollywood Bowl season moved rapidly to ar imposing conclusion last evening (Tuesday). Serge Koussevitzky formerly of the Boston Symphony, conducted, assisted by elements of the Los Angeles Opera and Concert Chorus and a larger group known as the Greater Los Angeles Chorus trained by Hugo Strelitzer. The soloists were Marina Koshetz, soprano; Janice Moudry, contralto; David Lloyd, tenor and James Pease, bass.

The great maginficence of the music found a large and appreciative group of auditors eager for the humanitarian message presented in the work. Dr. Karl Wecker, general manager of the Bowl, announced during the intermission that Dr. Kuussevitzky is to be named musical director for next season, although we wonder how the old and venerated gentleman can stand the strain after conducting the Bershire Festival.

Having seen Dr. Koussevitzky conduct the Boston Symphony this summer at the famed Tanglewood Music Center, we were not surprised when his enthusiasm forced the orchestra into some rough and possible unlovely playing. This monument of musical art works hardships on both conductor and performers. His reading, however, had a sturdy strength that carried the message convincingly.

The chorus, numbering over 500 voices, was exceedingly well-trained and accomplished the torouous passages smoothly. Of necessity the tone was solid and brilliant.

Proceeding the Beethoven, Koussevitzky offered two Bach cantatas in commemoration of the 200th anniversary of the composer's death. The first, "Weeping, Crying, Sorrowing, Sighing," was superb with the solos of Miss Moudry, Mr. Pease and Mr. Lloyd. The second offering was the Cantata No .50, "Now Has the Hope and the Strength," sung rather tentatively by the small group of choristers.

WILL RUN SERIES

We invite our readers on a tour of Europe in a series of articles designed to present the musical highlights of the continent and to begin in this column next week. The articles will cover the musical happenings in Switzerland, Germany, Austria, Italy, France, Belgium, Holland, and England.

EIGHTH NOTES

Despite the fact that Miss Jeanne Jackson arrived too late to compete in the Scholarship Contest at the National Association of Negro Musicians, Inc., held last week in Baltimore, Maryland, she was warmly received on National Branch Night. . . . The new race-story made opera, "The Barriers," will not open at the Mansfield Theater on September 16 as originally scheduled. Muriel Rahn has the lead. . . . Los Angelenos will remember Zelma George (formerly Duke) as a minister's wife, but we have seen her as a successful Broadway actress. . . . Lester L. Orticke was appointed editor of the new Quarterly Journal to be published by the NANM commencing in November. . . . Faustina Johnson was elected to the post on the Board of Directors of the NANM made vacant by George Garner. . . . Remember the name of Adele Addison, she performed magnificently recently at the Bershire Musical Festival when Koussevitzky conducted the Bach B Minor Mass. . . . Fred L. Thomas, baritone soloist at St. Mark's Methodist Church in New oYrk, will make his Town Hall debut March 18. . . . Word reached us in Baltimore that William Valentine was on a singing tour of the mid-west. . . . Ann Hunter is well known in New York church circles. She will be remembered here for her fine contributions in the choir at the First A. M. E. Church. . . . Gladys Dent is soloist to the Covent Avenue Baptist Church, New York. . . . "Member of the Wedding," a New York show, starring Ethel Waters, is terrific!

Ballet Ballads Due Next Month At Century

"Ballet Ballads," a different kind of song-and-dance show, is scheduled to open on Thursday evening, October 5 in the Century Theatre on La Cienega.

Composed by Jerome Moross, well known for his film scores, ballets and symphonic works, and written by John Latouche, celebrated for "Ballad for Americans," this unique production was originally presented two years ago in New York City at the Maxine Elliott Theatre by A.N.T.A. as part of its season with the Experimental Theatre and then was moved up to Broadway, following sensational success, for a regular run at the Music Box Theatre.

Hailed by New York critics as wonderful theatre as well as first-rate ballet, it tells some familiar stories in unfamiliar ways. The story of Susana and the Elders, which comes from the Bible's Apocrypha, the story of Davy Crockett's boastings, which comes from American folklore, and the story of Willie the Weeper, which comes from folk blues, are sung and danced simultaneously.

PROFESSOR J. EARLE HINES and his Goodwill Singers will be featured in concert at Embassy Auditorium on Sunday, Septmeber 10. Proceeds of the event go to the Scholarship Fund of the Hines Studio of Music.

Professor Hines Presented In Music Festival at Embassy

Nationally known Professor J. Earle Hines choral director at Grace Memorial Church, will be presented in a Musical Festival at Embassy Auditorium in downtown Los Angeles on Sunday, September 10.

The noteworthy event, sponsored by the scholarship committee of the Hines School of Music, marks Hines' 27th anniversary in the field of religious music.

The Simons and Akers Singers, Victory Trio and a portion of the thousand voice chorus which performed under Hines' direction at the Shrine Auditorium during the sessions of the 1949 National Baptist convention will be featured at the Embassy.

The Festival will have two performances, one at 2:30 p. m. and the other at 8:30 p. m.

A television set will be donated and proceeds of the concert go to swell the scholarship fund of the Hines School of Music.

He won the prize for his large full-length portrait of a Mexican girl entitled "In the Patio." The painting is done in a realistic manner with rich coloring. Johnson, a native of Lawton, Oklahoma, and ex-G.I. served in the Pacific Theatre Juring World War II.

Orchard Gables Inaugurates Monday Chamber Music Series

Monday, September 11th the members of Orchard Gables Reperatory Theater will inougurate "Monday Nights at the Gables" —a series of Chamber Music concerts at their theater on the corner of Fountin and Wilcox in Hollywood.

They are looking for young chamber groups who wish to be heard publically. They also want to present new compositions by young composers.

On the first program Monday, Sept. 11th at 8:30 will be the Centennial Quartet, a group made up of members of the San Diego Symphony. A new string quartet by John Glazier will be premiered. Mr. Glasier, whose works have been heard in Town Hall in New York, received his masters degree at USC.

There will be no admission fee but reservations must be made in advance by phoning the theater, HU. 24822. Any young artist who would like to appear or any composer who would like to have his work performed may contact Don Wallace at HU. 24822.

New Church at Watts

The beautiful chapel of the South Los Angeles mortuary at 1754 East 102nd Street in Watts is being used as the temporary headquarters and meeting place for the newly organized United Christian Workers Prayer and Bible Band, whose meeting are being well attended on Wednesday and Friday nights of each week from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock. According to Rev. C. F. Kyle, who is giving leadership to this new movement of Christian work, "Interest is high and the need is great for more understanding among Christians of avrious faiths."

A fundamental Bible school to be known as the Kyle Bible Institute is being planned in connection with this work. It will provide a correspondence course for Christians unable to attend the classes in person. Plans are also under way for establishing a new independent, non-denominational church body to be given the official name . . . "United Christian Church." General headquarters will be set up in the city of Los Angeles. rite to the United Christian Church, P. O. 96, Los Angeles 53, Calif., for further information

Eastern Methodists To Meet

BALTIMORE, Md.—Leaders of the Baltimore Area of the Methodist Church will gather at the Eastern Methodist Church, in Baltimore September 12-14 in their annual area council. Bishop Alexander reston Shaw, resident bishop of the area, is scheduled to preside over the sessions. Bishop Shaw presided at the conference of California and Arizona recently, the first Negro who presided over a so-called "white" conference.

The council will bring together ministerial and lay delegates from the four Annual Conferences of the area—the Delaware, East Tennessee, North Carolina, and ashington Conferences.

The greatest truths are the simplest: and so are the greatest men.—J. C. and A. W. Hare.

The art of art, the glory of expression and the sunshine of the light of letters, is simplicity.—Walt Whitman.

In character, in manner, in style, in all things, the supreme excellence is simplicity.—Longfellow.

Men's Day at the Triangular Church

Sunday, September 10th, Men's Day will be observed at the Triangular Church of Truth, 52nd & Wadsworth Streets, Rev. Pearl C. Wood, minister.

The speaker for the morning worship services, eleven o'clock, will be the Rev. M. George Garner, world traveller and well known minister of Los Angeles. This peerless speaker is expected to deliver a most appropriate message at the eleven o'clock services next Sunday morning.

The afternoon activities include the carpenter Acapella Singers in a special musical program commencing at three-thirty o'clock. This all male chorus will present a program that you'll thoroughly enjoy.

Sunday evening, September 17th, the regular Third Sunday Night Musical Program, featuring prominent gospel singers of Los Angeles, will be presented by the combined Gospel Choir and Senior Choir, Prof. B. B. Thornton, director. Doors are open at seven-thirty and you are urged to come early for a good seat Sunday night, September 17th.

Mrs. Constance Harper Tyler, well known organist of the city, will be presented in Organ Recital, four o'clock, Sunday afternoon, September 24th. This program is under the auspices of the Trustee Board and Senior Usher Board and an afternoon of beautiful organ music is in store for those who come out Sunday afternoon, Sept. 24th.

Family Night, Capernaum

Mrs. Marjorie Carter and her students from her studio of Musical Arts will lead the community in an enjoyable program known as "Family Night" to be held Thursday night, September 14, at 8 o'clock, at the Capernaum Community Church, 82nd street and Central avenue.

There will be plenty of good singing and wholesome games, and the audience will join the entertainers in several songs. Mrs. Carter and her group will be considered the guests of the entire community, therefore the public is cordially invited to come to "Family Night" to to take part.

A special invitation is extended to all ministers and churches to join Rev. Onnie B. Russell, pastor, as hosts to this group of musicians. Young people and adults with talent will be given an opportunity to display their ability.

Baha'i World Faith

"The Promised Day Is Come" is the subject on which Mr. Charles Wolcott will address the public meeting of Baha'i World Faith to be held at Los Angeles headquarters, 331 South New Hampshire Avenue, on Sunday afternoon, September 10, at 3:30 o'clock.

Bah'u'llah (The Glory of God) is the Manifestation of God for out time.

Baho'u'llah is the Promised One of all the religious books, who would appear at this time, and fulfills the phophecies in the Old and New Testaments, as well as all of the other great religious prophecies.

BOOKS & AUTHORS

KOREA TODAY, by George M. McCune.

Highly recommended as basic background reading for an understanding of today's headlines is this well rounded study of the Korean scene. The book combines an authoritative analysis of the economic, agricultural, and political problems of both Northern and Southern Korea, with facts and figures that cast a new light on the military and morale potential of each area. Here is an indispensable guide to the Korean tragedy and its implications for the deepening world crisis.

BE YOUR REAL SELF, by David H. Fink.

Dr. Fink, whose Release from Nervous Tension brought help to many readers, now offers a practical guide to the achievement of men tal and emotional balance. He discusses the principal factors in maladjustment, namely, biological tension and environmental conflict, and offers realistic, down-to-earth suggestions for dealing with them. At a time when the pressure of everyday life seems to be increasingly severe, his book should be a welcome contribution to commonsense mental health therapy.

ROOSEVELT IN RETROSPECT, by John Gunther.

The famous author of the "inside" books offers a life-sized portrait of F.D.R. as done by a master reporter. It is bound to capture the interest of everyone who holds an opinion, favorable or otherwise, of the president who bids fair to become the most written about chief executive since Lincoln. Gunther has collected intimate details of Roosevelt's life and personality from the memories of the men and women who knew him, and the result is an honest and revealing closeup of the man, his family, and his precedent-shattering career. Here, instead of the myth, is Franklin Roosevelt himself, with all his complexities and charm, his warmth and his human frailties.

LITTLE WORLD OF DON CAMILLO, by Giovanni Guareschi.

The world wide conflict between Communism and the Catholic Church is here reduced to the form of a folk tale in the setting of a tiny Italian village. Don Camillo is an exceedingly unorthodox priest, and certainly you will have encountered no one like him in either life or fiction. But he is a delightful soul and it is easy to understand why he is overwhelmingly popular with Italian readers. His enemy, the Communist mayor of the village, is equally unorthodox and their doughty battles will kep you chuckling. The book is recommended to all lovers of folk humor.

FAMILY LIVING, by Evelyn Duvall.

A dynamic and interesting book for young people, designed to help them prepare for marriage, family life and homemaking. The major emphasis throughout is growth towards maturity. Advice is given for self-understanding, effective action in typical home and family situations, and working out a code of values by which to live.

BRIMSTONE IN THE GARDEN, by Elizabeth Cadell.

If you have been looking for a good light novel and have no objection to the made-in-England variety, here is one that might have been written to your order. A fat but sensible matchmaker puts several romances to rights and incidentally routs a ghost. Adding to the general mixup are two devils and a small boy with a penchant for fighting. All this takes place in a very British setting.

Urban League Week In USA; Nat'l Conf.

Nineteen cities and thirteen states designated September 3-8 "Urban League Week," Lester B. Granger, executive director of the National Urban League announced htsi week. These states and cities observed the week during the time o fthe League's 40th Anniversary Annual Conference, held in Grand Rapids, Michigan. It was a period of rededication to the principles which this oldest and largest interracial social service agency has promoted—equal opportunity for all, and devotion to the democratic ideal. Some 500 League staff, delegates, and Board members from 30 states and 58 cities convened in Grand Rapids this week.

Grand Rapids Mayor Paul G. Goebel in his proclamation said, "America's wisest leadership is needed today to eliminate the possibility of racial conflicts and to assure adherence to the ideals laid down by our forefathers . . . the National Urban League is now rendering such services in this direction in 58 cities of the nation."

Two Friends Award

Thursday evening President Garrison presented service awards to Urban League personnel, and presented the annual "Two Friends Award" for cooperative contribution by a Negro and white American to the furtherance of Democracy. The 1950 Award went to Dwight R. G. Palmer, president, General Cable Corporation, and John H. Sengstacke, editor and publisher, Chicago Defender. Both men were members of the President's Committee on Equality of Treatment and Opportunity in the Armed Services, which accomplished much in the integration of Negroes in, and elimination of discriminatory practices in the nation's armed forces.

Friday afternoon, September 8, the closing conference meeting will be held.

Lloyd K. Garrison, president of the National Union League, and great grandson of the famous Abolitionist, presided at the meetngs.

Atty. Lundy, Delegate To School Ass'n. Convention

WILLOWBROOK, Sept. 6.—Attorney Rayfield Lundy, member of the Willowbrook School board of trustees has been invited by Dr. C. C. Carpenter, assistant superintendent of Los Angeles County Schools to attend the California School Trustees Association Convention in San Diego, October 1, 2, 3, and 4. Headquarters of the conventionwill be ta the U. S. Grant Hotel with general sessions being held at Balboa Park.

According to Mr. J. Paul Elliot, president of the Association, the 20th anniversary of this State Association promises a "challenging program . . . many interesting new friendships and unusual entertainment." An excellent program is being prepared by Mrs. I. E. Porter, executive secretary of the Association.

Attorney Lundy is one of two Negro school board members in California. He will represent the Willowbrook School Board as a delegate with all expenses paid.

Membership Drive At Emmanuel Baptist

A membership campaign is now in full bloom at the Emmanuel Baptist Church, 3633 S. San Pedro street. Ho, everyone that thirstest come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money, come ye, by, and eat, yea, come, buy wine and milk without money without price, Isiah 55:1.

At the Emmanuel Baptist Church you can feel relaxed and also put to use the spiritual gift that God has given you. Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. Morning worship at 11:45, you are out at 1 p.m. Evening service 7:45. All services are under the auspices of the pastor, Rev. A. H. Gaskins, Rev. B. T. Hardy, assistant.

'Substance' Christian Science Lesson Theme

"Substance" will be the Sunday Bible Lesson subject in a branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scien t, in Boston. The Golden Text from Malachi reads, "Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the Lord of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it."

According to a Bible story from The Acts, "there sat in a window a certain young man named Eutychus, being fallen into a deep sleep: and as Paul was long preaching, he sunk down with sleep, and fell down from the third loft, and was taken up dead. And Paul went down, and fell on him, and embracing him said, Trouble not yourselves; for his life is in him. . . . And they brought the young man alive, and were not a little comforted."

Mary Baker Eddy asks in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures:" "Are material means the only refuge from fatal chances? Is there no divine permission to conquer discord of every kind with harmony, with Truth and Love?" Again she states, "Under divine Providence there can be no accidents, since there is no room for imperfection in perfection."

When the heart speaks, however simple the words, its language is always acceptable to those who have hearts. — Mary Baker Eddy.

Seminary Opens Mon.

The Providence Baptist Theological Seminary begins its first semester Monday, September 11, at the Pilgrim Baptist Church.

The evening classes will be held at the Southern Baptist Church, 23rd and Stanford streets.

Registration is now open. Call PA. 3435.

Conference at Pepperdine

A call to a conference for lay participation in the mid-century White House conference on children and youth has been issued by the Committee for Participation to be held in Pepperdine College, 1121 West 79th street, Los Angeles, on Saturday, September 16, from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Representatives of organizations and all interested persons are invited to attend, either as delegates or as observers. Subjects to be discussed include: Health, Housing, Crisis in Education, Discrimination against Minorities, and Youth in Crisis—Unemployment, Recreation, Peace.

Four previous conferences on children and youth have been held under the auspices of the White House—one in each decade—since 1909. This year's conference, to be held in December, is to "consider how we can develop in children the mental, emotional and spiritual qualities essential to individual happiness and to responsible citizenship, and what physical, economic, and social conditions are deemed necessary to this development."

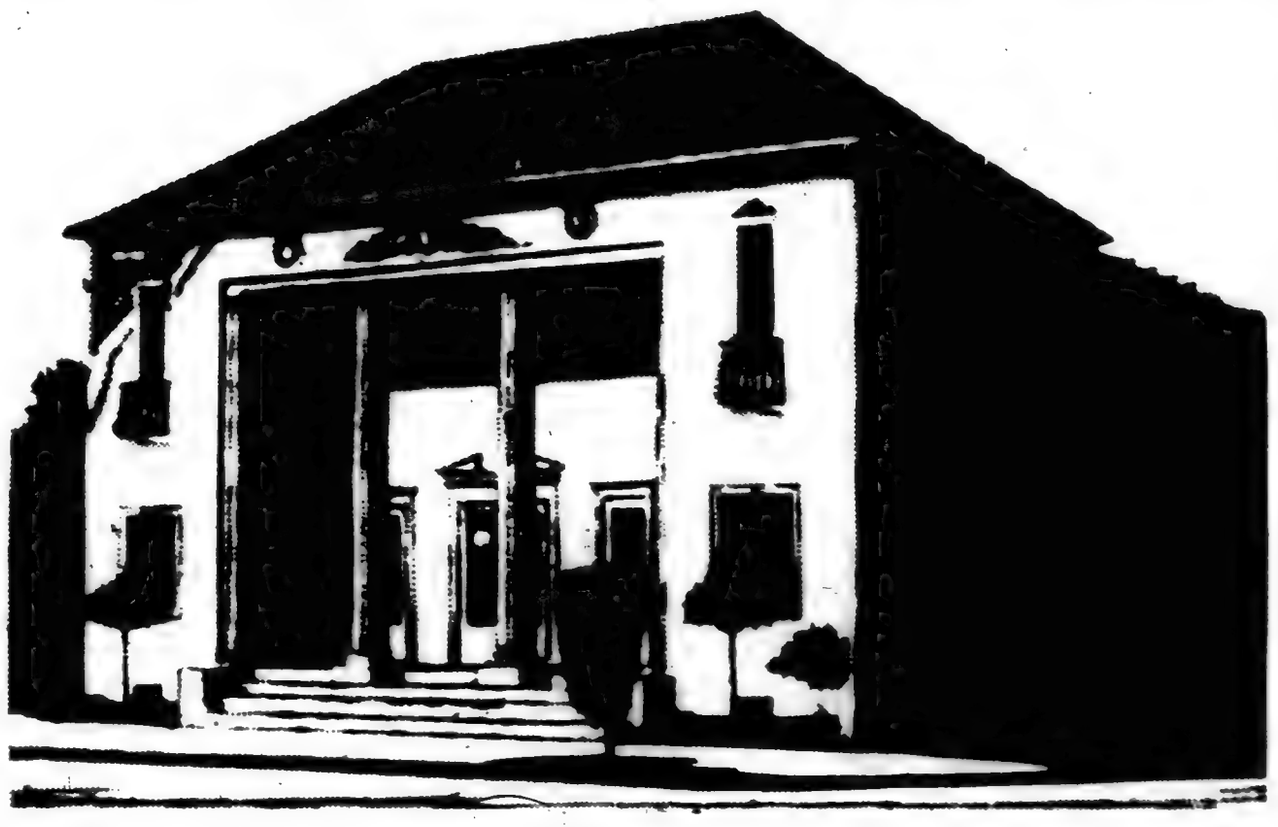
This year of 1950 is considered a crucial year.

"We realize that the most important issue facing us today is the maintenance of peace in the world, that unless we accomplish this purpose our children will have little opportunity for growth, freedom or even life itself," says a statement adopted at the annual convention of the National Conference of Parents and Teachers, one of the organizations sponsoring the conference at the White House.

The purpose of the conference to be held at Pepperdine College is to arouse interest in the larger conference to be held later in the White House, and to explain the objects of the White House conference to everyone.

Elegance of language may not be in the power of all of us; but simplicity and straightforwardness are.—Alford.

Woman's Day, Brown A.M.E.



Woman's Day at Brown Temple A.M.E. Zion Church, 1201 E. 43rd St. has been set for Sunday, September 17.

The women of the church known as the Daughters of Zion under the leadership of Mrs. Jeanette Dyer-Madison, have chosen as their motto: "Tried and True," and are working to carry it out in every way. Sunday morning the speaker will be the Rev. Mrs. Susie Kinsey, outstanding minister of the city. At 3 p.m. to 7 p.m. there will be a Patriotic Tea in the Social Hal of the church. Reports will be made at the evening service.

Music for the day will be furnished by the Women's Chorus, directed by Mrs. Elnora Hubbs.

REV. KELLEY KEY, pastor of the Southern Baptist Church, 856 E. 23rd Street, extends an invitation to the public to worship with his congregation Sunday morning and evening and enjoy a great spiritual feast. At the morning service Rev. Key will speak on the subject: "Wasteful." Rev. Key will also deliver the evening sermon.

"Unsurpassed Service Through The Years"

HUNDREDS HAVE SAID, as time has passed, that the ceremony we conducted was one of correct appointment, and that our personal assistance was with a spirit of sincere helpfulness.

SUCH PUBLIC CONFIDENCE is not won by words. Actions are the only reliable symptoms of sympathetic sincerity. And that is what you get in a CONNER-JOHNSON service, whether it is one of utmost simplicity, or the most elaborate.

Consult us about our recommended pre-payment plan of funeral expenses, with no obligation. It costs only a few cents a day.

PEACEMAKERS

Peacemakers are created by having passed through various experiences. From which they have emerged, clean and whole, and a lot wiser in regards to man and his ways.

They seem to carry an atmosphere with them, in which all unkind thoughts shrivel up, and their very presence in a group seems to change the entire atmosphere.

Somehow, this type of person stands out, because he represents a likeness to God.

W.B.: I am very worried at the present time and would like your advice. What will be the outcome?

ANSWER: It is revealed to me that you are heavily in debt and are about to lose your home. I suggest that you try to find work in order to add to your husband's income. If you are both willing to make sacrifices and manage your income well, you may be able to keep your home.

E.G.H.: Is it wise to consult a lawyer about a sum of money I should have received about 10 years ago?

ANSWER: I am of the opinion that it would be advisable to consult an attorney at once and explain the situation to him. He will inform you whether it would be worthwhile to pursue the case.

G.A.J.: Will I ever marry again?

ANSWER: My Psycho-Mentalist Crystal reveals to me that a marriage is in store for you. In all probability, you may meet someone very soon who may mean a great deal in your future. In the meantime, join social or charitable organizations so that you may be in a position to make new contacts.

D.F.: Will I take a trip? Where is my sister? What happened to the money I left on my bureau?

ANSWER: I am very sorry, but only one question is answered in the column due to the limited amount of space. If you will write to Prof. Herman in care of this paper and send your three questions which are answered for 25 cents, I will be happyp to help you. Also send your complete name, address, and birthdate.

Mrs. Brown Named Chest Drive Head

Josephine Brown, widely known in civic, church and philanthrophic circles, has been named chairman of the Community Chest drive being initialed at the parish level, of St. Lawrence Roman Catholic Church.

Mrs. Brown for a number of years has served as area and district supervisor in similar fund raising drives with Red Cross and Community Chest efforts. Scarcely any public assistance program has been programmed anywhere in the city over a period of years, without the inclusion of her name.

St. Lawrence parish church is located at 10114 Compton Avenue. Mrs. Brown, currently engaged in shaping up her committee aides, said the drive for funds is slated to get under way during the month of October.

Young Sculptor Leads Class At L.A. County Art Institute

By DOLORES DELL

The Los Angeles Art Institute (formerly Otis Art Institute) is a haven for talented artists who cannot pay high fees for instruction. Numbered among the enrolees are several talented students who are members of minority groups.

Prominent among these is Eugene Fisher Jr. who was born in Pacific Grove, California, and attended the same Los Angeles schools as did his mother, Olivia Gyton. Mrs. Gyton is a well-known organist and choir director.

Eugene Fisher entered Los Angeles Art Institute in April of 1948, to study sculpture. He had previously been a boxer, having won the welterweight championship of the Coast Guard in New York State in 1943. He has boxed with Marty Servo and Gus Lesnevich.

Real Aptitude

Showing an aptitude for sculpturing, Fisher soon was able to create and finish a group of studies in one week. His work attracted so much attention, he was commissioned to da a series of bible studies depicting Biblical characters and events for several churches.

Unlimited in his style, Eugene Fisher has designed modern figures for interior decorators, to be displayed in homes and shops throughout Los Angeles.

A trip to Africa inspired the young sculptor to recreate the native African beauty in many of his pieces which are on display in several homes. He has just finished a group of pieces for Dynamite Jackson, local boxing arbiter and former boxing champ.

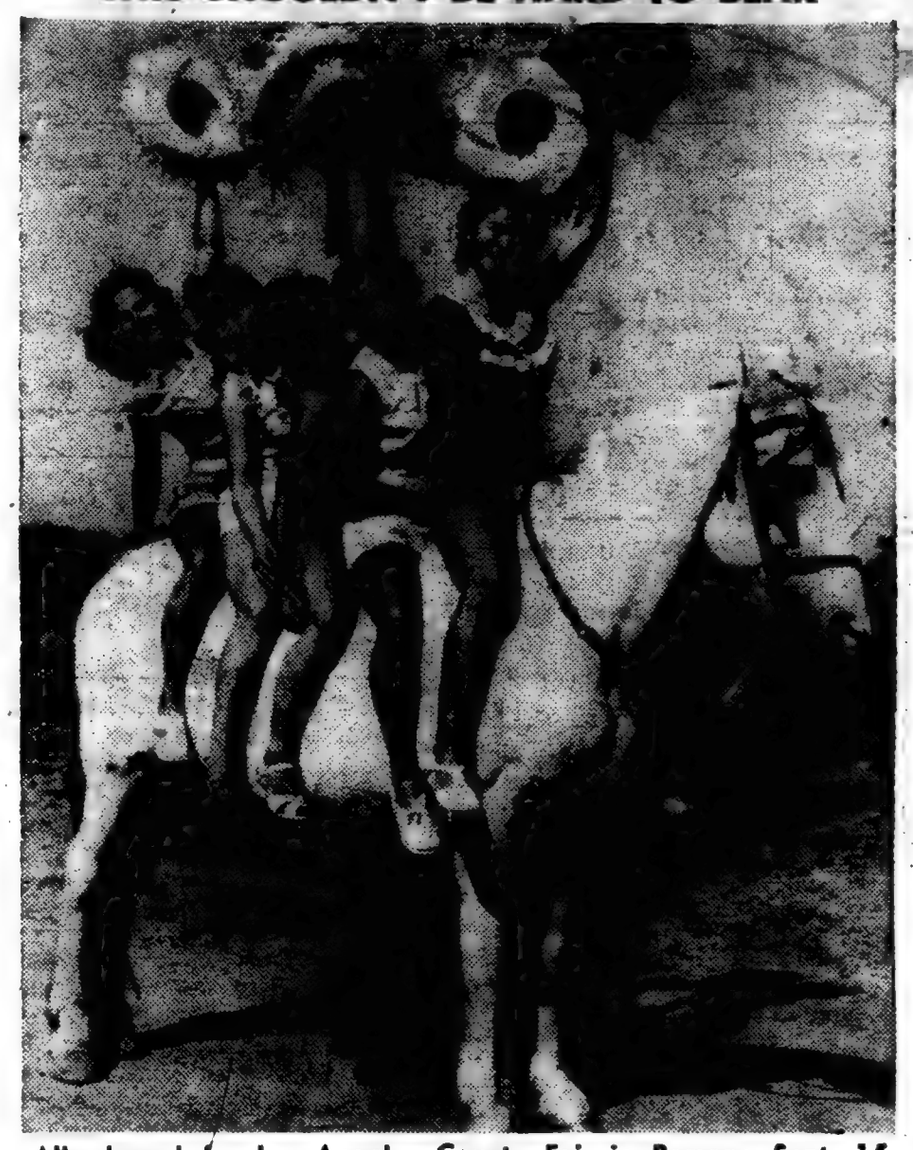
Plans Show

In cooperation with two other artists, Eugene Fisher plans a show, to be held in the near future. In it will be twenty to thirty paintings and many of the young sculptor's pieces will be shown for the first time. Included will be several pieces similar to the Biblical figures he executed for the Church of Mt. Clemens at 51st and Holmes.

Member of a talented family, Eugene Fisher has a brother Herb who is a recording artist recently signed with Hollywood-Mercury. His cousin is motion picture actress Susette Harbin of "Foxes and Harrow" and "The Jackie Robinson Story" fame.

The California Eagle, following its policy of encouraging talent and reporting its progress, will, in future issues, reproduce some of the pieces executed by Eugene Fisher.

Highway Patrol Exams



SACRAMENTO—Men who wish to become state traffic officers were reminded today by the California Highway Patrol that Sept. 8, today, Friday, is the last day for filing applications. All applications received after that date will be rejected, it was stated.

Vacancies in the Highway Patrol are expected to occur shortly. The positions, under state civil service, have a salary range of $281 to $341 a month.

Applicants must be between the ages of 21 to 35, have lived in California for at least one year, have the equivalent of a high school education and meet certain physical requirements. A written examination will be held on October 7.

Applications may be obtained at any office of the Department of Employment

THIS SHOULDN'T BE HARD TO BEAR

All aboard for Los Angeles County Fair in Pomona Sept. 15 through Oct. 1. These pretty Mt. San Antonio college girls catch the atmosphere of fair time as they prepare to enter the annual queen contest at the big exposition. Left to right they are Nedra Dunner, Gerry McCormick, Rena Frabony, Muriel Seymour and Joceyln Flohr.

Boy Scouts

Calling on all residents of Los Angeles and its suburbs to participate in the annual round-up of the Boy Scouts of America, which started Sept. 1, John K. Northrop, president of the Los Angeles Area Scout Council, declared last night that "we in the Los Angeles Council must measure up to the records being set throughout the rest of the country."

With a goal of a 2,000 increase over last year's Scout membership, the Council, Mr. Northrop said, is making a strong bid to become the second largest Boy Scout Council in the nation. Los Angeles is now third largest with a boy membership of close to 32,000.

GRAMBLING, La. (Special)—Eighty candidates reported to Coach Eddie Robinson Sept. 1, as the Grambling Tigers opened practice for the 1950 football season.

Daps Visit Catalina

More than 700 members of the Los Angeles Deputy Auxiliary Police returned last week from a day's outing to Santa Catalina Island.

The boys and girls, representative of every Police Division in the city, were accompanied by 30 adult leaders on a tour of the Island which included a glass-bottom boat trip, swimming and hiking.

It was the first to Catalina for the majority of the youngsters, and is part of the over-all DAP program of character-building and the prevention of juvenile delinquency.

A FREE MAN—Eugene Backstrom, freed of a lifetime of cruel punishment in a Mississippi penitentiary expresses his heartfelt appreciation to Attorney Edward Maddox of the NAACP legal committee as Marguerite Robinson, CRC head, and members of the CRC staff look on. Maddox was one of the four attorneys who defended Backstrom. Associated with him were: Sanford Carter, Herbert Simmons and A. L. Wirin. Federal Judge Carter granted a writ of habeas corpus which prevented Backstrom's extradition ordered by Governor Warren. (See story).

Three Gun Killer Ordered Held Following Inquest

Roy Parker will be held to answer for the slaying of Alfred Killian, 32, and 31 year old Vivian White, following a Coroner's hearing Monday. The 61 year old janitor who pumped two bullets into Killian and Miss White in the E. 35th Street apartment building where they all resided, reportedly told police he shot Killian and Miss White following a quarrel over a $15 debt owed him by Killian.

The slain man was considered one of the best trumpeters in the popular music field. He was a member of Duke Ellington's band, and had recently returned from a world tour with the noted aggregation.

Parker, who had three guns in his possession when apprehended by police a short distance from the scene of the crime, is a parolee from San Quentin. He had been released about 10 years ago after serving fifteen years of a life sentence. Two of the guns were reported stolen from a grocery store in the vicinity where the crime was committed. The third, a revolver, is said to belong to the landlady

In Defense of Justice

IN DEFENSE OF JUSTICE, four leading Los Angeles attorneys united to halt the extradition of Eugene Backstrom to a life sentence and possibly death on a Mississippi penal farm. Freed by a writ of habeas corpus granted by Federal Judge James Carter, Backstrom and his attorneys are grateful for the public support received in the case. Rent Decontrol Appeal Filed In Washington

WASHINGTON—The CIO legal staff here, acting in behalf of the Los Angeles Tenants Council, filed an appeal brief Tuesday in the U. S. Court of Appeals, supporting the Council's plea for an order that will restrain Housing Administrator Tighe Woods from decontrolling Los Angeles rents.

The brief is the latest legal skirmish in the battle against the decontrol ordinance passed by the City Council of Los Angeles several weeks ago. The U. S. Appeals Court is being asked to reverse Judge Burnita Matthews who ruled against the Council recently.

The City of Los Angeles and the Small Property Owners League, both of which organizations oppose the restraining order and seek decontrol, have until Saturday to file their briefs. Fo[illegible]

Judge Carter Grants Writ Freeing Eugene Backstrom

Eugene Backstrom has been freed from a possible life sentence in a Mississippi penitentiary. Federal Judge James Carter assured Backston's freedom Tuesday when he granted a writ of habeas corpus sought by four attorneys representing the American Civil Liberties Union, the Civil Rights Congress, the NAACP and organized labor.

Judge Carter heard Backstrom and two witnesses last Friday relate the cruel and inhuman treatment to which prisoners in Mississippi work camps are subjected. Backstrom told how he

The SIDEWALK

By C.A.B.

Here is a heart-warming story of a young woman, Jeanne Pitaval and her companions who were arrested in Lyon, France, threatened with imprisonment, but all acquitted.

They were fighting for peace. What fighters they are in France! How enthusiastic everyone is! Don't let anyone tell you France will go along with the United States or any other nation for another war!

Just before noon on Saturday, August 26, an immense crowd, gathered before the Fort Montluc prison in Lyon, France, burst into cheers. People who had never been known to embrace anyone threw their arms around whoever happened to be standing near. A triumphant Marseillaise rose to the skies. Tram conductors, as their cars passed by the fort, got down to hear the news:

"All 18 are acquitted!"

They rushed back to tell their passengers. Locomotives on the railway line that went alongside the prison slowed down and their engineers leaned out. Then they went off, their whistles shreiking in joy.

The story begins last March when a crowd at Roanne demonstrated against the departure of a train carrying weapons for the war in Viet Nam. The police attacked the demonstrators, and a number of them were arrested and jailed to await a military trial under the repressive laws recently enacted against French defenders of peace.

One of the demonstrators was Jeanne Pitaval, Roanne secretary of the Union of French Women and member of the UFW's National Council. As a member of the Resistance since 1940, Jeanne had brought supplies and messages to the Maquis in the Alps, while her husband, a railwayman, took part in the Battle of the Railways.

This was not Jeanne's first "offence." Knowing the meaning of war and foreign occupation, she had vowed to fight for the right of all people to peace and independance. That is why she had been arrested twice before for acting against the "dirty war" of the French government against the people of Viet Nam. Only a few months before, she had been tried and fined for disturbing leaflets to arsenal workers urging them to make tractors for peace instead of tanks for war—in which she was supported by the peasants of the surrounding countryside.

The trial of the 18 at Lyon was a very important step in the attempt of the French government to suppress opposition to the unpopular war in Viet Nam. Holding it before a military court under pressure of the government was supposed to assure a "guilty" verdict. Moving it away from Roanne was supposed to isolate the defendants from their supporters. (Ironically, they were imprisoned and tried in the same Fort Montlucin which some of them had already served time for resistance to the Nazis.)

But the verdict was a great victory for peace.

How did this come about?

It came about because of overwhelmiing protest. The Presiding Judge himself said on the opening day of the trial that he had received "tens of thousands" of protests from all over the country—and that evidently "the accused had the support of an important part of the French public." Fifty thousand signatures were collected in the Rhone department (where the trial took place) by the Union of French Women alone. Additional signatures were collected by other organizations. Motions were voted by houses. Delegates came from distant villages of France with motions. Young people came from the great meeting of French and Italian youth at Nice to bring greetings and presents to the prisoners. The prisoner's families visited the National Assembly and the President of the Republic in Paris to demand an end to the government's war policies.

Many letters and presents, fruit, etc., were sent to the prisoners. A Catholic woman sent

Meeting Hall for the World

In this building at Flushing Meadows, New York, the representatives of 59 countries will meet in September as the General Assembly of the United Nations. More than 1000 delegates, alternates and advisers represent their countries at the session, the Assembly's fifth, at which almost every world problem will be discussed.

Madison Square Garden Picketed; Protest Ban on Robeson Meeting

Over 100 Negro and white pickets paraded in front of Madison Square Garden in New York City on Friday, September 8, protesting the refusal of Madison Square Garden Corporation to permit the holding of a concert-rally by the Council on African Affair at which Paul Robeson was to be featured.

The demonstration, organized by the Council, had the support of leaders and rank and file members of the Civil Rights Congress, American Labor Party, and other organizations and trade unions in New York City.

A strong police guard was on hand as the picketers chanted slogans such as "Open up the Garden! Let Paul Robeson Speak!"

The picket signs included one reading "Freedom of Speech? State Department Tells Paul Robeson—Not Abroad! And Madison Square Garden Says—Not Here!" and another which read "Silencing Free Discussion, Outlawing Minority Opinion Is Hitler's Way, not America's!"

Despite the group's insistence that anti-subversive legislation not yet passed in Congress could not and should not be used as a basis for banning the Council or any other organization from Madison Square Garden, the Corporation executive reiterated his prior declaration that no rental contract would be signed pending Congressional action on the anti-subversive bills.

At the conclusion of the demonstration, Dr. Hunton stated that "if freedom of speech and assembly can be suppressed in this way on the basis of alleged bearing of police-state proposals not yet even passed by Congress, it is not hard to imagine the destruction of our liberties which must follow if these proposals actually become the law of the land. "It is no accident that a progressive Negro organization, the Council on African Affairs, and a great Negro leader, Paul Robeson, have been made the first targets of the proposed police-state legislation."

Special NAACP Group Plans Fund Affair

The Special Activities Group of the local NAACP, organized to raise funds for the civil rights program, will hold a Harvest Frolic Saturday, September 23 at the home of the chairman, Mrs. D. C. Montgomery, 443 E. 49th Street.

With 30 members already active, the group seeks the fullest possible public support. Other officers are: Mrs. Louise Bradshaw, Secretary; Estelle Kemple, Treasurer; Mildred Saunders, Public Relations, and Dorothea Foster, Business Manager.

Co-Op Art Club

A tasty luncheon at the home of Dr. and Mrs. William H. Cockrell last Friday afternoon marked the initial meeting of the newly organized Co-Op Art Club. Thirteen young matrons plan to meet monthly to exchange ideas and to help each other with knitting, crocheting, dressmaking, tailoring, interior decorating, and other fine arts.

The group selected Mrs. Cockrell who has had experience in many of the arts, as Club adviser. Members of the Club are: Mesdames Joseph Haynes, John Peyton, Morris Johnson, Fred Griffin, Walter Davis, Wells Forde, George Sealey, Charles Sanford, Frederick Spann, Robert Woods, Booker Tucker, Marvin aJckson and William H. Cockrell.

Ethel Sayless Crash Victim

GREEN RIVER, Wyo.—Among the eight members of the cast of "South Pacific" injured here late Monday night when a switch engine collided with a passenger train on the U. P. line, is Mrs. Ethel Sayless, assistant wardrobe mistress.

Mrs. Sayless has been in the wardrobe department of many of Broadway's leading shows, many of which played Los Angeles. She lived in New York and is widely known, numbering her acquaintances many of the stage's leading personalities.

Willie McGhee Supporters Plan Reception For Grossman

Aubrey Grossman, national organization director of the Civil Rights Congress, recently returned from Mississippi where he waged a successful fight to save the life of Willie McGhee, will be given a reception Friday night at 8 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gearing, 3035 E. 123rd Street.

Grossman and two other persons were beaten severely by a lynch-minded mob in Mississippi in an attempt to scare them out of town, but Grossman remained despite his injuries until he was certain that McGhee would not die.

Sunday night, members, friends and supporters of the Civil Rights Congress will meet Grossman at an informal gathering to be held at the Parkview Manor, 2200 W. 7th Street.

All friends of Willie McGhee are invited to attend.

Compass Club Meets

The Compass Club met Saturday evening, Sept. 9 at the home of Mr. Laws on Avalon Blvd. with Mrs. Mattie Henderson serving as hostess. The guest speaker was Mr. Lloyd A. Herbs who spoke briefly on the history and development of Masonry. A very interesting question period followed the address. Refreshments were served and plans discussed for the Halloween party which will be in the form of a masked ball.

Members and friends present were Edna Mosley, Arthur H. Wilson, Mary B. Dorsey, Esther Worrill, Deaderick F. Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. Joffre B. Roberts and B. Worrill.

Two Day Meet Scheduled for IPP Executives

Members of the Independent Progressive Party's state executive committee will meet this coming weekend, September 16th and 17th in Los Angeles in an extraordinary session "to hammer out campaign strategy for the coming election," it was announced by Reuben W. Borough, state chairman.

According to Borough, who is also IPP's candidate for state treasurer, the two-day meeting at the Parkview Manor, 2200 W. 27th St., will endeavor "to work our plans for an extensive statewide campaign to bring our party's program for peace and civil rights to the people of California.

Agenda for the meeting as released by Borough will also take up the possibility of PP naming candidates to run in the 13th, 14th and 15th congressional districts where due to the existing state cross-filing system, the third party is able to name its own candidates for the November general election.

Jubilee Banquet Celebrates California' Centennial

California's 100th Anniversary Jubilee Banquet will pay tribute to the progressive history of California in song, dance and drama on Saturday, September 23rd, in the Palm Room of the Miramar Hotel in Santa Monica, the California Legislative Conference, which is celebrating the event, announced this Wednesday.

Honored guests who have made substantial contributions to the progressive traditions of our state are Hugh E. MacBeth, Sr., prominent Negro lawyer and pioneer for equal rights; Carey McWilliams, author and lecturer; Mrs. Benjamin Miller, past President, Los Angeles Chapter of Hadassah; Robert W. Kenny, former Attorney General, Ignacio L. Lopez, editor and publisher; and William S. Lawrence, Regional Director, Int. Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union.

In dramatic form, through song, dance and skit performed by a large cast of Hollywood entertainers, tribute will be paid to all the peoples of California—Mexican-Americans, Negroes, Japanese, Chinese, Jewish—"and to the workers and farmers and professionals whose creative energy and talent contributed to the phenomenal growth of our state."

Organizations are requested to send delegates to receive recognition for the contribution they have made to the glorious history of Free State California.

Tickets to the Jubilee Banquet are $10 per delegate or individual; $5 per escort. For further information call MUtual 1727.

Bandits Rob Local Market

Two armed bandits escaped with $1300 last week after pistol whipping a clerk in a food market at 5555 Whittier Blvd.

When William Torigian, of 1279 S. Vancouver St., did not move fast enough to suit the thugs, one struck the clerk on the head with a .38 caliber revolver.

The bandits took cash from two registers and also seized some bills lying on a counter nearby.

was arrested for stealing food valued at seven dollars when he and a friend found themselves stranded without a job or money.

Sentenced to seven years, Backstrom escaped several times after he had been cruelly punished for not working fast enough in the cotton fields. He was brought back after being tracked down by bloodhounds. Following one escape, Backstrom was accused of acting in concert with another escapee to commit an eleven dollar armed robbery. Backstrom denied this, but he was beaten and intimidated into signing a confession.

Exposed to TB

He was sentenced to life imprisonment, following short court room appearance, during which he did not have an attorney and was not allowed to speak in his own defense. He was assigned to sleep in the tubercular shack in a bed next to the "worst case." This was done, he told Judge Carter, with the hope he would contract TB and die. "The guard won't kill you, so maybe TB will," he said he was told.

Following the precedent he set in the Middlebrooks case, Judge Carter permitted Backstrom to testify informally in the habeas corpus proceedings. In freeing Backstrom, Judge Carter nullified an extradition order signed by Governor Warren several months ago.

Slave Laws

Deputy United States Attorney Sullivan who opposed the granting of the writ on behalf of Missiissippi authorities (theoretically he represented the Sheriff of Los Angeles County in whose custody Backstrom was being held) cited the fugitive slave laws in his arguments. He has the right of appeal, and may do so.

Marguerite Robinson, Civil Rights Congress had termed the release of Backstrom," a tremendous victory on the civil right front." She hailed the unity of the Civil Liberties Union, The Civil Rights Congress, the NAACP and Labor, as "a heartening demonstration of solidarity in the face of hysteria and persecution."

Attorneys Sanford Carter, Edward Maddox, Herbert Simmons, and A. L. Wirin prepared and presented the defense which freed Backstrom. Free on bail provided by his landlady, Backstom is employed by a contractor in Los Angeles, He is married and a veteran of World War Two. He saw action for several months in the South Pacific.

of the E. 35th Street building, Mrs. Gertrude Newman.

A French Poodle which the slain musician was to have delivered to a friend on the day he was shot, disappeared shortly after the tragedy. Following the publication of a story of the disappearance in the California Eagle, the Poodle was located and is being held as part of Killian's estate by the Public Adminstrator.

Killian's body was shipped to Chicago last week where his mother was to make funeral arrangements. He reportedly was divorced from a former wife, and he was the father of a young son.

The SIDEWALK

a treasured prayer-book to Jeanne Pitaval. Meetings and demonstrations were numerous: handbills and posters covered the whole region. The government employed social workers of Lyon, a conservative group, supported the 18, because, as they pointed out, under the war-budget, the social services which they were supposed to administer were practically disappearing.

By the time the trial opened, all Lyon knew about it, and the great majority sympathized with the defendants. When Abbe Boulier, the well-beloved Catholic leader, arrived at Lyon, his taxi-driver thanked him for coming to testify for the defendants.

One hour after the government prosecutor made his opening speech, demanding five years Solitary confinement for most of the defendants, 25 telegrams arrived in protest.

During the trial, which lasted five days, the people's actions came to a climax. Railway workers, some of whose fellows were among the 18, stopped work for several hours, and let it be known that there would be more serious strikes if the defendants were condemned. Going by the Fort, where the trial was held, and throughout the region, their whistles blasted their warning.

There were unanimous stoppages among the tram workers of Lyon, the 12,000 metal workers of the region, and 3,000 construction workers building a nearby dam. Textile workers in several factories and towns demonstrated similarly.

The voice of war-weary France and of the world came into the courtroom, the voices of hundreds of millions of determined men and women. Abbe Boulier as witness for the defense, spoke for the masses of Catholics who hate war. Alain le Leap for the 78,000,000 members of the World Federation of Trade Unions. . . .

To the spectators, all that was best and noblest in the human race seemed summed up in the words of Marie-Claude Vaillant-Coutuper, secretary-general of the Women's International Democratic Federation. Sh esaid:

"I entirely approve of the actions of the defendants, and if I had been in their place I would have done as they did. I had the happiness to come out alive from the camps of death. For many months I was in solitary confinement, and for years I suffered the horrors of Auschwitz and Ravensbruck, without knowing whether I would ever see my son again. But if I had to do it all over again, if it meant my life to save him and all the children of France and of the world from the horrors of an atomic war, I would not hesitate on instant.

"It is for this the accused demonstrated.

"If you condemn them you will have to condemn all the mothers who fight for the lives of their children. You will have to put all of France in prison."

This is why Abbe Pierre Salomai, who had refused in the beginning to testify for the defense, proved the truth of the words of the Resistance song quoted by the defense attorney: "Friend, should you fall, another will come from the shadows to take your place." After sitting through the trial, hearing the heavy penalties demanded by the Prosecutor, he declared: "If the least judgement is passed against one of these defendants, I myself will write and personally type a leaflet, and take the lead in all demonstrations in their favor."

And this is why Jeanne Pitaval and her fellow fighters for peace were acquitted.

Happy New Year

It is with a feeling of sincere neighborliness and respect that the California Eagle extends New Year greetings to the Orthodox, Conservative and Reform Jews who this week mark the advent of the year 5711.

Rosh Hashanah is traditionally the beginning of the high holidays of the Jewish people. The shofar has sounded, and for that period between now and September 21, the day of Yom Kippur, there will be meditation and penitence.

Yom Kippur is the day when atonement for sins of omission and sins of commission is practiced. It might well be the day when those of us who have persecuted and reviled the Jewish people should examine our consciences and resolve to set a new value on human relationships.

Through the years, we have watched the coming and the going of the Jewish high holidays with an aloofness bred of religious sectarianism and selfish racism. We have neglected to share the wealth and the spirit of a culture as old as time and as much a part of history as is the first recorded date and event.

Content in the narrow confines of our own faiths, we have looked upon the customs and beliefs of the Jewish people as some strang mysticism from another world. We have grown apart from them even as we talked in the strongest terms of brotherhood and unity. We have not dared to challenge those who would destroy all that is Jewish by destroying all Jews.

Substituting mythology and prejudice for history and reason, we think and speak of the Jewish people out of impressions developed from the roots of the very sources that would also destroy the Negro people.

We would draw closer to the Jewish people during these holiday season and grow even closer as the days pass, for we realize that when we can greet our Jewish brothers at the opening of a really happy new year, it will also be a happy new year for us.

Integration

Reports coming out of Washington indicate a strong sentiment in favor of having Negro and white troops on the Korean front integrated in mixed units.

Much of the pressure that has prompted official Washington to consider this move has come from the white soldiers who are fighting beside the Negro troops on the bloody Korean front.

Comradeship in arms has long been a great leveler. Soldiers of fortune, frequently a motley and nondescript aggregation of adventurers, manage to find hard-bitten but nonetheless sincere friendship in the face of death.

Soldiers facing the terrible horror of war seldom remember the prejudices and racial hatreds that developed in them when death seemed so far away. It is natural that white and Negro troops fighting on the same side will recognize the great morale value in complete unity. It has long been known that only official policy has stood in the way of integration.

It is a sad commentary that young Negro and white soldiers who yearn for peace must travel to a strange land to kill and be killed before they can find the spirit of unity they never knew as civilians.

All America will applaud the integration of Negro and white troops on the battlefield, while hoping fervently that peace will soon replace slaughter, and that the brotherhood discovered in war will become a living part of our American heritage.

"North or South? I don't know. He's a Los Angeles Korean."

Writer Says Peace Is Possible While War Is A Costly Luxury

(Following is a copy of a letter sent to the Chicago Sun Times by Mary Phillips of Lemont, Ill. We reprint it because of its message for peace.)

To the Editors:

I am very grateful for all letters from peaceworkers printed in this column, and I urge them to thank Prime Minister Nehru for his peace efforts and ask him to continue them.

Peace is possible. If one hundredth part of the effort now going into war-making and atom-bomb-shelter planning were going into peace-making, we could reach an agreement on atomic energy control and other urgent problems.

I am appalled by the constant "atomic - war - now" speeches of our "realist" military and other leaders, who presume to know all the answers—and sum them up into one answer: atomic war—when they do not even know the questions! I am sick of hearing that war is inevitable, that we cannot afford the "luxury" of a calm, moral, ethical or even logical approach to problems in today's world, that such language is "unrealistic."

I submit that we cannot offord the "luxury" of war in today's world, that in the first place, atom bombs will not change the nationality of the Russians and unless the "realists" intend to kill every man, woman and child in Russia, they would have to negotiate peace with the very same people after dropping atomic bombs, so why not before?

If the "realists" insist on wiping out whole populations, as they indicate by advocating the use of atom and hydrogen bombs, I would speak to them in the very realistic language of cold cash: In th first world war it cost us $21,000 per head to turn our enemies into corpses; in the second world war the cost per enemy casualty had risen to $55,000. Now we all know that prices are still going up, thus we must add at least $10,000 per head as a fair estimate of present casualties ($65,000 each, estimate).

I call upon the "realists" to figure out (1) how much it is going to cost us to kill 30 million Koreans (we are already deeply in debt on this small contract), 200 million Russians, 400 million Chinese, 100 million Eastern Europeans, possibly and other 100 million communists in other Asiatic countries, another 50 million in Africa, etc., and (2) how do the "realists" propose to raise all this money?

Very respectfully yours,
Mary Phillips
Lemont, Illinois

'Nuff Said

Although the United Nations is committed to check aggression everywhere, it has a case of it right in its own territory, and it is doing nothing about it.

The UN holds the mandate for South West Africa, a country populated mostly by Negroes. The South African Govt. headed by Daniel Malan, was elected on a Hitlerian white supremacy, anti-Semitic ticket. It has put the Hitler laws into effect. South African labor unions have denounced the Malan regime as fascist. So has the British liberal and labor press.

Seizing Mandated Land

Malan has now announced that he is, taking over the rule of South West Africa and that he will incorporate it into South Africa (and, incidentally, apply the racist laws against the vast majority of the people, the Negroes).

So far there is not a word of protest from UN. It is not organizing an army to stop this aggression, nor it President Truman sending the army or navy to South Africa. There is a double standard, apparently, in dealing with fascist aggression and communist aggression.

Overlooked Aggressions

British liberal-labor press points out that there are other aggressions which should be righted by the UN, notably the French aggression against the people of Viet-Nam, who do not want to be ruled by a colonial nation, the Dutch aggression in Indonesia.

Partners

Latest news from South Africa (NYTimes Aug. 5) is that the fascist Malan regime is going to send an air squadron to fight in South Korea for the UN.

RAPHAEL KONIGSBERG

NEGROES KNOW FASCISM

At each new manifestation of American fascism—whether it is the jailing of a famous author or attacks on the peace petitioners or the denial of the right to bail—there is a painful shudder in the ranks of those Americans who've drugged themselves with the deadly refrain: "It can't happen here . . . and if it does, they don't mean me."

It would be hilarious if it were not tragic. For it not only can and is happening here—but one of the major reasons for it is that the USA has had a longer and more violent pre-conditioning for fascism than probably any other nation. As "Exhibit A" to support this charge, look at the lives of Negroes among us. (Or, at what we did and are doing to the Indians and Mexicans.)

The Negro people don't have to have fascism defined to them. They know what it is. They live under it. Every significant feature of life under the Nazis is true and has been true of Negro life under American white supremacy.

Take the unconstitutional (and subversive) laws recently passed to compel the registration of every American who doesn't agree with the knaves in public office. It is doubtful if such legislation will seriously affect the lives of many Negroes in our country. Unconstitutional laws have persecuted them since the Constitution was adopted. And as for registration, their color automatically registers them at birth for "special treatment."

Consider the concentration camps and crematoria of Nazi Germany, the masterworks of the fascists—whom our government is busy restoring to power. The inhumanities there shocked the world more perhaps than the other Nazi deeds. Yet, those Germans guilty of them has been ordinary and average Germans. How did they become such monsters so quickly?

In the modern history of Germany before Hitler, it is questionable that the Germans had been conditioned by such inhumanities as have been practiced by average Americans on Negroes in the South and elsewhere for generations — the thousands lynched, burned, blinded, violated, chain-ganged, buried in unmarked graves.

All America Threatened

With such prior "training" Americans should go far. We may ask whether the "strange fruit" of this training isn't being harvested in Korea, when even Life and Time magazines report on our atrocities.

Or contrast the daily life of Negroes in the U.S. with the treatment accorded non-Aryans by Hitler's hordes . . . the sub-human status assigned to non-Aryans, their segregation in ghettoes, their expulsion from political and cultural life, the humiliation of their children, the denial of jobs and food and medical attention and education—the denial, in fact, of life.

Is not each and every evil face of fascism listed above true of the Negroes' existence in America? Is it not proved in the Negro child's life expectancy, shorter by at least 10 years than the others?

All of this, and more, is in store for all Americans if we do not stop the drive to total fascism now being accelerated under cover of the Korean war.

One way of describing what is happening to the rest of decent America today is to say that they are all being given a taste of what it's been like to be a Negro in our democratic land. (And the chorus intones: "This is only the beginning . . .) It may be asserted that this would not, could not, be happening if white Americans had prevented it from happening to colored Americans.

There has been a vile perversion in our national thinking that the inhumanities heaped upon our Negro neighbors affected them only. A parallel perversion exists in the notion that the official hounding of progressives hurts only the progressives—that constitutional rights are being denied "only a little" to "only a few" people.

The truth is that democratic America is paying a grievous price for the sufferings of the Negroes—as she is for the persecution of her progressives of all colors. A nation can no more be "jst a little bit fascistic" than that certain young lady could be, as she told the judge, "just a little bit pregnant."

All Americans today must identify themselves with those of our fellow-citizens who are being persecuted. Each parent must see his child in the face and future of the colored child. Each one of us must see our fate, our country's fate, in the fate of America's democratic citizens. We must do so to enable us to stop fascism's advance.

We must never forget Walt Whitman's warning: "When liberty draws not the blood out of slavery, then slavery draws the blood out of liberty."

Congress Candidate In The 14th Recommended By IPP Council

The 14th Congressional District Council of the Independent Progressive Party restated its belief in the right of the Negro people to have full representation in the congress of the United States at a meeting last Friday night.

With participation from all IPP clubs in the 14th C. D., the meeting was in full agreement that the growing attacks on Negroes and all others who speak out for equality and peace is a direct outgrowth of the Democrat's and Republican's efforts to sell by force, and by propaganda, their bloody role in Korea.

Horace Alexander, newly elected IPP coordinator for the 14th C. D. in presenting a report on the November elections said, "Negroe's homes are being burned, the Negro community is victimized by police harrasment and some have been killed. A leading Negro attorney was slandered and almost attacked in the halls of Congress by Dixiecrat Senator Lanham of Georgia.

The U. S. Government revoked Paul Robeson's passport three weeks ago because he speaks out against jimcrow. White delegates who pleaded to the Governor of Mississippi to save the life of Willie McGee, framed on a phony rape charge, were brutaly beaten and told to get out of town. All this at home when Negro and white soldiers are dying 7000 miles away for "democracy" in Korea."

The meeting concluded that only 2 Negroes in the U. S. Congress is not enough representation for 15 million Negro people. There should be more. A recommendation was made to the IPP executive board to enter a Negro candidate in the 14th congressional district race.

Meanwhile the Harriet Tubman club, IPP, in the 62nd Assembly district scheduled a meeting for Friday, Sept. 15, 8 p.m., 4155 South Central Ave. Main topic will be, "a Negro in Congress from the 14th," and community problems. IPP members and interested persons are invited.

LABOR ON THE MARCH

What About This?

Eugene Backstrom is a simple laborer now, a man working for an employer who has great confidence in his ability and in his character and integrity. Backstrom is a fugitive from a life sentence in a Mississippi penitentiary. He was sentenced in a Mississippi courtroom where he was too full of fear, too frightened from physical punishment and terror to say a word in his own defense. He could not afford a lawyer; the court did not assign one for his deefnse.

John M. Lee

Backstrom says he did not commit the $11 robbery for which he was sentenced to life imprisonment. Certainly he did not have a trial during which evidence to refuse his claim was offered. Where justice has miscarried so broadly, we must presume him to be innocent.

By the time this appears, Backstrom might well be on his way back to certain death in the black hell of a Mississippi prison camp, or he might be a free man.

However, he never was and never will be a free man to those who hold the point of view presented by the representative of the United States Attorney's office who cited the fugitive slave laws in Federal Judge Carter's courtroom last week.

It was shocking to hear the representative of the United States government refer to the slave laws in a desperate effort to cut off Backstrom's freedom and send him back to the inhuman cruelty of a penitentiary in a state that has become notorious for its violation of the civil rights of Negroes.

The government attorney might well have cited the Dred Scott decision, and openly proclaimed what seems to be the prevailing notion . . . that a Negro has no rights that a white man is bound to respect.

The further contention of the United States attorney that Backstrom should exhaust every remedy in the demanding state before he seeks relief in the courts of the state in which he has taken refuge would be screamingly funny, if it were not so pitifully hypocritical.

There are no remedies for Negroes in the courts of Mississippi and other southern states, and any Negro who escapes from the color-conscious justice of those states and then returns to try again, will receive either a quick lynching, or slow death in a prison camp.

Eugene Backstrom is the symbol of several million Negroes who live in the shadow of southern justice. He is the victim of a well-established pattern of jimcrow and racial discrimination. He is living testimony that, in the south, the law and the courts become the corrupt and evil community forces when a Negro is concerned, and his plight must serve as a warning to the rest of us.

It must serve as a warning to the CIO which went into the south for the noble purpose of organizing the unorganized, and stayed only to further establish the degenerating influence of jimcrow and segregation.

One wonders how long a court, or any system of courts that find it easy to dispense justice on the basis of race and color, can remain impartial and fair as a matter of fact?

It is sheer madness for even the more hysterical of the shouting patriots to appeal to the Negro people to forget the rottenness at the foundation of our democracy and build high and hopefully. True patriots, Negro and white, recognize that the American people must fight to establish justice in the courts for those to whom it is denied, or eventually they will lose it for themselves.

Consider what a nightmare the future would be should the courts above the Mason-Dixon line descend to the level of the courts in the south. For one thing, it would not be necessary to speculate about the intend in the minds and planning of some forces to return to Negro people to slavery.

The tendency today is to conform to the dictums of government, and to the unreasoning fear that peace is a plot, but the Backstrom case makes it increasingly clear that there can never be any compromise with corrupt courts, jimcrow and discrimination, and we know that only in times of peace can the struggle for civil liberties be carried forward with success.

Around the World

ANDERSON AIR BASE, GUAM, M. I.—Capt. Eugene F. Tyree, 32, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Tyres, 1416 W. Walnut St., Louisville, arrived at Anderson Air Force Base on the island of Guam for duty recently.

After entering the service at Madison, Ind., Captain Tyree completed three Air Force Training Schools; Purchasing and Contracting School, Transportation School and Automotive Maintenance School. He is, at present assistant Automotive Maintenance Officer.

Captin Tyree's wife, Mrs. Clarice Tyree, and their two daughters, Gloria and Carla, reside at 2242 W. 24th St., Los Angeles. They wil join the captain in Guam when depedent travel is again resumed.

BISHOP COLLEGE

The approval of the graduate work in education offered at Bishop College was announced this week by the Division of Professional Standards of the Texas Education Agency at Austin, Texas, according to President Joseph J. Rhoads. Bishop inaugurated its graduate program in education three years ago on a restricted basis, and its approval has been under consideration by the State Agency for several months.

NEGRO RESPONSIBILITY

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — The Board of Directors of the Alabama Conference of NAACP Branches recently staged an education mass meet in Birmingham featuring C. G. Gomillion, dean of education at Tuskegee Institute as the principal speaker.

"The Civic Responsibility of the Negro" was the title of his keen, logical and analytical address.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. — The Inman E. Page library staff of Lincoln University served as host to the local librarians in their second monthly meeting last week. William Quinley, assistant state librarian, has been designated as temporary chairman.

Pepper, which in 1939 sold for four cents a pound, now costs $2.65 a pound. Even the spice of life costs more these days.

Political Pot-Pourri

IWO

The IWO called upon all lodges and members of the International Workers Order to act now to guarantee the defeat of the McCarran Bill scheduled for a vote in the Senate in the next few days.

CROSS FILING

A resolution condemning cross filing was unanimously adopted by the Democratic County Central Committee at its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday evening, and petitions prohibiting cross filing were distributed for circulation.

"Many organizations, labor unions, and church and civic groups interested in good government have united in securing the required number of signatures to have the petition placed before the Legislature when it meets in January.

Cross-filing, in use only in California, has been described as one of the most pernicious evils to good government that exist. No other state in the union tolerates this method of voting to confuse the voters.

PROPOSITION TEN

Writing on behalf of the California Housing Association, of which he is Chairman, Monsignor Thomas J. O'Dwyer, longtime leader in the fight for better housing in California this week addressed a letter to Governor Earl Warren thanking him for his "forthright stand in opposing Proposition 10 on the November ballot."

Monsignor O'Dwyer addressed a similar letter to James Roosevelt in which he thanked the Democratic candidate for governor for reminding the voters that Proposition 10 "would mean the end of decent public housing in California."

Both gubernational candidates have denounced the prposed amendment to California's Constitution as a roadblock to civilian defense and a means by which outside pressure groups could come in and stop any kind of legislation they don't like.

HELEN OPPOSES WOOD BILL

Declaring she would not "sell American liberties down the river of fear conjured up by the Mundts and Nixons, the McCarthys and the Cains," Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglas assailed repressive measures supposedly aimed only at subversive activities, in the opening radio addres sof her final campaign for the U. S. Senate. The speech was broadcast over the ABC California network.

Specifically attacking the recently passed Wood Bill, which she identified as merely the former Mundt-Nixon Bill with a new name, she pointed out that: "According to the Attorney General and J. Edgar Hoover, the director of the F.B.I. whose job it is to maintain internal security, this bill would be completely ineffective in accomplishing that purpose. The bill will, however infringe on the rights and liberties of every American."

REPUBLICANS MEET

Republican Party workers recently attended an all-day school on precinct organization for the November 7 election campaign. They were told that the goal will be to organize a militant army of 36,889 precinct workers to elect Republican candidates.

Evelle Younger, chairman of the Republican Central Committee of Los Angeles County, told the group that Communism is the crux of the 1950 political campaigns in California which is the most important political arena of any of the 48 states.

Under a Volunteer Sentinel program, citizens are being mobilized in a gigantic political campaign to oppose the threat of bankruptcy, socialism and the loss of individual freedom and to support candidates on November 7.

IPP MEETS

There will be a regular meeting of the County IPP Executive Board this coming Thursday evening, Sept. 14, at the County headquarters, 2206 S. Vermont avenue, at 8 p.m.

Tentative agenda for the meeting is as follows:

(1) Discussion around the National and State Committee meetings.

(2) Report from the Committee on Minority Vote on the 14th C.D. campaign.

(3) Report from the 13th and 15th C.D. caucus on the possibilities of running IPP candidates in these two districts.

(4) Discussion around the statewide election campaigns: IPP statewide candidates campaign; IPP policy on Roosevelt and Douglas.

(5) Report on the finance campaign.

TOM DEWEY—AGAIN

ALBANY, N. Y. — After two years of saying he was out of politics Tom Dewey has screwed up his nerve for a come back. He will run again in November for governor of New York. This sudden grab froze 74-year-old Lt. Gov. Joe Hanley out of the Republican nomination. Hanley, however, will head the Republican race for the U. S. Senate, headed on the Democratic ballot by Senator Lehman, renominated by the Democrats who chose Walter A. Lynch for governor. Lynch is a Fair Dealer.

PAT BROWN CAMPAIGN

Vincent Dalsimer, Bellflower attorney, has been named Edmund G. (Pat) Brown campaign manager in the 18th Congressional District.

Floyd Marcusson, attorney, and USC graduate, will serve as Dalsimer's assistant in the Brown campaign. Floyd is an air-force veteran.

Sen. Malone (R. Nev.) says hoarding is "the honest American trait of providing for a rainy day" and preachments against it echo the "thoughts of Communists. . . ." The taxpayers pay him $12.500 a year.

A Guide to the Soviet

By WILLIAM MANDELL

INDUSTRIALIZATION UNDERTAKEN

Industrialization, whatever the cost, was the program offered by Stalin. This would create the strength with which to stave off war, or wage it, if need be. It would also lead to the socialist sector of the Soviet economy becoming more important than the private sector, represented mainly by farming. It would enlarge the industrial working class, the main support of socialism.

"Industrialize" sounds simple and logical, from the vantage point of today, twenty years later. But it was not a simple job. To some, the difficulties seemed overwhelming. Other countries had all got their start toward large-scale industrialization from the outside, either by loans or less moral means. The Soviet Union would have to do without loans or colonial plunder. But the USSR could profit from the fact that its industry was socialized, for the most part, and that the land, although individually owned, was national property. Thus surpluses previously drawn off as profit and rent could be used to expand industry. Most important, they could be devoted to the expansion of the production of capital goods, instead of products bringing quick profits. Nationalization of productive wealth made it possible even to take a loss in entire branches of industry for several years running, if necessary.

The decision to throw all the country's energies into industrialization came at the end of 1925. Thereupon the first annual plan for production was adopted. (This was before enough experience had been accumulated to plan for five-year periods.) The 1926 plan was fulfilled, with the heavy industries—coal, iron, and steel—boosting production 50 per cent. These and other increases brought over-all industrial output to the level of 1913, the best year under the Tsars. It was of greater significance when the government - owned industries raisedraised their output by a further 18 per cent in 1927, thereby bringing Russian industry to the highest level in its history.

This was also a greater annual increase over a previous maximum than any other industrial country had ever recorded in a single year.

By the time of the gala celebration of ten years of Soviet power on November 7, 1927, the Soviet government could point to wages 28 per cent over their pre-war level; a seven-hour work day; literacy more than doubled, so that over half of the population could now read and write; a school population risen from 7.800.000 in 1914 to nearly 11,000.000; newspaper and book publication more than doubled, etc.

In Central Asia the tenacious hold of Moslem feudalism had at last been broken. Between 1925 and 1927, 750.000 acrts of land had been taken from the holdings of the wealthy and given to the landless peasants. This was actually a mild beginning of reform, for this was chiefly virgin and fallow land. Also in 1927 the newly-constructed Turkestan-Siberian railroad was bringing wheat and timber to the treeless southern cotton country. Finally, electric light went on there for the first time as large power plants went into operation.

With the taste of success in their mouths, the Soviet peoples gave increased support to their leaders. In a final Party referendum, the Trotsky-Zinoviev policies were snowed under by a vote of 724.000 to 4.000. On November 7, 1927, during the 10th anniversary celebrations, the Trotskyites attempted a counter-demonstration. They were swept aside by the citizenry. This ended above-ground Trotskyite endeavors to secure popular support. Thereafter, as was admitted at the treason trial in 1938, they based their hopes exclusively on conspiracy and sabotage and on pledges of foreign aid.

Peace Rally

This is a national call for peace to all women! Especially to Negro women who have been persecuted most, and have suffered most in all wars of our country!

Let us meet on certain days, as in days of prayer, to pray for peace! Make the strong resolve that we shall not have war! Pray, talk, think peace! Speak to your neighbors, your friends! Assemble ourselves together with the express purpose of fighting for peace! And we shall have peace!

TAXES

WASHINGTON, D. C.—House-Senate conferees are working on a final draft of the 1950 tax bill, which passed the Senate without an excess profits levy and is full of loopholes by which rich people and corporations can escape taxes.

A drive to tax excess profits now—in the same bill which raises personal income taxes—was blocked by the Dixiecrat-Taft Republican coalition, which rammed through an amendment putting off action until next year, with a promise that the excess profits tax will date back to October 1, 1950, and perhaps to July 1, 1950.

WHAT PRICE HAPPINESS?

Everywhere, there is one urge that registers above all others . . . the desire for pleasure and satisfaction. Men are ready to pay any price if they can receive a guarantee of happiness.

But the world looks down the wrong road for happiness. For many think that "Happy is the man who has everything." However, in this they make a grave mistake, for only the hopeless people are those who feel perfectly satisfied, who have traveled what they believe to have been the golden trail of the world.

They laugh their way through life, and pity the poor fellow whose eyes drip with tears. They do not realize that the man of tears is more blessed than they, because he has been drawn closer and closer to God. For He says, "Happy is the man who is conscious of real need."

Kin to radar, "Jump-Jump" hurls television from point to point on radio beams aimed like a searchlight.

WEST'S FIRST TELEVISION NETWORK

Relay system to operate between San Francisco and Los Angeles

1. Amplifying equipment like this is connected with the hornlike antennas above to relay television programs or long distance telephone calls from one part of the country to another. Engineers call it micro-wave...for it uses high-frequency radio waves, and it gets its nickname, "Jump-Jump," because the beams leap-frog between relay stations located on mountains 28 to 65 miles apart.

2. Television programs can be relayed from one point to another by micro-wave or by coaxial cable. The first leg of a Western television network will begin operating between San Francisco and Los Angeles September 15 over the newly-completed "Jump-Jump" system. And we're going ahead with surveys and experiments to extend the television network to other areas of the West.

3. The research which produced this micro-wave system was conducted in Bell Telephone Laboratories ... originators of so many electronic developments. Hundreds of them have led to better telephone service at lower cost...and have played a major part in making your telephone the big value it is today. For in spite of rising prices, telephone rates have gone up much less than our costs of providing service. On the average, our prices have gone up less than half as much as the cost of living generally.

SOCIALITING WITH . . . .

Vivian D. Johnson

"School days, school days,
Oh, those Golden Rule days,
Reading, and 'riting, and
'rithmetic."

THIS AGE-OLD familiar tune struck a loud chord on Monday of this week to summons the many teachers and students of the public schools back to their desks and classrooms for another year of work and play.

In Los Angeles County alone, 20,000 teachers answered the call as 750,000 students of all ages flocked to the various schools.

As we all begin another fall year, which will bring new experiences, socially and otherwise, let us look toward the future, and hope for more peaceful days, nationally and internationally, and more interesting social contacts with fellowman.

FOR EDUCATION'S SAKE

MANY OF OUR LOCAL socialities and club workers are employed by the Los Angeles Angeles Board of Education as teachers and principals in our public schools. Newcomers to the teaching field include one Miss Thomisina Ayres, recent graduate of USC, who took the role of Physical Education instructor at Carver Junior High School. Congratulations and best of luck to a fine young miss . . . And also over Carver way, we find Mrs. Marion Patterson returning to her classroom after a year's maternity leave . . . in the male department, we find that Cairo Collins, Peter Thompson, and Thomas McLurkin are to be very active elementary school teachers for the ensuing school year . . . . Recently securing their credentials from the School of Education at USC and landing placements in Los Angeles County, elementary level, are Thelma Mitchell and Doris Pepper.

Yes, those that are just beginning their teaching careers really have a world of new experiences waiting for them "just around the corner." Let's hope that they have much good luck, and make many interesting social contacts.

AND BACK TO SCHOOL FOR YOU AND YOU

WITH THE COLLEGE CAMPII beginning classes on Monday, September 18, we find that many of the collegiates are anxiously anticipating a new year which wil hold new and enjoyable experiences for many. Of course some dread the return, but realizing that seeking higher education is the best road to future success, they continue the sojourn.

Out City College way, there are many that will enroll this week. After a brief absence because of illness, Zelida LeBlanc will return to her chosen endeavors. Joyce Overr and Ann Allen will surely be more than glad to see the happy day come when classes reconvene. In the sports department, "Chuck" Neal and Ernest Powell, Kappa Scrollers, will probably play basketball for the college. Understand that Al Moore made the college Football team.

USC campus will attract quite a few new students, as well as those returning. Among them, Audrey Burrell, Delta pledge, wili attend evening classes . . . Eddie Hamilton and Jules Haywood Jackson plan to return after long absences . . . Jack Thompson will begin the last semester of his college years on the day school register . . . Petey Bradford will be busily engaged in

Young Matron Feted At Stork Shower

Mrs. Gerard (Gladys) Williamson was honored at a lovely "Stork" Shower given by Mrs. Elaine Watson, on the 3rd of September. The charming home of Mrs. Matilda Bagohin located on West 27th St. opened its doors to welcome the many friends of the honoree.

The attractive centerpiece for the lavishly set table consisted of two adorable pink and blue minature baby bassinets with two replica white storks standing proudly by. Tiny pink baby carriages were cleverly arranged at different places around the dining room. The guests had their choice of tasty food tidbits which included beautifully decorated cakes of pink and blue, dainty sandwiches, sparkling punch, candies and nuts.

The success of the occasion was reflected in the hapy smile of the popular honoree as she opened the many adorable gifts bestowed by more than forty relatives and friends. Hostesses for this affair were Misses Mildred Carter, Bertha Williams, Eloise Harris, Thelma Roberson and Jean Allen.

PERSONALITIES IN THE NEWS

RECEIVED A COLORFUL postcard from that well-missed Kappa-man, Ralph Wright, who is visiting his hometown of Jacksonville, Florida. Ralph writes that the windy city of Chicago will be his next stop before returning to the land of sunshine and flowers . . . . Glad to hear that "Chuck" Smith finally returned to his dear wife, Ethelene, from a recent visit to his home town of Grand Rapids, Michigan. Ethelene and Chuck are a very happy couple when together; but when apart, very sad! . . . Some can be said for Dorothy Duvall and Wardell Gray, better to be together than apart! . . . Recent conversation with that handsome man-about-town, Harold Machen revealed the info that his recent eastern sojourn was really worth the time and money spent. Many are glad to welcome him back for he is really a swell person to know . . . The races at beautiful Del Mar attracted a gay foursome over the Labor Day Weekend, namely the Conrad Millers and the Leonard Howards, both couples of our city . . . Louis and Zera Collier were treated to a trip to San Diego by the Fred Walls over the holiday. Major highlight of the jaunt was a visit to the ever popular San Diego Zoo . . . Understand that B. T. Davis has accepted a job placement in the field of accounting in the Northern part of our state. He plans to leave within the month . . . The many friends of Sherill Luke are anxiously anticipating his return to the city after a trip to India, and other points of interest across the high seas . . . Lloyd LaBeach, of Track fame, is back in town after participating in events in Sweden, Germany and the Eastern states . . . A few of us are wondering if it is "rumor" or "fact" that LaVonne McDaniels, former USC student, now has a new last name.

MUSICALLY SPEAKING

RECOMMENDED TO ALL that enjoy the offerings of the music world, the magnificent musical drama, "Lost in the Stars," currently showing on the stage of the Philharmonic Auditorium is really tops in entertainment. The story carries with it a real message to all Americans. The descriptions that the critics have given really live up to what is said. It is lavishly staged, and includes twenty scenes. The musical score by Kurt Weill is lilting, and the melodic themes of such numbers as "Stay Well" and "Lost in the Stars," once Hit Parade favorites, will not soon be forgotten. The original New York cast stars such personalities as our own Todd Duncan, who is superb in his role, Warren Coleman, Inez Matthews, Guy Spaull, and William Greaves. The musical will end its run on September 20 . . . As is the usual custom for visitors to our city, the cast has been royally entertained by many friends. Sunday past was the day of one very special entertainment. The spacious home and gardens of Lena Torrence was the setting for the Splash Party given for the cast, with Miss Torrence as hostess. The festivities lasted from high noon until late into the hours of evengtide. Those so honored by invitation, to meet the cast, and also to enjoy thmeslves, were Angelle Stratton, Vivian Dandridge, Irving and Doris Smith, Dr. D. Overstreet Gray, Alex Boone, Dorothy Duvall, Chuck Burris, Juanita Berry, Bernice Hamilton, Barbara and Maggie Holman, to name a few.

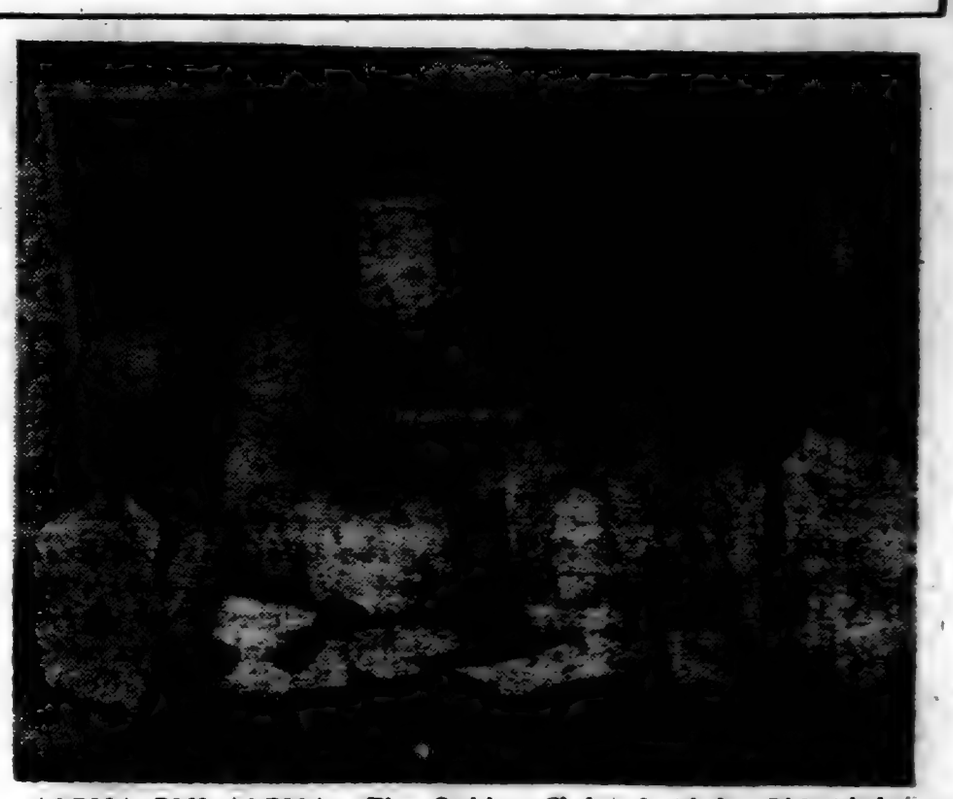
CELEBRATING THE One-Hundredth birthday of our beautiful state, the California Centennials Commission and the Los Angeles County Centennials Celebrations Incompany presented the public with "The California Story" at the Hollywood Bowl which lasted from Friday, September 8 to Tuesday, September 12. We made the last performance, and believe me it was well worth seeing. The historic pageant was a real spectacle in the celebration of the century of statehood of Caliofrnia. Many local choruses were used for musical portions of the program, and among the participants the Jester Harrison group had an active part. Mr. Clearance Hargrave took part in the Harrison chorus. Another personality well worth mention who played a principle part in the program was Jim Davis, stunt man and bit-player of motion pictures. This spectacle is one that will be remembered for a long time to come.

TO SUM UP PAST EVENTS

THE IVIES OF AKA Sorority really did it up fine on Friday night (a week ago) when they presented their annual Semi-Formal Dance at the Zenda Ballroom. This was the Alpha Gamma Chapter pledge club. This Saturday (tomorrow night) wil find the Sigma Chapter pledges entertaining with another of the same, at the same locale . . . The Wilfandel Club, an organization that has made great strides in community and social work, presented their Benefit Fiesta in Fashions on Sunday past. The festivities began at 2:00 p.m. and lasted until around 11:00 p.m. Many Angelenos were seen milling through the crowds meeting and greeting old friends and new. The fashion show was the highlight of the affair which took place around 8:30 p.m. Some of the featured models were Cecille, Renee, Ann Smith and Bernice Barnun who were very charming as they showed various fall outfits. The outdoor gardens and patio of the Paul Williams residence was a perfect setting for this successful affair . . . Reports have it that the Cocktail Soiree given by the Original Calverettes Social Club, also this past Sunday, was really a gala affair. The highlight here was the Charleston Contest, a dance that has literally "taken the town by storm." Didn't get the name of the couple that came out on top. The popular Beverly Blvd. night spot, the Beverly Chateau, was the chosen place for the unique affair.

AND OF THINGS TO COME

THUMBING THROUGH the many invitations received which we plan to acknowledge, we observe that the coming weeks will bring some very interesting social events . . . Saturday (tomorrow night) at the ever popular Elks Auditorium, the Royal Dragons will entertain, and it's sure to be in royal fashion . . . The popular Mr. and Mrs. Social Club, a new idea in clubs that requires both husband and wife's consent to join as members presents their introductory Dance on Saturday, September 23 at the Elks. It will be interesting to note the introductions wil be made of the members, for some very cleaver ideas can evolve with such a unique set-up for club members. The Child Guidance Welfare League, made up of young matrons, invites the public to join them at the Club Oasis on Sunday, September 24, 3 to 7 p.m. The affair is called "Cabadet," and the show will be presented by the club members. Understand that it has great promise for entertainment, for some of the girls are rather talented. You and you, come out and support a worthwhile cause. . . . The Saddlers Wells Internationally famous Ballet Company will come to the Shrine Auditorium for a limited performance beginning October 19. Again to those who enjoy fine entertainment, this is recommended because it promises to present the public with one of the most spectacular performances of its type ever to be staged in Los Angeles. The company comes direct from Covent Gardens, London. Tickets go on sale to the public Sept. 18. That's all for now, until next time.



Francois Andre Presents Revue "California Living"

Francois Andre, a name that is synonymous with fashion shows, is a young ambitious World War II veteran who is well-known here in the city among the popular social clubs, churches and many charitable organizations for his outstanding fashion show productions.

The Andre Studio of Modeling, directed by Mr. Andre, is making plans for an elaborate revue, "California Living," dipicting fall and winter fashions for California men, women and children and modeled by the beautiful and handsome Andre Models. The date has been set for Thursday, September 28, 8:00 p.m., at the El Sombrero Room, 121 West 18th Street.

Proceeds from the show will go toward the reopening of the Andre Studio of Modeling for the fall and winter months with a complete staff and all new equipment. All effort will be put forward in making this one of the finest institutions on the West Coast, operated by one Francois Andre, who knows the business from top to bottom. A Model Agency will be combined with the school to service the graduated models and meet their every need.

Tickets may be obtained by calling PRospect 3093.

Dancing at Jeff Hi

Jefferson Adult Evening High School, in keeping with is policy of meeting community needs, announces two square dance classes on beginning and intermediate levels.

Instruction in square dancing is given on a beginning level at Jefferson High School, Girl's Gym, Thursday evenings, 7:00 to 10:00. More skilled dancers may attend the intermediate level classes on Wednesday evenings. As a community service these classes are held at the Avalon Community Center, 42nd, Avalon Blvd., 8:00 to 11:00. Both classes are conducted by Walter L. Hutcherson Jr., more familiarly known to his dancers as "Hutch."

BECOMING to girls and women alike is that perennial favorite, the cloche. It is pictured here in spanking white with an interesting scroll design appliqued on the crown. It is crocheted in single crochet and is simple and inexpensive to make. For free directions write to the Home Sewing Department of this newspaper requesting pattern No. PC 5442X.

Golden West Duplicate Bridge Club

We come to the end of a record smashing month with our play attendance far above average for August. We are very satisfied as this month is always rather a vacation one even for those who are not vacationing.

We are pleased to welcome back from the A.B.A. National Tournament at Washington, D.C., Mrs. Ellis Veil, who is again, our West Coast Vice President, Mrs. Ann Daniels, who came in fourth in the Women's Pair Master section, Dr. Dorthula Matthews, Mr. Louis Clay, who came in second in the mixed Teams-of Four Masters, and Mrs. H. B. Washington.

Our grand triplicate trophy for Tuesday nights was won by Mrs. Blanche Woods, who also won with Mr. Lewis Wood for the month. Fr. Friday nights the trophy was won by Mr. Melvin H. Hughes and Mr. Jimmie Lawson.

Our next large event will be a Master play purposely for team work some Saturday Evening or Sunday afternoon in the next few weeks. Teams of Four Wednesday Evening.

Interfraternity Dance Informal Night in Mexico

Final plans have been made for the first Annual Informal Dance sponsored by the united sororities and fraternities of L.A. The lovely setting is the romantic El Sombrero Cafe located at west 18th St. off Broadway. Sept. anxiously and enthusiastically planning for. Mark that on your calendar as a must. The time—ten 'til two.

We will dance to the enchanting rhythms of Sammy Frenklyns' new band and the conga lines will be lead by real rhumba kings and queens. You will have fun keeping step to the tantalyzing rhythms. A clever floor show has been planned and on the stroke of twelve all Neophytes, (New Greeks), of 1950 will be introduced.

Come in that lovely informal attire for a grand time and a relaxing evening. Members of L.A.'s many popular social clubs are cordially invited and may get bids by calling Miss Cleopatra Johnson, dance chairman at AD 1-6094. Some bids will also be on hand at the door on the dance night. However plan to get yours early as they are limited. This affair is a must for all Los Angeles Greeks. You can contact your Pan Hell representative or your American Council Representative for your bids.

All Pan Hellenic Representatives should turn in their reports to Miss Cleopatra Johnson by September 19. On Sunday, September 17th all representatives must meet at the home of Pan Hellenic Chairman Mrs. Gaynell Miles, at 1938 So. Harvard at 1 p.m. for a short but important meeting.

Big Hearted Hamp

Lionel Hampton, who will appear with his 20-piece band and all-star musical revue on the stage of the Orpheum theatre in Los Angeles one week beginning Thursday, September 28, is known as one of the biggest-hearted personalities in the entertainment world.

On his return to Hollywood immediately after he completes his engagement at the Orpheum theatre "The King of the Vibes" will record "Eli Eli" for Decca, and will turn over all royalties to a scholarship fund for a young student from the new State of Israel.

Appearing on the stage of the Orpheum, along with his great 20-piece band, will be the sensational Curly Hamner, "Miss Glamour of 1950," Kitty Murray; piano star Milt Buckner; Prince of the Blues, Sonny Parker; No. 1 Trumpet Man of the Year, Duke Garrette; Irma Curry; Paul Higati, Japanese trombonist; Jeanette Franklin; trombone stylist, Al Grey; Betty (Be Bop) Carter; and Hamp's new vocal discovery Gil Roland who has the appeal of sinatra and Eckstine combined.

Deeps Signed For Ten Weeks At Palladium

LONDON, England.—The internationally famous Deep River Boys, who have achieved the greatest success of their careers on their current tour of England and the British Isles, have been signed for a 10-week engagement at the London Palladium, opening October 10, which will mark the longest run of any American act in the history of the famed British showplace.

The deal for the Deeps' record Palladium run was set by their personal manager, W. T. (Ed) Kirkeby, with Val Parnell, the Palladium's managing director.

Due to the length of their coming Palladium engagement, the Deeps have been forced to postpone a series of bookings they were to have fulfilled on the European continent during November and December. These bookings will be rescheduled early in 1951.

OLD TIMER

HOLLYWOOD.— Emmett Lynn chalks up a record of 372 pictures in 37 years with his role of an old Westerner in RKO Radio's "Best of the Bad Men," which co-stars Robert Ryan, Claire Trevor, Jack Buetel and Robert Preston, Lynn made his movie debut with the old Vitagraph Company under the late D. W. Griffith.

D.C. Theatre Run Non Jim Crow Basis

WASHINGTON. — (ATLAS)— The Gayety theater, operating on a non Jim Crow basis here is well launched for the coming season with 16 weeks of booking already set. It reopens Sept. 18, with the Broadway bound "Affairs of State," the Louis Verneu comedy about Washington, starring Celeste Holm.

It also has 12 weeks of Theatre Guild shows and a week of the Maxwell Anderson-Kurt Weill "Lost in the Stars" in mid-December.

Negro White Policy for Florida Cafe

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—(ATLAS) —Comedian-boniface Alan Gale, whose Celebrity Club, Miami Beach, is currently in process of renovation, and will install a policy of two complete shows at his cafe this winter.

Gale, plans to appear at the dinner show in company with several white acts, while midnight and late shows will have a Negro cast.

Spot reopening Dec. 15, will have Sarah Vaughn, Berry Bros. and Timmie Rogers playing the late displays.

The Coleman's Herb & Yvonne Make Record

HERBERT COLEMAN is a little guy—he's all of ten years old . . and his sister, while a few inches taller, is only a couple of years older. Yet, to hear them sing, you'll think you're listening to a couple of conservatory-trained grown-ups! They're a wonderful pair!!! Herbert just finished a highly successful run in one of Broadway's biggest stage hits this season, the highly touted "Lost in the Stars." This is his first record after several years of Broadway, radio and TV.

On the teasin' side, Herbert and Yvonne sing a cute, bouncy little duet about a little girl who, in spite of what her Mommy told her, can't resist teasing the guys . . . and her brother Herby does his level best to keep her reminded of what Mummy told her. It's a good little duet with all the appeal of these juvenile voices packed into the record.

On the companion side, "I'll Wait," little Herbert makes like a great big grown-up with big eyes for the imagined sweetheart but with the realization and the resignation of waiting 'till they're both old enough to tie the knot.

Say You Saw It in the EAGLE

Newcomer Is Brad Dexter

Brad Dexter, Hollywood newcomer with vast stage and radio experience, today was signed for a top role in RKO Radio's "Macao" after Samuel Bischoff had screened more than a score of tests before filling the important assignment.

Dexter will play an American gangster who runs the rackets on the Portuguese island. He'll share dramatic scenes with Robert Mitchum and romantic interludes with Jane Russell and Gloria Grahame. His screen debut was made recently in "The Asphalt Jungle" as Louis Calhern's double-crossing private detective.

RKO executives are so enthusiastic about Dexter that Howard Hughes has taken an option on a long-term contract for his services. "Macao" is being directed by Josef von Sternberg and produced by Alex Gottlieb.

NOTES FROM A NEWSGIRL'S NOTEBOOK:

Lillian Randolph left the city for a quick trip to Washington to complete engagements there before beginning her new fall show. . . . Party given for members of "Lost in the Stars" over at the Tarrence manse was hmmmm delightful . . . and speaking of "Lost in the Stars" one of the theatrical writers on one of the dailies was a wee bit confused as to the name of the person responsible for the terrific dance scenes, technique and choreography in the impressive musical drama . . . credit for such is due LaVerne French, who not only rates high as a dancer but has a disposition to match. . . . Phil Moore head over heels in work (and he loves it). Can ya imagine a fella getting paid for working with beauties like Ave Gardner, Peggy Lee, Diana Lynn, Dottie Dandridge and others like them?

Music lovers welcomed the news of the complete recovery of saxaphonist Arnett Cobbs, who at one time was right at death's door and today he is receiving the applause of thousands who rooted for his recovery and as Ted Yates put it, "There's nothing corny about the corn on the (COBB)" . . . Cute Ruby Lewis and Ardie Jobe "will tell it to the preacher soon." . . . If success means having a turn-away crowd every Sunday afternoon with hundreds in line waiting to get in, then Lin Hilburn and Roy Loggins Jr. are a perfect example with their weekly Sunday afternoon sessions of "Jazz on Sunset" out at the Club Hawaii.

Vocalist Johnny Hartman's new waxing of "Nobody's Got It Better Than Me" is "C'est Bon." . . . Lionel Hampton and his swingsational orchestra back to the Orpheum with another terrific show. Imagine a fella going into a theater at one time at $500 weekly and returns at $15,000 weekly. And if that ain't $$$$$$ then I don't know the meaning of the stuff.

SUDDEN THAWT: "So often it takes two to make a marriage: a single girl and an anxious mother." . . . Big night tomorrow night with the Gene Norman concert at the Shrine in presenting a doubleheader, Billy Eckstine and George Shearing . . . and the opening of Billy Holiday at the Oasis. . . . Friend Paul Heiss says "True love is when a guy can still see in agirl what he saw in her before he saw her with a hangover."

NOTES, NEWS AND NONSENSE:

Esvan Mosby donating a great deal of his time in preparing for the gigantic farewell party for the Sixth Engineers Combat Unit Sunday night over on Exposition at the big armory . . . loads of food, top entertainment, fun and all "free" soooo tell everybody to be on hand to really give these fellas a big send-off. . . . Nat Cole and Stan Kenton team on Capitol for waxings of "Orange Colored Sky" and "Jam-Bo." . . . We're still getting raves on our beautiful "chapeau" given us by the Horace Clarks . . . and Betty cutely tells us "you'd better appreciate it because I brought it all the way back from Italy."

Hear that Elaine Robinson, wife of the late Bill, is really thrilled over the way the new Bojangle Brand Wine is coming along . . . it is now being bottled in Atlanta. . . . No sooner than Billy Eckstine completes engagements here in the city, he will headline New York's swanky Copacabana nitery. . . . Duke Ellington's has really gone western with his new ditty, "Cowboy Rhumba." . . . David Sturges, the noted playwright, is now preparing to produce his wonderful play, "Human Tragedy" . . . and will soon begin casting.

Her perpetual ability to smile widely at everyone is why attractive Dottie Crozier is one of the Angel City's most likeable socialovelies. . . . FINGERSNAP: The best way to keep a secret is to yourself. . . . Whether you look at her face or her figure the result you get from Verna Copes is still satisfactory. . . . Dollphin of Hollywood takes the honor for having the most complete record store on the west coast. . . . Jeni LeGon getting praises for her wonderful manner in working with a group of youngsters for a TV skit.

Lady Day Headliner At Oasis

The great Lady Day, Billie Holiday, will make her first Los Angeles night club appearance in almost three years at the Club Oasis, 3801 So. Western, beginning the Friday, September 15.

America's number one song stylist, Billie has come a long way from the days when she waited tables in her mother's Harlem restaurant. Her greatest records are still top favorites and many of her earlier waxings are rare collectors' items. Her latest Columbia release, "Am I Blue," follows in the tradition of her earlier greats, "I Cover The Waterfront," "Gloomy Sunday," "Lover Man" and "Strange Fruit."

Audiences at the Oasis are promised a view of Lady Day's fabulous new $11,000 wardrobe especially designed for her by famed New York couturier, Wilma.

Larry Steele's 'Smart Affairs'

PITTSBURGH.—(ATLAS)— For the first time in the history of Bill Green's smart dance spot, a big floor show will entertain. It will be Larry Steel's All-colored revue, "Smart Affairs of 1950," which has been a hit all summer at Club Harlem, Atlantic City.

Its opening date is Oct. 20, shortly after the completion of the seashore run the end of next month.

Tunes Back to Chesapeake Club

The Four Tunes, exclusive RCA Victor recording artists, are back at the swank Chesapeake Lounge in Cottage City, Maryland after having completed eight weeks straight booking there two weeks ago.

Famous as one of the most distinctive vocal groups in the country, the quartet has been featured at such outstanding east coast nighteries as Chubby's in Collingswood, New Jersey, The Park Avenue Cafe, New York and Philadelphia's Showboat. Nevertheless, this short-spaced return engagement is a new experience even for the Tunes.

The group first skyrocketed into prominence when it teamed with Savannah Churchill on the hit "I Wanna Be Loved."

Latest addition to the University of Southern California football coaching staff is walter (Mike) Milligan, head coach at the University of Pittsburgh last season.

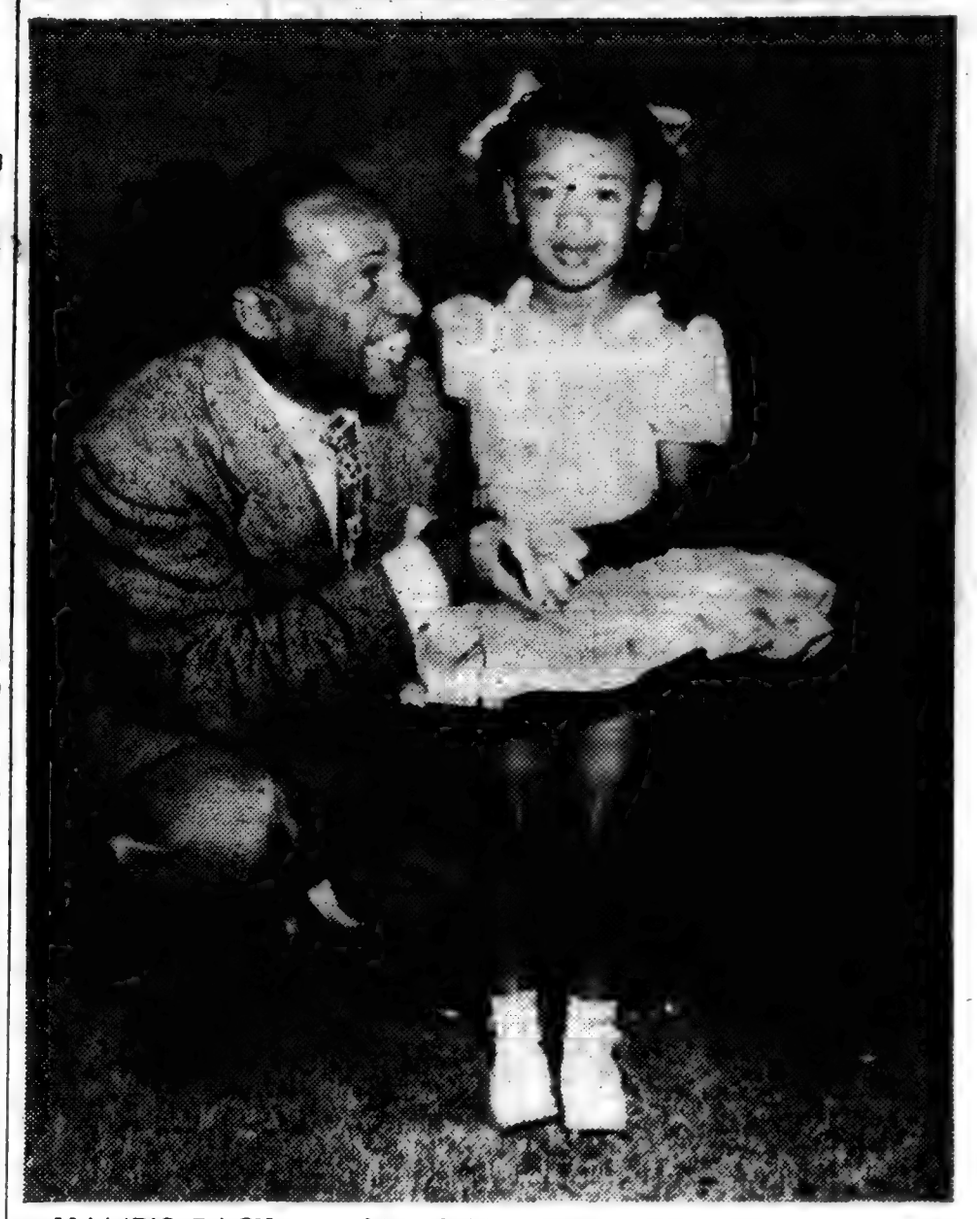
Farewell Party Sunday Night For Nat'l Guard at Armory

MR. "B" HIMSELF . . . Will be headlined along with George Shearing in a Concert tomorrow night at the Shrine Auditorium.



Big Free Party Sunday Night At The Armory

Sunday night, September 17th at the Los Angeles Armory, 700 Exposition Boulevard, the National Guard personnel assigned to the 1401st and 1402nd Engineer Combat Battalions will be honored at a Farewell Party.

Mr. Mosby, chairman of the Entertainment Committee has secured the city's top and best entertainment for the night. Promising to be on hand for the gala affair: Amos Milburn, The Honey Drippers, Smoky Lynn, Harvey Brooks, Roy Porter and his 16-piece band, Bettye Washington, Big Jay McNeely, Lillian Randolph, Bill Day, Dick Sanford and his band, Mighty Man Maxwell, Wonderful Smith, The Robbins, the city's top disc jockeys and a host of other big name artists.

This affair is free to the public, and will begin at 8:00 p.m. and last until 2:00 a.m., plenty of free food and drinks . . . everything is on the house, just "come out and enjoy yourself, cause it's much later than you think.

Don't forget it's a big Farewell party and the public is invited to come out and join in the fun. Sunday night at 8:00.

Eckstine and Shearing In Concert Tomorrow Night at Shrine

Another first in the field of popular music will be established Friday, September 15, when Gene Norman presents the great Billy Eckstine and the equally famous George Shearing and his Quintet in concert at the Shrine Auditorium. The Shrine engagement will be the beginning of a series of concert dates by Eckstine and Shearing which will take them across the country.

Eckstine, the outstanding male vocalist of the last two years, is presenting some of the most impressive vocal sounds in jazz. His warm baritone and distinctive style is heard on records from coast to coast and his "in person" appearances establish box office records every time.

The young and brilliant George Shearing has only been in this country for the last few years, but in that length of time, the British blind pianist has gone straight to the top. Winner of the English music magazine "Melody Maker" poll for seven consecutive years, he has consistently placed high in American music polls.

Tickets for the concert are on sale at Southern California Music Company and all Mutual Agencies. TU. 1144. They will also be on sale at the Shrine box-office the night of the concert.

NO SPONSOR

HOLLYWOOD.—On the set of RKO Radio's "The Gaunt Woman" Philip Dorn told of seeing a picket parading past a Hollywood store with a blank placard. Asked why there was no message on the placard, the picket answered: "I'm looking for a sponsor."

TALL TARZAN

HOLLYWOOD. — Lex Barker, now starring in Sol Lesser's "Tarzan's Peril" for RKO Radio, is the tallest of the 10 actors who have played the jungle lord. Barker stands six feet three inches, and weighs 220 pounds.

GOODY! GOODY!

HOLLYWOOD. — Jane Russell will wear a sweater on the screen for the first time in RKO Radio's "Macao," in which co-stars with Robert Mitchum and William Bendix. Part of a sports outfit designed for her by Michael Woulfe, the sweater is white cashmere and will be worn with a red and white polka dot skirt.

Sarah Opens At Johnny Brown's

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—Sarah Vaughn, the gone gal with the magic voice, will make her first appearance in the Smoky City in more than two years in opening a two-week engagement at Johnny Brown's, a brand new local night spot.

The incomparable singing star, who is currently soaring to new popularity heights with her Columbia platter of "I Love The Guy," one of the nation's five best-selling records according to all trade surveys, has been absent from the local scene since her appearance at the Copa Club in 1948.

Following her two-week date at Johnny Brown's, Sarah will do a week at Detroit's Fox Theater, opening Sept. 22, and then heads back to New York to make her second appearance on stage of the Paramount Theater on Broadway, opening October 4.

HORACE HEIDT will furnish another great entertainment spectacle in his annual appearance at the Hollywood Bowl, Sunday evening, September 17, at 6:00 p.m. This great array of singers, dancers and musicians have recently returned from a European trip of all the U. S. Army installations and have been nationally acclaimed as one of America's greatest entertainment troupes.

NOT SADNESS, BUT GLADNESS in the eyes of ROY MILTON, hit star of Specialty Records, when he presented a copy of his smash blues hit, "Sad Feeling" to his good friends, Ella Fitzgerald, Decca's First Lady of Song, and the inimitable MGM recording star, Billy Eckstine.

Musician Association Report On September Activities

The Los Angeles Branch of the National Association of Negro Musicians welcomed their Annual Convention representative and delegates home at their regular Sept. meeting held at the home of the President, Mrs. Lillie T. Hogue.

The evening's highlight was the Convention report given by the L. A. Branch official representative, Mrs. Faustina N. Johnson, who was and still is the Western Regional Director for NANM. The report as given was so interesting, educational and complete that all present felt they had been to Baltimore and partaken of the wonderful workshops, artist and youth concerts, receptions and other good times.

Mrs. Johnson's resume created great interest in next year's Convention with already four persons vowing they will not miss the scene of action in Washington, D. C. 1951.

The inspiration of the members and officers was so encouraging that there is no doubt in any one's mind that the planned program set for Sunday, September 17, 1950 at the Bethel A.M.E. Church, 1511 W. 36th St., 7:30 p.m., Rev. T. L. Scott, pastor.

This marks the 3 rd major monthly cultural event given by the L. A. Branch under the enthusiastic guidance of Mrs. Hogue who has only been President of the Branch four months.

This program will be a "Twilight Musical," featuring the 1949 National Convention Scholarship winners: Georgia Lassiter, Mary Louise Whitley, Jacqueline Frazee and William DeValentine. At this time these four young artists will receive their scholarship checks. Also three Branches of California, San Diego, San Bernandino and Santa Monica will each receive their National Charter from the newly appointed State Organizer, Mrs. Bessie Woodson.

Other delegates attending the National Annual Convention with Mrs. Johnson were: Miss Jean Jackson, who represented the Branch on the National Branch Night program by singing 2 well received numbers, one in German and one in English; also Mrs. Alberta Joyce, who became the pet of the Convention and who enjoyed the social life of not only Baltimore but of Washington, D. C., Ohio, New York, Virginia, North Carolina and many other eastern points.

If you are not a member of the L. A. Branch why not call Mrs. Hogue at CE. 23815, the president and find out how you can join and what part you can play to make Los Angeles a better cultural center for the boy and girl of today who will be the man and woman of tomorrow.

We welcome you—we invite you—we need you—lovers of music, artists, students, teachers and directors.

Adult And Youth Choruses In Rehearsal For Fall Activity

The Watts Youth Chorus will resume its activities next Tuesday night, September 19, when it holds its first fall rehearsal at the One Hundred and Eleventh Street School, 1610 East 111th St., at 7 p.m.

One of more than 40 youth and adult chouses which meet weekly in various parts of Los Angeles, under the auspices of the city's Bureau of Music, the Watts Youth Chorus is directed by Freita Shaw, with Laura Smitheran as accompanist.

The Westside Adult Civic Chorus also continues its activities next Tuesday night, September 19, when it holds another rehearsal at the Foshay Junior High School, 3751 So. Harvard Blvd., at 7:30 p.m.

One of more than 40 youth and adult choruses which meet weekly in various parts of Los Angeles, under the auspices of the city's Bureau of Music, the Westside Adult Civic Chorus is directed by Andre Green, with Veraneace Andrews as accompanist.

Membership in the chorus is open without charge to residents of this area as a part of Los Angeles' city-wide, year-around program of music participation for all of its citizens, regardless of race, creed or color.

RAPID TRANSITS

Two held in Aug. both ended in ties. On Aug. 11, M. Gordon and G. Hunnex came first with 4-1, and in the double Round Robin of Aug. 25, Gordon and H. Rogosin tallied 4-2.

Henceforth this will be a regular event, open to members of all clubs, staged on the last Friday of each month at 8 p.m. Entry fees of 50c provide cash prizes for winners.

WORRIED TREASURER

Rodriguez has a furrowed brow these days, but the deficit will be overcome when current dues are all paid up.

YOUNG COMPOSER—A. H. Levister will be on hand for the first performance of his first quartet Friday night at the Clark Hotel, 426 S. Hill Street, as part of the program marking the fourth anniversary of the American Russian Institute. Levister has composed for voice and piano, and he is considered a brilliant and promising musician.

Outdoor Art Show Chairmen Appointed

The Department of Municipal Art today appointed 10 prominent Los Angeles artists to serve as Coordinating Chairmen for the outdoor art shows to be held in as many city parks October 13-15. The outdoor shows are part of the enlarged program for the 6th Annual All-City Art Show at the Greek Theatre and will feature paintings, sculpture, outdoor demonstrations and talks by artists and critics. Designing and staging is being done by the American Institute of Architects.

The following artists were selected: Emil J. Kosa, Jr., Cheviot Hills; Mary Finley Fry, Hollywood Park; Noel Quinn, Queen Anne; Frank A. Jensen, South Park; Helen Kaye, Van Ness Playground; Nordica D'Orsay, North Hollywood; Mrs. Emmet J. Kinevan, Sycamore Grove Park; Ruby Usher, Lou Costello Junior Recreation Center; Miss Oma Shrain, Cabrillo Beach and Mrs. Virgina Weaver, Beverly Hills.

Community Sing Will Feature Novelty "Barnyard Jollities"

Exposition Park's Community Sing will have a definitely rustic flavor this Sunday afternoon when Santa Monica's Jewell School of the Dance presents its "Barnyard Jollities" as the feature of the free 3 to 5 p. m. program sponsored by the city's Bureau of Music. Winn Haslett will open the program with community singing, for which Constance Johnson will provide the accompaniment.

Three different age groups, ranging from 4 to 17 years, will be presented—the Jewellettes, Baby Jewells and Jewell-teens.

Among the familiar dances and songs to be given are the Chicken Reel, Turkey in the Straw, Ozark Antics and others. Mildred Diehl is the director-accompanist of the talented young troupe, who will.. also.. present examples of eccentric and acrobatic dancing on he hour-long program.

Four Generations Fete Adam Hall

Last Sunday afternoon a surprise party was given honoring the 73rd birthday of Mr. Adam Hall, by his children and family. The scene of the occasion was in the lovely and spacious garden of his daughter, Mrs. Ruby Beeks.

Mr. Hall, a building contractor for many years, has been a resident of Los Angeles for more than 27 years. Among his six children are - Mrs. Essie Backstrom, Mrs. Gladys Baker, Mrs. Ruby Beeks, Mrs. Susie Procter, Willie B. and John T. Hall—all of whom are well know locally. Most prominent among them is his eldest son, John who has been active in the NAACP and Postal Clerks' Organizations. The entire family with the exception of his youngest daughter Susie, who with her husband and three children, are stationed in Germany, joined in the celebration.

During the course of the festivities, more than one hundred guests, friends and relatives which included among the latter, a host of grandchildren, great grand children, nieces and nephews. Prominent among the guests were: Mrs. Bernice Barnum and mother; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Hall, Mr. Abi Porter and family; and expressing regrets of not being able to attend were greetings from Dr. H. C. Hudson—messages poured in from all sections of the country and from overseas—wishing the septaugenarian good health, happiness and a long life.. Acting as impromptu Master of Ceremonies, the messages were read by Julius C. Hall, nephew of the honored guest. The occasion gave way to providing for a double celebration by also honoring Mr. Hall's sister-in-law, Mrs. Gertrude Hall, wife of Rev. Philip Hall of Alexandria, La., who has been visiting with her family for the summer.

Verdi Memorial Program For Guild Series

An important addition has just been announced to the programs scheduled for the 10 Chamber Concerts which the Music Guild will offer in Wilshire-Ebell Theatre, during the 1950-1951 season.

Giuseppe Verdi's only major essay in chamber music—the String Quartet in E minor—will be played in tribute to the great Italian master, on the 50th Anniversary of his death.

The performance will be by the Paganini Quartet who just recorded htis work for early release by RCA-Victor. On the same program, December 7th, the third in the series—will be another rarely heard work by a composer chiefly famous for his operas, Richard Wagner's "Adagio for Clarinet and String Quintet."

The Music Guild season will open on October 11, with a program of compositions by Brahms, Mozart, Busoni, Stravinsky and Schumann, to be played by duo-pianists Vronsky and Babin, assisted by Eudice Shapiro, violin; Victor Gottlieb and Armand Kaproff, violoncellos; Joseph Eger, horn.

LEON, university graduate of botany, and inventor of the sensational NEW NITROGENIZER and LONDON PLANT FOOD BRICKETTE, has for 45 years specialized in the field of horticulture. His vast knowledge and ability in the field have been amply demonstrated by his being commissioned to supervise the maintenance and beautification of the world-famous Huntington Gardens of Pasadena. He was formerly with the London Kew Botanical Gardens, and leading gardens throughout the United States. Leon has devoted many years in experimenting with various types and kinds of fertilizers—through his knowledge and ingenious application of that knowledge it is now possible to offer you this amazing, economical new process of plant fertilization.

Weekly Reminder:

Fires, in the home, once started, spread rapidly because there are many combustible articles on which to feed. In most homes not only the contents, but the building itself, is combustible.

Of the seven major causes of fires in and around the home during the past year, Fire Department records reveal that the disposal of rubbish by open burning and defective incinreators contributed to approximately 4600 of them.

AT ALL DRUG STORES EVERYWHERE—IN LOS ANGELES, AT THRIFTY DRUG AND OWL REXALL STORES

WERE WOMEN BORN to SUFFER?

"No," say lots of lucky girls

Maybe you, too, can look back on those "dreaded days" each month and revel in blessed relief from pain. For if you suffer from functional periodic cramps, discover—as so many other women have—the wonderful help Cardui may bring.

Cardui works internally to help minimize painful contractions of the organ muscles. Thus it aids in overcoming a frequent cause of cramps. Maybe your suffering is needless, too. See what aid of this modern type can do for you. Ask your druggist for a bottle of Cardui (Say "card-you-eye").

New Thrifty Drug For Downtown L.A.

Another "drug store of tomorrow" for the downtown Los Angeles area was announced this week by Manny Borun, vice-president of Thrifty Drug Stores.

Through W. I. Hollingsworth & Co., realtors representing both the lessee and the Santa Fe Land Improvement Co., Thrifty has taken a long term lease in the Santa Fe Building on the northeast corner of Sixth and Main Streets.

Plans for improvement of the location are being designed by Charles L. Webber, structural engineer. The new store will boast over 5100 square feet of space. It will be ultra-modern in every respect, using self-service systems in several departments, newest-type easy-vision display fixtures and the unique "open-front" fullview windows that allow passers-by to se the complete interior of the store.

Approximate opening date of the newest link in the chain of Thrifty Drug Stores, from San Diego to Santa Rosa, has not been announced.

Calif. Highway Patrol

SACRAMENTO—You bet your life when you fail to give your full attention to your driving, says the California Highway Patrol.

In these troubled times too many motorists take the wheel of their cars worried or distracted, the Patrol pointed out.

"With the ever-increasing traffic and its attendant hazards, the motorists must concentrate on his driving every minute he is at the wheel," the Patrol declared. "Anything less than full and complete attention may involve him in a fatal accident."

Commercial vehicle citations issued by the California Highway Patrol during the first seven months of the year totaled 50,561, Commissioner Clifford E. Paterson reported. Of the total, 30,767 were arrests and the balance of 19,794 were warnings, he stated.

Hobbs Men's Shop Softballers Win League Championship

Hobbs Men's Shop softball team won the Roosevelt Park Summer League championship. In the semi-finals there was a three game playoff between the "White Front" team and Hobbs. The White Front team was sponsored by the White Front Appliance Company, 7657 Central Ave. Hobbs team won the playoff in two straight games, 14-3 and 8-2. James Henry and Tom Moore pitched the first game. Tommy Miller pitched the second game for the Hobbs team.

The final playoff was a three game series between Hobbs Men's Shop and The Cobras. The first game was played at Roosevelt Park Tuesday night, Sept. 5. James Henry and Miller Lamkin were chosen by manager Tom Moore as the starting battery. Manager Bill Tully of the Cobras, which incidentally is a one family team, composed of five brothers and four cousins, chose his brothers, Bob Tully and Al Tully as his battery.

The game was very exciting only, one of Hobbs' outfielders lost a couple of long flys in the dark which caused the difference of the game. The final score of the game was Hobbs, 4, Cobra, 7.

The second game was scheduled for the following night. The battery for Hobbs' team that night was Tom Moore and Russell Knight. The Cobra's battery was Bob Barbola and Al Tully. The Manager, Tom Moore, selected himself as starting pitcher but found it difficult getting the ball over for he walked eight men in the first two innings. Although only three runs were scored by the Cobras in those two innings. Moore turned the hurling duties over to Carl Green who did an excellent job for the rest of the game which ended, Hobbs Men's Shop, 18, Cobras 7.

Well with the series tied and the deciding game to be played Hobbs Men's Shop started their Ace hurler, Tommy Miller with Russell Knight doing the catching. The Cobras sent their winning battery back, Bob Tully and Al Tully. Hobbs started right off the first inning by getting four runs off of two walks, three hits and an error. The Cobras thought they would tie things up in their half of the inning for Miller walked the first two batters. The Cobra manager told his team to wait for a walk, well he shouldn't have for Miller was warmed by now and struck out the next three batters. The second inning was practically duplicate, but from the second inning on Miller was the master, striking out nineteen and hitting a home run with two on. The final score of the deciding game was Hobbs Men's Shop 10, Cobras, 0.

Hobbs Men's Shop team was presented a beautiful trophy after the game, which can be seen in the window of Hobbs Men's Shop, 4373 S. Central Ave. along with a picture of the team. So ends a successful season for Hobbs team and three cheers for a swell sponsor.

Turkey Thompson Will Battle Clarence Henry In Legion Ring

Turkey Thompson and Clarence Henry, one-half of California's quartet of heavyweight contenders, will box the 10-round main event at Hollywood Legion Stadium next Friday night.

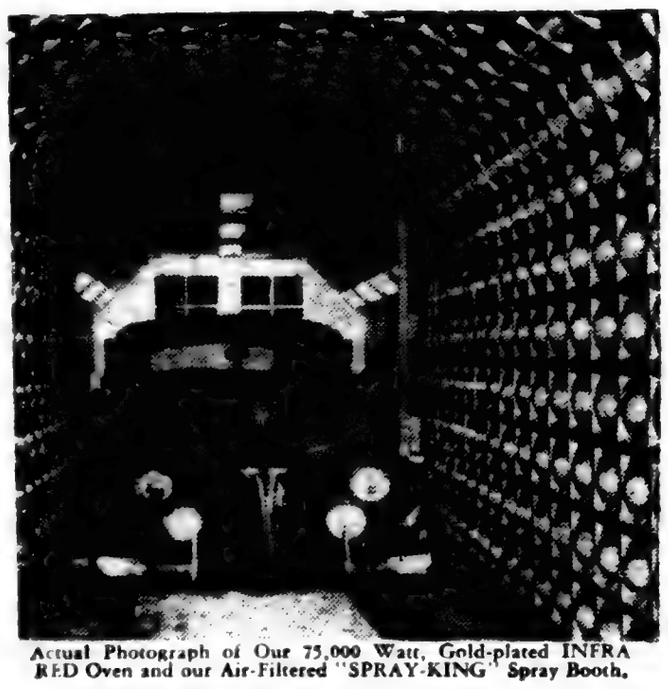
Thompson and Henry, along with Willie Bean and State Champ Frank Buford, comprise the foursome of title threats entered in the championship chase by the Golden State.

For both men (Thompson and Henry) Friday's match shapes up as the "do-or-die" fight of their careers. Henry, the best-equipped young fighter in the country today, has a world of possibilities when it comes to scaling the heights of fistiana. All that is needed, apparently, is for the lad to find himself. He has shown to great advantage in many of his bouts, but has at times lost out on golden chances. He is the only man to score a knockout over Bob Murphy, current rage of California fight circles. The ex-Golden Gloves champion knocked out Rusty Payne in his most recent effort, which was also at Hollywood.

Thompson, at 29, is still considered a serious threat to world heavyweight honors. The heavy-hitting Turkey, one of the best heavyweights developed, locally in the past 20 years, owns a great knockout record—33 out of 61 pro bouts. He is getting what may turn out to be his last chance in a major California ring, in his bout with Henry. Should he fail to turn in a good win, it may be curtains for a career that started nearly a dozen years back, when Thompson weighed somewhere around 147 pounds. He tips the beam at 212 now.

At this writing, Thompson has been installed a slight choice to win the match. Ring observers claim Henry can't withstand a belt on the chin the way Thompson delivers it. Others, however, insist Henry will turn in one of his better performances in outboxing and outscoring a man whom most of the top-notch heavyweights in the world ducked at one time or another.

Chuck Wilkerson and Marcus Vasquez, featherweights, clash in the six-round semi-final.



Eleven offensive records were set by University of Southern California opponents last season in every department from most conversions (17) to most yards running and passing (2944). In spite of 35 major injuries, the 1949 Trojans won five, lost three and tied Ohio State, Rose Bowl champs.

SC football teams have visited the Rose Bowl four times in the past eight seasons under Coach Jeff Cravath, dean of Pacific Coast conference coaches.

University of Southern California football teams have scored six touchdowns in one quarter on two occasions, against Pomona in 1925 and against Arizona in 1928.

On The Turf

By GEORGE A. RAMSEY

CALIENTE, Old Mexico.—Asbestos, the son of Porter's Mite-Tropic Isle, won the main event billed as the Clang by two lengths. Jockey R. DeBelloy made it a wire to wire win, taking the lead at the break. The son of Porter's Mite never looked back: Held in the betting as the second choice, he paid $8.00. The six furlongs was run in 1:12 3 5.

GEORGE RAMSEY

The secondary feature "University Club of Los Angeles" at one mile and seventy yards was captured by the longshot Rhoten, who came from fourth place in the stretch to gain a neck victory over Brown Box, another long shot, to pay in the mutuels $21.20.

A coup was sprung in the fourth race when Tinta Bar, who raced for a claiming price of $7,500 not long ago, was dropped in a cheap $700 claiming event and scored by two lengths.

Opening the morning line at 6 to 1 money began to show so fast the price dropped to 8 to 5 and the mutuel payoff was $5.00. This was one of the biggest coups in many months at the border course.

The formplayers had a field day, when seven choices out of the twelve races, were able to visit the charmed circle. Jockeys T. Powell and J. Fishburn both scored doubles.

One of the big features for this Sunday will be the new $5,000 public handicapping contest. Anyone picking seven straight winners from the third race through the ninth will receive the pot of gold.

In case no one picks the seven straight winners, $500 consolation prize will be given away after the last race for the lucky program numbers.

First prize will be $300, second $200.

The Daily-Double backers of Crash Boat, winner of the second race and Hard Twist, victor of the third received $17.80, while the Quniela paid $58.80 to the holders of tickets on Cisco Gale and Abscond, who finished in that order. The Sunday General Manager Walter C. Marty two features will be "the Autumn" at six furlongs and "The Sapphire" at five and one-half furlongs for maiden two-year-olds.

(With the Greyhounds at Caliente) with plans being completed for the biggest event in the history of dog racing in the west, General Manager William (Bill) Collier is very busy arranging the final details for the $10,000 derby to be run in the near future. Excitement prevails with the owners of the best kennel at the track and the dogs are being given extra preps. K. C. Stoss, Joe Bills, Faultess Rube and others will go to the post in this rich event.

Althea Gibson Accepts Invite To Tournament In Mexico City

TALLAHASSEE, Fla.—Althea Gibson, 22 year old student at Florida A and M College who was on the verge of upsetting Louise Brough at Forrest Hills did not fade out of the picture at Forrest Hills after her defeat at the hands of Miss Brough. She participated in mixed doubles with Joseph Hansen of Sweden.

The young tennis star, who was the first Negro to be admitted to competion at Forrest Hills has also accepted an invitation to play in the International Pan-American Tournament which will be held in Mexico City September 30—October 7.

She will fly to Florida A and M for registration for the fall semester and then fly to Mexico City.

A Bear a Man

California's three and-a-half month bear hunting season opens September 16 with good prospects for the hunter to bring home his seasonal limit of one bruin.

Bill Jessup and Dan Zimmerman, SC's pass-receiving specialists at end, scored six touchdowns between them last season.

Pepperdine Set For Opener at San Luis Obispo

Pepperdine's Waves open their 1950 grid season and their first year of conference competition in football Saturday night against the Cal Poly Mustangs at San Luis Obispo.

A party of 48, including 35 players, will fly to San Luis early Saturday in two DC-3's.

Coach Ray Richards is expected to start a combination somewhat lighter but considerably faster than last year's team. At the helm will be Eddie Hyduke, 165-pound senior quarterback. The Inglewood star will work a backfield of Dick Dankworth (175), left half; Phil Daher (170), right half; and Hal Batesole (180), fullback. Fastest set of backs in Pepperdine grid history, this quarete averages 173 pounds.

On the line, which averages 199 to bring the team average to 189 pounds, Richards probably will use Jack Bighead (205) and Dick Hensley (170), ends; Ray Clark (215) and Gene Vollnogle (204), tackles; Dick Hill (195) and Otto Plum (180), guards; and Bill Scott (220), center.

Among the backs Hyduke, Dankworth, and Batesole are lettermen and Daher a transfer from University of Arizona. Linemen lettermen are Bighead, Hensley, Vollnogle, Plum, and Scott. Clark was a varsity squadman last season, and Hill is a Compton College transfer.

USC Trojans Split 'T' Looks Good

Professor Oppenheimer split atom at California, but pigskin professor Walter Hargesheimer split the T at the University of Southern California.

As SC's footballing Trojans head into the second week of fall practice, the "split-T," a studied variation of the stock T-formation used by Troy for the past eight seasons, is the only element remaining from an experimental spring practice.

More than 75 candidates got in their first licks of contact work, with a few split-T plays being injected into the Trojan T-party. It's major difference from the standard T is wider spacing of linemen, intended to spread the defense.

CHESS CORNER

Cosmo, a public interracial club meets Wednesdays, 7:30 p.m. at 2180 W. Adams.

White Mates in Seven

This endgame study is from the Cosmo-Pasadena match of 1949. Sotero Rodriguez, Cosmo co-founder and perennial secretary-treasurer, has White: Pc-Q4, K3, KN3; N-K5; R-QN7; K-KB6. Black: Ps-KR2, K3, Q4, QN4; N-KR6; R-QB; K-KN.

Last week's solution: 1 R-QN7. B-K3; 2 QxP.

Want to Learn Chess?

Anyone can in a short time, and without cost. Free instruction to beginners, young or old, men or women, is a regular service offered by Cosmo at all of our Wednesday evening meetings.

Have you always admired the intriguing beauty of the carved chess pieces, and wished you knew how to move them on the checkered board? We give you a standing invitation to learn the Royal Game as our guest.

Club Champ Tournament

For those who already know chess, Cosmo offers a year-round schedule of tournament, interclub, and ladder play. Coming up next is the club's third annual championship tournament, beginning Oct. 4 and contiuing Round-Robin fashion every Wednesday until completed.

The tourney will be slated in two sections, an "A" group for strong players and a "B" group for those less experienced, with prizes for winners in each group.

Traditionally this biggest event of our club calendar is "open" to non-Cosmo members, and an outsider is welcome to steal our club title—if he can!

CAPPED PIECE MATE

A rare but dramatic chess spectacle is offered by the master player who announces before the game starts, not only that he will win, but by which particular piece he will checkmate you. Here the famous Max Lange contracted to execute the mate with the queen's knight, and sacrificed queen, rook, and bishop to do it.

Cosmo's third annual Club Championship Tournament will get off to a heated start on Oct. 4, and before then all members should register with the Tournament Director so he can post complete playing schedules on that date.

As in years past, the tourney will be a Round Robin, in "A" and "B" sections to be played off one round every Wednesday night. The customary entry fee of $1.00 will furnish a fund for prizes to be announced later.

Every Cosmo member register! Open to all outsiders, too!

Maine Doctor Urges No Inequality In USCF

Dr. J. Melnick of the Portland (Maine) Chess Club tells us: "Jim Crow must go. I wrote to Mr. Giers that there should be an amendment to the By-Laws of USCF covering such cases.

"I am happy to state there is no discrimination in our club. We have several colored members, and they are always welcome."

Montgomery Majors, editor of the USCF's CHESS LIFE, has proposed that the Board of Directors vote on a series of propositions to bar discrimination.

PEN PALS CORNER

By BARBARA ANDERZA

Guest Columnist: Tip Bailey

Ah! well a hello all you pretty little gals and ug-ole guys. As the "Great Lover" I shall now address you. Here goes . . . Who is the player from Manuel who's tried all his tricks over there and now tryin them at Belmont? His initials are C. O. . . . The boys over at Belmont are awful shy. Wonder if it's because of the girls or cause they're just plain stupid . . . All you boys had better watch out, cause Bib Milton Alleyne is out for everybody's blood. P. S. Especially Gilford Dumas's and Bobby Strange's . . . A certain young man by the name of Albert Campbell is trying very hard to get the telephone number of a certain young lady by the name of Norma?, I am not suppose to give the last name . . . I, Tip Bailey think that I will try my luck with a certain girl(the name by the way is Fritz Daniels. P. S. There may be a chance you know . . . The big question around town is, will Gilford Dumas ever make up his mind, and settle down and get hisself a girl friend? Clemie Jones has just returned from Texicana, Texas. She had a real fine time down there while running from one point of the city to another. (Get what I mean, ha ha).

Hint List

James Durden—Delores Brown
"I Need You So."
Bobby Strange—Carmen Chavez
"I Love You Yes I Do."
Chester Herring—Connie Johnson
"Call Me Darling."
Milton Alleyne—Cel Prince
"Roselle."

Break Ups

John Buchanan—Rosland Daulphine.
Gilford Dumas—Cecil Center.
Floyd Buchanan—Delores Meeks.
Kenny Price—Helen Hargrave.
James McNeal—Anita Layne.

Sweet Couples

Lorraine Mouton—James McCullough.
Carmel Crunk—Mae Catherine.
Allen Guidry—Shirley Reed.
Tip Bailey—All of them.
There was a scrumptous back to school dance, given at the Phyllis Wheatly home last Sunday by the Les Tres Jollies. Even though I wasn't there personally, heard that all the hard-heads were . . . Caught a glimpse of Beverly Guano selling her heart to the junk man . . . She said that since Johnny didn't want it, she had no use for it . . . Don McAllister ain't strutin like he usta, ole Nellie Young hasn't "Dropped Him A Letter" as yet. Marie Finks and her sister Marggie have turned traitors. Instead of returning to Conaty, they went to Jeff. Oh! well it takes all kinds of people to make up a world, I guess.

Lover Man

This week's lover man is the very handsome James Durden. His measures are: 5 ft. 9 inches, 140 lbs., dark dreamy-brown eyes and black curly hair. His hobby is, girls and clothes. I think that it was about time we picked up on this handsome feature of a man. He has attended Jordan, Manual, Poly and Jeff. He, now goes to Manual Arts. His telephone number is PL. 2-9929.

Lover Girl

Boys! Boys! Boys! never has there been anything so, soo charmin to present as Fritz Daniels. Her measurements are as follows: 5 feet, 4 inches, 122 lbs., black hair, dark brown eyes, attends the great Belmont High. All right boys let's not all try to sign up at Belmont, it's kinda crowded over there. Tsch Tsch don't get your hopes up too high cause I ain't gonna give ya her phone number. That's my territory.

Mary Alice Walton's boy friend must really have it bad. Do you know that he called her long distance from Seattle just the other day. Boy, and that costs money.

Guess I'll go on my merry way
Cause I haven't any thing else to say.
(Notice, it's a poem)

United Nations In Action At Woodlawn Branch YW Festival, Saturday

The garden of the Woodlawn Branch will be the scene of colorful decorations of many lands as the United Nations Festival gets under way on Saturday, September 16 from high noon and continues throughout the evening until 9 p. m.

Those attending will have the opportunity of choosing foods of various cultures, Mexican enchiladas, tacos, Chinese tea and fortune cakes, real Italian spaghetti meat balls and of course American hotdogs, candies, pop, etc. Carnival games, caricature drawings, clown acts for kiddies will all be a part of the festivities.

There will be an opportunity to learn about the YMCA locally, nationally and world wide. To sign up for assistance in the Community Chest drive and to renew or secure membership in this great organization.

The program consisting of an unusual array of talent in keeping with the United Nations idea will get under way in the early part of the evening, but varied entertainers will mix and mingle throughout the day with music of all countries adding to the gayety.

Booths will be judged between the hours of 5 and 7 p. m. on their authenticity and beauty and awards will be made accordingly.

Clubs participating are endeavoring to secure as much patronage as possible prior to the 8 o'clock announcement of awards for largest contributions. They are depending on friends and the general public to support the cause of the YWCA.

The Pepsi-Cola Company will do its part to add to the occasion by having a booth for all nations, the proceeds of which will be donated to the YWCA.

Do not miss the biggest thing that has ever happened in Los Angeles, Saturday, September 16th, Woodlawn Branch YWCA. 4260 Woodlawn avenue.

This festival in action will be shown on television Friday, September 15, station KECA at 2 p. m.

Evelyn Burwell, known for her artistic genius and her achievements in human relations, has arranged a most unusual array of talent for the festival.

Mrs. Fay Rosenblatt, second vice president of the League of Women Voters, for the State of California, will head the list of very competent judges of the booths for the United Nations Festival.

She will be assisted by Mrs. Gard Yokoe, Mrs. Florence Cole Talbert McCleeve, Miss Mildred Blount and Dr. Thomas Roy Peyton.

According to Mrs. Josephine Ladd, chairman of that committee, they will be judged on both authenticity and beauty and a beautiful world shaped trophy will be presented as first award with recognition for second and third runner ups. Countries to be represented, are: Italy, France, United States, India, China, Hawaii, Africa, Americans, Brazil, Haiti, Holland, Mexico and Arabia, Japan, Alaska.

Mr. and Mrs. Jowitt Chao from China, Renne Andreo, head of the Italian School of Music and for fourteen years associated with the Metropolitan Opera; John Aronkiosny of India; Brett Hamilton, Atwater Kent winner, Holland; Marian Wilkins, guitarist and Spanish dancer; Leah Shelton and Hal Conrad, from England, radio, stage, screen and television artists will do a vocal duet; Willie Schmidt; Timber, the movie dog with Earl Smith his trainer; Rudy Rende recording artist; Windy Cook, impressionist; Nativial Vacio, guitarist, with his wife and her group of Maxican dancers; Madie Norman; Debbie Jean Joyce; Wonderful Smith, outstanding comedian; Clarence Muse of "Sleepy Time Down South" fame; Collen Alpaugh, Swedish yodeler, Dr. Thomas Roy Peyton, who has recently traveled in Brazil and will give highlights of his trip.

Numerous others whose names do not appear will be introduced by Mrs. Evelyn Burwell during the course of the evening.

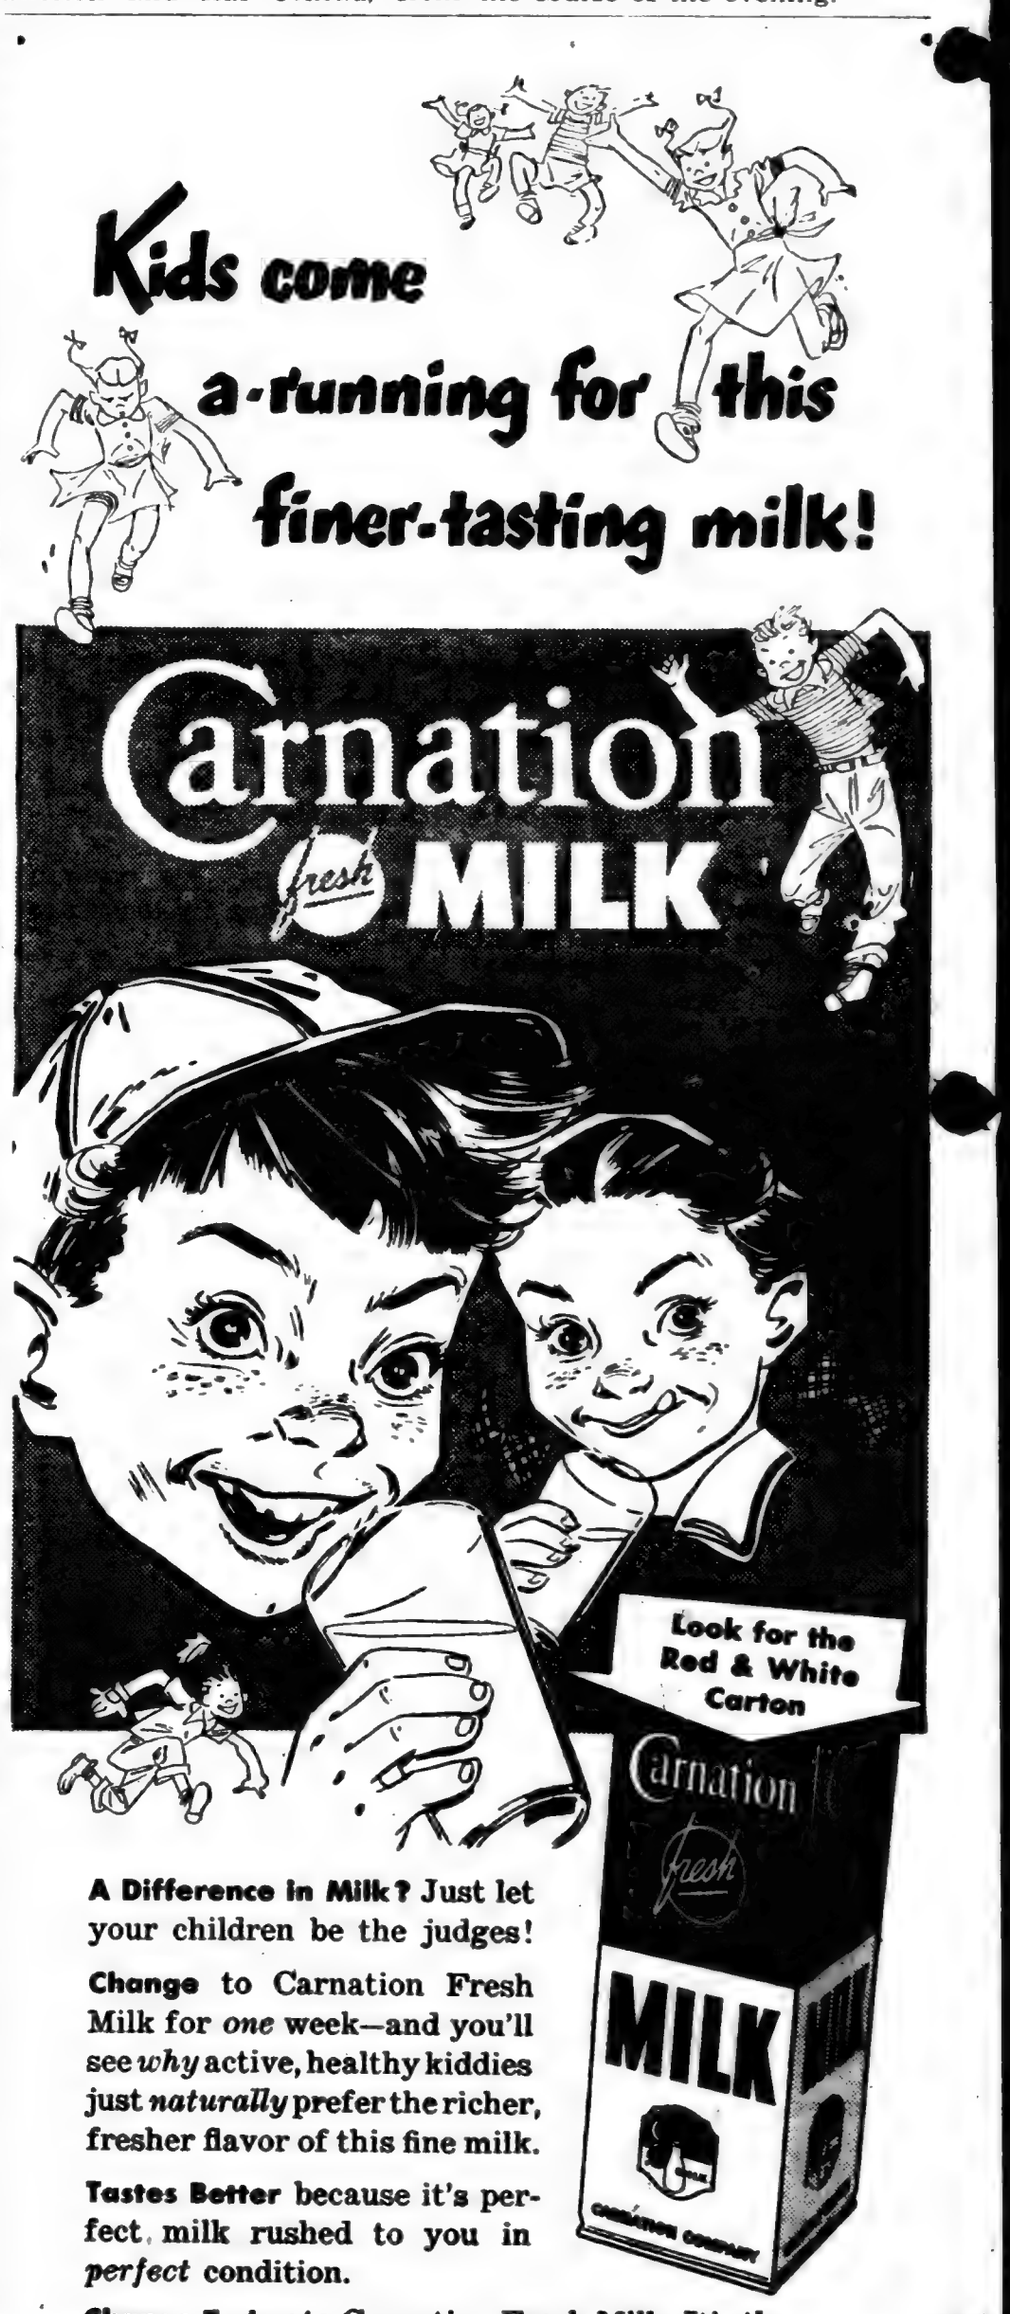
School of Psychology

Classes for the fall term of the Institute of Depth Psychology, a graduate professional school for training counselors and depth psychologists, will begin October 2, according to Ralph W. Odom, administrative director. Registration will begin the week prior, at the school's quarters located at 245 Lucas avenue.

Wilson Named Polit. Sc. Teacher by ELAJC

Dr. John A. Howard, Dean of the Extension Division of East Los Angeles, announced last week that Lawrence B. Wilson has been named instructor for two courses in Political Science to be offered by the Extension Division of the College at the Eastside Settlement House, 1219 East Adams Blvd.

American Political Institutions, dealing with the formation and development of the National, State and Municipal Governments, the executives, legislatures, judiciaries, citizenship, suffrage, the party system and local government institutions, will be given on Mondays from 7 to 9 p.m.



CURRENT AFFAIRS is a study of the modern world and national affairs based on lectures, speakers, and current magazine readings. Historical development, geographic and economic background of present day issues will be stressed. This class will meet on Wednesdays from 7 to 9 p.m.

Any adult or high school graduate is eligible for registration in these courses. Registration will continue through Sept. 18 and Wednesday, Sept. 20.

Two units of college credit will be given for each course. Political Science 10 meets the California State requirement in Constitutional Government for Junior College graduations.

Lawrence B. Wilson is a well known young business executive and church and civic leader. He was formerly professor of Political Science at Philander Smith College, Little Rock, Ark.

KINLOCH'S LETTERS

By JOHN S. KINLOCH

Fewer ships are produced at Calship Consolidated and Western Pipe and Steel yards because of the Boilermakers International Union Jim-Crow policy.

Who says so?

Navy intelligence says so.

The existence of Jim-Crow in the shipyards prevents development of national unity. It stands in the way of Negro and white workers meeting together, planning together, fighting together fully for the maintenance of an all-out flow of ships.

We must have ships to make sensible the Battle of Europe and the Battle of the Pacific. Our men are waiting for the things that our ships will bring them. Their lives depend on it. Nothing is more important. No prejudice must be established policy.

Negro workers in the yards solidly organized behind the shipyard workers committee for full union participation. Thousands of white workers sympathetic and cooperative with them. This sympathy grows daily.

When the anti-Jim-Crow shipyard workers meet each week at the YMCA, there isn't room for all who come.

The struggle to wipe out union segregation in the yards has entered its climax battle stage. Action is awaited by the war manager commission and the Fair Employment Practice Committee.

Negroes in the yards, the MAJORITY of them, have REFUSED TO PAY DUES to a Jim Crow union "auxiliary" set up by the reactionary ex-representatives ofthe Boilermakers International.

One Negro sold out his fellows. He was promptly rewarded with a paid post of "organizer" for the Jim Crow outfit. He is a traitor.

He opened an office of the Boilermakers "auxiliary" this week. Scores of Negro pickets have maintained an incessant patrol in front of it.

But an editorial in Monday's Los Angeles Tribune says it is impossible to oppose Jim Crow in the yards. It says the traitor is noble. It says he will wage an unceasing fight against Jim Crow auxiliary and against the executives from whom he receives a $300 a month check.

E. V. Blackwell, Boilermakers International representative, says Negroes must take Jim Crow and like it.

The Tribune says ditto.

But white workers offer to picket the union San Pedro headquarters in support of actual participation for Negroes.

The Uncle Tom says that Negroes should not oppose his Jim Crowism because that shows Negroes are divided.

But Negro workers are unified against the Uncle Tom, and Negro leaders issued a manifesto against the Jim Crow auxiliary.

All mobilization of shipyard workers for all-out production awaits defeat of the Boilermakers Hitlerite race segregation.

The Tribune article rolls over, picks up all four feet, and purrs contentedly into the face of all enemies of full war production and all the keepers of the Negro in his place.

It slithers from side to side in its own puke.

There is no argument for this vagrancy. There is nothing to "reason with." There is only a way-out, a treason in our midst, a snivelling before the enemies of our people and our nation.

What "answer" could there be to this editorial?

The answer is in acts and not words.

It is contemptible and treacherous, but most of all it is a failure, for it cannot stop those acts which are its only actual answer.

It cannot stop the action of Negro shipyard workers who know that the Jim Crow union is a treason gate between them and upgrading, is a padlock on full production, is a mortgage on their future, is a challenge to the most fundamental necessity of democracy.

Can you picture the shipyard workers reading that editorial and halting their struggles?

Can you imagine the pickets reading that editorial and throwing down their signs?

That is its purpose, but its purpose is hopelessly lost.

It will instead harden the determination of the men. It will reveal a new pill-box of the Jim Crow enemy and direct their fire toward it.

Part of the fight against Jim Crow in the yards is the denunciation of its apologists.

The Tribune editorial is contemptible. Yes.

But most of all it is a failure.

PEACE

By VERA SIMON

I see people marching on.
And as they march they sing.
They sing what they wish. A song about peace.
So loud, so mighty, so strong!
I hear it ring.

No one shall have the strength to stop it!
The people will unite.
They will not have to fight.
They will not kill! They will not fight!

They will not starve. They will not die.
They will not hate. They will create
A world to live in, a world for all.
A right and just world, where no one is betrayed.

This is what people want. Peace! Peace! Peace!
No exchange for something else.
No bullets, tanks, or atom bombs,
No bacteria, or bloody-making deals.

Yes, it's peace we want!
For everyone and everywhere
Peace on earth, Peace in the air!
It's our wish. We shall get there!

Rep. Robert Rich (R, Pa.) told Congress the other day that what it needs is a good psychiatrist. Some of the members have that awful feeling of insecurity.

Are We, the Negro People, Getting a Fair Break?

By REUBEN BECKLES

The above question can be answered by you and you alone.

To some of you who read this article, you will perhaps find the topic a little embarrassing but what you read will be from my own and others' experience.

My name is Reuben Beckles, age 18, and a graduate of Thomas Jefferson High School.

Have you ever dreamed of having a home, a business of your own, when you were young? Well, I have .not knowing that your race or color made a great difference. If you're white, you get it; if you're black, you work for it three times as hard. Then sometimes you never get it.

For a long time I've read items, listened to round-table discussions on the air, and talked to many people. The only difference in people might be: character, personalities, color of skin, etc. To me we are all human beings; in religious terms, brothers and sisters! Or don't you believe this? How then can we be called a minority group?

Being born in America, the greatest country in the world, we have a great Constitution, if it were enforced to its fullest extent.

What's this FEPC and Civil Rights? What's the Bill of Rights?

In times of peace it's no job ("N——r, Sambo, and Jim Crow) but in times of war it's "Buddy, Buddy" for the money man. You come back home, if you're able, and it's the same old thing—second best.

It's taken our parents and our fore-parents approximately seventy-five years to pull out of slavery, but times have changed and people are changing with them . The majority of the people I've talked to, say our parents took it. But why should we take it when we know better?

Many parents have said, "Hold on. You might get hurt, or they might call you a 'Communist.' But if something happens to me because of what I believe; if one American defending his country comes home and asks for a job where he knows there was an opening and for which he was well qualified, and because "White comes before Black," he is denied it, how would you feel if that person were you?

Not long ago I read a want-ad in the Los Angeles Examiner. Well qualified, I called on the phone ,and I was asked if I was "white or colored." I said, "Colored."

"Sorry, no opening," was the answer I got.

Don't you think it would be nice if every person able to read and write and willing to fight for our general welfare, would join together and get the recognition we deserve?

Helping our NAACP would be swell, for at the present they seem to be at a standstill.

Stop and think. Out of the Negro race came some of the world's most prominent people. If you are an American and believe in what is right, do you think we have something worth fighting for? Or do you think we should wait another 75 years to climb a little higher, or until your brothers and sisters come home from another police action to live a living hell?

Youth Forum Sunday, Sept. 17 At Tea Room

The third and fourth in a series Sunday evening open forums will be held on September 17 (this Sunday) and September 24 at the Crystal Center Tea Room, 4818 Avalon Boulevard from 6 to 8 p.m.

This Sunday Horace Alexander formerly national Vice President of the NAACP Youth Council will speak on "Youth 1950."

On September 24, Dorothy Morrow, secretary of the Council on African Affairs will review "The World and Africa," by Dr. W. E. B. DuBois.

A question and answer period will follow each discussion and review. Donations may be made at the door.

The forum series is sponsored by the Hugh Gordon Book Shop, 11109 E. 42nd Place. Information regarding the series may be obtained by calling ADams 6431. The Hugh Gordon Book Shop specializes in information and facts about the Negro in our history.

Trinity Street PTA

"Getting Acquainted — Our First Step," will be the theme of the first meeting of the Trinity St. PTA to be held Thursday, September 21, at 3 p.m., in the school auditorium.

Following the business session, a "Get Acquainted" tea will be held, hostessed by the executive board of the PTA. Mrs. Lawrence Tharp, president, is in charge of arrangements, assisted by Mrs. Chester Hemphill, room mothers chairman, and Mrs. Robert Slack, hospitality chairman.

Mrs. Claire G. Gist, principal, will introduce the faculty and welcome parents to the school.

A musical program will be presented by Mrs. Raymont Siegel, program chairman for the association.

Services at Israel Starting Friday

The church of Israel, Rev. H. D. Higdon, pastor, at 4501 Compton Avenue, will hold services beginning Friday, Sept. 15, and will continue through Monday, the 18th, and on Friday, the 22nd.

On Friday, the 7-year-old wonder, preacher and healer, Samuel Theophilus Holmes, will be present. Everyone is urged to attend these services. Virginia Campbell, reporter.

NAACP Meets Sunday

The regular monthly meeting of the Los Angeles branch, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will be held at the St. John Methodist Church, 10003 Wilmington Avenue, Sunday, September 17, at 3:30 p. m.

Rev. J. J. Hicks, pastor of the host church will be the principal speaker with the St. John Choir furnishing music under the able direction of Mr. P. S. Holden, and Mrs. Francis Alexandria organist. Dr. E. I. Robinson, president of the branch will preside. All members and friends are urged to attend this meeting.

Labor Evangelist

Isom Williams, former organizer for the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen (AFL), now an ordained Baptist minister, is headed South to preach the gospel and trade unionism.

Neighborhood Church

"The Tongue" is the sermon subject chosen by the Rev. M. Mansfield Collins, pastor of the Neighborhood community Church, San Pedro street at 47th place, for the 11 a. m. service this Sunday, Sept. 17. There will be special music by the combined choirs with four saxophones and the violin.

There will be a pew rally at 3:30 p. m. sponsored by the Deaconess Board. Evening service will be at 7:30, with the Rev. Collins preaching. Sunday school at 9:30 a. m., and prayer service at noon each Wednesday.

The tenth anniversary of the church will begin on Sunday, September 24. Visitors are always welcome.

Christian Fellowship

The Church of Christian Fellowship is emphasizing fellowship meetings and devotional literature. On Sept. 6th Dr. J. A. Somerville exhibited at the monthly dinner beautiful technicolor movies of the Somerville's trip to the West Indies.

On Sept. 27 the noted religious movie "Second Chance" will be presented by the deacons and deaconesses, Mrs. Belle Roberts and Dr. D. Herbert Heywood, charimen. At the Fellowship Dinner, Oct. 4th the J. W. MacNairs will tell of their recent trip to the Commencement of famous Hamilton College (alma mater of Atty. MacNair) and the Finger Lake scenic region.

Wesley Annual Rally

Wesley Methodist Church will holds its annual rally day Sunday, September 17. The day will begin with the Church's School annual breakfast followed by promotional exercises also held by the Church School. Many pupils will be advanced in departments and classes.

Dr. E. W. Rakestraw, pastor will preach both at the morning worship and vespers. At the morning worship he will speak from the subject "What Are You Living For?" The topic of his vesper message is: "Christ the Borrower." Music for the day will be furnished by the Junior Choir under direction of Marguerite Chapman. The Junior Choir is relieving the Senior Choir which has been on duty all during the summer.

Pastor Honored

OAKLAND—A testimonial dinner in honor of Rev. G. Linwood Fauntleroy will be held Sept. 22 in the McGee Baptist Church at McGee and Stuart streets in Berkeley and will celebrate Fauntleroy's six years of service to the community life of the East Bay area.

During these years as pastor of the Greater Cooper AME Zion Church has has worked with organized labor to elect some of Oakland's city councilmen and has been one of the leaders of the campaign against police brutality. This work resulted in his appointment to the mayor's committee for civic unity. He now is a candidate for state senator from Alameda county on the Independent Progressive Party ticket.

The proceeds from the dinner, the invitation asserts, "will be used to help this distinguished community leader carry on his campaign for world peace and community improvement."

It is hope which makes the shipwrecked sailor strike out with his arms in the midst of the sea, though no land is in sight.—Ovid

125 Attend Wesleyan Service Guild Meet

More than 125 women were present as delegates at the Wesleyan Service Guild week-end at Pacific Palisades, recently.

Rev. Henry Oh, pastor of the Korean Methodist Church was the conference speaker, "Christianity in Korea" was his subject. Stewart Lim showed color movies of Ewha College in Korea. Charles Wood and David Milina showed color movies of the native ceremonials of the Yuma, California Mission Indians. Dr. George A. Warmer, superintendant of the Los Angeles district addressed the delegates and Miss Persis Porter presided at the sessions. The Santa Monica Guild arranged a delightful Harbor boat trip.

Six delegates from Holman Methodist Church were Mrs. Thelma Patillo, Mildred Denton, Vernice White, Maxine Blackwell, ElRae Griggs and Hazel Bacbeth, president of the Guild. All of the special music presented at the conference was under the direction of Mrs. Hilma Jenkins. The Choral Grunp included Mrs. Gloria Speights, Lula Moore, Oteka Goodwin and Mildred Denton. Mrs. Thelma Patillo did the special solo numbers and Mrs. Margery Lewis was accompanist.

Mrs. ElRae Griggs, of Holman Methodist, was installed associate district secretary of the Los Angeles Guilds at the University Church.

Health of Negro People

The dire picture of Negro health in the United States was outlined at a Tuesday luncheon of the Urban League's 40th anniversary conference by Dr. Remus G. Robinson of the American College of Surgeons.

"Theer is only one physician," said Dr. Robinson, "for 3,500 Negroes all over the nation, whereas the national ratio for all persons, Negro and white, is one physician for 750 persons." Major blame for the deficit in medical personnel rests, he said, "in the attitudes and policies of the 79 medical schools in the United States."

The conference was held recently in Grand Rapids, Mich.

Baha'i World Faith

"The Challenging Requirements of the Present Hour" is the subject on which Mrs. Robert W. Kenny will address the public meeting of Baha'i World Faith to be held at Los Angeles headquarters, 331 South New Hampshire Avenue, on Sunday afternoon, September 17th, at 3:30 o'clock.

A unification of the whole of mankind is now proceeding. Unity of family, of tribe, of city, state and nation have been successfully established.

World unity is the goal toward which a harrassed humanity is striving. The world must recognize the oneness of human relationships.

Mother Study Group

The mother study group of Second Baptist Church, 24th and Griffith, will hold its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Vivian Gray, 1215 S. St. Andrews Pl. The guest speaker will be Dr. Ellis E. Toney.

REV. M. E. CRAWFORD of the Second Baptist Church, Los Angeles, has been called to serve as pastor of the Second Baptist Church in Hanford. Rev. Crawford is a comparative newcomer from San Antonio, Texas. He came to California in 1944, and served as pastor of the Junior Church at the Lincoln Avenue Baptist Church and as Associate pastor and director of Youth Activities of the Community Baptist Church, both of Pasadena. Upon moving to Los Angeles he joined the Second Baptist Church where he served until being called to the present church. (See story).

Rev. Crawford Called to Second Baptist, Hanford

Rev. M. E. Crawford, a newcomer from San Antonio, Tex., has been recently called to the Second Baptist Church of Hanford, California.

Rev. Crawford is the son of the late Rev. Wm. Crawford of San Antonio, Texas. He is the product of the San Antonio schools and a graduate of Prairie State University. He has done post graduate work at Howard University, USC and California Baptist seminaries.

Before coming to California Rev. Crawford served as superintendant of the Prairie View Sunday School for three and one half years, chairman of the midweek vesper services for two years he pastored the Bowden chapel Baptist Church for one year, and served as the resident superintendent of the National Youth Administration project, located at Guadalope Baptist College for two years.

After coming to California in 1944, he served as pastor of the Junior Church at the Lincoln Avenue Baptist Church, and as associate pastor and director of Youth Activities of the Community Baptist Church, also in Pasadena.

Upon moving to Los Angeles, he joined the Second Baptist Church where he served until being called to the present church. Rev. Crawford is also the missionary of the Los Angeles District Association. He is an evangelist and Bible teacher. With his fine talented wife to help him we predict for him a great future.

As wisdom without courage is futile, even so faith without hope is nothing worth; for hope endures and overcomes misfortune and evil.—Martin Luther

Veterans for Peace

"Atomic war can be banned and peace can be won if the people now will rally together to fight any and all attempts by the fascists of this country to stifle free expression with legalized fascism, such as the country's 'Little Mundt Bill.' The veteran must be in the forefront in this battle to maintain democracy in the United States, and thereby prevent 'the Wall Street set' from embroiling us in a world conflict that will lead us all to chaos."

The above statement by Al Bricker, chairman of the Union of California Veterans, was released with an announcement that the union will hold a giant mass rally for peace, Tuesday, Sept. 19, at 8:15 p.m. at the Star King Hall, 2936 W. Eighth street, near Vermont, Los Angeles. Everyone is invited and there will be no admission charge.

Highlighting the program will be Alvah Bessie, one of the Hollywood Ten, now in a federal penitentiary for upholding the United States constitution. He will have a special message for the veteran.

Horace Alexander, chairman of the California Young Progressives of America, will speak on "Our Withering Rights in a War Economy."

Diamond Kim, editor of the Korean Independent, will tell of the valiant fight of the Korean people to abolish landlordism and serfdom.

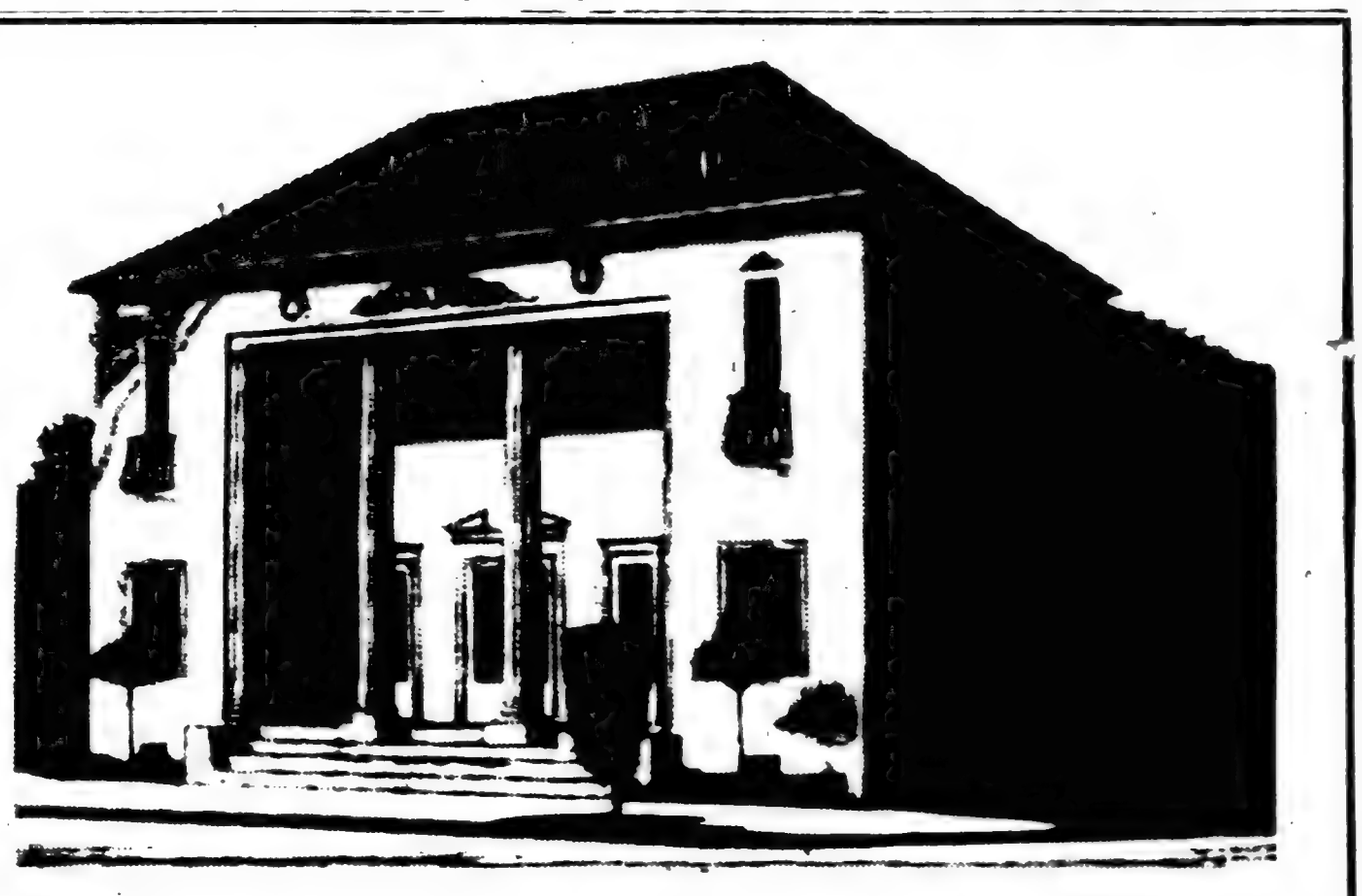
Pamphlet Against Insulting Speech

The importance of eliminating racial and religious insults from our speech was stressed this week in a pamphlet issued by the California Federation for Civic Unity.

The six-page guide, entitled "Prejudice Won't Hide," aims to help develop "a language of equality." Richard W. Dettering, executive director of the organization, stated that the material will be circulated throughout California, directed to those "who favor good human relations, but who still express latent prejudice in many of the things they say."

Warning that unless we "quit insulting people of different ancestry, a large part of the world will turn against us," the pamphlet proceeds to analyze common racial and religious slurs, both in the form of "blatant bigot-words" and in the more disguised expressions of polite condescension.



"Many of the gentle people who intend good-will, reveal a prejudiced background in their daily talk,' 'the pamphlet states.

"Undercover prejudice—unrecognized and taken for granted—is America's worst domestic enemy," the examination concludes. "It makes us out to be hypocrites in the eyes of the non-Caucasian world—which is most of the world—and it leads us into the pitfall of making foes when we think we are making friends. What is happening in Korea should let us know there isn't much time."

Loyola Evening Classes

Among the courses offered by Loyola University's Evening Division, slated to open Sept. 25, with registration Sept. 20 and 21, will be several "learning by doing" courses in communication arts and music, according to N. J. Mietus, director of the coeducational night school.

Dr. Vierling Kersey, former superintendent of city schools, will offer a graduate education course in the university's evening division.

The course, applicable toward the general secondary credential, and will cover methods, presentation, recitation, assignments (home work) discussions and questions, as techniques for learning.

"Elementary Russian," taught by Dr. Kasimir Alminauskis, Iron Curtain refugee, and "History of Russia" taught by William Walsh, authority on Slavic culture, are two courses of current interest.

Diptheria Drive

The opening of Los Angeles city schools again signals the start of the annual health department drive against diphtheria which will officially begin on October 9, Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer, announced this week.

"Diphtheria is still as serious as ever, having caused four deaths so far this year. Available funds, however, will enable us to immunize only 30,000 public school pupils, whereas last year 60,000 were protected," Dr. Uhl said.

A schedule is now being prepared by the Board of Education designating those schools.

National Baptist Voice Defends Freedom Of Speech

(Following is an editorial reprinted from the Baptist Voice, official organ of the National Baptist Convention, U.S.A., Inc., printed in Nashville, July 15, 1950):

The press carried a terrible story about a congressman from Mississippi, who used a vile threat and made an attempt to hit Patterson, who heads the Civil Rights Congress. Earlier, Ben Davis was convicted. Later, the U.S.A. took Paul Robeson's passport, as if they were afraid to let him go abroad and talk. The masses of Negroes are following these men and their careers with eagerness.

Really Fighting

In barber shops, on the trains, around church, you can hear discussion on these three. The conclusion these people reach seem to be this: There three Negroes are really fighting for the Negroes, and the rest of the Negro leaders have been bought and paid for. While the Negro press does not support them, they take good pains to give publicity to anything they do. The press has a sneaking admiration for them.

We would be hypocrites if we did not admire men who are willing to stand persecution for their convictions. Paul Robeson and Ben Davis are children of fortune when it comes to material comforts. Ben Davis was raised in the lap of luxury. No Negro youth had a better chance to live a life of ease and comfort.

Educated at Amherst and Harvard, the son of one of the most prominent Negroes of Georgia, it was just a matter of time before he could have been a fat, sleek, soft living slave. We all know about the success of Paul Robeson. We do not know much about Patterson. But these three turned their backs on "servile pomp" and preferred "hard liberty."

Now comes reactionaries to persecute them and the result is: "They are making them martyrs and heroes." The reactionaries must learn that the problem of Negro leadership is a problem for Negroes. The Negro race has plenty of leaders who can meet Paul Robeson, Davis and Patterson in the realm of leadership and hold their own. The Negro leaders who do not share their viewpoint do not need the help of the reactionaries.

Close Ranks

What the reactionaries do is to make the Negroes close rank and pitch in to help them because "of the enemies they have made." What Negro would side with that congressman in calling Patterson a vile name? This writer hardly knew that Patterson existed, but now I know him and have sympathy for him.

These white reactionaries must quit dipping and dabbling in purely racial matters. They seem to say: "You boys can't handle the situation so we will take over." When they say that ALL NEGRO LEADERS SAY "is that So. We will see." Just a little peep at the statistics of the Communist Party will reveal how many Negroes belong to that party. Why do you think that so few Negroes belong to the Communist Party? Make no mistake: If the Negro leaders had gone with the Communists, the masses would have come along. In fact, they shove the leaders to the left as it is.

To the reactionary leaders we say: Stop persecuting Negro left wing leaders and making heroes out of them. The white press is forever warning about their left wing leaders: "Don't make martyrs out of them."

We are fully conscious, however, that this advice will do no good. For the first characteristic of a reactionary is dumbness and he is incapable of seeing the results of his actions and words. It never occurs to him that it is possible to admire a man but not his doctrines. Sure we admire Paul Robeson and Ben Davis and Patterson, but we also know that if Russia drops an atom bomb on us we can't say: "Don't fall here, this is a Negro house." No Negro in his right sense wants Russia to destroy America. You reactionaries keep that in mind and stop acting like clowns every time you hear a left wing speech or see a Red leader.

More Power To You

More electric power for homes and businesses, and to meet industry's increased demands of wartime production, will become available to Los Angeles next year from the city's great $42,000,000 Owens Gorge hydro-electric project, being built by the Los Angeles city department of Water and Power, according to progress being reported on the giant project.

CAPABLE SERVICE SINCE

Miss. Negro Girl Raped by Two White Men; Rapists Released

MT. OLIVE, Miss. — (Calvin News Service)—Around the time when great wailing and gnashing of teeth were filling the skies as Civil Rights Congress representatives were calling up Governor Fielding Wright and Judge Bruton of the U. S. Supreme Court to save Willie McGee from death on his fourth scheduled trip to the electric chair for having supposedly raped a Laurel, Mississippi white woman. Two white men by the name of Bruett Hernby and the other surname is Sykes, are alleged to have gotten Sousa Durr of the Leebill Community—near Magee, Mississippi, a tenant farmer drunk. They carried him home and forceably, over the protest of the girl's mother, Mrs. Lula Durr, took his daughter, Hazzie L. Durr, to a lonely cabin three miles away where she was repeatedly raped during the whole night by the two men.

Immediately following the kidnapping of Miss Durr, her mother succeeded in awakening the father who went to the home of Marvin Berry, white, on whose farm he lived and told him what happened. Whereupon he is reported to have gotten a couple of other white farmers and went off in search of the girl and her abductor but returned without having located them.

Hazzie, bruised and bleeding and nude, dragged her way home the next night and gave a gruesome account of how she was stripped of her clothing and forceably raped by the two men and left in the cabin without clothing.

Warrants Sworn Out

Landowner Marvin Berry, it is reported, took Sausa Durr, his tenant, to Sheriff Sam Johnson of Simpson County where a warrant was sworn out for the rapists. Accompanied by Deputy Clarence Stewart, Sheriff Johnson arrested Hernby and Sykes who were later released on bond. It is reported they are making threats against the Durr family if they testify against them.

Unconfirmed reports have it that Marvin Berry says he will spend the last dime he has in an effort to see that Herby and Sykes are prosecuted and convicted, and that he has the backing of a large group of white housewives.

While it is reported that famed Fred Sullen, of the Jackson Daily News, who cries "Rape Means Rope" in Mississippi, and seems determined to electrocute Willie McGee for the alleged rape of a white woman in nearby Laurel who did not see her alleged attacker said not one word of the fiendish abduction of Hazzie L. Durr. No attempt has been made to put a rope around Herby and Sykes' neck. Neither has anything been said in the daily press of the nation or of the world.

847 Million Farm Supplies

A total of 2.7 million patrons, through 8,700 local cooperatives and other retail outlets, purchased $847 million of farm supplies furnished by the 18 major regional farm supply cooperatives in the United States in 1949, as compared to $857 million in 1948, according to a report by the Farm Credit Administration of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

WOMEN'S HANDIWORK TO PLAY BIG PART IN COUNTY FAIR

The beautiful domestic arts building at Los Angeles County Fair in Pomona, Sept. 15 through Oct. 1, will be the scene of a remarkable array of articles from the home. There are 1450 different classifications ranging from quilts to quince jellies and entries have been received from all parts of the country. Again this year the contest to pick the champ crocheter of the Southland will be one of the many features.

Eastside Settlement Membership Drive Closes With a Bang

The membership drive for 1950 closed officially with the culmination of a baby contest sponsored by the membership committee chaired by Mrs. Beatrice Blakey and co-chaired by Mrs. Carrie Fisher.

Baby Contest: The winning baby was Arthur Lee Lewis, sponsored by his grandmother, Mrs. Verona Williams, who turned in $116.85. The second baby was Sandra T. Sims, sponsored by her mother, Mrs. Sims; and Mrs. Elizabeth St. Charles Edwards, who turned in $113.25. Sandra T. Sims is the great-granddaughter of our own Mother Washington.

Little Gloria Pearl Segers, sponsored by her mother and the Zenith Club, turned in $61.12. Little Lionel Smith, sponsored by her grandmother, Mrs. Myrtle Brown, turned in $34.61, and Stevens V. Johnson, sponsored by her grandmother, Mrs. Partee Pitts, turned in $13.30.

Each sponsor received 20 percent of the amount raised, turning in a total amount to the settlement for the membership drive of $261.31, making the total amount raised for the drive $339.13.

The baby contest was suggested by Mrs. Blakey after the Eastside Settlement House had been asked by the Community Chest to increase its quota for memberships $150 for this year. Mrs. Blakey led off by bringing in the largest amount of money and the greatest number of members for this drive.

The goal for the Settlement House was $650. The drive closed with a total of $714.50.

Mrs. Minnie Fariera was second in securing the number of memberships. She also led off in the sale of tickets for the Helms Hostess House luncheon sponsored by the Emergency Club.

Board members attending the convention of California State Association of Colored Women's Club, Inc., at Tulare, Calif., were Mrs. Julia Lee, our Emergency Club chairman, Mrs. Carrie Fisher and Mrs. Betty Johnson.

An executive board meeting will meet at Settlement Thursday, Sept. 14, at 1 p.m. All members are urged to attend.

The parent education group will hold regular meeting here at the Settlement Friday, Sept. 15, at 3 p.m. Mrs. Betty Johnson, leader for the group. John Simmons, social worker.

McCarthy Co. In Resale Volume At Low Prices

A brisk market in the resale of houses in the Willowbrook section for the months of June, July and August was announced this week by Charles Christian, manager of The McCarthy Company, realtors, branch office at Wilmington Avenue.

A total of 22 houses was sold during these months for a gross volumne of $154,000, one of the highest volumne quarter years for this office since its establishment.

Mr. Christian stated that the high volumne in his opinion was due to the financing methods used by the McCarthy city-wide chain of realty offices, whereby the branch manager of each office is authorized to pay the owner of a property his full equity in cash for his residence and then resell it at a much lower down payment to the buyer.

Heart Attack Fatal to Eddie Green

MYSTERY CASE RE-OPENED

COMMAND PERFORMANCE—Eddie Green, stage and screen luminary, and long-time bright-spot on the "Duffy's Tavern" radio show, passed away Tuesday night in Good Samaritan Hospital. The heart ailment from which he suffered for over a year proved fatal to one of the nation's most intelligent comedians, and a pioneer in Negro film making. (See story.)

BLAST VICTIMS GET $17,000

Climaxing the worst disaster the eastside of Los Angeles has ever experienced, judgements in excess of $17,000 were secured against the O'Connor Electric Plating Company, Corp., located at 12th Street and Central Avenue by Attorney H. L. Richardson and Attorney Herbert W. Simmons, Jr., for J. T. Counce, George Turner, Geneva Rubin, John Murray, Bernice Harrison and Grace Carter.

The explosion resulted on February 28, 1947, by the mixing of dangerous chemicals by a young chemist, Dr. Robert Magee, in presumptive disregard of

Mrs. Bass for Congress in 14th

The State Executive Committee of the Independent Progressive Party yesterday designated Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, publisher and editor of the California Eagle and leader of international stature, as its candidate for Congress in the 14th Congressional District for the November general elections.

According to Martin Ludwig, IPP State Director, Mrs. Bass' candidacy was unanimously approved at a meeting of the State Executive Committee held last weekend in Los Angeles and was made possible by the state cross-filling system which gave an opportunity to name candidates in the 14th C. D. as well as in the 13th and 15th C. D.'s.

The amendment of Mrs. Bass' candidacy adopted by the IPP'ers charged that, "the two old parties, Democrats and Republicans, have failed to give adequate representation to the Negro people and other minoriay groups. In the 14th district, the old parties have designated candidates who might have been cut from the same cloth insofar as their attitudes on the vital problems of the minorities are concerned.

"The Independent Progressive Party since its inception in 1948, has actively fought against Jim Crow and the white disenfranchisement of Negroes," continued the statement. "It has put forth a consistent program for Negro representation.

Pastor Asked to Resign; Preached Against Sin; Didn't Keep Yd. Clean

Preaching to often against sin hypocrisy, deceit and other wrongs; and failure to keep the church yard of half a block clean, were two of the accusations hurled at the Rev. Verley L. Hightower, pastor of the People's United Church of Christ, 105th street and Wilmington ave., at a stormy meeting of the officers of the church, most of whom were men, a few women and a group of Sunday school children, Wednesday, September [illegible] when the [illegible] asked to resign his pastorate.

Rev. Hightower has served the People's United Church of Christ at 105th and Wilmington for only eight months, with practically no salary. He had only the use of the parsonage, and a gift of ten dollars each week, taken out of the Sunday school offering.

Some of the other charges made against him were: that he had failed to follow the traditions of the former pastor and

Son Sought In Father's Slaying

Search is being conducted in South America for 16 year old John Dacosta on a warrant issued this week by Judge Ronald Abernathy of San Diego. The warrant charges the youth with the murder of his father, Dr. A. Antonio Dacosta last April 16.

The sought youth had been held for several days on suspicion when Dr. Dacosta was found shot through the head and back in his home in La Mesa, California. Questioned during his detention, the youth was released, and he is believed to have gone to South America.

According to Sheriff Bert Strand, new evidence has been found linking John Dacosta to the slaying of his father. The Heart Ailment Proves Fatal To Eddie Green

Eddie Green, pioneer in the field of Negro films, and long-time star of "Duffy's Tavern," died Tuesday night in Good Samaritan Hospital. He succumbed to a heart attack from which he had been suffering for some time.

Veteran of radio, stage and screen, Eddie Green was a familiar fixture in the entertainment world. He served as stage member for five years for Milinski, and he directed and produced his own films. He was the author of the popular blues lament, "A Good Man Is Hard To Find."

Funeral services had not been completed at press time, but it is known that the Angelus Funeral Home is in charge, and that the services will be held on Friday or Saturday.

Surviving are his wife, Nora Amato Green, a three-year-old daughter, Elva, and a married daughter, Hilda Bryant. Green was 52 at the time of his death.

The appointment of Dr. Reid E. Jackson, Louisville, Kentucky, as Dean of Instruction at Texas College has been announced by President D. R. Glass.

A ROUSING SENDOFF—Attended by more than 5,000 residents of Southern California was given the Sixth Engineer Combat Group on last Sunday night at the Los Angeles Armory with Esvan Mosby (Mayor of Central Avenue) in charge of the program. A wonderful array of talent was on hand to entertain and plenty of refreshments for all. Reading from left to right: Master Sergeant George E. SACRAMENTO—Motorist, spare that child!

With school bells about to ring again throughout the state, that appeal was made this week by the California Highway Patrol.

Urging that motorists be extra careful these September days—particularly when driving near school grounds—the Highway Patrol stressed the motorist's responsibility for child safety. According to the Patrol, 586 children of school age were killed and 21,487 were injured in traffic mishaps in California last year, many of them preventable.

The actions of children are often completely unpredictable, it was pointed out, and if that trafic toll is to be reduced this year drivers must be alert for youngsters at all times.

Grossman and Kim Speak at Watts-Woodcrest Peace Rally

Dr. Diamond Kim, noted lecturer and newspaperman, and Mr. Aubrey Grossman, National Secretary of the Civil Rights Congress, were the main speakers at a Peace Rally sponsored by the Watts-Woodcrest Club of the Independent Progressive Party at the 102nd Street School in Watts last Friday.

Dr. Kim is the editor of the locally published Korean Independent newspaper and gave first-hand information which has notbeen published in the daily press.

Grossman was in the news recently when he was beaten and nearly lynched in Mississippi when he led a caravan of people to protest the execution of Willie McGee, a young Negro veteran and father. The protest was successful in obtaining a stay of executiaon until October of this year.

Mrs. Odessa Cox is Chairman of the Peace Committee of the Watts-Woodcrest Club, Independent Progressive Party.

By C.A.B.

The following is a belated report of the campaign to secure signatures to the Stockholm peace petition in the United States. It was given at the conference in Prague, Czechslovakia, and although the figures have changed much since then, the spirit of the movement is the same, and I want my readers to share with me in its inspiration.

The signatures to the campaign have come from every single one of the 48 states as well as Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Canal Zone. More than 300 Peace Committees were set up in cities and communities throughout the country. 450,000 petitions were printed and bought. Despite repression, terror and intimidation, signatures were gotten and continue to be gotten.

Important individuals and community leaders are still responding. But a tremendous coordinated campaign was organized under State Department leadership. Acheson's attack evidently considered insufficient; major national organizations have been assembled to plan co-ordinated anti - Stockholm campaign. State Department circularized major organizations with special memorandum entitled "Moscow's Signatures for Peace Campaign."

The amazing fact was that less than four weeks after Acheson's attack, tthe State Department found public announcement of its role in anti-Stockholm campaign necessary. Incidentally, prominent American signatures were secured in period immediately following Acheson's attack and during height of public propaganda.

Public relationwise, all major columnists, radio commentators, editorial writers, conceded world peace appeal campaign a major defeat for America and constantly cited this as need for enlarged "Voice of America" campaign.

A major development was a statement calling for mediation of the Korean conflict which has been circulated through several major church publications and will have at least five or six hundred endorsers with release to the press.

In addition, major spokesmen among the Negro people and the middle west farm groups (on a state and local scale) and among the Christian Youth leadership (particularly in the midwest) are speaking up for mediation of the Korean conflict, against the draft, etc.

SECOND WORLD CONGRESS.

There is a deep-rooted disillusionment with the Korean war that is expressed widely among the people. Rising prices, the start of inflation, demands to shackle labor, all this is causing uneasiness. Many important section of the people are disturbed by the rising attacks on civil liberties. The Negro people are increasingly aware of the tie-in with the war of such episodes as the attack on Willy McGee's attorneys and supporters, also Congressman Lanham's vicious personal attack against William Patterson of the Civil Rights Congress.

This sentiment for peace is at present expressed in many varying streams and channels of American life, not, as has been stated before, in one co-ordinated central peace movement.

The Call to the Second World Congress can and must reach out to these varying forces in American life, represented in miniature by the leaders and individuals who were suggested for invitations to this current meeting of the Council. It is particularly important that in the United States we avoid some of the sectarianism with which we conducted the initial phase of the Stockholm campaign. We must reach out to these new forces with full awareness that

BIG BUSINESS

Big Business is spending at least $100 million this year and the time and talent of its top executives on its "free enterprise" selling campaign, according to Fortune Magazine, the $1.25-a-copy publication for big shots and would-be big shots.

But, reports the magazine crisply, "it is not worth a damn."

Fortune puts its finger on why the program is proving a bust. "To oversimplify it, he (the businessman) is doing it because he is sincerely worried over what has been happening at the polls. What he is after, to put it bluntly, is a Republican victory . . . But he shirks from debating it as such . . ."

Wife Sues Nat George For Divorce

Charging that her husband, former athletic great, Nathaniel Norris George, beat her and kicked her on the side and back, and was otherwise cruel, Mrs. Sarah Alice George has filed an action for divorce. The couple reside with their three minor children at 752 East 27th street.

Atty. H. Leonard Richardson, in whose offices the complaint was drawn, listed nine separate items of relief prayed for by his client. The complaint sets out the couple were married on October 9, 1933 at Santa Ana, Calif. and separated on September 12 of this year. Three children, David 13, Marian Beatrice 10 and Sarah Ann 8, were born of the union.

Mrs. George in her complaint, asks the court to restrain her husband from disposing of certain community property belonging to them.

She states her husband has purchased property from their common interest in the name of his parents in an effort to deprive her of her community interests. She mentions in addition to an apartment building purchased by her husband in the name of his parents at 143 West 56th street and a one-third interest in a service station, Relay Service Station, at 28th and Cen- amount of cash in the Bank of America at 25th and Central avenue.

Southern Leader Sees Threat To Integration in Marshall

DURHAM—Grave apprehension was expressed here this week by a business executive and leader in North Carolina civic and political affairs that the appointment of Gen. George C. Marshall as Secretary of Defense may result in a slow-down in the trend toward full integration of Negroes in the armed forces of the nation

J. S. Stewart, president of the American Savings and Loan League and chairman of the Durham Committee on Negro Affairs, who made the statement, said also that "President Truman ought to be alerted to this likelihood, if my own view is as widely held by Negroes as I think, to allow him to safeguard the good work and progress of his committee."

Mr. Stewart recalled that based upon his known attitude on segregation, Marshall belongs in the same "thought bracket" with Generals Dwight Eisenhower and Omar Bradley. As Chief of Staff during World War II, he reminded, Marshall had shown "great reluctance" about utilizing Negro soldiers "for anything other than housekeeping chores," or allowing them to be committed to combat.

"The experiences of both the Navy and Air Forces to date in the execution of enlightened racial policies, and the valor now displayed by Negro servicemen in the Korean conflict, give tacit endorsement to the soundness of the report and recommendations oft he President's Committee on Equality of Treatment and Opportunity in the Armed Services," Mr. Stewatr said.

"The Army, however, is still dragging its feet. My fear, frankly, is that in the discharge of his new responsibilities, Gen. Marshall may allow his dark-age concept to predominate against clear-cut evidence that such views are actually outmoded."

Modern Living Show Slated at Pan-Pacific

Manufacturers and distributors by the scores are reserving exhibit space in the combined All-Electric and Modern Living Show slated Oct. 20-29 at the Pan-Pacific Auditorium, it was revealed by sponsors.

Headed by General Manager Mel R. Morrison and Producer H. Werner Buck, the event is being staged by Show Management, the identical group that annually stages the fabulous Sportsmen's Show at Gilmore Stadium. They hope to establish their latest "brainchild" as the top show in its field much as the Sportsmen's Show rates at No. 1 in the West.

Hon. Culbert L. Olson Speaker At Dedication Humanist Bldg., Sun.

On Sunday evening, Sept. 24, 8 p.m. the Humanist Building at 2307 South Union Avenue will be dedicated. A Marburg Yerkes, prominent Los Angeles attorney, will act as chairman for the evening. The program will be highlighted by music, a radio drama adapted from the playlet by Prof. Louis N. Ridenour of the Univ. of Illinois—Pilot Lights of the Apocalypse — presented by Alpheus Lincoln and his players, and dedication by Mr. Harold Schmidt, minister of the People's Church.

The principal address of the evening will be given by the Hon. Culbert L. Olson, a Humanist and former Governor of the State of California, whose subject will be "Humanism and Man's Future."

Mr. John Danz of Seattle, who has given so unstintingly of his time, energy and money to further the vital work of Humanism, is making a special trip from Seattle to be present with us on the occasion of the dedication of the new building. He will thus help in the launching of intensive and varied activities during the forthcoming year.

Following the dedication ceremony, refreshments will be served.

We cordially invite everyone to come to the program. There will be no admission charge or collection.

Armory Has Capacity Crowd at Party For Combat Troops

LOS ANGELES, Calif. — The Los Angeles Armory was the scene on Sunday night of a mammoth and spectacular farewell party honoring and bidding farewell to nearly two thousand members of the Sixth Engineer Combat Group. The Sixth is composed of men from Los Angeles as well as from San Diego, San Bernandino, Riverside, Pasadena, and Long Beach and other points in Southern California. Until September 11th, when they were officially mustered and declared federal troops, these same men were members of the late California National Guard. The sixth Combat Engineering Group comprised of the 1401st Engineer Combat Battalion commanded by Lt. Colonel Wilbert D. Fisher of Los Angeles and the 1402nd Engineer Combat Battalion commanded by Lt. Colonel Frank Cleveland of Los Angeles is now the only all-Negro western group in the Regular Army.

Starting at 8 p.m. and lasting until 2 a.m. the entertainment committee headed by Mr. Evan Mosby, Mayor of Central Avenue, provided the nearly 2,000 troops and over 5,000 guests and friends from all over Southern California who crowded the Armory, with a stellar array of talent.

Other personalities on hand included Edward F. Boyd, Assistant Sales Manager of the Pepsi-Cola Company, of New York and members of his national sales staff. It will be recalled that Pepsi-Cola won international acclaim in World War II for its many Servicemen's Centers located throughout the world extending innumerable courtesies to all servicemen, regardless of race or creed. Also present was Robert B. Tresville, Sr., retired Army Officer of thirty-five years military service and former bandleader of the world famed 24th Infantry Regiment, which is still in the thick of the battle in Korea with the United Nations fighting forces.

The 1401st Engineer Combat Battalion is commanded by Lt. Colonel Wilbert D. Fisher, Los Angeles; the Executive Officer is Major Thomas Bryant, Los Angeles; Adjutant, Lt. Bedford K. Bruce, Los Angeles; Intelligence, Lt. Edward Stewart, Santa Monica; Plans and Training, Captain Matthew Brazil, Los Angeles; Supplies, Lt. Alfred Cochran, Los Angeles and Battalion Sergeant Major Theodore A. Davis of Omaha, Nebr. and Los Angeles.

The 1402nd Engineer Combat Battalion is commanded by Lt. Colonel Frank Cleveland, Los Angeles, who is Texas born but served with the State Guard on active duty in World War II. A member of the Los Angeles Police Department for 22 years, Colonel Cleveland has again taken a leave of absence for this new tour of duty. The Executive Office is Major Aubrey Williams, Pasadena; Adjutant, Captain Wesley Russell, Los Angeles; Inteligence, Captain Lloyd Goddard; Plans and Training, Lt. Zachray Thistle; and Supplies, Warrant Officer L. G. Royal; and Battalion Sergeant Major George Smock of Los Angeles.

Thrifty Drug Anniversary

Thrifty Drug Stores, America's largest independent drug store chain, celebrates its thirteenth anniversary as part of the Central Avenue community. The Thrifty Drug Store, located at 4351 Central Avenue, was opened on September 22, 1937.

It is a part of Thrifty Drug Stores' job to anticipate tomorrow's needs and supply those needs with the greatest benefit to the community. Thrifty today offers more than 22,000 separate items to the buying public.

Commemorating this local anniversary, Thrifty Drug Stores will offer a huge sale starting Thursday, September 21. The Central Avenue Thrifty Drug Store Manager, R. Gilmore, said, "In appreciation to the people of Central Avenue for their loyalty to our organization, we shall offer outstanding values during the course of the Birthday Sale. Throughout the year we will continue to offer the greatest possible values, and at the same time grow and continue to be an integral part of the Central Avenue community."

founder, the late Rev. T. F. Jones, who died in harness at the age of 70, seventeen years after founding the church; that he had once mentioned the idea of quitting his job as a mail carrier in order to give more time to the church; that he had tried to help Rev. C. F. Kile, who had come here as a stranger; and that he had established the Western School of Religion, of which he is at present the president.

The opposition to the Rev. Hightower was led by George Jones, deacon, and director of the church choirs; and his sister, Mrs. Margaret Hale, pianist. Both Mr. Jones and Mrs. Hale are children of the former pastor, Rev. Jones.

It developed in the meeting Wednesday evening that trouble had been brewing for some time, and that Jones had held secret meetings with the men officers of the church of which the pastor had no knowledge. During the heated discussion there was no accusation of any immorality, misappropriation of church funds, nor any of the other reasons usually given in asking for the resignation of a pastor.

The confused meeting finally ended by the Rev. Douglas Rembert, pastor emeritus of the church, suggesting that the church council meet this week and discuss the situation.

New Teachers At Jefferson Hi Introduced To The Community

Jefferson High has some new teachers on the staff to be introduced to the community. The Democrats are proud to present as newcomers to their school:

Mrs. LEE GIBBONS as school librarian. She's a graduate of Indiana University and at the University of Southern California. Jefferson is her first school and she's on the popularity list already.

Miss BERTHA BORDEN comes to us from South Gate Junior High. She will be teaching in two departments, language and mathematics. She's pleasing many students with her algebra and Spanish classes.

Miss MURIEL MELLON as physical education teacher for the girls. Miss Mellon is a graduate of San Diego State and USC. Jefferson is her first school. She was a member of the 1949 Olympic swim team in the 100 meter backstroke event. She placed sixth in international competition. She is equally adept on the dance floor, too.

Miss Ida COHEN in the homemaking department. She comes to us from Gardena High School. Demos report she has already caught the Jefferson spirit.

Miss GAIL SHERER also in the homemaking department. Miss Sherer was at Fremont and Hamilton before coming to Jefferson. Both she and Miss Cohen are making all feel at home in the homemaking classes.

Mr. DALE GUSTAFSON in the wood shop classes. Mr. Gustafson is a native Los Angeleno, having attended Dorsey High and USC. He is very interested in baseball and may have a pointer or two to show Demo horsehiders.

Cpl. C. J. Gordon In Korea With 2nd Infantry

WITH THE U. S. INFANTRY DIVISION IN KOREA—Cpl. Clarence J. Gordon, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon, Sr., of 3745 Woodlawn Ave., Los Angeles, Calif., is now in Korea with the Division Artillery of the Second Infantry Division.

Before entering the service in 1948, Gordon was a student at East Los Angeles Junior College where he was a journalism student.

He graduated from Jefferson with the Hellvetian Class (300 strong) of S'46. Office attained by Gordon at Jefferson include: student body vice president, head cheer leaders, boys league chairman, vice president of the student government and lesser positions. In athletic Gordon was a sprinter and high-jumper on the B squad.

FORGET YOUR AGE!

Sane and sensible pointers on the art of maturing. The author stresses the value of relaxation, and feels that preventative medicine should play a major role in the protection of older people. He exposes some widespread superstitions about old age and believes that many people are quite mistaken concerning the value of exercise.

Pres. Truman Urged To Veto Wood Bill

Warning that the House-Senate Conference Bill now being drafted from the Wood and McCarran Bills would "Sweep away traditional American concepts of civil rights," a group of 130 prominent educators, religious leaders, scientists and writers, headed by two Nobel Prize Winners last week wired President Truman urging him to veto the legislation.

The wire recalled the President's own warning in his recent message to Congress in which he stated, ""We must not be swept away by a wave of hysteria." The wire termed the bills "A product of the passion of the times" that would "place in jeopardy the right of association and thus would terminate the freedom of assembly and the right of association and thus would terminate the freedom of assembly and the right to petition the Government for redress of grievances."

Marine Cooks Disrupters Found Guilty

SAN FRANCISCO.—The membership of the San Francisco Branch of the National Union of Marine Cooks and Stewards, last Thursday took action to check the disruption the National CIO, V. J. Malone of the Marine Firemens' Union, W. D. Handelsman and Don Rotan of the Sailors Union of the Pacific have attempted to instigate during the past several weeks in MCS.

The membership voted overwhelming in favor of a trial committee report in the cases of James Randall, Leslie Boatwright, Art Hilliker, and C. W. faler, which suspended their memberships for one year, ten months, four months and four months, respectively.

The trial committee met for six days and heard testimony and witnesses supporting the charges that this group were the nucleus and front for a dual and hostile union to that of MCS.

Randall, Boatwright, Hilliker and Faler were given full opportunity to present their case, their witnesses, and to cross-examine all witnesses and the accusers. They declared at the Committee hearings they were satisfied that the Committee had conducted a fair and unbiased trial and that their decision would be based on the evidence presented.

Race Hate

The Committee found that these four people were guilty of trying to set up a dual union hostile to MCS; that they were disrupting the internal affairs of the MCS; that they were creating and fostering racial dissension within the Union, which has about 50 per cent minority group composition of membership; that they were making an attack upon the economic conditions of the Union.

10th Dist. PTA Study Classes

Under the leadership of credentialled teachers from the Adult Education Department of the Los Angeles Board of Education and volunteer specialists from the various Los Angeles Tenth District, C.C.P.T. departments, a variety of classes will be available tihs fall with home nursing, first aid, nutrition and mental hygiene meeting vital community need. Character education, consumer education and conservation will also be offered. A choice of classes will be presented from the parent-education department including pre-school play groups, parent education, study groups and parents forums.

Full instructions for planning and conducting parent-education programs will be given at a school of information conference scheduled for Thursday, September 21, 9:45 a.m. at the Polytechnic High School, 400 West Washington Blvd.

The Old Order Changeth

Republicans, being members of the conservative party of the United States, as they themselves admit, are loath to make any changes whatever in their American way of life.

But the change once made, and having become solidfied as a part of that way of life, you'll find they'll cling to that as tenaciously as they did to the original form. And in nine cases out of ten they'll tell you it was they who made the change, and with a perfectly dead-pan expression, give themselves credit for being "progressive."

Some of these anachroisms are given in a book titled "Scare Words," published by the National Democratic Committee. It contains some of the fierce objections made by Republicans against progressive legislation in the years gone by, which they now accept and which they try to tell the public they initiated.

They violently opposed the building of Boulder Dam. Called it a waste of money. Said it was socialistic. Communistic. Now that it's built and operating in splendid order, they insist upon calling it "Hoover Dam."

In the very early days they opposed the government having anything to do with the construction of railroads. Said it would be impossible for anyone to travel at the rate of twenty miles an hour, and live. One's heart couldn't stand it. That is the reason private corporations own our railroads today, instead of the government.

It was the same way with the telegraph and telephone lines. "Nothing but toy contraptions," said Republicans. "The government can't waste money on things like that."

So it was with social security, with the Federal Reserve banks, income taxes, woman suffrage—some Republicans still think "Woman's place is in the home" —minimum wage laws, etc. etc.

In every case they never bothered about the truth.

"Don't argue the facts," they told their workers. "Just call everything 'Communistic' you don't understand. That'll hold 'em."

This advice reminds us of another bit once given a woman who asked a Republican leader in a class in politics, what to do if some one asked a question she couldn't answer.

"Well, answered the other woman, "if anyone asks me a question I can't answer, I just sl-l-i-de out of it so easily, and begin talking about something else, and that person never even knows I haven't answered!"

The people are beginning to wake up, however. Slowly. And we predict that neither Republicans nor Democrats of the reactionary, old-line stripe will be able to fool them very much longer, either by labeling all that is good for them as being "Communistic," nor by sl-i-ding out of answering their questions.

The Expendables

One wonders how much democracy there is in an atomic bomb. Occasionally reading of the priority lists being compiled for the evacuation and shelter of citizens in the event of a threatened or actual atomic bomb attack, one must also wonder, "who are the expendables?"

The very nature of atomic warfare, and the known fact that only a handful of citizens in any community can even hope to be sheltered, must cause some misgivings in the minds of Negroes. The American pattern of jimcrow and discrimination might well become the primary factor of worth and value. This being true, and we do not have any assurances that it is not, will the A-bomb shelters be "for whites only?"

Certainly the 9,000,000 Negroes in the south, can not hope to share shelters with their white brothers, nor is it likely that any shelters constructed will be set aside as "separate but equal" accomodations for them.

When the chips are down, and decisions have to be made in a hurry, how many Negroes, no matter how great their value to the nation, would be given a place to the exclusion of a white man of the humblest station in life?

The whole concept of white supremacy on which this nation operates indicates that there is a danger that all Negroes will be considered expendable. Even the "good white folks" would have difficulty in making a decision establishing a Negro as being more valuable than themselves.

It is understandable that American Negroes yearn for peace even as they obey the call to war, for they have long ago learned that no gains are made and some gains are lost when the nation is in a state of war. Aware of the conditioning of his white brother, the Negro would not want him to have to make such a decision as an A-bomb attack would call for.

No true American can believe himself to be any more or less than expendable in the face of a threat to the security of the nation, but to be expendable on a jimcrow basis is a different proposition.

He Stands Alone

Councilman Edward Roybal needs no accolade from this corner. He has the applause of his conscience, and of that few men in public office today can boast. We have not always agreed with Councilman Roybal, we may differ with him again, but whatever our relationship we shall eternally respect him for his courage in standing alone in opposition to the violation of civil liberties committed by the City Council last week.

His single vote, cast against an overwhelming majority, could not halt the hysterical raid on the dwindling rights of the people, but it will serve as a beacon light for those of us who consider the right of protest an inviolable one.

We are humbled by the performance of this man for we know at what cost he dared to cast his lot with the partially disenfranchised Negro people who have no voice in the City Council if that voice is not his own.

No doubt other members of the City Council saw the dangerous catch-all provisions in the ordinances passed by the Council, yet only Councilman Roybal was selfless enough to put the welfare of the people above personal ambition.

With clear insight, Congressman Roybal saw the present and futture threat to the struggles of the Negro people and his own people, implicit in the ordinances which have for their main purpose the silencing of militant Americanism as opposed to democratic fascism.

His statement, setting forth in straight forward language his reasons for voting against the ordinances, is a statesmanlike document reaffirming his faith in the American constitution and warning against those who would invade it by manufacturing oppressive local laws.

Abandoned by the bankrupt leadership of the CIO, Councilman Roybal yet took a stand to preserve the rights of that organization. He would not bargain away most of the people's civil liberties for a few politically-expedient concessions. The falsely-whipped-up tide of emotional partriotism swept by, and he stood firmly anchored on the rock of true Americanism. And now he stands alone . . . with only the great masses of the partly-free Americans who would be wholly free, and their allies, as his supporters. His career as an elected official is just beginning.

Peace Rally

This is a national call for peace to all women! Especially to Negro women who have been persecuted most, and have suffered most in all wars of our country!

Let us meet on certain days, as in days of prayer, to pray for peace! Make the strong resolve that we shall not have war! Pray, talk, think peace! Speak to your neighbors, your friends! Assemble ourselves together with the express purpose of fighting for peace! And we shall have peace!

RAPHAEL KONIGSBERG

Scotsboro Boy

The appearance of the autobiography of Haywood Patterson—one of the victims of the un-American Scottsboro frame-up—would be an event of major social significance at any time. But its publication at this time—in the period of growing danger for all minority groups, the period of our war on the colored peoples striving for liberation—makes it an event of political significance as well.

Over the years I have read, and reviewed, many books—but never one so unnerving as Haywood Patterson's account of his long ordeal. It is a shocking, revolting, maddening account of the frameup of nine innocent Negro boys and their persecution in Southern courts and prisons.

Completely honest, this hook does more to reveal the basic degeneracy of Southern society, does more to expose the fascist structure of that area, than almost all the "scholarly" research studies made of the "Southern problem."

The book is an especially damning indictment of the jails and jailers of the South, and of the entire U. S. penal system. At any other period the appearance of such a report of how human beings are being tortured in our penal institutions would so jolt the conscience of the nation that it would lead to a revolution in America's penal system.

In a saner society such a book would have an effect comparable to the reforms created in America's treatment of her mentally-ill by that other famous autobiography, "The Mind That Found Itself" by Clifford Beers. But where the rulers are intent on turning the entire nation into a vast prison, such a book will be buried.

For, more than anything else, Haywood Patterson's report of Negro life in the South exposes beyond rebuttal the hypocrasy of America's pretensions to following the democratic way of life, and to teaching it to other peoples. Those who have not yet learned such lessons themselves can hardly teach them to others. "Scottsboro Boy" offers dramatic proof of the contention that the "Negroes know fascism."

That is why U.S. rulers dare not let such reports out to other nation, particularly the colored nations. And why they make such frantic efforts to cover up their crimes by appointing the "token" Negroes to various honorary posts, even in the U.N.—the international organization which should be using its powers to bring justice to America's colored people.

America in Miniature

What "Scottsboro Boy" does in its story of the brutalization of human beings in Southern jails and chain gangs, the exploitation of prison labor to enrich corporations and public officials, the use made of the torture of innocents to further the political careers of bigots—is to present us, in effect, with a picture of capitalist society in miniature.

What goes on in the prisons is only a sharper, more concentrated version of what is going on outside all the time. (The worst thieves and murderers are not in prison). This prison society is the logical, inevitable, outcome of the larger "free" society which idolizes the dollar more than human life, which enshrines material "success," and has only contempt for all cultural and spiritual values.

"Scottsboro Boy" should be required reading in every school. Every public official and police officer — especially members of Congress—should be obligated to read it. And the Rankins & Lanhams & Byrnes should be forced to read it 100 times. A reading of it will help everyone understand Negro life and American history better.

In telling his story Haywood Patterson reveals himself to be a very brave man, a wise and sensitive man, a veritable mountain of courage. He is a man with a rare sense of humor, remarkable in one who has suffered so much. A proud man, with every reason for pride—for few men have achieved so great a personal victory over fate. The full power of Southern lynch society could not crush him.

His life thus exposes once again all the traditional lies about Negro "inferiority." He symbolizes the tremendous power and gifts the Negro people have to offer American life . . . and of which we have been criminally deprived so long by slavery and jimcrow.

By surviving the agonies of Southern "justice"—and telling the tale—Haywood Patterson has made a priceless contribution to the fight for democracy. The progressive forces of America have an obligation to protect him—as they helped save him—so that he can continue living, and fighting with us, live to enjoy the democratic privileges he has so richly earned.

EIGHTY-EIGHT YEARS AGO

Historian Titus Alexander, proud of his Americanism and reiterating the truth that there is only one race . . . the human race, calls our attention to an important date in American history.

Just 88 years ago, on September 22, 1862, the Emancipation Proclamation was issued. It took effect 100 days later, on January 1, 1863.

President Abraham Lincoln, having considered three alternatives, and having in mind always the preservation of the union as the paramount issue, freed America from the stigma of slavery, and set in motion the greatest advancement ever made by humankind.

Stung by excoriation heaped upon him by Horace Greeley in his New York Tribune, President Lincoln revealed he was to take one of three steps: 1. Save the union without freeing the slaves; 2. Free half of the slaves and save the union; 3. Free all of the slaves and save the union.

Preserving the union was President Lincoln's only thought. He considered gradualism, but he was wise enough to see that only a courageous and dramatic blow against injustice would help the union and at the same time give status as Americans to the Negro slaves.

88 years later, the Negro is no less an American than he was at the beginning of his freedom, and fully-free Americans must be grateful to the Negro for continuing to protest against his second-class status. For when liberty is taken for granted, or halted at some point less than complete fulfilment, then slavery is just one step backward.

The Negro people do not intend to march backward, and they will not be divided on the question of their Americanism. Only when they know full citizenship can they cease to protest—it would be Un-American to do less.

LABOR ON THE MARCH

Truth or Fiction?

There is a ten man majority in the City Council that has come to be recognized now as the dog and the tail . .. both. The legend has it that these ten have come together through some circumstance and must remain together for the good of themselves as well as the supposed good of the city.

John M. Lee

It was the formidable ten man dynasty that passed the rent decontrol measure recently in the face of strong opposition from organized labor and other united community forces. Now in the courts for final determination, that decontrol measure may well make history. Certainly it has already brought a shade of suspicion on the Junta of Ten.

For some time there has been talk of a "pay-off" for favorable votes on decontrol. True or false, it was a nasty situation, and now that it has developed into a national scandal, the City Council should take action to clear itself.

The present sparring back and forth between the Mayor's office and the presumed leader of the "Ten" is sheer politics. Likewise the much-heralded Congressional investigation is just politics with more prestige. Actually, the members of Congress are much too anxious to get back home for fence-mending before the elections, to be concerned seriously with a rumored "pay-off" in Los Angeles.

The whole gamut of invective, larded with insinuations and subtle charges will not allay the growing suspicion that there were inducements beyond the normal weight of convictions and public demand. The ten all-powerful members of the City Council cannot hope to wrap themselves in a mantle of aloofness while the citizens listen to the swelling rumors.

It does seem that a grand jury investigation is called for, and that investigation should take place as soon as possible. Perhaps, as Mayor Bowron has said, the "Ten" are just poor Councilmen, but though they may be inept, they are not relieved of the responsibility of holding themselves above suspicion.

Having recently adopted ordinances in which mere suspicion and unsupported gossip from the lips of informers is sufficient evidence to curtail and invade the civil liberties of local citizens, the controlling ten must realize how fortunate they happen to be with the right to go before a jury and be cleared or condemned on sworn testimony from witnesses who must present conclusive proof.

Such things as the new Cadillac purchased by a Council member shortly after the decontrol vote, and reportedly observed by Mayor Bowron, may or may not have significance in the light of the reported "pay-off," but certainly any Councilman who has recently bought a Cadillac should want to enjoy it without having suspicion directed against him.

Councilan Davenport insists he wants a grand jury investigation, but he wants included, an investigation of Mayor Bowron for alleged collusion with the Federal Housing Expiditer to circumvent the will of the Congress of the United States.

Now the will of the Congress of the United States is important, and it certainly should not be circumvented. But the ten members of the council who voted for decontrol are faced with reports that they were bribed.

This is the first step in what may develop into a series of steps to clear the smog of strange politics from the air around City Hall, and it should come first. The business about the will of congress is a Federal affair, and should not be allowed to interfere with the local aspect of the case.

If there was a bribe, it occurred before any alleged collusion, and if decontrol had not been voted, there could not have been any opportunity for collusion. What the public has a right to know is whether or not certain members of the City Council were paid for casting their votes in favor of rent decontrol?

Mayor Bowron reportedly has some information on the subject, and this should be presented for thorough and unbiased investigation. The merits or demerits of decontrol are not involved. Many small landlords who suffered inequities under rent control and who stand to benefit with controls off, would not want relief if it had to come from legislation that was bought and paid for.

The rumbling gossip about a "pay-off" is either based on truth of it emanates from a cruel fiction. For the sake of the Councilmen involved and the citizens who elected them, the truth must be uncovered.

DEMO PICNIC

Democrats of the 14th Congressional District will hold a picnic next Sunday, September 24, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Elysian Park picnic ground No. 1 (Scott Avenue and Chavez Ravine Drive).

There will be every kind of picnic game, including baseball, horseshoes, and canasta. There will also be prizes. Each one is asked to bring his own lunch, but there will be free coffee, ice cream, and soft drinks.

The candidates for office, or their representatives, from governor and U. S. Senator through the candidates for State Assembly, will be the honored guests. So ocme and spend a happy day outdoors, and meet and talk to your Democratic candidates, the ones you will elect in November.

The four assembly districts, are sponsoring the picnic. The chairmen are: 44th, Daniel Sullivan; 55th, Jack Ansley; 62nd, Gilbert Lindsay; and 64th, Mrs. Belle Mishkin.

Autos will be waiting at Sunset Blvd. and Portia Street to take everyone to the picnic grounds.

DEMO WOMEN'S DAY

Democratic Women's Day will be held next Wednesday, Sept. 28, on the third floor of the Alexandria hotel, 5th and Spring streets. Mrs. Ella Roller, member of the staff of the Democratic National Committee, will conduct an institute on important issues of the campaign, including inflation, controls, the Brannan plan for agriculture, and the health program. This group will meet from 10 to 11 a.m., and from 2 to 4 p. m.

The regular program will be held in the assembly room, 11 a. m. to 2 p. m. with brief talks by women candidates, recordings by Eleanor Roosevelt, and others in public life. A buffet lunch will be held.

OPENING BARRAGE: 'California's Republican Senator William F. Knowland made a major campaign address in Los Angeles on Monday, September 18. His speech will mark the formal beginning of the final election campaigns of all G.O.P. candidates.

PROPOSITION I

"Adoption of Proposition No. 1, repealing the personal property taxes, will not endanger the state's school system, since the schools now have first call on all general state funds, but will, instead, actually put the state's school revenue on a sounder basis, by improving the general prosperity of the state."

James O. Stevenson, secretary of the United Taxpayers of California, made this statement today in urging home-owners who wish to reduce their taxes to vote "Yes" on the repeal.

COLLECTIVIZATION PROPOSED AS SOLUTION FOR FARM PROBLEMS

Economic difficulties after 1927 were caused, oddly enough, by the increasing well-being of the peasants. In the past, they had always been underfed after paying their rent out of money earned by selling their crops. Now, with no rent to pay, they were under no pressure to produce for the market. Agriculture as a whole did produce more in 1927 than it had in 1913. However, it grew only 91 per cent as much grain, for the peasants were diversifying their plantings. That was fine, but when increased consumption on the farm reduced the amount of grain offered for sale to 37 per cent of the 1913 level, the city population suffered. Furthermore, the marketed grain came entirely from the small kulak minority, who thus had the Soviet economy at their mercy.

The alternative solutions to the problem were to return to forced requisitioning of farm surpluses, which had been found undesirable; to encourage the kulak minority to expand with the risk of increasing the influence of a class oriented toward capitalism; or to socialize agriculture and simultaneously modernize it. The third alternative was chosen. Stalin proposed that the non-kulak peasantry be urged to band together in collective farms which could be provided with tractors and evolve a highly productive division of labor.

"The way out," Stalin said, "is to unite the small and dwarf peasant farms gradually but surely, not by pressure, but by example and persuasion, into large farms based on common, cooperative, collective cultivation of the soil with the use of agricultural machines and tractors and scientific methods of intensive agriculture. There is no other way out."

These words were uttered on December 2, 1927. The first 21 tractors ever produced in Russia had only just then come from the factory, along with the first ten trucks. Yet Stalin talked of converting the Soviet Union's millions of peasants to the idea of collectivization by showing them what tractors and trucks could do! The Russian peasant had just acquired his own land, after centuries of yearning, heartbreak, and bitter struggle. Yet Stalin spoke of convincing him to pool it with that of his neighbor, with whom he was wrangling over boundaries!

Stalin's confidence was based on this reasoning: The peasants wanted to live better. Shown a means of doing so, they would join the collective farms. To live better they had sought their own land and made a revolution against the Tsars to get it. They would not hestitate before a further drastic change now. To live better, the urban workers would strain every effort to make the machinery that would enable the peasants to feed them better. Further, he reasoned, there were now a million-and-a-quarter members of the Communist Party, who wanted socialism and would devote themselves to the organizational work necessary for collectivization; and set the examples in factory and field that would make every phase of it a success.

The Party Congress to which Stalin proposed collectivization gave him overwhelming support. It also proposed to the government the drafting of the first Five-Year Plan to convert the USSR into a predominantly industrial country and provide the machinery and other requirements of a modern agricultural system.

Accordingly, 1928 and 1929 were of fantastic and ferverish activity in industrial construction. 1929 is remembered in the Soviet Union as the year in which unemployment was, for all practical purposes, finally eliminated. The Dnieper Dam, largest in Europe, was begun. The Stalingrad Tractor Works, without compare except in the United States, was erected in eleven months. At both projects American engineers saw untrained Soviet workers break world records of output. Hundreds of thousands of workers, organized into shock-brigades, worked like demons, and seayed on the job incredible hours to make these achievements possible. They would challenge each other to output competitions individually or en masse.

Edgar Snow has explained this "Socialist competition" as follows:

"Since there isn't any 'busi-

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Dear Mrs. Bass:

I would consider it a great honor if you would consider running for Congresswoman for the 14th Congressional District, Los Angeles. We need a fine, courageous woman like yourself to represent not only the 14th but the County in these crucial times in our Nation's history. I for one would be proud to work on your behalf.

FREDA MALLEN.

My dear Miss Bass:

Allow me as a longtime admirer of your splendid work to make this community of Los Angeles a better and more decent place to live in for all our citizens, regardless of race or other distinctions to add my voice to those of many other Los Angelenos in urging you to run for the Congress of the United States in the forthcoming election.

Along with many others I have long felt that a truly democratic representation of the manifold population of Los Angeles demands a prominent representative of our Negro citizens to be included in California's Congressional delegation. I can think of no person more fitted for this function than you. Your splendid record in the fight for real Democracy at home and for the kind of a peaceful world which we so desperately need would make you the ideal choice. The quie dignity of your person and your incorruptible integrity has been and will continue to be an inspiration to all of us who respect these qualities in a public figure at a time when so many of our so-called people's representatives succumb to the prejudices and the hysteria of this time.

As writer and public lecturer as well as an educator who has lived in this city for over ten years and has watched with growing admiration your service to our community, let me assure you ,that, in my opinion, your decision to run for Congress would mean an inspiration to all of us who still believe that this ought to be a free country, represented by honest and upstanding men and women of our free choice.

With best wishes for further success of your work and hoping to see you elected next November to a post which you so richly deserve,

Very sincerely yours,
MARTIN HALL.

Dear Mrs. Bass:

I was so pleased last night to hear that you are being mentioned as a candidate for Congress for the 14th C. D. No other person would be so well equipped for this job at the present time. You have just exactly the intelligent understanding and the strength of your convictions so sorely needed in Washington in these days.

It is easy to see that the decision to run may be hard for you in many respects. However, I want to remind you that over a long period of years the public has learned to have confident admiration for your courageous stand and there can be little doubt that your candidacy would continue the support of an important cross-section of the city, both in and out of your own district.

I do urge you to run. I think you can win.

Cordially and hopefully,
E. DUTTON.

Editor,
California Eagle:

To all Americans who like the idea of fair play(and who does not?) it is a matter of shame that we have so large a group of citizens, 15.000.000 Negroes, with practically no representation in Congress, instead of 53, if the principle of proportionate representation were practiced.

Also as a woman, it is no matter of pride that we have so few women Representatives. If half the population sends only a small handful of women to Congress, we can hardly boast of much democracy.

Fortunately this year we have a chance to help remedy these two defects. In the 14th CD why not send an outstanding woman to replace Mrs. Douglas, who is seeking the Senate seat, and a Negro woman who has won the respect of all progressives, Negro and white, by her courageous fight for civil rights especially for labor and minorities? Charlotta A. Bass is my choice of candidate. If she will run, I pledge her my utmost support.

NELL HIGMAN.

Dear Sir:

The Coordinating Council of the Hollywood IPP Club, representing nearly 400 IPP members, by unanimous vote at its meeting on Sept. 14, 1950, recommended the candidacy of Mrs. Charlotta Bass for Congresswoman from the 14th C.D.

This unanimous vote urging Mrs. Bass' acceptance of the congressional candidacy in her district is based first on the fact that Mrs. Bass is a respected member of the community for her many years of devoted and courageous service to its welfare. Unlike the reactionary candidates up for election (Messrs. Hardy and Yorty), Mrs. Bass has not only worked hard for the interests of the people of her community, but she has worked WITH them—labor, youth groups and minorities.

The years of service to her community combined with her personal talents and integrity equip Mrs. Bass to render a two-fold public service: To give reaction a long over-due and much needed defeat, and to give her community and the nation the benefits that can come only from an IPP representative that stands solidly for world peace and cooperation, civil rights and economic security for ALL!

Yours for the election of Mrs. Charlotta Bass as the next Congresswoman from the 14th C.D.,

HOWARD FELDMAN,
For the Coordinating Council of the Hollywood IPP Club.

Dear Mrs. Bass:

I have just heard that there is a possibility that you can be persuaded to run for Congress in the fourteenth district. It was the best news I've heard for a long time. America, at this most crucial period, needs a woman like you to make Congress a representative body. It certainly isn't now! I urge you, most earnestly, to get into the great political fight that must come and, with the help of a woman like you, will be won.

Yours sincerely,
JULIET GREEN

Carpe Deim Club Cocktail Party Set For October 1st

To augment its pre-Holiday service and philanthropic fund, the Carpe Deim Club of Los Angeles is staging a cocktail October 1.

It will be held at 1918 South Harvard Blvd., with formal introduction of its officers in the spotlight. The Carpe Deim, meaning "enjoy the present day," was organized in 1948 and without fanfare of any kind has taken pride in its community and the less fortunate people especially by working like beavers all through the year raising funds for its Christmas Charity Party that it stages year around Yule Time.

General chairman is Itaska Jones, who is also the president of the Carpe Deim. Her officers include Eloise Shipp, vice-president; Dorothy Griffith, secretary; Betty C. Lewis, treasurer; Rhoa Clayton, correspondence secretary; Virginia Jackson, business manager; and Betty F. Lewis, sergent-at-arms.

Members are Sara Church, Ida Winston, Janice Trotter, Betty Scott, and LaVonne Hanazawa.

The Les Dames Ami had their first annual Semi-Formal Dance on Friday, September 15, at the Royal Palms Hotel. Feminine pastels made a picture of lovliness.

Judith Allen Returns Home From L.A. Trip

Miss Judith Allen, who has just returned to her home in St. Louis, Mo., spent several weeks in Los Angeles during the month of August visiting relatives.

Among the highlights of her vacation trip was a dinner given for her by an aunt, Mrs. L. M. Ervin of 1246 East 92nd Street. A sight-seeing trip and dinner at the Farmers Market, courtesy of Aline B. and William J. Thomas (her cousins). The Thomases also showed her Hollywood, Beverly Hills, Westwood, Pasadena and other places of interest. Another aunt, Mrs. Nora Wheeler was hostess to a theater party and dinner at Cliftons.

Many other affairs were given in her honor, as well as in honor of her young sister, Brenda, who accompanied her from St. Louis.

This was Miss Allen's first trip to California, given to her by her family as a graduation gift.

LITTLE HOSTESS ENTERTAINS . . . Reve Leemerle Gipson is shown seated at the patio table "beaming" when she recently was hostess to a group of eighteen little girls, all attired in afternoon formals. Each little Miss was presented with an orchid corsage upon arriving and enjoyed the fun and gaiety throughout the afternoon. Shown with the little hostess is a part of the guests who were present. Reve is the daughter of Gertrude Gipson. (Morehead Photo)

"Ole Father Time checked so there'd be no doubt;
Called on the North Wind to come on out,
Then cupped his hands so proudly to shout—
La - de - de - da - de - dum — 'Tis
Autumn."
'Tis Autum, Words and Music
by Henry Nemo.

THE MELODIOUS REFRAIN with its lilting autumal lyrics brings our minds to the realization that the Fall Season is soon to be in full swing. The date of September 22 will be the official calendar date for the start of the season. Then we can say, and truthfully, that 'Tis Autumn.

Autumn Fashion

THIS SEASON always alerts us to the fact that curren fashion trends and our wardrobe are all important. We, of the feminine gender, become exceedingly interested in current fashion shows, fashion teas, coming winter formals, and popular fashion changes. We begin to wonder just how we will plan our attire, as we adapt ourselves to the newest styles. To aid our decisions on our likes and dislikes in the fashion world, fashion show become most helpful. The Francois Andre touch will lend itself to the making of a fall and winter show that should be very near tops in style and forecasts for the future. The swank El Sombrero Club will provide a persuasive atmosphere as the theme "California Living" in one of the first shows of the season on Thursday, September 28. The hour is to be 8:00 p.m., so if you're interested be on hand for first-hand entertainment. Mr. Andre is head of the Andre Studio of Modeling and plans to use some of his best models. So, this sheud be well worth the time and money spent.

SPEAKING FURTHER OF FASHION, reports have it that Dorothea Towles, local girl that has taken Paris by "storm" has become quite an expert in the field. On her return to the states next season, she plans to conduct lectures on the subject at various colleges, and will personally conduct shows featuring Parisian styles. Many anticipate the coming of these programs, for Miss Towles has had opportunity to study with some of the leading experts such as Christian Dior, Jacques Fath, and Schiaparelli.

And of "Tripping the Light Fantastic"

GAIETY PREVAILED on Saturday night at the newly decorated Elks Auditorium when those Royal men of the "Royal Dragons Social Club" entertained their many friends with an informal sport dance. Many were the faces on the scene. Expressions of merriment and enjoyment were noticable everywhere. The music rendered by the ever popular Sammy Franklin band really hit a favorable spot when the "Charleston" and the "La Conga" rhythms were played. During the introduction, current prexy, Walter Laremore introduced Mr. Vernon Strange as his successor which met with great approval from the audience. The ballroom really had that 'real crowded' look, and it was easiest to spot familiar faces either in the lobby or in one of the three cocktail bars. This 13th Annual affair of the club can be listed as 'most successful.' We begin now to look forward to all the next ones to follow!

THE IVIES of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority (Sigma Chapter) presented the collegiate set with a beautifully planned Semi-Formal Dance on Saturday night past. The specious Zenda ballroom was the atmospheric setting for the merry crowd who "tripped the light fantastic" from ten 'til two. We weren't on the scene, but certain informatives report that this was really one to remember. The ballroom and lobby decorations were artistically set off by real Ivy Leafs which was in accord with the pledge club name. And what big formal evening would be complete without those much looked forward to before and after parties??? Hear tell that the one to remember is the Before Shindig held at the Boyd's (Julius and sis Vivian) west 37th Drive adobe. Julius is always a genial host, and with the assistance of his sis who is an Ivy, we're sure it was really "the end." The welcome mat was out at the Alpha Frat House for the "dance after the dance" crowd.

September Beauty

THE BLEARY-WET weather of Sunday, September 17, did not mar the beauty nor the attendance of the wedding that took place at the quaint Neighborhood Community Church. Joined in happy wedlock were Miss Adrianne Lawson and Mr. Marquin Jordan, with Rev. H. Mansfield Collins, Cr., performing the beautiful ceremony. The bride made a real picture of loveliness gowned in all white. Her bridesmaids wore alternate shades of pink and blue, each laden with a basket containing an orchid. Eleanor Bujol was maid of honor while Bill Slaton was the best man.

The next meeting will be held Sunday, October 9, at the home of Mrs. Edna Marie Roy. All correspondence should be mailed to Evelyn Thierry Williams at 2946 West Blvd., Anyone desiring tickets to above affair may obtain them by calling Cecilia Carr by phoning AD. 15060.

Interfrat Dance Tonight

Tonight, Sept. 21, Thursday, is the big Interfraternity Dance to be held at the beautiful El Sombrero Club. Appearing as guests will be the stars of the popular musical drama "Lost in the Stars." Bids are going fast, but for the sake of those late comers without bids, there will be a limited number at the door. Music will be provided by the popular orchestra of Sammy Franklin.

Miss Lawson Irving Jordan Wed Sunday

The Rev. H. Mansfield, pastor of the Neighborhood Community Church, performed the marriage rites unit Miss Adrianne Lucile Lawson and Marquin Irving Jordan last Sunday.

The former Miss Lawson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Lawson Sr., and she is an employee of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Co.

The groom is an electrical contractor associated with the Morelan-Jordan electric service.

RECENT BRIDE—Miss Adrienne Lucile Lawson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Lawson Sr., became the bride of Marquin Irving Jordan on Sunday, Sept. 17. (See story.)

Local Matron Enjoys Extensive Summer Vacation And Travel

Mrs. Lillie B. R. Baker, local religious, fraternal and civic worker, returned to the city after covering three conventions and visiting many cities. Before the eastern sojourn began, she visited friends in Oakland and San Francisco, Calif.

The next stop was Portland, Oregon where a visit was paid to the Eastern Star Grand chapter. Mrs. Baker is a member of the Deborah Chapter No. 13. Seattle, Washington, was the next stop where she was feted by her good friend Mrs. Williams.

The windy city of Chicago, Ill. attracted Mrs. Baker as she stopped with her brother, Mr. Wright Ceevey Foster and son Conrad. Her two sons, Eugene and Freddie, of the Jackson trio appeared at the Vanity Fair Night Club. After an enjoyable stay here, the sojourn continued to Philadelphia and on to Atlantic City, New Jersey where the National Federation of Women's Clubs met. She represented the Mary F. Waring Club of which she is past president.

No Eastern trip would be complete without stopping in the fabulous city of New York! Mrs. Baker stopped with long time friend Mrs. Clara Thomas who is employed at the city's Providence Hospital as clerical worker. The Shrine Convention held at Boston, Mass., was the next spot visited. A tour of the capitol, Washington, D. C. was next in order where many interesting and historical spots were visited.

Down South

An almost complete tour of the South was the exciting experience of Mrs. Baker, which took in notable states of Alabama, Virginia, Tennessee, Mississippi, and the intriguing city of New Orleans with its French quarters. In Beaumont, Texas, her nephew, Dr. Alfred F. Foster and his immediate family planned many enjoyable entertainments. Her birthplace, Houston, Texas was a memorable visit with fetes given by immediate relatives and old friends. Surprising cousins in Fort Worth, Texas was an unforgettable occasion also.

Arriving home just in time to attend sessions of the Grand Guild, Mrs. Baker had much talk on the list of many when the Pan-Hellenic Council of Los Angeles presents their "Evening In Old Mexico." If you don't have your bid by now, better hurry and start trying to get it, you may miss a great time. The affair is open to the public. And on Saturday night coming up, the Sphinx Club of A Phi A Frat have announced that their "Little Greek Frolic" will be something to rave about. The fellows, both pledges and actives, really seem to be enjoying their newly purchased house.

Delta Sigma Theta Sorority comes into the limelight once more when the USC chapter presents their first rush party of the season at the home of prexy Shirley Williams. Friday night is the date, from the hour eight, when new girls on campus will be feted. The unique theme to be carried out will be "A Loud Sock Party." The members are really looking forward to an active and prosperous year.

SATURDAY NIGHT, always a gay week-end night, brings us to the Club, MR. & MRS. They will present their Introductory Dance with Semi-Formal attire the mode of fashion for the evening. The Elks Ballroom will be the setting for the affair which promises to be one of the best of the Fall Season.

THE LOVABLE TROUBADORS, popular new social club, will entertain on Saturday night from the hours eight to one. A surprise is in store for the ladies in attendance which will be in the form of a "prize." Active member, LaVonne Ellie, informs us that the guests of the club will be royally entertained with food and drink.

THOSE ACTIVE LAMPODOS of Omega Frat invite all their friends to a benefit dance of which all proceeds will be given toward financing their First Annual Formal Dance. Gay Saturday night is the date, and the Alpha Bowling Club is the place. Unique theme chosen for the affair is "Auld Acquaintance." It is the hope of the members that the Thanksgiving holiday season will be highlighted by their Formal Dance.

THOSE LOVELY MATRONS of The Child Guidance Welfare League are in readiness for their "Cabaret" on Sunday at the swank Club Oasis. Showtime (first show) will be around 4:30 p.m. with the members presenting the numbers. Who knows, some new talents may be revealed that have passed unnoticed. Remember that your attendance supports a worthwhile cause so be there, and have fun.

Social Chatter

WITH PEOPLE as our favorite topic, let's take a bird's eye view of a few interesting personalities. . . . Many of the friends of Earline and Wilbur Tate will answer a call to celebrate the happy couple's first anniversary of wedded bliss. Quoting from the originally versed invitation, "A jolly trip for you we've planned. To Mexico, enchanted land," reveals the theme for the Tate's 'cotton' celebration. . . . A recent popcall from Ethelene and Chuck Smith, showing off their brand new 'light green' fifty Ford was a very enjoyable occasion. . . . Understand that Leigh DeGreen, USC student, is also a proud possessor of a brand-spanking new beige Ford number. . . . Little Edward Patterson, first-born of popular couple, LaVert and Marion, will celebrate his first birthday on Friday, September 22. What a girgling good time he'll have with the whole of mom and pop's family around for the occasion. . . . Zera Collier, local beautician, really has a personality that is full of warmth and friendliness. . . . And aside to readers who like brevity along with fact, "Quick Magazine" is for you. This big-little book is worth every one of the ten cents that you invest. News is realy included with interesting sections on 'Women,' 'Fashion,' and 'Male and Female.' Try it you'll enjoy it, look for it at your local magazine stands. . . . With this recommendation for good reading, making deadline. . . . Here's nine, til next time.

PROF. HERMAN Speaks

TO ASSIST YOU IN MAKING WISE DECISIONS

DO YOU NEED ADVICE?

Are you one of the couples faced with the age-old problem of whether you are financially able to marry, or whether you should wait a few more years until something occurs that will lessen your responsibility?

Such problems as these confront Prof. Herman daily, and it is his job to aid these young people in making the right decision. Do you need advice? Are you contemplating marriage but afraid to make the final step? If you are troubled in any respect, why not write him today, and let him help you?

B. A. D. Dear Prof. Herman: I read your column regularly and have often been benefitted by your advice to others. I would like your opinion on a problem I am now facing. Should I take my husband back?

ANS. It is revealed to me that you still love your husband very much despite the differences you previously had toegther. Since your separation, you both have come to realize how important the other is in your life. I suggest that you and your husband make a brand new start and I feel that your marriage may be a very happy one.

W. B. Who shouted "Sic semper Tyrannis" in an American theater and committed an act that changed the course of American history?

ANS. John Wilkes Booth, a crazed actor, shot Abraham Lincoln on April 14th as he stepped into his box at Ford's Theater. Booth cried out, "Sic semper Tyrannis" which means "To Be It Always Tyrants."

O. J. I have heard about your wonderful Prayer Circle and would like to become a member. Please give me all details.

ANS. I want you to know that I will be very glad to help you, my friend, and if you will send one dollar to me in care of this paper stating that you would like to become a member of the Prayer Circle, all instructions will be sent to you along with the Prayer and Meditation Combination two-week supply. Send your complete name, address and birthdate.

J. W. I am over thirty years old and am wondering if I will ever marry? Please advise me what prospects I may have for the future.

ANS. It is revealed to me that you have a very winning personality and have an abundance of friends. However, you have failed to find the type of man you would like to marry as they all seem to lack something. It appears to me that you are destined to meet someone in the near future who may possess many of the qualities you desire in a husband and together you may find the happiness you have been seeking.

Alonzo Foster New Council Head

Friday, September 15, Mr. Alonzo Foster took over the chairmanship of the Watts Coordinating Council. The meeting was held in the lobby of the Will Rogers Park building.

Mr. Wesley Brazier, executive director of the Urban League, spoke of the history of the League with its early beginnings in New York in 1910. The object of the organization then was to urbanize southern Negroes to an industrial type of life. Today their efforts are to try and have industry accept the people.

In the 40 years of its existence there are 59 branches in 29 states. The Los Angeles branch, which is 29 years old, was started by Tuskegee graduates.

The present program of the League is concerned with housing, institutional care, adult education, safety, better transportation and better fire protection.

Miss Judy Cozzens, area 8 Youth Project Coordinator spoke in place of Sergeant Whitney of the Sheriff's office concerning the Watts-Willowbrook Boys' Club. In the Watts area of the 12,000 boys and girls between ages of 5 to 19 years of age only one fourth are being served by Miss Cozzens also gave a youth agencies.

Youth Project report. She stated that it is the object of the Youth Project to work with normal adjusted youth and also to work with delinquent youth thru their special services branch. Many youth organizations have coordinated their efforts under such leaders as Mrs. Roberta Ross of the DAP's. Mrs. Pearl Bryant, Teen-agers; Mr. Manual Zamoriana, Y.M.C.A.; Mr. Vern Dunn, Boy Scouts.

Each worker in the area is to train and recruit their own volunteer workers. Should anyone desire to train for or lead a group, contact Miss Cozzens at TRinity 8967.

Council plans for the new year were presented, among them housing, public schools in the area, a human relations committee, contact with Urban League, study of Proposition No. 10 as relates to public housing, work more closely with probation department and the formation of a park committee.

Rev. J. J. Hicks spoke on the recent success of obtaining an evening high school at Jordan and of the great value it would be to parents and interested citizens in the community.

Mr. Philo Chambers, principal of the new evening high school spoke on Parent Eduation classes and the need to publicize the evening school throughout the community.

Mr. Judson Howard of the Watts Health Department told of the success of the recent chest x-ray in the Watts area and told of the plans for launching a new community program to test the hearing of all pre-school age children.

Mr. Patrick Reynolds told the group of the work of the probation department of which he is a member.

Meet with this community minded group the 3rd Friday in each month at 10:00 a.m. in Will Rogers Park. October 20th is the next meeting date.

Child Stars Entertained At Gay Party

On Sunday afternoon, September 17, 1950, at the home of Mrs. Myrtle Pitts, 3763 So. Gramercy Pl. a group of boys and girls had the pleasure of meeting the young stars from the Hit Play "Lost in the Stars." The honor guests were Herbert Coleman, his sister, Yvonne, and Melba Hart. After being introduced and signing autographs, the honor guests and their friends enjoyed a Hopalong Cassidy film and comedy cartoon. It was a gala two-hour affair and each young guest was thrilled again and again throughout the evening.

"LINKS" INSTALL OFFICERS

Mrs. W. Roderick Brown of Pittsburgh, Penn., wife of the nationally-known surgeon and specialist was the stellar attraction early the evening of Sunday, Sept. 17th when members of the local chapter of the recently organized "Links," prominent national group among women of the nation were initiated while officers were installed at elaborte ceremonies. The picturesque event was held in the spacious library in the palatial home of Dr. and Mrs. John A. Somerville, 2104 South Harvard Boulevard.

The nineteen ladies forming the local chapter (orginally there were twenty members of the group but Mrs. Charles H. Matthews, popular society matron died in June and last evening a minute of silent tribute was observed. Mrs. Brown placing a rose on the table in fond memory of the departed) were radiant in formal attire as the background of flowers and ferns was beautifully etched by the shadows of the dying day and enhanced by the colorful and impressive candlelight rites as they were silhouetted against the western sky.

Mrs. Brown, who is chairman of New Chapter Contacts and who journeyed from her Pittsburgh home especially for this event was alike charming and ingratiating as in soft and resonant voice she outlined the three-fold purpose of the membership as being inter-cultural, civic and social. She then challenged the officers with their obligation, stressing the fast particularly that this is primarily a service organization.

Immediately following the ceremony the guests repaired to the handsome dining room where they were joined by their waiting husbands who also were appropriately attired for the formal dinner which consisted of five delectable courses. Mrs. Cornelia Bradford artistically and superbly blended the Link's motif of green and white into a symphony of sparkle and color. Dr. Vade Somerville, President of the local chapter made brief remarks then presented Mrs. Henry McPherson, vice president, who in turn lauded those who assisted in bringing this chapter into being and expressed gratification in having the Pittsburgh vsitors, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Ira F. Lewis, widow of the late famed newspaper publisher present.

The roster of the officers and members of the Links, each Link being part of the chain of twenty-two Chapters which already have been organized throughout the United States including the names of the following persons: Dr. Vade Somerville, President, Mesdames Henry McPherson, First Vice President, Cornelia Leggett Bradford, 2nd Vice President, George Smith, Secretary, William Graham, Assistant Secretary, Alice Harvey, Treasurer. Members are Mesdames: Howard Allen, Henry Butler, Robert W. Garrott, Laynard Holloman, Edgar Johnson, Loren Miller, Chas. Satchell Morris, II, Cecil Murrell, John F. Simmons, Walter B. Smith, Paul R. Williams. Misses Birdielee Bright, Miriam Matthews.

BETTER ELECTRICAL LIVING IS YOURS FOR A BARGAIN

Yes, it's true. In Los Angeles today you can enjoy the benefits of modern electrical living at rates which are among the lowest in the nation.

From August 1, 1927 to June 30, 1949 your Department was able to make reductions in your electric rates which resulted in actual savings to customers of $274,341,000.

Los Angeles enjoys low-cost electricity today despite the fact that labor, materials and general cost of living are at an all-time high. And remember, too, your Department must bring much of your electricity from Hoover Dam 266 miles away.

So today, by all means, take advantage of electrical living. It is better living by far... it is your greatest bargain!

SIKH NOT MICK

HOLLYWOOD.—Director Josef von Sternberg asked the RKO Radio casting office for what sounded like a "sick policeman." They brought in several Irish types for him to interview. It turned out he was looking for a Sikh policeman to lend color to a scene in "Macao."

JACK'S CRACK

HOLLYWOOD.—Jack Paar, on being told that he had finally been cast in "Walk Softly, Stranger," after almost two years under contract to RKO Radio, quipped: "I'm sure glad. I tried to get other studios to take me on loanout, but none of them would pay RKO the five-dollar deposit!"

Tiny Bradshaw To Teach "Boogie Green"

ROANOKE, Va.—Tiny Bradshow, dynamic delineator of exciting rhythms, announce that during the balance of his southern tour he will not only feature the rendition of his smash recorded hit "Boodie Green" but will teach the dance as well to willing learners.

"Boodie Green," contrary to popular thinking, is not a person but a dance, created in the fertile mind of the maestro with the effervescent personality.

CNA Fetes Sidney Potier

NEW YORK CITY.—GN . . . CNA, the Committee on the Negro in the Arts entertained with a cocktail party for Sidney Potier who co-starred in the new 20th Century-Fox flicker—"No Way Out" last Friday night at Hotel Theresa just before he took off for Africa where he will have a featured role in another Flicker.

Potier will meet another great actor in Africa, Canada Lee who also has a featured role in the Picture, "Cry the Beloved Country."

Lena 'Sends' London With New Sexy Style

CHICAGO.—Lena Horne, gorgeous singing star of screen and radio is following up her French success with even more critical raves in London as a result of a startling switch in her singing style from seductive restraint to fiery, uninhibited display.

"I adopted this style for France," Lena Says in October Ebony, "because the French don't understand English so you have to hit them with everything." Speaking of Lena's new style, Maurice Chevalier is also quoted in Ebony as saying, "She sings like a tiger!"

Miss Horne's new style was rehearsed in secret with her MGM musical director husband Lennie Hayton for months. Three years ago when Lena sang in Paris the French frowned on her poised and dignified style. Designed for the French, Lena's new "schmaltz" style has also scored in England.

Whether she will continue to use the new style on her return to America is uncertain, Ebony says.

Jacquet's New Disc 'Hot Rod' Really Hot

NEW YORK.—Illinois Jacquet, the renowned "Dynamo of the Saxophone," who is currently holding forth with his high-flying Sextette in an engagement at Birdland on Broadway, is out this week with a new RCA Victor release, coupling two of his own compositions, "Hot Rod" and "Slow Down, Baby."

Russell Jacquet, trumpet-tooting, blues-shouting brother of the Sax King, is featured in one of his inimitable vocal efforts on "Slow Down, Baby," while the flip side, inspired by the "Hot Rod" racing cars, highlights the frantic tenor horn of the mighty mite of the saxophone on one of his most exciting platters to date.

Jacquet's current engagement at Birdland marks his second Broadway appearence in less than two months, he having played a two-week date at Bop City in July.

Back to the Waxing Salt Mines for Tiny

DURHAM, N. C.—Tiny Bradshaw, the fabulous "comeback Kid" of show business, has to call a temporary halt to his lucrative tour of one night stands following his date here Saturday night to fulfill a year old contract for recording dates in Cincinnati.

The dynamic writer and creator of the fabulously successful "Well Oh Wee" and the infectious "Boodie Green" signed a contract sixteen months ago for "four recording dates in September 1950" and considered himself lucky to get the dates.

The four days interruption will cost Tiny a cool $2.700.

Nothing like fame is there, Mr. Bradshaw.

Wald And Krasna Set Up Own Publishing Company

The Jerry Wald-Norman Krasna company today became the first independent film unit to set up its own music publishing company when they announced the formation of Wald-Krasna Music, Inc., to publish and merchandise all songs to be used in their RKO Radio productions.

Since a number of the 60 pictures to be made by Wald-Krasna during the five-year term of their recently signed contract with Howard Hughes will be musicals and a large number of songs will be used in their other films, the producers decided to take full advantage of the merchandising value of such music in creating interest in them.

Bull Moose In Demand

NEW YORK CITY.—Bull Moose Jackson and his Buffalo Bearcats have cut their current tour of Southern one nighters short to rush to Cincinnati for a series of recording sessions for King records. Bull Moose, who is rapidly becoming America's top record making personality, has been so busy fulfilling his dance and theater engagements that he has found it impossible in the past few months to squeeze in any time for record making. Because of the tremendous demand for Bull Moose Jackson records by the dealers, the King record company found that their large stock pile of advance pressings was rapidly diminishing and after a long telephone conference with Moose, the ballad-singing, saxophone - playing maestro agreed to rush back and cut at least a dozen sides prior to embarking on the remainder of his tour.

N.Y. Disc Jockeys Set Aside Judy Garland Week

Touched by the spontaneous fan demonstration on Broadway last week for Judy Garland, seven of New York City's leading disk-jockeys have banded together to organize a "Judy Garland Week." During the week of September 11, each has pledged himself to play daily the records in the MGM Records' sound-track album from the star's latest picture, "SUMMER STOCK," supplementing them with sound-track recordings from past Garland films. The jockeys involved in the unusual event are Jack Lacy (WINS), Ted Brown (WMGM), Bill Williams (WOV), Martin Block (WNEW), Alan Stuart (WMCA), Bob Poole (Mutual Network), and Skitch Henderson (WNBC).

Salute was inspired by the unusual tribute paid Miss Garland one night last week when she was quietly catching a showing of "SUMMER STOCK."

JULIA LEE . . . who recently appeared on national television show captivated her many listeners with her unique style of vocaling and piano artistry.

$1800.00 Given Away By Champion

Last Saturday and Sunday, September 16 and 17, were Lucky days for two of our neighborhood residents.

On Saturday night, September 16th, Mrs. Esther Ivory of 1171½ East 43rd Place, won $1000.00, when her name was called on the regular drawing of WIN THE MONEY, at the Central Avenue theatres, the Lincoln, Bill Robinson, Rosebud, Forence-Mills and Savoy.

On Sunday night, September 17, Mr. Joseph C. Williams, of 5014 McKinley Avenue, won $800.00 when his name was drawn.

It is all very easy to WIN THE MONEY. All you have to do, is sign your name and address on the card provided at anyone of the five theatres on Central Avenue, then be present at any of these theatres, The Lincoln, Bill Robinson, Rosebud, Florence-Mills, or Savoy, on Sunday, Wednesday and Saturday, and if your name is called, you WIN THE MONEY.

This week the pot is for $100.00.

S. R. O. At Theatre Showing Of "Finian's Rainbow"

BRIGHTON BEACH, L. I., N. Y.—It pays brother—the mixed cast showing "Finian's Rainbow" has been playing all week to packed houses. The reception given the every appearance of the Negroes in the cast was heart warming.

The show caught last Sunday at matinee time—SRO—was as fresh and colorful as when it opened on Broadway in 1947. It pulls no punches in the story about the American way of life in "Necessity."

This is a play that should run and hun and be seen again and again by all Americans everywhere.

The staging and playing throughout by a Negro and white company is something to think about. The names James (Flash) Riley as staging the choreography, Frank Neal as dance captain, James Grimes as Henry (juvenile lead), Delores Martin, Maude Simmons, and Jerry Laws to mention a few. . . "Finian's Rainbow is still a must.

A.N.T. Presents Award to Darryl Zanuck

High commendation for "serving humanity through the arts" was lavished on Darrly F. Zanuck last night (13) when the 20th Century-Fox production head was cited by the American Negro Theater at ceremonies held on the stage of the Rivoli Theater. The citation was accepted by Richard Widmark, star of "No Way Out," Zanuck's latest production now playing at the Rivoli Theater.

The award was presented by Austin Briggs-Hall, executive director of A. N. T., in the presence of Congressman Adam Clayton Powell, Jr., executive members of A. N. T. and members of the "No Way Out" cast including Mildred Joanne Smith, Dots Johnson and Bert Freed.

The text of the award is as follows:

"In recognition of a significant advance in the honest cinematic presentation of religious and racial bigotry as they exist in our American communities, thereby educating the citizenry as to their destructive effects on human personality.

"We, the American Negro Theater, Inc., congratulate Darryl F. Zanuck for raising the standards of American Motion Picture entertainment by his enlightening treatment of the adult problems and pleasures of human life in our democratic society; and for stimulating a progressive regrouping of social values consonant with the requirements of mature citizenship in a peaceful world of United Nations.

"Given under our hand and seal, the American Negro Theater, Inc., this 13th Day of September, Nineteen Hundred and Fifty."

FRENCH MUSICAL ACTIVITIES

(Although France was one of last countries to visit while in Europe recently, we find the condition of our notes in the exact inverse relationship to the manner in which our travels began. So taking the way of least resistance and hoping that our readers will sympathize with our problems this week (in view of the opening of school) we begin)

The early spring and summer musical season in Paris was considered by many to be the most brilliant of any since the war. It assumed a special significance, moreover, from the fact that its most important events took place in the theater rather than in the concert hall.

The list of novelities included two works that may properly be classified as operas, and one ballet of traditional cast, as well as one of the hybrid spectacles that result from the search for an intermediary formula between the lyric theater and the ballet.

Whether one formula or another offers the greater promise for the future of the musical stage may be a matter for debate. In any case, it is evident that French composers (and, I think it is safe to say, European composers generally) are making an earnest attempt to propose more or less fres hsolutions for what we are in the habit of calling the crisis of the lyric theater.

This problem assumes a different shape in Europe than in the United States, WHICH HAS NO COMPARABLE ESTABLISHED TRADITION, and where operatic production on any ponderable scale takes place only in a few of the largest cities.

Until about 50 years ago, the essential musical life of a considerable part of Europe was concentrated in the lyric theater. During the tremendous development of the German symphonic school in the 19th century, Italian musical production continued to be directed exclusively toward the stage; and in France apart from the activity of Hector Berlioz and various lesser lights, the orientation was essentially the same.

In Italy and France today, the production of pure music has caught up with the production of dramatic music. But it is impossible to ignore the enormous artistic capital that has been invested in the lyric theater. In order not to let this investment gradually lose its value, there is a need to keep the lyric theater alive through productions that continually renew its vitality. Yet a number of circumstances—more of them economic, perhaps than artistic — have caused both composers and the public to lose interest in theater music over the past half-century.

This state of affairs is particularly apparent in France, for the Italian lyric theaters have retained a faithful public, and the German audience seems to make an important demand for stage works. A desperate effort is now being made in France to revive lyric stages, many of which seem to have become moribund.

The larger cities, with decidedly meagre assistance from the French government are devoting significant sums to the encouragement of their municipal opera houses, in the face of large deficits; and the new works they are producing are awakening genuine interest.

A token of this interest was the transplantation of the entire Parisian critical force to Bordeaux in early May to attend at the Bordeaux Festival, the premiere of Jean Francaix' opera La Main de Gloire.

Operetta Study Course Offered At Loyola

Among the courses offered by Loyola University's Evening Division, slated to open Sept. 25, will be several "learning by doing" courses in Communication Arts and Music, according to N. J. Mietus, director of the co-educational night school.

The course in "Operetta Repertory," by Mr. William Hollenbeck, will produce an operetta or light musical for public presentation as the major class project.

The class in "Introductory Journalism" will publish a weekly Evening Division newspaper as part of the course in principles of journalism. Mr. Kenneth Carriero will conduct the course, and supervise the staff of the adult education section's newssheet.

Dorothy Maynor On Air Sunday With Percy Faith Orchestra

The lovely voice of Dorothy Maynor should prove the seasonal highlight of "The Pause That Refreshes on the Air" when the talented soprano from Norfolk, Va., joins Percy Faith and the Coca-Cola orchestra for 30 minutes of music America loves Sunday, September 24, at 5 p.m. over Station KNX (1070) and the Columbia coast-to-coast network.

Miss Maynor tops a list of leading American and foreign singers who have appeared thruout the summer on the Faith program.

The Sunday, September 24, appearance marks a return to radio under the Coca-Cola banner for Miss Maynor who previously guest-starred with Andre Kostelanetz and his orchestra under the same sponsorship.

She will be heard singing the ever popular "Jeannie With the Light Brown Hair," "The Last Rose of Summer" and the traditional spiritual, "Were You There?" In the last number, a choral background will be supplied by the well-known Ray Charles Singers in addition to a special orchestral arrangement by Percy Faith.

Menotti Duo Presented In October

Hailed as the most distinguished musical event of the season, James A. Doolittle will present Gian-Carlo Menotti's two outstanding musical plays, "The Medium" and "The Telephone," for their Pacific Coast premiere at the El Capitan Theater on October 5.

In a season marked by the number of outstanding musical events of more than usual interest, this bids well to be the climax.

The two plays, which have won the acclaim of not only the music and dramatic critics of New York, but also of Paris and London, will be presented with the Broadway cast which is being flown directly here.

"The Medium," which is a suspenseful, thrill-packed melodrama, will be presented on the same programm with the one-act comedy, "The Telephone." They are scheduled for a four-week engagement here before moving to San Francisco.

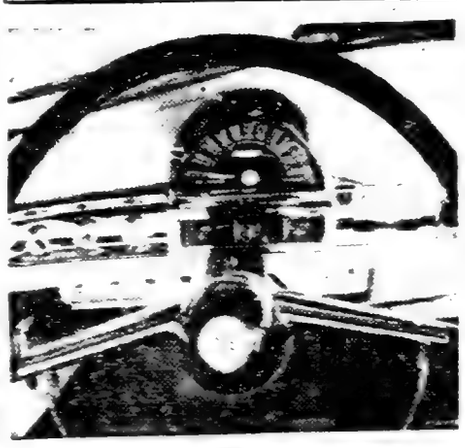
Cootie Traps A Weasel

One of the biggest, maddest explosion in a long, long time is rocking Harlem's famed Savoy Ballroom nightly as Willie "Weasel" Parker sends the dance crowds into ecstacies of delight with his powerful pyrotechnics on a tenor saxophone.

The dancers at the legendary "Home of Happy Feet," long recognized as the jazz capitol of the world, are according Parker the supreme tribute reserved only for the fabled few. Nearly everybody on the floor comes to a frozen halt as they listen admiringly while "Weasel" goes to town on one of his frantic "Gostons."



This kind of sincere tribute has been reserved in the past for only such wonder men as Illinois Jacquet, Benny Goodman, Artie Shaw, Willis Jackson, Erskine Hawkins and a few others of their stature.

Robert Parish Signed to Direct 'Cowpoke'

First director signed by Jerry Wald and Norman Krasna for their new independent unit at RKO Radio is Robert Parrish, who today was engaged to direct "Cowpoke."

Parrish, long one of the film industry's ace film editors, recently made his debut as a director on "Cry Danger," which co-stars Dick Powell and Rhonda Fleming. His handling of this Sam Wiesenthal-W. R. Frank production for RKO Radio distribution is said to establish him as one of the most interesting directorial discoveries in several years. Wald and Krasna, adhering to their announced policy of providing opportunities for exceptional new talent, lost no time in signing him for their Howard Hughes unit.

Easy to See

Along with advanced designing inside and out, the 1951 Nash Airflyte Ambassador and Statesman models feature a new instrument panel with rounded lower edges for safety. A scientifically designed shade over the speedometer and other instruments prevents light reflections. Note that a single jacket encloses both the steering and gear-shifting shafts and that instruments have been simplified and concentrated for swiftest readings.

Concert Series Monday Nights Orchard Gables

'Monday Night at the Gables' Orchards Gables chamber music concert series got off to a fine start with an inspiring performance by the Centennial String Quartet made up of members of the San Diego Symphony to a very enthusiastic audience.

Marni Nixon has recently returned from Tanglewood where she sang leading parts in the opera department. She will sing one of the leads in Mozart's "Finta" at the Boston opera house in December with the same group. She won second prize in last winter's Atwater Kent auditions.

Ernest Gold had his music performed by the NBC Symphony at Carnegie Hall in New York and on most of the important events on the West Coast. His published works are nearly 50 and he has conducted the NY Philharmonic. He has written and conducted for most of the major studios. George Antheil is his teacher.

Spirituals Win

VENICE, Italy.—(ATLAS)—W. Lee Wilder, carried off top honors by an American producer at the Venice film festival. Wilder's current short subject series, "Songs of America," a group of sensitively filmed and beautifully staged dramatizations of Negro spirituals, were awarded the top prize for short subjects at the International Festival in which eleven countries competed.

JEFFERSON HIGH SPORTS

Now that the football practice season is well on the way, Jefferson's hopes for a successful season are beginning to take shape. After making due allowances for the loss of some excellent lettermen, the Demos find themselves still capable of making a good sized dent in the win column.

Coaches Ragus and Marienthal are busy going through every possible candidate for new talent with which to surprise the opposition. There are several very promising transfers who look as if they might be the spark for a new offensive.

One thing is sure at Jefferson . . . there'll be a bigger emphasis on a more wide open brand of football.

That ball will be moving plenty and that means a passing as well as running attack. Big guns in the Demos, strategy are Rommie Loudd, a capable pass-catching end, and Jerry Drew who caught a lot of attention last year with a sparkling performance against Hamilton.

Loudd is really a big lad, well over the six foot mark, and he comes up to every coach's standard for an all round performer. Sideline kibitzers have their eyes on one of the most fabulous footballers the jumpin' Jeffs have had in many a year. He's Henry (The Cat) Patterson.

That lad absolutely refuses to be taken out of any play. Demo boosters can confirm this by Patterson's play last year. The Cat has been known to run all over the field to be sure to get in on the tackle. If he's knocked down, it's only for a moment, because he'll be up again rarin' tto go at the ball carrier. Keep your eye on that lad for sure!!

Here's the Jeff schedule. Because of the imminent plans to erect lights and new stands, all games marked with an asterisk may be played away from Jefferson.

Sept. 26—Narbonne (scrimmage) Jefferson*.

Sept. 30—Verdugo Hills (Night Game) Occidental College.

Oct. 3—Bell (scrimmage) Bell.

Oct. 5—Edison Tech (Night Game) Fresno.

Oct. 13—Fremona (Night Game) Wrigley Field.

Oct. 20—Roosevelt, Jefferson*

Oct. 27—Manual Arts, Jefferson*.

Nov. 3—Garfield (Night Game) Garfield.

Nov. 10—Washington, Washington.

Nov. 23—Milk Bowl (11:00 a. m., Coliseum.

Joe Looks Slow

NEW YORK CITY—(CNS)—Reports on how Joe Louis is coming along on his road to recover the heavyweight title are varying. Mannie Seamon, Joe's trainer, says "Joe is very fast." But Al Buck, sports writer for the New York Post laughed. "Joe wasn't fast, in fact he was slow as a horse car," he said.

Paul Quinn college, the oldest college in Texas, opened its 79th regular session amid plans for still greater expanded facilities.

CHUCK NEAL is an ambitious young semi-pro ball player with the Gardena Yankees of Gardena, California. His favorite and choice position is first-baseman. Looking toward better days to come, to play with a professional team is his goal. The Yankees games are played every Sunday on their own diamond at 2:00 p.m.

"Chuck" Neal Sees Future In Pro Baseball As Career.

By Dean Johnson

Speaking of ambitious young athletics in various phases of popular sports, one well worth mention is Charles H. Neal, commonly called "Chuck" by his friends. Baseball, the age-old American sport, is his major interest. At present, he is an active participant of the game, currently playing first base with the Gardena Yankees Ball Club. His main ambition is to play pro ball with a Pacific Coast or Major League team.

Early Record

The 20-year-old youth is a local boy, having graduated from our own Carver Jr. High School, and later attended Manual Arts High School. While at Manual Arts, his baseball career really began. Always with general interest in various sports, he was a one year letterman in basketball, and participated in track and field events.

But to rise above all others, he earned top honors in baseball, holding the title of three year leterman. This was quite a record, for few had previously held such, which landed him in the school's Hall of Fame.

During the season of 1948 he participated in varied extra-curricular activities. As a member of the American Legion team, he maintained an exceptionally high batting average of .666, which drew much attention to his ability as an all-around player. Batting left-handed, and with a power packed left hand throw, he selected first base as his best, and choice of position for play.

Achievements

From the outstanding record maintained on the Legion team, Chuck was chosen as a member of the All Star Legion Team for the year 1948. In 1949 he was chosen to play the Herald Hearst Tournament, sponsored annually by the Los Angeles Herald Express. The teams were made up of two All Star teams chosen from local high schools.

Recent Endeavors

September, 1949, prompted Chuck to enter Los Angeles City College, choosing a major in Physical Education, in compliance with his interests. One year's tenure found him playing with the college team, thus entering the Junior College League. Aside from inter-school sports, and studies, he still found time to play with an outside team, namely, the Los Angeles Juniors.

In June of 1950, the manager of a semi-pro team, the Gardena Yankees, signed Chuck to play for their team. This being a grand opportunity for experience, was accepted, and for the past two and one-half months he has maintained a record well worth mention.

Batting in fourth order, (the clean-up position), the left-hander holds second place on the team as he maintains an average of .364 to date. He leads in extra base hits, and does a super job as firstbaseman. It might be well worth a mention to note that Chuck is the only Negro player on the team.

Games featuring the Gardena Yankees are played Sunday afternoon at 2:00 p. m. at the ball park.

The Atomic Bowling League consisting of six teams of mixed foursomes blitzkrieged into action Monday night to compete in thirty weeks of league play at the Harlem Sport Center.

The president, Miss Katherine Porter wished all teams luck and asked the players to show good sportsmanship in competition at all times. The racks boomed down, pins gleaming and play was on.

Shelton Bail Bonds, the sporting four, rocked the maple and tumbled timber to blank Team No. 5 three games to none. Melba Foppe sparked the attack shooting 206 for high game, while her team mate, Lewis Russ assisted with a 204 and a 552 series.

Team 6 downed Team 5 three games to none. Ozi Flowers had a good 462 series and Al Griffin a 199 game.

Garcia's Cleaners defeate Team 1 two games to one. Ed McFall rolled a 196 and a 550 series as Tommy Gregg shot well to upset the apple cart.

The Friday night men's Sunset League also started with a bang. The pins were bombarded and sounded off like the 4th of July as the teams got under way.

Robinson Motel, last year's champions, shooting in mid season form keeled over the lumber to tumble Borden's Drugs 3 games to none. Floyd Lawrence led the assault with a 565 series.

Team No. 5 upset Garrett's Sports 3 games to none. Ernie Kirkwood, the kid from Santa Anna sparked his team shooting 211 for high game of the night.

Rogers Credit struggled to win 2 games to 1 from Personal Linen. Eddie Irving manager of the Harlem Sport Center, starred for his team rolling a 210 game and a 540 series. Chuck Downs also had a 530 series to wash away the Linen Bowlers.

Joe Louis Knew Sandy Saddler Would Beat Pep

NEW YORK CITY—(CNS)—It was revealed here this week, long after the famous Sandy Saddler-Willie Pep fight in which Saddler regained the lightweight championship, that Joe Louis himself had been on the wrong end of the betting. Harry Mendel said "I had Joe Louis on the phone from his camp in Pompton Lakes two days before the fight, and I asked him who he liked. Joe said he liked Pep. He said, if he boxes as good as he did the last time against Saddler, he ought to win it."

THE SOUTHERN "LIBERAL" MENTALITY (1)

Letters to me from southern hites with respect to Cosmo's rotest against Jim Crow at the outhern Chess Association urnament are clinical case udies in the pathology of uthern "liberal" thinking.

There is Martin Southern of noxville, SCA president, who vited a Negro to their tourney. en retreated before the attacks reactionaries. His "strategy," explained, was to "yield the to win the war," acquiesce Crow in 1950 in the hope beating it in 1951.

This epitomizes the basic fal- cy of the southern liberal. He will maintain a united front with white fascists who are wrong, in preference to unity with Negroes who are wronged. By this perennial appeasement he postpones a genuine grappling with "the race problem," yet thinks he has preserved his sincerity and integrity.

Corollary to this is Southern's typical objection to the "muddling interference of Yankees," who will not leave the south to solve its own problem. He fails to see that our mighty mobilization of national protest provides him with precisely the pressure he needs to defeat his reactionaries; his united front with them is so ingrained that instead he regards the pressure as directed against himself.

There are, of course, many northern pseudo-liberals who are kin to the southern. What both fail to realize is that it is not adequate to be "for" the Negro—they must also be "with" him.

CALIENTE, OLD MEXICO—Riding like Earle Sande, snapper Garrison and Eddie Accaro jockeys J. Robinson and tpprentice Charlie Sammut, were the sensation of the Sunday program of twelve races last Sunday at Caliente. Both scored on four winners. The first three races were won by Apprentice Charlie Summut including the daily-double which paid $138.80. His winners were Star Bonnet, in the first; Reighpoise, in the second Jim, in the third and Red Tick in the sixth. Robinson winners were, Wurst in the seventh. Next in the tenth. Rhoten in the eleventh, and Secret Flight in the twelfth. Robinson like Sammut who rode the first three winners, had the winning mount on the last three. The Quniela backers heceived $71.60 when Robinson's mount Secret Flight was the winner and Connie Haines finished second. This Sunday general manager Walter C. Marty has arranged two features to support the twelve race program. The main event will be "The Oceanside Handicap," secondary "The Clemente." The public handicapping contest is another feature any one picking seven straight winners from the third race thru the ninth will receive the Pot of Gold which is $5000. In case one one picked the seven straight winners two consolation prizes are awarded after the last race, the first for $300. Second for $200. (Special Notice.) Caliente will close down for the month of December and reopen Sunday, December 31st. The border course will have a complete overhauling many new conveniences, for the public's pleasure. An American tote board will be installed. It will be "new Caliente the beautiful." The new slogan will be "Get the Sunday Caliente Habit."

GREYHOUNDS AT CALIENTE—The $10,000 Greyhound Derby to be run in the near future is now a wide open affair. After K. C. Stoss and Faultless Rude were beaten in the main attraction Saturday, a new champion may be developed. Popular general manager William (Bill) Collier promises the most gala program of dog racing in the history for the Derby. In the race that K. C. Stoss and Faultless Rude were beaten the Quniela Payoff was $138.00. Cooper the dog to beat in the Derby won the race with Smoky Irish

PEN PALS CORNER

By BARBARA ANDERZA

Ain't spose to tell this, but I'm gonna. Nellie Becker and Bill Slatter or Slatten, (one or the other) are to become one on Wednesday nite at 5:30 p.m. .. . Gals . . . take out your sheets (use them instead of hankies) cause some of the sweetest of the sweet boys in the National Guard are leaving, what am I sayin'???, I mean left. Think it was Wednesday. Went to Camp Roberts. . . . I'm tellin ya, you kids are really chicken, didn't even tell me about Jody Clark and Willie Braggs. Instead, she had to tell me herself. . . . Since you all were present at the Armory, I won't go into details. But for the benefit of those who weren't I'll just let you in on who the entertainers were. Here goes: Jimmy Wetherspoon, Roy Brown, Big Jay McNealy, and can't remember the others. . . . Saw Kenny Graham tryin to ketch the open-air taxi (streetcar) the other day. You know somthin? they say he's a brain. . . . Rosalind Daulphine's latest beau is "Dimples." . . . Camille Billops and Jackie Garmon gave a little hop, last Saturday nite. Their ole guests were: Loucille and Lucy Anderson, Sidney Lyons, Ophelia Crawford, Arvie Lyons, Francis Jinkins, Joan Southern, Edith Lyons, Elverette Stewart, Joe Rouzon, Leodious Maurney, Charles Macon and the one and only Ella Mae Campelle. . . . Found out that Camille Billhops is really a heart breaker. Why, she's playin all the little boys. . . . Well, get a load. Lucy Anderson says she has eyes for a sweet little boy called Payne Butler. . . . Huh ' ' ' Ophelia Crawford just ain't speakin since she picked up on Arvie Lyons. Let me tell you folks. That ain't all. He even walks her to the car line. . . . Seriously speakin. Was talkin to Hox Johnny Samana the other nite. I'm tellin ya he is really a swell sport. You know he and Beverly Guano broke up a copule of weeks or more ago. Well, I asked him about it and he answered sayin that she was a sweet girl and he hoped that she would be quite happy with the LUCKY guy. T'would be great if all the guys were like him. Now wouldn't it girls???? . . . Last week there must have been a misprint. Cause with Anita Layne this week is Earl Broady. . . . Grace Jetter. Stop treatin boys soo, soo, mean. Might git a man. . . . Alice Estes will be havin her kicks. Her sweetie pie, Archie, works in the liquor store. . . . Can you beat this. Norma Jones is still in love with Dennis Goodlow.

LOVER GIRL

The little heart-breaker, Beverly Guano. She is about 5 ft. 2, weighs 129 lbs., has lite brown eyes, and dark brown hair. Best of all she's a mighty JUNIOR at Conaty. Don't git interested, boys. Her heart still belongs to Johnny. Oh ' ' ' curious, huh ' ' ' ?? Well, her age is 16. Nope, I ain't gonna give you her phone number. So don't ask. I surely wish that this ole Beverly would stop makin so much noise on the streetcar, don't you. All kiddin aside, she's really a darling girl.

Attention ' ' ' Don Vaucressen. Look out Donny, boy, Ella Mae has her hooks out for you ; ; ; Ruby Rousseve has got her man. In fact she's gonna marry him, the ninth of December. Darn it ' ' ' forgot to tell ya his name. It's Tony Coustaut. Yep, that's right ole Ella Mae is the maid of honor. . . . Jody Clark has finally confessed. The apple of her eye is Harry Abrams. Perk up Harry, and give her the eye. . . . Never was I so shocked in all my life. Do you know that a boy, actually offered his seat, on the streetcar, to me. Why, I almost fainted. Guess what his name is. Through guessin ? ? ? That name is Leon Young. . . . Apples in Cobblets ' ' ' Rose Marie "Hotfoot" Hartsfield has got a man. Can ya believe it ? ? ? Neither can I . . . Huh ' ' ' oboy will you East-Siders fume up. Ole Don McAllister is rumored to be movin to the Westside. . . . Didn't know that Lorraine Mouton and James McCaulough were soo-soo chummy. Don't become insulted, James. I'm just writen what she told me. . . . Wonder if Leander Tennette is still carryin the torch for that Pierceson gal. (cute little trick) huh ' ' ' Lee . . . Johnny La Chapelle. Youse a cute little honey. But why ain't you got a gal-friend. You've got what it takes, you know.

Wadsworth PTA

Wadsworth PTA executive board members have begun a busy September. They attended the 10th District schools of information held Sept. 5 and 6. Friday, the 8th, found them meeting at the school to outline plans for the opening day. They answered the first bell Monday to assist with registration of pupils and serve the waiting parents coffee.

We roll out the welcome mat to our new teachers, Mesdames Helen Gaines and Clara Harris. Missed immediately were the charming smiles of Mrs. Earline Shaw, A1 teacher who transferred, and our school clerk, Mrs. Lucy Dunn, who is away from her desk because of illness. Mrs. Dunn heads the PTA publicity committee and Mrs. Shaw serves as second vice president.

Ceramics Class

Mr. Robert H. Presley, principal of Jefferson Evening High School, announces that the ceramics class at Henderson Community Center, 925 East 25th Street, has begun its fall semester. The class, under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Sterrett, is held every other Thursday morning from 9 to noon. Registration is being taken in the class.

A large ceramic kiln, the property of Henderson Center, is available to the students for firing.

Other adult day classes held at the Center in conjunction with Jefferson Evening High are: millinery, Tuesdays, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., under Mrs. Alicia B. Griswold; and dressmaking, Wednesdays, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., under Mrs. Ethel M. Boyd.

One of Jefferson's promising footballers and scholars, Ernesto Rodriguez, has been called to service with the National Guard. Ernesto made an excellent showing for Jefferson this summer when he represented the school at the American Legion Boys' State at Sacramento. He was appointed Secretary of State, and was the official who signed all the certificates and appointments during the conference.

James Collins recently visited campus . . . he's doing well out at UCLA. Jim is now a sergeant in the ROTC. His sidekick, Demo Willie Barnes, is burning up the academic road with some excellent grades (he and Jim vie for top honors). Both are sophomores.

Agnes Moreland dropped in for a moment to say hello. Agnes is doing well at Redlands University. She's a junior and holds several important offices on campus.

Lang Stanley is long gone . . . to Colorado University, that is. Lang is Denver bound with the track coach at C.U. just clapping his hands for joy! Good luck, Lang!

Notes from here and there . . . Eugene Deuvernay is now in the plastering game. . . . Marie Wilson, Henry Baravin and a whole host of Jeffersonites are out at ELAJC hitting the textbook road again. . . . Akemi Mikawa zoomed through the Subject exam at UCLA to start the year off in grand style.

Audrey Jolivette, popular songstress from the Demo swing band, and her friend, Bessie J. Scott, dropped in to say that they are in the education course at LACC preparing for the teaching profession. Good luck!!! They report that Marie Williams, Jean Lee, Betty Jarmon and Frankie Shealy are out at the Cub campus, too.

Enrollment at ELAJC

Two thousand eighty-three students are enrolled in regular day classes at East Los Angeles Junior College compared with 1,636 at the same time last year. This is an increase of more than 27 per cent over that of last September, it was announced this week by Logan Hart, dean of admissions.

The college to date has registered 3,782 students on campus in all branches. This is the largest number of students in the history of the college.

Totalling 1,339, the number of students registered in evening and branch classes increased 190 per cent over last year's figure of 460.

Three hundred sixty nurses are taking classes at the Los Angeles General Hospital branch of the Junior College.

Hours for registering are 8 a. m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday for the evening classes.

EMPLOYMENT

The employment office of the College is prepared to help business and industry find suitably trained part-time and full-time employees.

Students are available for part-time employment as bookkeepers, cashiers, clerks, deliverymen, draftsmen, fountain service workers, gardners, laboratory technicians, mechanics, musicians, painters, household helpers, baby sitters, receptionists, recreational directors, tutors, salesmen, printshop, machine shop, and woodshop workers, stenographers, typists, and ushers.

Anyone interested in hiring a suitably trained, responsible employee may telephone ANgelus 7274, Extension 25, the employment service office, East Los Angeles Junior College, 5357 East Brooklyn Avenue, bungalow 4.

Leatrice Franklin, 7-Year Old Prodigy, Wins $200 Scholarship

Little Leatrice Marlene Franklin, 7 years old, was awarded a $200 musical scholarship in the scholarship award contest held under the auspices of the Los Angeles Federation of Church Choirs in the eighth annual Vesper Hour at the Zion Hill Baptist church last Sunday, September 17.

Leatrice represented the Faith Central church. Her selection was "Fur-Elise," an instrumental number, and she was given 100 points for her efforts. Ethleen Smith, 10 years old, of the People's United church, won 90 points for "Sonantina," and was awarded a $25 savings bond.

Patricia Linn, 7 years, of Calvary church, was given 85 points for rendering "The Lord's Prayer," Mallotte, (voice); Jacqueline Renty, 13 years, New Hope church, "The Flower Song," 80 points; and Patricia Bradshaw, 10 years, Zion Hill church, "The Spinning Song," 70 points.

Judges for the contest were: Mrs. O. V. Halloway, Mrs. Onie Houston, and Mrs. Myrtle Mussenden.

The church was beautifully decorated, and the flower-covered rostrum almost hid the little contestants from view. Gifts of all kinds were showered upon them.

Carl Yarber and Ernestine Williams, two of the prodigies who won honors in former contests, expressed their appreciation to the Federation of Church Choirs for laying the foundation of their careers, and said they were continuing their study of music.

Directors and musicians of the eight choirs—Calvary, Faithful Central, Independent, Macedonia, Morning Star, People's United, New Hope, Zion Hill, gave combined results of their work. The numbers rendered were: "'Tis the Evening's Holy Hour." Mr. George Jones, Mrs. Kathrine Colbert; "Let Us Break Bread Together," (soloist, Mrs. Neita McKinney) Mrs. Selina Allen; "Battle Hymn of the Republic," (soloist, Mr. Jay Loft-Lynn), Mr. Walter Daniels, Mrs. Hazel Henry, Miss Thelma Pearl Brown. Other directors and musicians are: Mrs. Fannie Mae Smith, Mrs. Margaret Hale, Mrs. Rosetta Alexander, Mrs. Fannie E. Benjamin, Mr. Don Lee White.

Mr. Cylde North is president of the Federation of Church Choirs; Mrs. Katherine Colbert, official director; Mrs. Hazel [illegible]dan, secretary; and Mrs. M[illegible] L. Parker, reporter.

Water Safety Course Taught At 28th YMCA

Registration for the class in water safety preparing men or women for certificates as quatic life guards will close next Tuesday evening, according to announcement at the 28th Street YMCA.

The course will be given by Walter L. Hutchers. It will cover twenty-five hours of instruction and practice in the YMCA pool. At the end of the course either Red Cross or National YMCA certificates will be given those who pass the required tests.

The YMCA is offering the course free in order to create at the "Y" a pool of qualified men and women to serve its growing aquatic program.

KINLOCH'S LETTERS

BETRAYING THE PEOPLE
By John S. Kinloch

There is sound and fury in the ranks of those who would betray the people.

Things ain't what they used to be.

Old tactics work no longer. Old charms charm no more. The ears of the people are deaf to compromise. There is no stopping the future. It hammers down upon us. It comes leaping out of the headlines. Every breath kills the past, kills its phonies, its [illegible]sen representatives, its mon[illegible]headers and hat-in-handers.

You betray the people and they do not go home licking their wounds, tired, defeated and angry.

They stand up in public and call you a stinker. But, worst of all, they don't stop fighting.

They are on the march and a whole convention of Benedict Arnolds cannot stop them. Get in their way and you'll end up in a pancake.

Try to tell them that they must swallow the bitter pill.

Go ahead. Try it.

And your voice is lost in the distance. For the parade passed two hours ago. The people have left you naked in the night, baying at the moon all by your lonesome.

Hitler thought his chums, Rankin, Hearst, Dupont and Bilbo could stop the invasion in Europe. He thought they could divide the people so that the blow from the West would fall upon his soft rump.

And they thought it, too.

They said invasion is clearly impossible because of the floral in der ingersopt gripanap. They said airpower will win the war. They said, "Let's don't at[illegible] in 1946." They thought . . . [illegible] will divide and disrupt the people at home. We wil turn America fascist at home. We will invite Hitler in for tea and crumpets and we will arrange to make the whole world the state of Mississippi.

The black boys are shooting tyrants out of the sky over Europe. Sicily crumbles. The Second Front stands shimmering before our eyes, ready to happen at the next tick of the clock.

They said it was impossible. They said it was a Red Plot. They said, "C'mon, Fellas. Let's get Japan first." Nothing works. The people aren't buying that today.

There is sound and fury in the looks of those who would betray the people.

The old purring speeches no longer enchant. The plea for stable, quiet, calm, sober, intelligent better class, college educated, sensible, reasonable, judicious and intelligent leadership has lost its oomph if all those adjectives mean you want to get away with Jim-Crowism.

Slice it how you please. The people dont' think it's impossible to wallop Hitler. They don't think it's impossible to smash Jim-Crow. Furthermore, they know these are one and the same fight.

Run screaming to the people in the road down Stooge Alley, the path to victory. Get mad as hell about it. Tell the people they're forgetting their places. Tell them to suck in their tails, cower politely, and be tickled pink with their nice ,new shiny Jim-Crow union.

Fix up the parlor for them. Put chintz curtains in the windows. Put $300 per month compromise candy all around the room. Spread perfume. Then when the people DO come in, say, "Jim Crow isn't so bad, after all." Fling wide the front door and shower the street with engraved invitations.

Then cuddle up with a good book and prepare to be lonely.

Look out the window. YE GODS! The people are picketing! Look again. They're having a mass meeting. A thousand strong. And you are stared at by two thousand eyes, and the eyes form one word: TRAITOR. And the hats stay right on their heads.

So haul out the Great Lie. Tip your sky-piece to Dies and Rankin and Schickelgruber. Murmur that you want to borrow the G.I. for just a little while.

Then stand straight and shout: "YOU ARE ALL REDS! DAMN THE REDS!"

Roll it around in your mouth. Shout it out.

Look out the window again. The people are still there. More resolute.

They say:

You are a Jim-Crower.

You are a traitor.

You are an enemy of the people's war.

Then scream. Cry. Beat your head against the wall. Go ahead.

But nothing will help.

The people are on the march.

THE BATTLE CRY

Again the battle cry of war
Is in your ear
But we say there is nothing to fear
Because we are safe over here
But the battle from within
Before the battle from without Comes from without to within
The battle cry of war
No one asks what for, what for
No one cares what for, what for.
The evening has struck and we must fight back
If we are going to retain our shack.
There will be no more Pearl Harbor
We will not wait for the evening to Invade our shore
We will show them what we have in store
We must fight back
But what for, what for.
We have got to be sure who our enemies are,
Before we fight back.
Because from within, we do not know, whether we come or go,
Or who is enemy or foe.
So before we fight back, we
Ask what for, what for.
So you see from within,
We have practiced strife and hate,
In every one of the forty-eight.
First we must get to the enemy of the constitution
That tearing its principles to rags
And destroying its ideals from snow-capped mountains
Through the lowest field.
What for, what for.
So you see before we go to the enemy,
From without, we must find and destroy the enemy,
from within, we know
What for, what for.

"ROAD WITHOUT TURNING"
By Rev. James H. Robinson
Farrar and Straus and Co., N. Y. 1950, 310 Pages

On the outskirts of Harlem, on 122nd Street and Morningside Avenue, there is a church. It is as busy and crowded as the high teeming tenements that face it, and as serene and thoughful as the libraries in New York's great Columbia University which casts a shadow upon it on sunny days.

The people who worship there come from many and varied places, as do the people who live in International House around the corner, and their interests cover a range as wide as that between the students of the Juilliard School of Music and those of the Jewish Theological Seminary half a mile down the street.

It is a little church and simply appointed, but in it there shines a light that is reaching out into the world—far beyond Harlem and New York and America. Its minister has found an answer to the problem that for decades has been perplexing and frustrating the churches and ministers of the western world.

The name of this minister is Reverend James H. Robinson, and "Road Without Turning" is the story of his life. An autobiography, it is written with the continuity and dramatic pitch of a perfect novel, and with wonderful objectivity. A thoughtful analysis of racial inter-action and religious expression, it presents a workable and realistic approach to some of the conflicts that have been making world peace and unity impossible.

Born in the swamplands around a small Tennessee town, James Robinson's early life was a seemingly endless and hopeless struggle against poverty, illness, jim-crow, and family opposition. Although his father was a devout and almost fanatical member of the sanctified church known as the Campbellites, he was opposed to his son's formal and religious education. Consequently James made his way through high school, college, and the seminary almost singlehandedly.

No Relief

Living and working in the South as well as in the North, and attending both Negro and white schools and colleges, James Robinson found no relief from the stingly in injustices of racial bigotry and hatred. Neither did he find Christianity without jim-crow—until he decided that as a Negro he was closer to the reality in religion than were white people, and that it was up to him to "make them think constructively and progressively about race, and convince them of the destructiveness and high cost of prejudice both for their victims and themselves."

In systematically preparing himself for this chosen task Reverend Robinson learned many things about himself and about other people, and the readers of his autobiography might also learn some of these lessons. He discovered that "churches are best built by the ringing of doorbells rather than by great sermons," and that, in the words of a "devout and motherly deacon" his congregation wanted to know about 'peopleology" instead of about theology and philosophy.

When Reverend Robinson moved into his own church, he had a blue-print of the role it was to play in the community and for its congregation and he is there now, improving and enlarging its scope.

The Church of The Master is always open. In addition to a full professionally-led recreational and educational program, it sponsors a credit union and co-operative store, provides space for political meetings, offers health services, and individual consultation on legal and family problems and court cases. It is always on hand for voters' registration and information. It is a well-known for participation in and sponsorship of inter-racial activities, such as summer camps for children or college students.

Rev. Robinson was one of the founders of the interracial Sydenham Hospital in New York; and of a scholarship fund for Negro students to study in white colleges and foreign countries, and for foreign exchange students to study in Negro colleges.

There are prayers and sermons too, in The Church of The Master, but the Rev. and his congregation know that these alone cannot cure the ills of Harlem and the rest of the world. As long as there is racial segregation and exploitation of one group by another, there can be no peace on earth and no true Christianity. Right now, the Negro church must lead and comfort the people in their fight for freedom.

"Road Without Turning" is not the first autobiography by a leading Negro who sought the way to interracial understanding and cooperation, but it is certainly the first of its kind. No new day "Uncle Tom," and no preacher of political cultism and propoganda, Rev. Robinson makes it plain that the 16,000,000 American Negroes represent the potential for leadership in the struggle for freedom and democracy.

It is a book to be read for its great human warmth and dignity. It should be read by all who think of Negroes as a lesser being, and it must be read by those who feel their patronizing association with Negroes is the ultimate in liberalism.

REPRESENTA-THIEVES

(In September, 1950, ex-congressman Andrew J. May received an early parole from jail. He had combined professional red-baiting with thievery.)

When they jailed him there was a reason
That they care not to remember.
Though stormy weather is in season,
It is May's time in September.

(Note: The title of last week's rhyme should have been "In Till We Meet," in consideration of red-baiting ex-congressman J. Parnell Thomas' hand being found in the public till, precipating his short jail sentence and subsequent early parole.)

In Korea the situation is "fluid." That's an expression correspondents use in case their reports fail to hold water.

At this point the Marines have handed the situation well inland.

The only cheerful news to come from that unhappy land is the fact that a General Gay and an Admiral Joy are invlved.

Para-mutuel fans will be glad to know that the leading Korean racehorse is the Filly of Seoul.

A local daily paper is pushing the sale of a 24-volume cooking encyclopedia. One publicized volume is named "Leftovers." The political climate being what it is this season, one would imagine they would have the decency to change the title to "Rightovers."

I like a commercial newspaper that gives both sides of a story. On page 30 of the Sept. 12 Daily News Earl Wilson says: "Kathryn Grayson and Johnny Johnson are trying to prove that you can be happily married although 3000 miles apart."

And on page 31 Erskine Johnson says: "Kathryn Grayson and Johnny Johnson have agreed on a divorce. Separate residences was the straw that broke the camel's back."

Time and again American air commanders in Korea are quoted as saying: "We had a field day." Another air commander who said it was "sport" to bomb planeless troops was Mussolini's son in Italy's war against Ethiopia. Field day is field day. Sport is sport. Imperialism is imperialism.

A local lady publicist announces she is switching her talents from advertising falsies to advertising airplanes. That's like going from pad to whirrs.

Baha'i World Faith

The New Race of Men is the subject on which Mrs. Shirley Warde will address the public meeting of Baha'i World Faith to be held at Los Angeles headquarters, 331 South New Hampshire Avenue, on Sunday afternoon, September 24, at 3:30 o'clock.

The unity of the human race implies the establishment of a World Commonwealth in which all nations, races, creeds and classes are closely and permanently united, and in which the personal freedom and initiative of the individuals are definitely and completely safe-guarded.

Val Verde Pastor

The officers and members of the First AME Church welcomed their pastor, the Rev. E. L. Johnson back to his pulpit last Sunday.

Rev. Johnson had attended the Southern California annual conference, held in San Diego, and was among the many who were returned to their former post. Great plans are being made now for the future of the church.

Jay Loft-Lynm's 3rd Presentation "Sacred Hour With The Stars"

Benefit of the Boys' Home with stars of stage, screen, radio and TV. Read your local papers for the list of stars appearing. Listen on your favorite station for same guest of honor the cast from currently appearing "Lost in the Stars". Make this a must on your list for that day. Silver offering. Donation $1.00 Patron Ducats (Reserved Seats).

Recital Tonite

A recital in the interest of the Women's Day Drive will be given at Mt. Sinai Baptist Church, 2706 S. Western avenue, this evening (Thursday, Sept. 21) at 8 p. m.

Mrs. Louise Whittaker, soprano; Mrs. Naomi Thompson, reader; and Miss Helen Collins, pianist, will appear on the program.

Mrs. J. Knight is sponsor of the affair; Mrs. M. Mitchell, publicity chairman; and Mrs. R. Detson, finance chairman.

Rev. Duke Returns From National Conv.

Rev. Baxter Carroll Duke, minister of the Avalon Christian Church, corner of 43rd and Avalon Boulevard, has returned from Memphis, Tenn. where he attended the Thirty-Fourth annual ssession of the National Christian Missionary Convention. Up to the recent session, Rev. Duke was the vice-president of the convention, serving in that capacity for six years, longer than any other person, and was not a candidate for re-election due to constitutional limitation.

The new president of the convention is Dr. Blair T. Hunt, pastor of the Mississippi Boulevard Christian Church, Memphis, Tenn., the host church to the convention. Other officers include Rev. T. L. Dickerson, pastor of the Monroe Avenue Christian Church, Columbus, Ohio, vice president; Mrs. Charles C. Mosely, wife of the dean of Southern Christian Institute, Edwards, Mississippi, second vice-president; Rev. R. L. Saunders, pastor of the Second Christian Church, Lexington, Ky., secretary; Dr. J. E. Walker, president Universal Life Insurance Company, Memphis, Tenn., treasurer. Rev. Duke was elected to the National Board which directs the work of the convention and the work of the Christian Churches affiliated with the convention.

The church is delighted to announce that Sister Pauline Coffee, nationally known evangelist, will preach at the evening services at 8 p.m. every Sunday. Rev. Coffee has preached in evangelistic services in nearby sections of the country, and is known to be one of the most effective evangelists.

Naborhood Church Observes 10th Anniv.

The Neighborhood Community Church, located at San Pedro Street and 47th Place, is celebrating its 10th anniversary. It was founded September 22, 1940, by its present minister, the Rev. H. Mansfield Collins, with slightly more than 200 members—it has witnessed a miraculous growth—the records indicate an enrollment of over 2,000 since its inception.

Pastor Collins will preach the anniversary sermon at the morning service (11 a.m.) Sunday, September 24. Following morning service, there will be an anniversary tea and fashion show, 1:30 to 7 p.m., sponsored by the Monogram club of the church.

Sunday evening, the choir, under the direction of Gamaliel Mansfield Collins, will render an anniversary musical.

The celebration will be resumed October 1 with an entire week (Oct. 1-8) devoted to activities emphasizing 10 years of service.

Assistants to the minister: Henry J. Hartnett, Vyviene B. Brown, G. M. Collins; organist, Jaunita L. Lake; pianist, Sarah E. Collins; saxophonists: Carlton Waide, Donald Lucas, Wallace Bovland, Roy Clark, Paul Howard; violinist; Walter H. Hansberry; and minister of music: Gamaliel Mansfield Collins.

Lay Conference At Pepperdine

The Conference For Lay Participation in The Midcentury White House Conference on Children and Youth, which was held at Pepperdine College on Saturday, Sept. 16th, from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., was attended by 179 delegates, representing 34 organizations.

The conference was arranged by Mrs. Aileen Blaine. Mrs. Lillian Moore was general chairman and secretary. The keynote address was given by Mrs. Sylvia Miller, who emphasized the need for alertness on the part of mothers and interested citizens to see that needed resources for the best development of America's children are not siphoned off into the war. Reverend Ben N. Hill gave the morning invocation and Rev. H. E. Shoup of the 35th St. Mennonite Church opened the afternoon session.

The two main resolutions adopted by the conference were for the continuance of Child Care Centers on a permaent basis and for peaceful mediation of the Korean War through the United Nations Security Council.

The afternoon session was very ably chaired by Mr. Peter Hyun, former assistant editor of "The Korean Independent." Rev. John Henry Owens was selected to present the main resolution to the conferences.

Some very excellent source material was presented to the various panels by Mr. Oliver Haskell on Housing; Mrs. Ola Ross Pacific on Health and Mrs. Anne Rosen; Mrs. Clara Towns on Discrimination and Mrs. Elinor Pasternack on Problems of Working Mothers.

Among the participants were: Thomas L. Perry, M.D., Mr. David Shapiro, M.D., Mr. Frank Wilkinson, Mrs. Irene Wallace, Mr. Dan Robbin, Mrs. Rita Sokolow, Mrs. Ruth Greenburg, Mr. Earl Walters, Miss Shirley Brett, Mrs. Bernice Henry, Miss Esther Reed, Miss Harriet Jaffee, Mr. John Smith, Mr. Rugh Hughes, Mr. Horace Alexander, Miss Dorothy Andrews, Dean Ellie Mathews, Miss Sylvia Blankfort, Miss Alvia Fobb and Mr. Davis who made significant contributions to the Housing Panel. A Continuations Committee of 30 was elected from the participants.

Tyler in Recital

The Trustee Board and The Senior Usher Board of the Triangular Church of Truth, 52nd and Wadsworth Streets, will present Constance Harper Tyler, well known musician of the city, in an organ recital, next Sunday afternoon, September 24th, in the church auditorium.

A native of Atchison, Kansas, Constance H. Tyler has studied at Kansas State Teachers College Pittsburgh, Kansas; Colorado State Teachers College, Greeley, Colorado and the Chicago School of Music, Chicago, Illinois. She is the Secretary of the Eastside Settlement House and chapel organist of the Avalon Funeral home. Also, she is church organist and very active in other phases of the civic life in our community. Rev. Pearl C. Wood, minister, extends invitation to the public to attend the organ recital next Sunday afternoon, at 4 o'clock.

Biennial Community Churches Council Convention Reports

The first hi lights of the Biennial of Community Churches Convention, held at Lake Forest College, Chicago, Ill., Aug. 16-20, were given us by Reverand Geraldine O'Conner at the meeting of the Women's Christian Department (now called "The Women's Christian Fellowship.")

So detailed were these statements that at the close of her report, no questions were required.

The word independent, of which the Mother Church has always felt proud was dropped. In the report given by Reverend H. Mansfield Collins at the Convention, the name of Reverend N. P. Greggs was reverently mentioned.

Peace and harmony reigned throughout the entire meeting, and the filling of offices by members of both races marked the beginning of "The Tie that Binds." Printed matter was available to all, which contained records and results of activities.

Western delegates accompanied by friends, found it very profitable to be present: Reverend and Mrs. H. Mansfield Collins, Mr. Joseph Collins, Mrs. Belle Riley, Mrs. Buredene Lowry, Mrs. Birdie Slaughter, Reverend and Mrs. Foster H. Hydes, Reverend Geraldine O'Conner, Mr. and Mrs. Isiah French. These last two named, attended at their own expense.

Officers elected are: Mrs. Belle Riley, unanimously, to president of The Women's Christian Fellowship of The International Council. Mrs. Oscar Rand, Washington, D. C., one of vice-presidents; Mrs. Daniel Maiten, of Missouri, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Grace Wells, Illinois, treasurer; Reverend H. Mansfield Collins, areal director.

"Let's Finish It" Drive Launched For St. Augustine Westview Hosp.

The beginning of a worthwhile end took place Monday night, when nearly 100 civic leaders launched a "Let's Finish It" drive for the St. Augustine's Westview Hospital.

Meeting at the Ambassador hotel as guests of Archishop J. Francis A. McIntyre ,the group laid plans for early completion of the 100-bed interracial hospital to be located on Los Angeles' Southside

Postmaster Michael D. Fanning, chairman of the campaign strategy committee, said that "response of those attending Monday night's affair indicated not only tremendous interest, but tremendous energy and willingnes to see the job through."

He pointed out that Los Angeles was only slowly pulling away from the "pitifully" small figure of 3.7 hospital beds per 1000 populations, and besides increasing this ratio, the St. Augustine's Westview facility would be the only general hospital in an area of 300,000 persons.

Traditional toastmaster George Jessel was master of ceremonies at the kickoff dinner and guests included Mr. and Mrs. Will Rogers Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Harpo Marx, Hon. and Mrs. Harry C. Westover, Herman F. Hahn, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ziffren, Gen. J. O. Donovan.

Others were Dr. William E. Costolow, Robert L. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. William Jennings Bryan, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Carr, Dr. and Mrs. Maxwell H. Dubin, Rt. Rev. and Mrs. Eric F. Bloy, Mrs. Tom Scully and Mayor Fletcher Bowron.

The hospital, to be built at 54th and Main streets, will be non-sectarian and non-profit. After its completion, it will be operated by the Francisan Sisters of the Sacred Heart, the order which now operates the Queen of Angeles hospital.

Design of the hospital will allow for future expansion in 50-bed units, and eventually it is planned to provide for 300 patients.

Rev. Owens' Writings To Be Published

Rev. John H. Owens of 1478 W. 37th St., who sometime back was asked to contribute some of his writings to the Belgian publication, "Marche De France," edited by Gaston-Henry Aufrere, has not only been accepted for publication in this distinguished literary journal of international literature, but the editor has become so impressed with the writings of the Rev. Owens that he has decided to have his works published in several magazines in France.

Under date of Sept. 2nd, editor Gaston-Henry Aufrere writes that he not only intends to publish some of the works of Rev. Owens, but will translate some of the other poems into French and forward them to the French reviews. Writes editor Aufrere: "The wind of wide open spaces goes through your verses and the soul feels the charming of such immensities of which you sing. Your poetry is fresh and new; it smells of the wind, the grass, open spaces and liberty.

I believe from my heart that the cause which binds together my peoples and our gallant and faithful allies is the cause of Christian civilization.

—King George VI of England

Westview Drive Dinner Meeting Opens Campaign

Plans for construction of an inter-racial hospital on Los Angeles' Southside were discussed Monday evening when outstanding clergymen and civic leaders meet with Archbishop J. Francis A. McIntype at the Ambassador Hotel.

Postmaster Michael D. Fanning, chairman of the group laying the groundwork for the 100-bed St. Augustine's Westview Hospital, said that the meeting inaugurated a series of city-wide events to rally support behind the project.

Among church leaders present were Rabbi Maxwell Dubin of the Wilshire Boulevard Temple and Rt. Rev. Eric F. Bloy of St. Paul's Episcopal Cathedral who pledged 50,000.

Gems of Thought

STABLE CIVILIZATION

If we would reach a stable civilization, we must penetrate below political and economic troubles into their causes and bring about a fundamental change in the bases of life.

—Arthur H. Compton

He who shall introduce into public affairs the principles of primitive Christianity will change the face of the world.

—Benjamin Franklin

Mankind will be God-governed in proportion as God's government becomes apparent, the Golden Rule utilized, and the rights of man and the liberty of conscience held sacred.

—Mary Baker Eddy

All that is best in the civilization of today, is the fruit of Christ's appearance among men.

—Daniel Webster

The true test of civilization is, not the census, nor the size of cities, nor the crops, but the kind of man that the country turns out.

—Emerson

the warning of scientists and resulting in the widespread property damage and personal injuries to persons living in the vicinity of the electroplating corporation.

An hour and a half after Magee had mixed the dangerous chemicals, an explosion occurred which wrecked 116 buildings in the area of the electroplating works and killed 17 persons.

Magee, himself, and his assistant, Miss Alice Iba, who were operating the tank at the moment of the disaster, are believed to have been blown to bits. Their bodies were never found.

In a trial which last for more than three years in the Los Angeles Superior Court, involving more than 34 attorneys, a bitter fight was put up by the electroplating company through their insurance company in an attempt to avoid liability.

A parade of experts in the field of physics and chemistry testified for the clients of Attorneys H. L. Richardson and Herbert W. Simmons, Jr., to prove negligence of the O'Connor Electric Plating Company, Corp.

what he termed harassment, had issued a statement claiming that he had not been served up to August 25. Subsequently, Howard's attorney, Rayfield Lundy, telephoned Boyle and asked that his client's papers be sent through the mail. This was done.

Boyle has asserted that he is not a part of any plot to harass Howard, nor does he have any interest in ousting Howard from the Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association. The attorney further states that he has filed what he believes is a valid suit and only the courts of the California will decide whether or not his clients prevail.

Attorney Lundy publicly stated that Howard was anxious to receive service in the action. Attorney Boyle cites records in the Sheriff's office which claim nine futile attempts had been made to serve Howard.

According to Boyle the Broadway Federal which has entered a demurrer, H. A. Howard and Avalon Enterprises, have more than a week to file an answer. Following that, Boyle will ask that the action be set for trial. It is his opinion that it will be early next year before the matter is reached on the calendar.

On this 21st day of August, A.D., 1950, before me, La Verna Coburn, a Notary Public in and for said County and State, residing therein, duly commissioned and sworn, personally appeared Eddy Fisch and Stella Fisch, known to me to be the persons whose names are subscribed to the within instrument, and acknowledged to me that they executed the same.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my official seal the day and year in this certificate above written.
(SEAL) LA VERNA COBURN,
Notary Public in and for
Said County and State.
My Commission Expires April 10, 1953.

THE SECOND FORTY YEARS
By Edward J. Stieglitz

A lively and provocative discussion of some of the medical aspects of middle-age and after. The straight-from-the-shoulder talk is reminiscent of a chat with a trusted family physician. The book deals with the importance of diet and nutrition, as well as with purely medical topics.
